Ed. Stallings was the hero of the afternoon, bringing the fans to their feet twice by cracking out two clean two-baggers. Both of them were good for every bit of the distance and one of them had the ear marks of a homer. Frederickson had another good day, allowing the visitors seven stingy little hits that did notp rove to be mischiefmakers excepting in one instance. Their run scored in the fourth inning was the result of a base on balls and two hits.

Plainfield started right out to be mean to the visitors by tallying three times in the first. Ed. Stallings, the second man up hit the ball on the nose and started out. He rested safely upon the third bag when the ball was returned to the diamond. Harter followed him with a safe one bringing Ed. home and Cropsey kindly made an error advancing Harter and giving Dalton a berth, and then Bill Stallings brought them both home with a crashing single.

The home team scored again in the third, registering three. Ed. Stallings started things off again in this frame with another that was good for three quarters of the distance. Harter, who followed, got a base on balls, Dalton struck out and Bill stallings received a pass filling the bases. Driscoll then proved the man of the hour by hitting out on of the singing kind and when the smoke had cleared three more runs appeared upon Plainfield's side of the board.

Ed. Stallings started the damage again in the seventh. Again he hit the ball in lusty style and came home on hits by his brother Bill and Driscoll. This was the last time that the home team scored but they didn't need any more.

Paterson scored in the second and fourth. The first time, Walburn got first on an error by Emery, followed by a base on balls and scoring on another misplay by Emery. The second score came as the result of a base on balls and two hits.

The score:

TAFT SEEKS WOMEN'S VOTES IN CALIFORNIA

President Makes Bid For Uncertain Part of Suffrage.

Washington, May 13.—A president of the United States has issued his first direct appeal for women's votes in a contest for renomination. Before leaving Washington on his campaign trip to Ohio President Taft made public an appeal that he has sent to the men and women Republicans of California for support in the primaries tomorrow.

The president emphasized his claims to women's votes by including among the achievements of his administration the creation of the children's bureau and the appointment of Miss Julia C. Lathrop, "one of the able women of America," as its head.

The voting on this contest will be watched with a good deal of interest, as it is the first time they have taken part in a presidential contest in California, and their participation introduces an uncertain element into the situation. About 26,000 women voters have been registered in San Francisco alone.

The presidential preference primaries in California on Tuesday will be the next important development in the Republican situation. The president's managers are hopeful of obtaining fourteen of the twenty-six delegates from that state. Political observers here are inclined to believe that Colonel Roosevelt will control the majority of the delegates.

STRANDED AT SEA.

Passengers on Arcadian, Ashore on Treacherous Bank, to Be Taken Off.

Panama, May 13.—The Royal Mail liner Oratava from Carthagena reports that the steamship Arcadian is still lying easy on the Salemine bank, about seven miles offshore. All are well on board, but they are anxious regarding their indefinite situation, owing to the shifting position of the treacherous reefs.

The Oratava brought a few of the Arcadian's passengers, who will proceed to New York. Immediately after discharging her cargo the Oratava will return to Carthagena to assist the distressed ship and rescue the passengers, mails and the treasure which is homeward bound.

TORNADO KILLS IN ALABAMA.

Two Known Dead In Tuscaloosa and Great Damage In Birmingham.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., May 13.—Extensive damage was done by a tornado which passed over Tuscaloosa. The city is in darkness, and communication is difficult. Two negroes are known to have been killed.

Birmingham, Ala., May 13.—A high wind and downpour of rain were accompanied by the heaviest hailstorm ever seen in this city. Many trees were blown down, and roofs were torn off houses. An infant was blown from his father's arms as he was walking down the street, but was not injured.

GIRL IS STEERING AS AUTOS CRASH

Before Escort Could Grab Wheel Smashup Occurs.

CONTRACTOR BADLY HURT

Atlantic City, N. J., May 13.—D. S. Edwards, a Pleasantville contractor, had James Ford, another contractor, as his guest in his car on a trip to Philadelphia. They were making good time about four miles above Absecon when an automobile with a young woman driving loomed up around a curve, coming at a terrific clip.

Before her escort could grab the steering wheel she had hurled the machine directly into that of Edwards. Occupants of both cars were catapulted to the road and both machines wrecked. The girl and Ford were rendered unconscious. Ford suffered three broken ribes and may be injured internally, while the young woman was cut and bruised about the head and broke her left arm.

The injured were hurried to Pleasantville in another machine, where Ford and the girl received medical attention. After resting two or three hours the young woman and her escort boarded a train for Philadelphia, refusing to give their names and abandoning the smashed machine. Ford will be removed to a Philadelphia hospital as soon as his condition warrants.

FIND HABERLE'S BODY.

East Orange's Assistant Postmaster Had Been Missing a Month.

Newark, N. J., May 13.—Newark bay solved the mystery of the disappearance more than a month ago of Charles W. Haberle, the assistant postmaster of East Orange, when its waters cast up his badly decomposed body. His identity was established by means of cards and papers found in his pockets. Postoffice inspectors assert that following the disappearance of Haberle they found a shortage of at least $5,200 in his accounts.

Haberle was known to nearly every resident of East Orange. A member of many fraternal orders and several musical organizations, he had a circle of acquaintances that included the wealthy and residents in less comfortable circumstances. He lived with his wife and three children in a cottage at 371 North Walnut street. He had always been regarded as one of the leading men of the city. As assistant postmaster he received a salary of $1,600 a year.

TAFT TO OPEN NEWARK SHOW.

President Will Press a Button Tonight In Steubenville, O.

Newark, N. J., May 13.—President Taft will open the Newark Industrial exposition which begins in this city tonight and continues for the next two weeks. The president will not appear in person, but at 7 o'clock he will press an electric button in Steubenville, O., which will have direct communication with First Regiment armory, in this city. This will signal the formal opening of the affair and the current for more than 5,000 incandescent lights and other illuminations will be thrown on.

There will be 206 exhibitors altogether at the exposition. Some of the decorators who visited the armory said that the decorations surpassed those ever provided for at either Madison Square Garden in New York or the Colosseum in Chicago.

ALIENATION SUIT FOR $100,000

Echo of Divorce In Which Christian Scientists Figure.

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—Charging that Thomas L. L. Temple of Texas, described as a wealthy bachelor, has alienated his wife's affections, Charles Charters of Palisades, this state, has instituted suit for $100,000 in the supreme court. This action follows the sensational divorce proceedings started by Charters against his wife, both of whom are prominent Christian Scientists and are practitioners of the science in New York city.

The original divorce proceedings charged infidelity, cruelty and attempted blackmail. Mrs. Charters denied this accusation and in a counter suit alleged that her husband tried to coerce her into collecting blackmail from Temple for their mutual benefit.

A subscription of $5,000 for the new camps has been received from Jacob H. Schiff, contingent upon the early collection of the balance of $20,000.

RICHESON NEAR COLLAPSE IN CELL

Minister-Slayer Weeps as Day Set For Death Nears.

MAY BE CARRIED TO CHAIR

Declared That Before He Is Executed He Will Break Down—Jail Physician Says He Beligves Clergyman Abnormally Selfish Man.

Boston, May 13.—The Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, confessed poisoner of Miss Avis Linnell, is near collapse in his cell at the Charles street jail. As the day for his execution nears a feeling of abject fear pervades him. He is worried over the tests to which the alienists are about to subject him. He weeps constantly.

Those who have seen him declare that if he is to be executed he will collapse in his cell. One of the county officials who has seen him daily of late said: "He will never be able to walk to the chair. He will have to be carried."

"Only Abnormally Selfish."

Dr. Orrin G. Cilley, the jail physician, said, "I have seen Richeson daily, and, judging from his composure and orderly way of thinking, I believe him nothing more than an abnormally selfish man who fell because with him it was 'any means to an end.'"

The three alienists acting for Governor Foss will make another examination of Richeson. They are Dr. Henry N. Stedman, chairman of the board of trustees of the Taunton insane asylum; Dr. George P. Tuttle, superintendent of the McLean asylum, and Dr. Harry P. Frost, superintendent of the Boston insane hospital. They have been assisted in their examination by Dr. Vernon L. Briggs. Their tests so far have been devoted to determine his sensibility to emotions and his power of memory.

H. G. WELLS IS ALARMED.

Famous English Novelist Sees Revolution In Present Social Unrest.

London, May 13.—The Daily Mail announces that it is opening an inquiry into the labor unrest. The first contribution is an article by the novelist, H. G. Wells, the keynote of which is the existence of profound distrust among the workers. Mr. Wells describes the present social disturbance as dangerous. The discontent, he says, is deep and increasing. Perhaps it is the initial phase of a real and irreparable class war.

In the year since the coronation," says Mr. Wells, "we have moved very rapidly indeed from the assurance of extreme social stability toward the recognition of a spreading disorganization.

"It is idle," says Mr. Wells, "to pretend any longer that these labor troubles are a mere matter of give and take of economic adjustment. It is not an adjustment that is in progress; new and strange urgencies are at work, forces for which the word revolutionary are only too faithfully appropriate. Nothing is being done to allay these forces, everything conspires to exasperate them."

NEW WONDERS OF WORLD.

Cornell Men Pick Among Others Wireless, Radium and Telephone.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 13.—The seven wonders of the world, as selected by the faculty, graduates and seniors of the chemist's seminary, were announced by Professor L. M. Dennis today. A few weeks ago one of the prominent scientific magazines sent a list to Cornell containing fifty-seven wonders of modern times and requested the chemical department to pick out seven of them as representing the greatest of modern human ingenuity.

The seven which were selected in the order of their importance follow: Wireless, synthetic chemistry, radium, antitoxin, aeroplanes, Panama canal, telephone.

RICH LEGACIES CONFISCATED.

Law Separating Church and State May Involve $5,000,000.

Lisbon, May 13.—In consequence of the law separating church and state, by which all property, valuables and stocks of religious congregations and churches are confiscated by the state, the Portuguese government is receiving a number of protests through the British, German, French and Spanish legations from relatives of various foreigners who have left legacies to religious bodies.

These legacies having been left for religious purposes, there is great objection to the state confiscating the funds which, it is estimated, amount to nearly $5,000,000.

SURF HOTEL IS BURNED.

Remodeled Structure at Ocean Beach, N. Y., is Quickly Destroyed.

Fire Island, N. Y., May 13.—The new Surf hotel at Ocean Beach caught fire and an hour later was in ashes.

It was opened three seasons ago for summer visitors.

Veterans to Get $27,000,000.

Washington, May 13.—President Taft signed the pension bill, which adds approximately $27,000,000 a year to the present pension roll.

LEAL'S LOSES AT END OF THIRTEEN INNINGS

Calton Academy Wins by Scoring Four Runs in the Last Frame.

Carlton Acodemy and Leal's School went twelve innings Saturday morning before the former could pull out a victory by the score of 15 to 11. It was neck and neck throughout the game and at one time it appeared as though Leal's would come out with the big end.

Chamberlin, who started on the mound for the home school, was rather wild and allowed eight bases on balls. Lee, who replaced him, was much steader, but allowed the visitors to reach in in the final session and win the game.

After leading by two runs at the beginning of the ninth inning, Carlton forged ahead by one run in the ninth while Leal's added one in the half tying the score. After that there was no scoring until the twelfth when the visitors put across four runs and tucked the game away.

BRUNSWICK SCHOOL FALLS BEFORE P. H. S.

Close Game is Bagged by Plainfield Boys; Score 4 to 3.

Plainfield High School won its game Saturday afternoon with New Brunswick High School in one of the best played contests of the season with a score of 4 to 3. Both teams played a clean fielding game, but most of the work was left to the pitchers. Smith, the New Brunswick pitcher, was credited with ten strikeouts and Denny, the local box artist, retired 6 men at the plate, allowing no passes. The visitors took a lead of three runs in the second period but could not score again during the game, while P. H. S. scored two runs in the third and two in the sixth, which proved to be sufficient to win.

P. H. S. was held scoreless for the first two innings, but Peacock started things in the third period by laying down a clean single. Carty sacrificed him to second and he scored on Grisley's two-bagger. Heron was thrown out at first and Grisley went to third. Davenport singled, scoring Grisley.

New Brunswick held the elad at 3 to 2 until the sixth inning when P. H. S. came to the front again with two more runs. Nash was given another pass to first and scored on a double by Denny. Buckle singled, sending Denny to third and stole second. Van Deventer flyed to short and Peacock fanned. Carty got a hit scoring Denny and putting Buckle on third. Carty stole second. Grisley was hit by pitcher and was given first. With the bases full, Heron, who was next at the bat, took three healthy swings, making the third out. Only three P. H. S. players faced Smith in each of the next periods.

DUNELLEN TAKES ONE FROM RARITAN 7-2

Too Fast for Team From Down the Line and Wins Easily.

Dunellen captured the first game of a series of five from Raritan, Saturday afternoon, when they defeated them at Somerville before a good number of rooters. The game was a most interesting and exciting contest, although the result was not long in doubt.

Dunellen drew first blood in the second. Hickey by a great stop robbed McLaughlin, the first Dunellen man up in that inning, of a hit. Dixon yalked; Elliott singled to right centre, Dixon going to second; Schott hit to Hickey, who tossed to Smith, forcing Elliott out at second, Dixon taking third in the play; Harriman singled to left and brought them both in.

Raritan evened things up in their half. Kelly got a life on Mullen's error; Higgins walked; Purcell whiffed; Kraft hit to Barnes, who threw Kelly out at third; Higgins and Kraft pulled off a double steal, Higgins going to third and Kraft to second; both scored when Porter hit an infield single which was too hot for McLaughlin's bare hand. Dunellen secured what proved to be enough runs to win in the sixth on a base on balls, a single, a fielder's choice and a couple of errors.

Captain Britt Martin, of the Dunellen team, played a steady game at second. Barnes also played well at first for Dunellen:

FRITTS AGAIN FINISHES AT FRONT IN LONG RACE

Jack Fritts was again the winner of the five-mile race held by the Y. M. C. A. on the Parker Field track Saturday afternoon. This is the second race in the series of five and both have been won by Fritts. He was barred from winning the cup offered, however, because of his victory last week and the prize went to Alfred Day, who took second place. However Fritts was credited with points towards the prize offered for the largest point winner. Fritts completed the course in 31 minutes, 15 2-5 seconds. Day's time was 32 minutes, 15 1-5 seconds.

Jack Fritts, Arthur Post, Alfred Day and Patsy Gleason, who were all in the first race, entered again last Saturday and Holdt, a new man, entered in Jack Wilson's place.

Fritts picked the inside of the track and started off at a good pace soon leaving a gap between him and his opponents who hung close together for several laps. Fritts kept up a strong pace throughout the race and ended the first mile in 5 minutes, 17 seconds. Day kept second place during the entire distance, completing the first mile in 5 minutes and 46 seconds. Holdt did not finish the race, dropping out after his fifteenth lap after being passed by Fritts on his seventh time around, who also gained a lap or more on all of his opponents during the race. He lapped Post on the eighth and again on the thirteenth, Gleason on the ninth and Day on the twelfth.

Third and fourth places were won by Gleason and Post respectively. The time made by each follows: First mile, Fritts, 5 min. 17 sec.; Day, 5 min. 46 sec.; Gleason, 5 min. 52 sec.; Post, 6 min. 5 sec., and Holdt, 6 min. 9 sec. Five miles, Fritts, 31 min. 15 2-5 sec.; Day, 32 min. 15 1-5 sec.; Gleason, 32 min. 24 sec., and Post, 32 min. 38 sec. Starter, Mr. Ostlin. Timer, James McNamee.

SCOTCH PLAINS OPENS SEASON WITH A WIN

The Scotch Plains team got a good start yesterday by defeating the strong Orange A. C. team by the score of 4 to 1. Timely hitting in the 'Plains half of the second inning enabled them to tuck the game away. The home team held the visitors scoreless until the fifth, when their lonely tally was made.

The 'Plains team scored in the second and third, but were held safely at all other stages of the game.

CITY GOVERNMENT BY A COMMISSION

THE LAW SUMMARIZED

How Plainfield's Affairs Would Be Conducted Were Voters to Adopt the Walsh Act—A Digest by Local Lawyer.

That the general public may have an intelligent understanding of the Commission Government plan, the following summary of the New Jersey law as compiled for the purpose by Martin B. Stutsman, a local lawyer, is herewith published. It is a synopsis of the "An Act relating to regulating and providing for the government of cities, towns and other municipalities with this state, Chapter 221, Laws of 1911." It should be borne in mind that the summary as here presented is that applying to a city of the size of Plainfield.—Government by commission is already in force in 9 municipalities in this state. Atlantic City and Elizabeth are voting today on the question of adopting the Act. The summary follows:

ORGANIZATION.

At the first election held in this municipality after the adoption of this act there shall be elected five commissioners, who are citizens and who have been residents of this city for a period of at least two years immediately preceding such election, who shall serve as commissioners until the third Tuesday in May in the fourth year following their election, and every four years thereafter elections shall be held for the purpose of electing new commissioners or retaining the old ones in office.

DUTIES.

The commissioners shall, by a quorum vote, pass ordinances, adopt any motion, resolution or other measure which shall be first read before said commissioners and voted upon by yeas and nays and shall be recorded. At the first meeting of said commissioners they shall choose one of their number to preside at all meetings who shall be called "mayor," but he shall have no power to veto any measure.

POWERS.

The commissioners shall have and possess the same powers now exercised and possessed by the mayor and city council, including all administrative, judicial and legislative powers, which powers shall be distributed among five departments as follows:

1. Department of public affairs.
2. Department of revenue and finance.
3. Department of public safety.
4. Department of streets and public improvements.
5. Department of parks and public property.

Commissioners shall have powers to enact and enforce by imposition of fine or imprisonment or both all ordinances necessary for the protection of life, health and property; to declare and prevent and summarily to abate nuisances; to preserve and enforce the good government and general welfare, order and security of such city, and shall have all powers necessary for its government not in conflict with the laws applicable to all cities of this State or the provisions of the Constitution. Provided, however, that no ordinance increasing the net bonded indebtedness of the city to a sum in excess of ten per centum of the assessed valuation of all property within said city shall be valid unless the same shall be first submitted, by a special election, to the voters of the city and receive the approval of a majority of the voters actually voting at such election.

All ordinances or resolutions heretofore passed in any such cities, not inconsistent with the rights and powers herein granted shall remain in full force and effect until altered or repealed by the commissioners in the manner herein provided.

CONTROL OF CANDIDATES.

All officers and employes in any such city shall be elected or appointed with reference to their qualifications and fitness, and for the good of the public service, and without reference to their political faith or party affiliations.

PUBLISH FINANCIAL STATEMENTS.

The board of commissioners shall each month publish in at least one newspaper in such city, or print in pamphlet form, a detailed itemized statement of all the receipts and expenses of the city and a summary of its proceedings during the preceding month, and shall file and furnish printed copies thereof to all persons who shall apply therefor at the office of the city clerk. At the end of each year the board of commissioners shall cause a full and complete examination of all the books and accounts of the city to be made by competent accountants, and shall publish the re-

WOMEN STUDY THREE BIG CIVIC QUESTIONS

Sewage, Water and Garbage Discussed in Miss Mary Philbrook's Class.

Perhaps the most interesting meeting of the Civics Class of the Equal Suffrage League this season was that which marked the close of the course on Civics, yesterday afternoon, at 7 Myrtle avenue. Miss Philbrook, undaunted by the fact that her first notes for this lecture had been destroyed, had not only prepared others but had interviewed a number of city officials, among whom were Fire Chief Doane and Street Commissioner Andrew Gavett.

Plainfield, said Miss Philbrook, has the distinction of originating a new method of building, the plan of which is being widely adopted throughout the country, and which is of interest to every householder. Credit for this scheme is due to Fire Chief Doane.

It is the custom in building, Miss Philbrook continued, to economize the flooring by leaving open spaces between the moulding and the outer wall. This is the rats' rambling space and the fire's opportunity as well. This space is now required to be covered with flooring which must be flush with the walls so that no dangerous air spaces are left to draw the fire from floor to floor.

On the subject of sewage, mention was made of the fact that North Plainfield has no sewer, that, according to the last report in 1910 Plainfield has 46 miles of sewer and that the toal amount of sewage disposed of last year was 472,000,000 gallons.

For the future disposition of sewage, three schemes have been proposed: In order to establish a plant it is necessary to obtain the consent of the township in which the proposed disposal plant is to be located.

Plainfield and North Plainfield are now face to face with the problem of sewage disposal, as the present methods are wholly inadequate. North Plainfield, after several attempts at solving the problem, has just met with a rebuff in her efforts to establish a plant at the Zvolneck farm after having failed to locate at Bound Brook.

Roughly speaking the cost of refitting the present plant for Plainfield would be $180,000, while the cost of building a new plant be about three hundred thousand. Should the sewer be taken across New Brunswick to the marshes beyond the cost, according to Herring & Fuller would be almost prohibitive. A much later estimate is that of Mr. Frank J. Hubbard, who figures that Plainfield sewage could be taken to tide-water for less than half a million dollars.

The Imhoff system, which is the most up-to-date system of sewage disposal, has been used at Worcester, Mass., almost continuously for four months. This system could be installed in Plainfield at a cost of about $180,000.

While the subject of garbage was under discussion the fact was stated that in many places garbage is collected by breeders and finally fed to the hogs, which are afterward sold to the people in the form of fresh, sweet ham, fancy pork chops, &c., whereupon one member suggested that now would be a good time to start a vegetarian movement.

Considerable time was given to the question of the city's future water supply system, which is a vital question for all to consider. Various sourves were noted and reports quoted. At the end of the lecture a lively discussion regarding the proposed Commission Government took place. The class learned that the commission form of government does away with the office of mayor, provides for a committee of five members, which elects its own chairman, each member receiving a salary. This committee replaces the present Council and shall be elected by a vote of the whole people irrespective of party.

The method employed in Des Moines was to publish the names of five hundred possible commissioners, which was sifted to one hundred, which was sifted to ten and so on.

The commission plan was started in Galveston and made such a success that Des Moines took it up and has also made it a success.

SIGN PLEDGE CARDS.

The session of the Park Avenue Baptist Bible school Sunday was one of unusual interest. The lesson study was omitted, and a special program given which included an address on the subject of temperance by Rev. Mr. Diesendorf, of Westfield. Mr. Diesendorf, who is superintendent of the Temperance Work for Union county, gave a most inspiring talk on the evils of the liquor traffic. His stirring remarks were listened to intently throughout, and at their close Superintendent George E. Hall asked that Temperance Pledge Cards be passed to all members of the main school; ninety of those present signed this pledge.

HOLD DR. SMITH'S BODY AT KINGSTON

Surmised That Grief Over Young Wife's Death Led to Suicide.

The body of Dr. Jean C. Smith, the former Dunellen physician, who committed suicide on the Hamburg-American steamer "Westerwald," just before it reached Kingston, Jamaica, Sunday, is being held at that port pending instructions from relatives. The young man's parents reside at New Britain, Conn., and it is probable that burial will be made in that city, although his wife, who died on January 16 last, was interred in Hillside cemetery. Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Parmalee, of 701 West Fourth street, corner of Spooner avenue, said today that the Connecticut relatives would decide on the place of burial.

The death of Dr. Smith is the final chapter in a domestic tragedy that elicits the deep sympathies of all Dunellenites. The young man, who was but twenty-five years old, came to the borough about a year ago for the practice of his profession. He soon had a large following and was succeeding rapidly when his young wife was taken ill last December. He gave almost his entire time to her care but it became necessary to remove her to Muhlenger hospital for an operation. It proved unavailing, however, and she died soon after.

Dr. Smith was on the verge of collapse after the funeral, a condition which remained even after a long rest at his parents' home. He returned to Dunellen, disposed of his practice and accepted a position with the Hamburg-American company, as ship's surgeon, in the hope that sea travel might help him to overcome his grief. He wrote to Plainfield and Dunellen friends several times that he was feeling better and all were in hopes that he would soon be himself again when the news despatches told of his death.

The young physician had injected overdoses of morphine into his body, as evidenced by a hyperdermic at his side in his stateroom. The discovery was made by a member of the crew just before the steamer reached Kingston, death having ensued hours before.

WHO WILL GIVE MONEY TO BUY KIDDIES GLASSES?

Three little children have just been examined by the doctor and pronounced in need of glasses. Three regretful sets of parents have admitted that they cannot provide this necessity. The relief committee of the Charity Organization Society asks the citizens of Plainfield if they will not come to the assistance of such parents and children in obtaining glasses for them. Telephone 103 if you are interested.

The past month has quite depleted the funds of the Society. 134 cases of trouble were brought before the Society during April, 227 calls being made by persons needing aid of some kind. Sevteneen of these persons were ill and proper medical attention was found for them. Twenty-two more suffering from one disease, viz. tuberculosis. For them milk was provided to the amount of $44.05. Some were suitably equipped and sent to Glen Gardner, the State Sanitorium. Board was secured for others, $50, in all, and the Anti-Tuberculosis League assisted in many instances. Through a generous response to an appeal in the newspapers the board of one child in the country was assured for a month and perhaps for a year.

Always the most cheering aspect of charity work is the sympathy and help given by the friends of the poor. 261 calls were made at the Society's office in April by people anxious to help. Fifteen volunteer visitors were busy caring for twenty families. There has been an agregate attendance of fifty-nine at committee meetings during the month, busy men and women thus giving many hours and valuable advice for love of the work. "Your money or your life" is ever the cry of the Charity Organization. Who can give either or both is twice welcome at 323 Babcock building.

SKULL FRACTURED BY FLYING HOOFS

CHANCE TO RECOVER

Badly battered and with a fracture of the skull as the result of having been kicked in the face and head by one of his horses, Arthur Brokaw, a teamster living on Codington avenue, was removed to Muhlenbury hospital last night in an unconscious condition.

He was found about 8 o'clock by a neighbor lying at the foot of one of the horse's stalls with his face so cut and crushed by the horse's hoofs that it was almost unrecognizable. He immediately summoned the ambulance and Brokaw was removed to the hospital, where it was seen at once that his condition was grave.

Examination revealed a fracture at the base of the skull and an operation was performed immediately. This morning he is reported as resting more easily and hope is held out for his recovery.

FOR BETTER DEFENSE AGAINST CREDITORS

Business Men's Association to Work for Passage of New Garnishee Law.

The Plainfield Business Men's Credit Association at its meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night elected officers for the year and decided to inaugurate a vigorous campaign for the members' benefit against debtors. It is purposed to get a copy of the garnishee law in force in New York state and work for the passage of a similar law in this state. Under the provisions of that law in New York state a person's wages above $15 can be garnished for debt.

The association also decided on a campaign of advertising to set forth its objects and in other ways promote the interest of the members. These officers were elected:

President, H. W. Marshall; vice president, Isaac Schwed; executive board, J. K. Roundy, B. J. Schreiner, Richard Parrott, Jr., Joseph Greene, M. H. Marchant, A. E. Force, George Griffin, Herbert Schuldenfrei and Solomon Mann.

ELABORATE STAGING TO MARK "TRIP TO MOON"

Plainfield people are to be given a treat in the production of "A Trip to the Moon," which is to be presented in the Plainfield theatre, May 23-24.

The production will be staged here fully as elaborately as in the larger cities and will include 350 costumed people in the cast.

"A Trip to the Moon" is a musical spectacle and its beautiful costumes, and wonderful transformations will surpass many spectacular productions given here.

J. G. Hoffman, a musical director of ability, who has staged the production in many of the large cities is in charge and this guarantees a fine production. The flower of local talent in this section has been secured to assist in giving the gigantic musical spectacle under the auspices of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, assisted by the Plainfield Amusement Club and the School Athletic Association.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will be held at the chapel Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The executive committee will meet at 2 o'clock. The devotional exercises will be conducted by Mrs. O. Linnekin. The society will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to sew for the barrel which is to be sent to Miss Laura Pierson at Clear Creek, West Virginia.

CLARK MEETING.

Plainfield supporters of Champ Clark's candidacy on the Presidential nomination held a meeting last night at the home of Frank J. Shattle, West Fourth street. There was a good attendance and considerable enthusiasm was evidenced. Mr. McGuick, of Elizabeth, who hopes to go to the National Convention as a Champ Clark delegate, was present and spoke to the assemblage.

MARTINE RHAPSODY ON REAL APPLE JACK

Senate Hears of the Horse Power That Lurks in Jersey Lightning.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The "good old elixir" known as applejack was eulogized in the Senate yesterday by Senator Martine, of New Jersey, and Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, was moved to make a few remarks about whisky straight, during consideration of the agricultural bill.

"You can always tell whether a man has taken whisky straight or a whisky blend by smelling his breath," declared Mr. Nelson. He said he was opposed to determining so fine a point by gross scientific standards. Senator Martine thought the main point was being lost sight of.

"What difference does it make," said he, "if the whisky is good? Pray God what does it matter if the deliciousness and the delirium of flavor are there? Come to the glorious Commonwealth of New Jersey, where they brew rivers of an elixir known as apple-jack, whether colored or uncolored. It is rich in aroma, delirious as an intoxicant, promoting happiness, health and longevity. Why, Mr. President, after a couple of drinks of New Jersey apple-jack these carpers would not be able to detect the colors in a rainbow. But, Mr. President, dismiss this question and on the adjournment I invite you to come to New Jersey and see and taste and test for yourself. Come."

The frolic arose during debate on an amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill recommending the purchase of a test to determine the coloring matter in whisky. The amendment was voted down.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SITS UP LATE TO WAIT FOR GUESTS

Superintendent George E. Hall and the adult Bible classes of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school, had a delightful social time last night, when they entertained a delegation of fifty members of the South Orange M. E. church and Bible school, together with their pastor, Rev. Mr. Murdock and superintendent, Edward Cooper, who is also superintendent of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association.

The purpose of the visit was to view the curios which Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire exhibits in connection with his lecture on his experiences as a missionary in the jungles of Africa. Mr. Maguire will give this lecture in the South Orange church on the evening of May 23.

The visitors, who made the trip to Plainfield and return in stages, did not reach this city until nearly 11 o'clock; but the Park Avenue classes filled the time with games and other forms of amusement, until the arrival of their guests. When the curios had been examined and their uses described by Mr. Maguire, ice cream, cake and coffee were served, during which Mr. Hall presented each one present with a souvenir of the pleasant affair.

The waitresses and waiters included the Misses Arline Brown, Gertrude Groff, Carrie Kling, Martha Cassin, Edna Groff, Mrs. Willard Maxim and Irving Pratt, Charles Hellyer, George Kling, Chester Chamberlain, George Place. The following comprised the committee of arrangements: Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hall, Mrs. E. Frank Vail, Mrs. W. S. Lowry, Mrs. Charles Van-Winkle, Mrs. Ada Cuming, Miss Marjorie Phillips and Miss Florence G. Hawkins.

MODEL MOTHER.

"A Model Mother" was the subject of a powerful sermon which the pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, preached Sunday morning in honor of Mothers' Day. The preacher pictured the model mother as being intelligent, diplomatic, sympathetic, self-sacrificing; and cited many instances where the world's greatest men owed their success in life to their mothers. The speaker also painted the contrasting picture, where the lack of intelligence, sympathy, diplomacy and self-sacrifice on the part of a mother was largely responsible for the failure in life and bitter end of many a man and woman. The sermon made a profound impression upon the large congregation.

FRANK W. RUNYON DIES SUDDENLY

Former Proprietor of The Courier-News Succumbs to Heart Disease.

VETERAN JOURNALIST

Had Been Engaged as Mining Stocks Promoter Since Retiring as Editor—Survived by Wife, Father and Brother.

Frank Willetts Runyon, founder of the Courier-News, died suddenly at his home on Madison avenue, at noon today. Although he had not been in the best of health for the past year or more, he was about as usual until this morning, when he complained of feeling ill shortly after breakfast. Before the nature of the trouble was fully realized he was in a serious condition, and died before physicians could reach him. Heart trouble is ascribed as the cause of death.

Mr. Runyon was the eldest son of Alexander M. and Elizabeth Willets Runyon, and was born in this city about fifty-three years ago. He was graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1876. He prepared at the Pingry School, Elizabeth, for college, and entered Cornell University, from which institution he was graduated with the class of 1883.

After leaving college Mr. Runyon was associated with the Major Pond Lyceum Bureau, of New York. He managed a lecture tour for Henry Ward Beecher for one year and later represented Mark Twain and George W. Cable, jointly, on a similar tour.

Later Mr. Runyon engaged in newspaper work, holding positions with the New York Sun and the Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Runyon later purchased the Central New Jersey Times from W. J. Leonard, the owner, and he conducted that weekly newspaper until 1891 when he established the Courier. Three years later he purchased the paper, the Evening News, of Thomas W. Morrison, and until June, 1904, he was the editor and proprietor of the Courier-News. In the above year he sold out to the Plainfield Courier News Publishing Company, the present owners.

Mr. Runyon served one year as city clerk, but aside from that fact he never held public office. After retiring from business Mr. Runyon and his wife were accustomed to spend the winter in the south. He was a Mason and a member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum and the Loyal Association; also the First Baptist church, where he was a regular attendant. For a brief time after giving up the furniture business and before engaging in newspaper work, Mr. Runyon was interested in several theatrical enterprises. During the past few years he was a mining stock promoter.

Mr. Runyon is survived by his wife, his father and one brother, Elmer E. Runyon.

NEWARKER ACCUSED BY ALLEGED WHITE SLAVE

Summit, May 14.—Arrested in a raid on an alleged disorderly house, at 117 Morris avenue, East Summit, a woman, who gives her name as Jennie Gardino, twenty years old, of 263 Monroe street, New York, has unfolded to the police here a story of white slave traffic carried on, she says, by Joseph Colunga, of 29 Garside street, Newark.

Police Chief Brown had been watching the place for some time and Saturday night decided to make the raid. He has notified the prosecutor of Union county who is expected to consult with him regarding the story related by the woman and make further investigation of her assertion that Colounga maintains places in Bloomfield, Orange, Silver Lake and Millburn.

FRANCHISE IS LACKING DISMISS 'PHONE PLAINT

Trenton, May 14.—Finding that under existing circumstances it is impossible for the New York Telephone Company to provide service for all would-be subscribers in the borough of Dunellen, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has dismissed the complaint filed by Edward J. Dusel and others, who failed to have telephones installed in response to their requests.

It was brought out at the hearing before the board that the telephone company was without the franchise rights needed to enable it to make proper extensions to its service within the borough. The company was at the time negotiating for a franchise which would justify it in installing a system comprehensive enough to take care of not only the complainants, but all possible subscribers for a period of years.

This contention of the company was verified by the chief inspector of the utilities division, which showed that additional facilities could not be installed without proper franchise rights. It was shown to the satisfaction of the board that the company had made every reasonable effort to obtain the necessary rights, and the board had been informed that these will be secured in the near future. The complaint was dismissed without prejudice to a reopening of the case in the event that, after obtaining the proper franchise rights, the company should fail to make all reasonable efforts to furnish service to all persons desiring it.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE, BOY INSTANTLY KILLED

Perth Amboy, May 14.—Frank Iverson, five years old, was instantly killed on New Brunswick avenue by an automobile driven by Alexander Conquest, proprietor of a local garage. Conquest was driving the car for the owner, Abel Hanson, a terra cotta manufacturer. Hanson was in the car with Conquest at the time.

Both men were arraigned before Recorder Henry W. Kehoe and paroled, pending an investigation.

Hanson and Cenquest say that the boy was riding on the tailboard of a wagon and dropped off in front of their car just as they turned out to go around the wagon.

Dr. M. S. Meinzer was in his car a short distance ahead of Hanson and Conquest, on his way to the City Hospital. He turned back and hurried the boy to the hospital.

Young Iverson's father is John Iverson, a laborer, living at 427 East avenue.

Conquest was running Hanson's car Saturday as a matter of accommodation for Thomas Layden, Hanson's chauffeur. When the accident occurred they were on their way to the Fords' Terra Cotta Company's works, of which Hanson is owner.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Chauncey Olcott, easily the foremost of the exponents of Irish character parts in this country, will soon be seen here in his new play "Macushla" (Puse of My Heart) by Rida Johnson Young. There is no form of entertaining more charming in its elements than a good wholesome Irish play, well wrought and telling a good story. The class of dramas presented by Mr. Olcott in the past have won enconiums from theatergoers all over the country and it goes without saying that the latest addition to his repertoire is just as charming and interesting as any he has yet presented. The period in which Mrs. Young has laid her story is the same as that in which Charles Lever, Thomas Maxwell and other of the Irish novelists sought their materials, and is a field which has not been entered by any novelist or playwright for some years. "Macushla," therefore is a distinct novelty in the dramatic field which will be welcomed by all who are fond of the dashing Irishman of the nineteenth century, a type which now exists only in story. Mr. Olcott has written a cycle of new songs to fit the piece, and which are promised to be ahead of any thing he has done in a long time. The production, which has been built under the personal direction of Augustus Pitou, is unusually elaborate and worthy of that veteran in the art of stage-craft. This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night.

That Plainfield Butcher.

A Plainfield, N. J., butcher, declaring that the prices for meat are outrageous and that he will not take part in such robbery of the public, has closed his shop. If this honest fellow had been called as a witness that Chicago judge and jury who cleared the beef packers would probably have put their fingers into their ears.—Pittsburgh Press.

FOR COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

CONTROL OF APPROPRIATIONS.

If, at the beginning of the term of office of the first board of commissioners elected in such city under the provisions of this act, the appropriations for the expenditures of the city government for the then current fiscal year have been made, the said board of commissioners shall have power, by ordinance, to revise, repeal or change such appropriations and to make additional appropriations.

RECALL.

The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by the electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent. of the entire vote at the last preceding general election demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the city clerk, which petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought.

The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make an oath before an officer competent to administer oaths that the statement therin made is true as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the city clerk shall examine, ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate, showing the result of said examination. If, by the clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate.

The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if this certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be deemed to be sufficient, the clerk shall submit the same to the board of commissioners without delay.

If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the board of commissioners shall, if the officer sought to be removed shall not resign within five days after the date on the clerk's certificate, order and fix a date for holding the said election, not less than thirty days or more than forty days from the date on the clerk's certificate to the board of commissioners that a sufficient petition is filed.

The board of commissioners shall make, or cause to be made, publication of notice and all arrangements for holding such election, and the same shall be conducted, returned and the result thereof declared in all respects as are other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and unless he requests otherwise in writing, the clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election, if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the person who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, he shall continue in office. The same method of removal shall be cumulative and additional to the methods heretofore provided by law. No person who has been recalled from an elective office, or who has resigned from such office while recall proceedings were pending against him, shall be appointed to any office within one year after such recall or resignation.

No recall peition shall be filed against any officer until he has actually held his office for at least twelve months, and but one recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during his term of office.

INITIATIVE.

Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the board of commission by petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signatures, verification, authentication, inspection, certification, amendment and submission of such petition shall be the same as provided for petitions under the last section.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to fifteen per centum of the votes cast at the last preceding general election, and contains a request that the said ordinance be submitted to a vote of the people if not passed by the board of commissioners, such board of commissioners shall either—

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after attachment of the clerk's cerificate to the accompanying petition, or;

(b) Forthwith, after the clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his cerificate of sufficiency, the board of commissioners shall call a special election, unless a general municipal election is fixed within ninety days thereafter, and at such special or general municipal election, if one is so fixed, such ordinance shall be submitted without alteration to the vote of the electors of the city.

But if the petition is signed by not less than ten nor more than fifteen per centum of the electors, as above defined, then the board of commissioners shall, within twenty days, pass said ordinance without change, or submit the same at the next general city election occurring not more than thirty days after the clerk's certificate of sufficiency is attached to said petition.

The ballots used when voting upon said ordinance shall contain these words: "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election in accordance with the provisions of this section; but there shall not be more than one special election in any period of six months for such purpose.

The board of commissioners may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance or for amendment thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election, and should such proposition so submitted receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall thereby be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this act to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the city clerk shall cause such ordinance or proposition to be published once in at least one of the newspaper published in said city; such publication to be not more than twenty nor less than five days before the submission of such proposition or ordinance to be voted on.

REFERENDUM.

No ordinance passed by the board of commissioners, except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State or by the provisions of this act, except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the board of commissioners, shall go into effect before ten days from the time of its final passage; and if during said ten days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least fifteen per centum of the entire vote cast at the last preceding general municipal election, protest in against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the board of commissioners, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners to reconsider such ordinance; and if the same is not entirely repealed, the board of commissioners shall submit the ordinance, as is provided by subsection b of section sixteen of this act to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose; and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all repects in accordance with the provisions of said section sixteen, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified to by the clerk in all respects as therein provided. Any ordinance or measure that the board of commissioners or the qualified electors of the city shall have authority to enact, the board of commissioners may of its own motion submit to the electors for adoption or rejection at a general or special municipal election, in the same manner and with the same force and effect as is provided in this act for ordinances or measures submitted on petition. At any special election called under the provisions of this act, there shall be no bar to the submission of other questions to a vote of the electors in addition to the ordinances or measures herein provided for, if said other questions are such as may legally be submitted to such election. If the provisions of two or more measures approved or adopted at the same election conflict, then the measure receiving the highest affirmative vote shall control.

SALARIES.

The salary of the mayor in cities having from twenty to forty thousand inhabitants shall be not more than $1,800.00 and of each commissioner not more than $1,500.00.

MEETINGS.

The commissioners shal designate the time of holding their meetings which shall be at least once a week; and special meetings may be called from time to time by the mayor or by two commissioners, all of which said regular or special meetings shall be open to the public and any citizen may have access to the minutes of such meeting or meetings upon application being made to the city clerk for that purpose.

The mayor shall be president of the board and shall preside at its meetings and supervise all departments and report to the board for its action all matters requiring the attention of the board on any department. Director of the department of revenue and finance shall be vice president of the board, and, in case of vacancy in the office of mayor, shall perform the duties of that office.

PASSAGE OF ORDINANCES AND FRANCHISES.

Every ordinance or resolution appropriating money, or ordering any street improvement, or sewer, or authorizing the making of any contract or granting any franchises, or the right to occupy or use the streets, highways, bridges or public places of the city for any purpose, shall be complete in the form in which it is finally passed and remain on file with the city clerk for public inspection at least two weeks before the final passage or adoption thereof. No franchises, or right to occupy or use the streets, highways, bridges or public places in any city shall be granted, renewed or extended except by ordinance; and every ordinance shall be published in said city before being finally passed upon and must receive the approval, by vote, of one more than a majority of all the members before being finally adopted.

PROHIBITIONS UPON OFFICIALS.

No officer or employe, elected or appointed in any such city, shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract or job for work or materials, or the profits thereof, or services to be furnished or performed for the city, and no such officer or employe shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract or job for work or materials or the profits thereof, or services to be furnished or performed for any person, firm or corporation, operating interurban railway, street railway, gas works, water works, electric light or power plant, heating plant, telegraph line, telephone exchange, or other public utility within the territorial limits of said city. No such officers or employes shall accept or receive directly or indirectly, from any person, firm or corporation, operating within the territorial limits of said city any interurban railway, street railway, gas works, water works, electric light or power plant, heating plant, telegraph line, telephone exchange, or other business using or operating under a public franchise, any frank, free pass, free ticket, or free service, or accept or receive, directly or indirectly, from any such person, firm or corporation, any other service upon terms more favorable than is granted to the public generally. And for the violation of these provisions the offender shall be punished as now provided, or may be provided hereafter by law or ordinance.

Such prohibition of free transportation shall not apply to policemen or firemen in uniform; nor shall any free service to city officials heretofore provided by any franchise or ordinance be affected by this section.

ADOPTION REQUIREMENTS.

The Act of the Legislature takes effect immediately but is inoperative until assented to by a majority of the legal voters of the city voting at an election to be held in such city, which election shall be called by the city clerk upon the petition in writing of twenty per centum of the legal voters who voted at the last general election, whereupon the city clerk shall call an election to be held on the third Tuesday following the date of the filing of such petition, and shall cause date, time and place of said election to be duly published and advertised in the city so voting.

REVERSION TO THE CHARTER.

Any city which shall operate under this form of government for more than six years, may abandon such organization and may resume its charter by the following method: by a petition of not less than 25 per cent. of the electors of such city, a special election shall be called in said city for the purpose of voting upon the abandoning of this method of government, and if a majority of the voters shall be in favor of abandoning, said method of government, the city shall resume its government by and under its charter and officers elected at the next succeeding regular municipal election shall be those prescribed by the charter.

PENSIONS FOR VETERANS.

Pensions will be increased about thirty-five per cent. by the provisions of the bill signed by the President on Saturday night and the chief beneficiaries will be veterans who have reached the age of seventy years. Hereafter all who served for ninety days in the Civil War and who have reached sixty-two years may be placed upon the pension roll. To quote the new law:

In case such person has reached the age of 62 years and served 90 days, $13 per month; six months, $13.50 per month; one year, $14 per month; one and a half years, $14.50 per month; two years, $15 per month; two and a half years, $15.50 per month; three years, or over, $16 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 66 years and served 90 days, $15 per month; six months, $15.50 per month; one year, $16 per month; one and a half years, $16.50 per month; two years, $17 per month; two and a half years, $18 per month; three years or over, $19 per month.

In case such person has reached the age of 70 years, and served 90 days, $18 per month; six months, $18.50 per month; one and a half years, $21.50 per month; two years, $23 per month; two and a half years, $24 per month; three years or over, $25 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 75 years and served 90 days, $21 per month; six months, $22.50 per month; one year, $24 per month; one and a half years, $27 per month; two years or over, $30 per month.

Those who were wounded "in battle or in line of duty" and are unable to perform manual labor by reason thereof or who from disease or other cause "incurred in line of duty" and are unable to do physical work are to receive a maximum pension of $30 per month regardless of length of service. A pension of $30 a month is also to be granted those who served sixty days or more in the Mexican War. All these pensions are to begin with the date of filing the applications.

FOR SENATORS DIRECT.

After a fight begun eighty-six years ago, Congress has given its approval to a plan to submit to the States of the Union a proposed amendment to the Constitution for the popular election of United States Senators. The joint resolution, first passed by the Senate and concurred in yesterday by the House, will go to the President for his signature and will then be sent to the forty-eight respective States.

This is the proposed Constitutional amendment:

"The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislatures.

"When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, that the Legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the Legislature may direct.

"This amendment shall not be so construed as to effect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution."

Thirty-six of the forty-eight States will have to approve this suggested amendment before it becomes a part of the basic law of the Nation. At the very earliest this can not be had until 1914.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

Says the Elizabeth Journal regarding the problem submitted today for the people of Elizabeth to solve:

"The question for the voters to decide is whether or not the Walsh act offers the best form of municipal government available. It is well understood that the statute stands for business methods in municipal government under non-partisan rule; for persistent saving of city's funds, where economy is desirable and important, permitting at the same time such municipal improvements as the taxpayers have a right to expect; for less delay in the city's business; for better excise conditions and a broader attitude toward the city's development—a progressive Elizabeth.

"Under commission rule there would be no shifting of responsibility. No member of the city government would be able to escape the obligations placed upon him.

"Under a commission of five members elected by the people of the entire city and suitably compensated for their labors, the taxpayers would get full return for their money. Do they get it now? Are they satisfied with present-day municipal management and progress? Let the voters answer."

Prof. John D. Spaeth, of Princeton University, whom the Monday Afternoon Club has had the pleasure of hearing on more than one occasion recently, yesterday explained the real purpose of education in an address at the University of Pennsylvania. A bachelor's degree, said he, is but a by-product of college training, an external cigar band as it were. The true idea of a college education, he asserted, is to discipline men and to humanize them. "We are too insular, petty and shut off from the great world," he tells us. "We are little islands in the great sea. Then comes the college education, which builds bridges from us to the continents of humanity, across which travel the great and beautiful thoughts of the world." How many parents send their boys to college with a false idea of the aim of the training there to be had?

COULDN'T FOOL POLICE.

Perth Amboy, May 14.—Three vagrants who were heard in a local saloon planning to ply their trade as the 2,000 employes of the American Smelting and Refining Company and other plants at Maurer quit work, were followed and caught by the police. One was a one-armed veteran of the Spanish War, another had one arm lashed to his body so that none but a trained policeman would detect the fraud and the third had his hand wrapped in heavy bandages and claimed to be a victim of an explosion. They gave their names as Wiliam Barrow, of Jersey City; Herman Mandell, Brooklyn, and James Wagner, Philadelphia. Barlow showed an army discharge and was released. Mandell and Wagoner admitted the charges against them and were fined $3 each, which they paid.

CIPHER MESSAGES.

Rules That Will Help an Amateur to Read the Riddles.

Writing in cipher, where letters or figures or characters, grotesque or otherwise, are used to form the words, while it may look formidable to the uninitiated is really not difficult to solve if one will tackle it with care and patience.

The proper way to set about reading an unknown cipher is to find the letter or figure that occurs oftenest. This is sure to be "e," as "e" is by far the commonest letter in the language. The second commonest is "t," and if you find a three letter or three figure batch often of which the last is "e" and the first "t" the middle letter or figure is sure to stand for "h." Any letter or figure standing alone must, on clear reasoning, be "I" or "o" or "a."

The second commonest three letter word in a message of any length is sure to be "and," which gives you three more letters for addition to the alphabet.

Remembering that the commonest doubles are "ee," "oo" and "ff" (in the order given) and the commonest two letter words are "be," "by," "or," "as," "at" and "an" (in the order given), a person should be able to solve almost any cipher message.

FORCED HIM TO SING.

An Occasion When Abell Made Up His Mind In a Hurry.

It is probable that on no occasion has any other musician had to practice his art under more disagreeable circumstances than that in which Abell, a singer of the seventeenth century, once found himself.

It appears that while Abell was rambling through Poland he was sent for to go to court, and after evading the request by excuses for a short time he was commanded to attend. At the palace Abell was placed in a chair in the center of a spacious hall and suddenly drawn up to a great height. The king, with his attendants, appeared in a gallery opposite him as he sat thunderstruck in his suspended chair. At the same instant several bears entered the hall with their keepers.

As the singer gazed in horror at these ferocious creatures the king calmly inquired whether he preferred to sing or be let down among the bears. The singer's choice, of course, was quickly made, and he afterward declared that in spite of his terror he never sang better in his life, although he admitted he might have introduced a few more "shakes" than usual in his songs.—New York Press.

Fata Morgana.

The kind of mirage known as fata morgana is seen across straits or lakes in southern Europe and shows in calm weather such images in the air as those of towns, castles and palaces. On the Lake of Geneva it is sometimes seen on fine afternoons of spring or summer. F. A. Forel, the well known Swiss investigator, has been giving some attention to the curious apparitions and concludes that they are due to a peculiar distribution of temperature in the air over the water. In the morning, the air being cooler than the lake, the opposite bank seems to be depressed, exaggerating the earth's rotundity, and late in the afternoon, the air having become hotter than the water's surface, the opposite bank apparently rises above the true horizon and the earth's circumference is enlarged. For a few moments only, at the change from one condition to the other, the fata morgana may be seen.

Why He Had to Have an Office.

An inherited fortune and the disposal of an organized business enabled a well known Chicagoan to retire. He had the inclination for leisure, but could not surrender the idea of having a definite business abiding spot. He rented an office in a lofty building and went to Europe. After a six months' absence he returned, looked the building over and went to South America. Then after again verifying the report that the building was not crumbling, he took a jaunt to Japan. Not long ago one of his old cronies said:

"Frank, why don't you give up your office? You don't need it."

"That's true," said Frank. "I would give it up, but I don't know what to do with the rug."—Chicago Post.

News About Two Great Men.

Even Franklin himself would be surprised at the following information gathered from a freshman's essay:

"Franklin's education was got by himself. He worked himself up to be a great literal man. He was also able to invent electricity. Franklin's father was a tallow chandelier."

This followed:

"Sir Walter Raleigh was put out once when his servant found him with fire in his head. And one day after there had been a lot of rain, he threw his cloak in a puddle and the queen stepped dryly over."—Everybody's.

AFRAID OLD BUILDING WILL BLOCK ROADWAY

The Councilmanic Fire and Building Committee at its meeting last night temporarily withheld the permission previously given for the removal of an old dwelling house from East Third street to Cottage place. The building is so old that the committee is afraid that it may fall to pieces in the moving and thereby block the street for an indefinite time. The matter was referred for further investigation as was also the petition of the Standard Oil Company for permission to erect a large storage tank in the West End of the city. A report will be made on these matters later.

The committee further discussed the question of recommending the appointment of a new building inspector, thereby relieving Chief Deane of that work and allowing him to give his whole time to the fire department, but no conclusion was reached.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER BURIED IN HILLSIDE

Horace B. Bannard, aged 62 years, who died suddenly at his home in Asbury Park, Saturday, was buried in Hillside cemetery today. Mr. Bannard lived in Plainfield about eighteen years ago, and was a son-in-law of the late William L. Jones, who lived at Park avenue and East Seventh street. He removed from this city to Asbury Park, and for many years was a civil engineer in the employ of the New York and Long Branch Railroad.

Mr. Bannard was past commander of Corsen Commandery, K. T., of Asbury Park, and was also a past officer of the Grand Commandery, K. T., of New Jersey. He is survived by three sons. A full Templar funeral service was held at the late home yesterday and an escort of twelve men from Corsen Commandery accompanied the body to Hillside cemetery today, where the burial took place.

A FRIEND OF THE FAMILY.

It Was Highly Prized as a Wonderful Money Saver.

When Miss Ann Pickett dropped in on her neighbor, Mrs. Spicer, and found her moping over the fragments of a gilt vase Miss Ann sympathized generously. "It must have been rather a costly vase," she said, looking admiringly at the pieces.

"No, it only cost six bits," Mrs. Spicer acknowledged. "'Tain't that I feel so bad about."

"Maybe it was a gift that you prized because of associations?"

Mrs. Spicer shook her head. "Jim and I bought it over in Tompkinsville a long time ago. I prized it because it was such a saving to the family. The first year we had it I kept it on the front shelf for a general ornament. Then when Jim's birthday came and I hadn't anything else handy to give I gave him the vase for his own. Next Christmas, instead of paying out good money to buy something new, he gave it back to me for a Christmas present. Then I gave it to Jim junior on his birthday, and he gave it to Sue Belle on hers.

"The next spring all the kinfolks got up a birthday party for old Aunt Sallie Spicer, and we took her the vase. After she'd kep' it a good bit she gave it to Jim's sister Jane for a weddin' present, and afterward Jane gave it to me and Jim when we had our china weddin'. I was countin' on givin' it to Jim again on his next birthday, and now here it is smashed to flinders.

"I tell you, Miss Ann, it most makes me cry to think of losing such a useful family article—so near Jim's birthday too!"—Youth's Companion.

WORK OF EARTHWORMS.

These Humble Burrowers Are Great Aids to the Farmer.

The humble earthworm is one of man's best friends. The farmer and the gardener could not spare him. Dr. J. Newton Friend tells about him in Science Progress. From Dr. Friend's observations it appears that worms aerate the soil in a variety of ways.

In burrowing through the soil the worms render it more porous and permeable to gases, not merely by virtue of the air spaces formed, but by reason of the fact that the soil is thus continually kept in gentle motion. Again, the soil passing through the bodies of worms is excreted in a finer condition, being ground by attrition through the intestines. Darwin estimated that no fewer than fifteen tons of soil annually pass through the bodies of worms for every acre.

Further, worms breathe in oxygen and exhale carbon dioxide, and the latter gas, as is well known, readily dissolves in water, forming an acid solution which will render alkaline earths and metallic oxides—iron—soluble.

Worms materially aid in producing soluble salts of iron in the soil when other agencies—e. g., dilute mineral acids—fail. The iron is eventually given back to the soil in a more soluble condition and presumably in one which can be directly absorbed by plant roots.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

STRAWBERRY DAINTIES.

We get strawberries earlier each season. This is because the cultivation of the fruit is being given more attention and methods of transporting it to all parts of the country are being so improved that early berries are comparatively cheap even in northern markets.

Cake With Berries.

When strawberries are served a delicately flavored cake like fresh angel, sponge or pound cake is the best. Spiced or iced cakes are not so nice. Jelly cake is out of the question because the flavor of the jelly will interfere with that of the berries.

When Practicing Economy.

Strawberries and Bananas.—When strawberries are still high they may be made to go further by serving them with another fruit. Strawberries and bananas blend well. Cut six firm ripe bananas and arrange on a fruit basket to form a latticed mound.

Put a pint of strawberries through a fine sieve. Whip the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth and then beat in the strawberry pulp together with the juice of half a lemon. Color with a few drops of cochineal to get a nice pink.

Then pile this on the fruit basket over the latticed bananas. Decorate the edge of the basket with whole ripe strawberries. Whip some thick cream with a little powdered sugar and put a ring of it around the outside of the basket.

With Custard.

Strawberry Fluff.—Make a custard by scalding a pint of sweet milk, pouring it over the beaten yolks of two eggs and half a cupful of sugar. Flavor the custard with a few drops of vanilla. Line a fruit bowl with firm ripe strawberries and pour the custard in the center. Whip the whites of two eggs with powdered sugar to taste and pile on the top of the custard. Use large red berries for decorations.

A Sweet Omelet.

Strawberry Omelet.—Prepare as if you were to make a plain omelet with the exception that a teaspoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of lemon juice and water are added for every egg used.

Crush and pass a cupful of strawberries through a fine sieve to remove the seeds. Add a cupful of powdered sugar to the strained strawberries and stir the two together. When the eggs are cooked lay a cupful of whole fresh berries over one side of the omelet, fold and pour the crushed berries over and around it. Then place on the heated dish on which it is to be served.

Points for Mothers

Exercise For Young Mothers.

Too many young mothers become so absorbed in the care of their babies that they neglect the simple things so essential to their own health and happiness, says Dr. Edith B. Lowery.

Fresh air and exercise are indispensable to the health of every woman. Both are classed with the luxuries in many a mother's life, whereas they should be looked upon as necessities.

Every mother should make it a point to pass at least half an hour every day in the open air and another half hour doing something for her own pleasure. If your work is drudgery you cannot accomplish as much in a given time as you could if it were not so. A half hour's rest or change will give a woman added energy so that she can attack her mountain of housework with increased zeal.

Exercise and fresh air for the mother are essential to the health of the baby also. A mother who is tired out and suffering from oxygen starvation cannot give her child the same care that she could if she were in a fit condition. Any one who is worn out with sleepless nights cannot expect her brain to perform the same work as it would if it had been rested.

The mother's work is never done, and it seems as though there was no time for exercise or pleasure. She cannot find a stopping place where she can leave her work for a few minutes. This is one of the cases where we must "make time." Drop your work, if necessary, in the midst of the ironing and take a good drink of fresh air. It is much better that a family should have a few unironed clothes than that the mother should become worn out, nervous and cross from overwork.

Never Urge a Child to Eat.

Never urge a child to eat his meals. If he is hungry he will eat what is given to him, and if he is not it is better for him not to eat at all until the next meal. On no account should the mother try to tempt his appetite with delicacies. If the child becomes hungry before the next meal do not fix him up a lunch, but let him keep his full appetite for the meal to come.

There is a long list of things not to eat, but a few lines will cover the necessary precautions. The child should eat no fried food, no meat from the pig, veal, liver, heavy stews and duck, goose, sausage or salt meats. He must be denied all hot, fresh bread, muffins and biscuits or cakes and griddlecakes of all kinds; also all raw vegetables, as well as corn, cabbage, eggplant and salads raw, are taboo.

Tea and coffee should not be allowed until the child is past fifteen and only soda water and lemonade very occasionally.

It is only by caring for the child's diet by watching to see that the food is cut fine and well chewed—in fact, by protecting the small digestion at a time when the little one knows too little to care for it himself—that health and health's brother, happiness, can be assured for your little one's future.

Baby's Health.

The child who breathes with his mouth open usually has some obstruction in the back of the nose or throat which prevents him from breathing in the proper way. Frequently the cause is adenoids or enlarged tonsils and sometimes both. A specialist should be consulted without delay.

When the youngster comes down with an attack of indigestion the first move toward a cure is to give the bowels a complete clearing out with castor oil. The druggists have a way of preparing this with orange juice to make it more palatable, or else they put the oil in capsules, when it is not tasted at all.

Nurses are often very negligent in regard to keeping sunlight away from a sleeping baby's eyes. In parks and on the street one often sees a baby asleep in its carriage with the strong sunlight streaming over its face. Grownup humans know how their own eyes ache when they wake up in the morning with a glare of light on their faces. How much worse it must be for a baby's delicate eyes! Mothers should see that those to whom they intrust the care of their babies understand the importance of care in this respect.

Babies Would Be Less Trouble.

Frequently a mother who has brought up a large family of children without any system whatsoever will cheerfully announce that they are fairly good specimens of health.

And this may be so, yet there is nothing so good that it may not be improved upon. And if mothers would but realize the importance of systematic feeding of the babies their offspring would be infinitely less trouble and physically very much stronger.

A baby should be fed with the utmost regularity if he is to be well. For the first three months food should be given every two hours during the day and about every four hours during the night.

For the following six months he should be fed every three hours in the daytime and twice or thrice during the night, and after each meal in the day, as well as in the night, let the baby lie quietly for at least half an hour, so that nothing may hinder the process of digestion.

DANIEL G. REID.

First Defendant to Testify in the Steel Hearing.

REID'S MEMORY BAD.

Proves Rather Disappointing Witness In Suit Against Steel Company.

New York, May 14.—Daniel G. Reid, who was one of the organizers of the American Tin Plate company and several other subsidiaries now in the steel corporation, proved to be a rather disappointing witness for the government's side at the hearing in the suit against the steel corporation. Mr. Reid is named as one of the defendants in the government's suit.

The trouble was largely with Mr. Reid's memory, which did not include such facts as who composed the original underwriting syndicate of the American Tin Plate company beside himself and Judge Moore, what value was put on the tin plate plants that went into that combination or even what part of the underwriting he got himself.

It was so bad that it led Judge Dickinson to liken him at one stage to the horse led to water which couldn't be made to take a drink. The comparison caused considerable laughter. Mr. Reid remarked that thirteen years was some distance to travel back for him; also he said that his associate, Judge Moore, had charge of the underwriting and might know more. Judge Moore is likely to be called today.

MUTES IN WRANGLE.

Digital Uproar In Court Followed by Woman Witness Fainting.

New York, May 14.—The Tombs police court was thrown into confusion today by a group of deaf mutes, who made such a digital uproar that they had to be put out of the court. Henry J. Hecker, pressman, had summoned to court Miss Nora Sullivan, who, he alleged, hit him on the head with an umbrella on Chambers street on Saturday. Both complainant and defendant were deaf mutes.

Sergeant Quackenbos, who once taught in an institution for the deaf and dumb, acted as interpreter for the sign language. Miss Sullivan tried to tell him that Hecker had called her bad names. Sergeant Quackenbos said the language was very objectionable—that is, as much as he could catch of it, for the witness talked so fast he couldn't follow her. She talked so fast, in fact, that she went into hysterics and fainted.

Three court attendants carried her out to the magistrate's chamber and revived her. The next attempt to explain the case was worse than the first, and Magistrate Krotel finally threw the case out of court.

Some fifteen or twenty deaf mutes who had come as witnesses tried to mix it up in the corridor, but Sergeant Quackenbos got busy with his hands and told them to subside.

TAFT APPEALS TO WOMEN.

Female Votes May Determine Today's Primaries In California.

Washington, May 14.—The stirring appeal which President Taft has made to the newly enfranchised women voters of California, said to be the first of its kind in American history, is expected to show surprising results in today's primaries. It is said that the women voters of California are inclined to look favorably on Mr. Taft's candidacy for renomination.

His strategic move in making Miss Julia C. Lathrop the head of the children's bureau, which he has just established, has had much to do with this favorable attitude. Other measures of his administration have also met with approval.

Give Dinner to Curtis Guild.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—The Panama Pacific commission, headed by John Hays Hammond, wound up its work here with a dinner to Curtis Guild, Jr., the American ambassador. Mr. Hammond and the other members of the commission left for Vienna, where they are to take up the work of booming the San Francisco exposition.

Coming to New York by Canal.

Buffalo, May 14.—A seventy foot power boat carrying eight German-American business men from Detroit is held up here awaiting the opening of the Erie canal on Tuesday. The party left Detroit May 4 and expects to reach New York in time to greet the German fleet of battleships next week.

THE FORUM.

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Permit me to express myself in your pages on the question of Sewage disposal for Plainfield and North Plainfield, the most pressing matter the two municipalities now have to consider. I understand through your columns and from general conversation with a number of the officials of the city and borough, that the city expenditure if the present disposal works be enlarged, will amount to in round figures $175,000 and the borough plant if constructed on either of the two sites considered in North Plainfield township, will cost for the trunk line and disposal works, exclusive of the collecting sewers, approximately $200,000; that at the present time both Dunellen and Scotch Plains are disposed to consider favorably a joint sewage project and bear a proportionate share of the cost. Assuming that this be true and speaking again in round figures, it would seem that Scotch Plains and adjoining territory should contribute approximately $50,000 toward the cost and Dunellen at least $100,000 totaling these four items gives us $525,000. The present Plainfield sewer disposal works property, with the works removed could be sold for upwards of $50,000 giving a grand total of $575,000.

The interesting article in your paper a few days ago written by Frank J. Hubbard, C. E., placed the cost of a trunk line sewer, disposal works and pumping plant necessary to a complete outfit to handle affluent to tidewater at $469,000, over $100,000 less than the cost of the temporary make-shifts proposed by the city and borough. Members of the Council of both the city and borough have admitted to me that a trunk sewer to tidewater is the best permanent solution of this problem, but have said it was impossible on account of the cost. Are not the above figures conclusive evidence that the cost need not stand in the way of this satisfactory disposal of the sewage?

A. J. BRUNSON.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The Ginger Girls, with the original Texas Tommy Dancers from San Francisco as the added attraction, are at the Columbia theatre this week. The burlesque company is headed by Ed. Lee Wrothe, and others in the cast are Frank L. Wakefield, Jeanette Sherwood, Beattie Evans, Owen Martin and Frank Carson, and there is a large chorus of girls. In this production there is a realistic racing scene n which four horses appear running at top speed with a rapidly revolving panorama for a background. The rapid fire comedy and the spirited musical numbers in the Ginger Girls Show, together with the vivid reproduction of a race and the introduction of the lively Texas Tommy Dancers, give promise of a week of unusual excitement for patrons of the Columbia.

Mrs. John Dilts, of Elizabeth, is visiting Mrs. Walter Baker, of 14 Somerset place, for a few days.

Charles Dutcher, of this city, returned today from an automobile trip to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he spent Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. R. Morris Adkins and daughter, Frances, of Madison avenue, spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. Hastings H. Hunt, of White Plains, N. Y. Mrs. Adkins returned to New York in time to resume her work at the School of Medical Gymnastics and Massage, where she is finishing a course of study.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

This is a busy week for the City High School team. Following their victory last Saturday afternoon over New Brunswick, then one over Roselle yesterday, with a game with Leal's tomorrow, and ending with a game in New York, Friday, with the Manhattan Freshmen.

That comprises a pretty busy week for any school team.

The triple tie which the Rutherford, Jersey City and Plainfield Elks were locked up in at the end of the league season will be broken this week.

The fans at American League Park in New York bombarded Silk O'Loughlin with pop-bottles and other weapons in Saturday's game.

When will they learn that such actions do not help baseball, nor cause a change of decision by the umpires?

The Giants have a record of fifteen wins and one tie out of the last seventeen starts, and with four regulars out of the game at that.

One notable feature of Marquard's clean record of six straight wins is that he is no longer trying for strike-out records but allows his team to help him along.

Evidently Latham has been engaged as a substitute umpire by President Farrell in the New York State League.

Lou Slocum did manage to start the New York team of the U. S. League, pulling them out with their first victory in Saturday's game.

It was rather hard luck for the Leal's team, after going along nicely and having the game well in hand to go up at the last minute and allow the visitors to tie the score. But, that's baseball.

It would be a good plan to have a place for the score-keepers to sit at the different games of the Manufacturers' League. In last Saturday's games the fans crowded along the base line and shut off a number of plays that the scorers were unable to get.

Fritts had the bulge on the rest of the boys in the second Y. M. C. A. race, running away from the field at the very beginning and staying there to the end.

He is a good runner, with a long stride, that covers the long distance in excellent style.

Day took Saturday's cup however, owing to the rule stating that the same man cannot take two individual race cups.

The run scheduled for Sunday by the Motorcycle Club was postponed for one week because of the rainy weather.

Princeton's championship eleven has just received a gift of $25,000, the gift of Cyrus McCormick, whose son played upon the team.

The First Presbyterian Sunday-school has shown the way by organizing a Boy Scout troop. There are others to follow soon.

A. C. M.—The Y. M. C. A. started the Manufacturers' League movement. James E. Kimball, president of the Y. M. C. A., is also president of the league. The Daily Press gives the cup only.

Roselle came up from behind in their game with City High yesterday and came very near nosing out a victory.

Last night's New Brunswick Home News has the following to say of a Plainfield boy: "Schenck played some game for Rutgers in right field. In the second inning Wolff singled. Hamilton followed with another clout to right, but Schenck's throw to second beat Wolff for a force out, and Hamilton lost credit of a hit.

P. H. S.-Leal's game tomorrow.

CYRUS H. M'CORMICK.

Father of Football Hero Who Gave $25,000 to Princeton Team.

GIFT MAY CAUSE ROW.

Cyrus H. McCormick's $25,000 Present Is Stirring Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., May 14.—The whole university world is talking of the gift of $25,000 which Cyrus H. McCormick, '79, has just made to Eddie Hart's championship football team, to be disposed of as the members of the team decide. Mr. McCormick is known in the business world as an officer of the harvester trust, but he is better known at Princeton as the father of Cy McCormick, '12, the giant right guard on the team that won the football championship of the east for the first time since John De Witt led his eleven to victory in 1903.

So far as campus gossips were concerned the chief speculation was on the way in which this gift would be looked upon by the university authorities. Although President Hibben has repeatedly voiced his sympathy with the athletic development of the college it was believed by many that he might look askance upon what is called the "capitalization of a winning team."

P. H. S. JUNIORS TOO MUCH FOR SOPHOMORES

The Junior class team of the Plainfield High School defeated the Sophomores yesterday afternoon by the score of 16 to 6. It was the first game that the Juniors have played in the inter-class series but they performed well and looked like a strong team.

Bryniarski was in the box for the upper classmen and pitched a strong game, allowing only eight scattered hits and getting seven strike-outs. Butler and Lyon shared the honors in the box for the Sophomores but both were hit freely.

A feature of the game was a three-base hit by McDowell for the Juniors. The line-up:

ROSELLE FALLS AGAIN BEFORE P. H. S. TEAM

Enough Runs to Win Game Scored in First Three Innings.

Plainfield High School won its game with Roselle High School yesterday afternoon, adding another victory to its list, by a score of 8 to 7. P. H. S. boys crowded their eight runs into the first three innings. The home team taking a brace after this and held the visitors at a standstill, while they came from behind until within one of tying the score in the ninth.

In the first inning the Plainfield team scored four runs through a pass by Benedict a period of throwing the ball over each other's heads, a couple of passed balls and two solid hits. In the second and third they added two more respectively on another pass, two singles, some clever stealing and a two bagger. This ended the Plainfield team's scoring.

Roselle started to come to life in the third, putting two over the pan before the smoke had cleared. They added two in the sixth, two more in the seventh and added their final run in the last session.

Denny, who pitched for P. H. S., recorded nine strike-outs giving only one pass.

YANKS TRIM DRISCOLLS.

Dave Driscoll and his Plainfield team opened up new grounds in Hoboken Sunday before 4,000 spectators, and played the New York Yankees. The Yankees used every one of their regular line up excepting Jack Martin. Jack Warhop twirled for the leaguers and the Hoboken team collected four hits. Two of these were home runs by Stallings and Harter. The Yankees scored their winning run in the ninth.

KEEPING TRACK OF JACK.

In the game between the Yankees and the Tigers yesterday Jack Martin had his eye on the ball. He garnered three hits and three runs in his four times at bat and had four put outs and five assists with no errors to his credit. On top of all that he offered up one sacrifice hit to the cause. Incidentally the Yankees had a feast of runs and won for a change by the overwhelming score of 15 to 4.

TO BREAK TRIPLE TIE.

The games to decide the third, fourth and fifth places in the Elks' bowling league will be rolled this week. Tonight Jersey City will roll Rutherford at Elizabeth and on Thursday night the Plainfield Elks will meet both the winner and loser of tonight's match on the Elizabeth alleys, thus breaking the triple tie resulting at the close of the past season.

BATTIN A WINNER AFTER 12 INNINGS

N. P. H. S. Loses Hard Fought Game to Elizabeth Boys By An Eyelash.

The North Plainfield High School went eleven innings yesterday afternoon in their games with Battin High School, of Elizabeth, on Hyde Field before they allowed the visitors to get away with a win by the score of 4 to 3.

It was a tight game from beginning to end, and after the loose game put up by the North Plainfield boys against High Bridge on Saturday the result was a surprise to their supporters. It was the home team's game until Battin got to Stahl in the ninth inning, after he had pitched an excellent game, and tied the score by bunching three hits, two of them three-baggers.

Burner made a difficult one-handed stop with two men on bases in the sixth, pulling a double play unassisted. Smalley also put up an excellent game in the field.

Whitehouse Station, May 14.—There was a large gathering on the grounds of the Crescent Gun Club to witness the championship shoot of Hunterdon and Somerset counties. This was the second in the series and both of the cups were again captured by Raymond C. Stryker, of Whitehouse Station.

In the match for the individual championship at 100 targets a man, Stryker broke 85; Enoch Gary, of Sunnyside, 85; Bert Lindsley, of Whitehouse Station, 84; H. H. Miller, of Peapack, 82; John L. Weinrebe, of Whitehouse Station, 82; William Carpenter, of Millstone, 81; George H. Cramer, of High Bridge, 80; Charles Wyckoff, of Millstone, 77; John Doe, of Whitehouse Station, 74; F. A. Jackson, of Millstone, 72, and Dr. J. J. Rufe, of High Bridge, 70.

In the doubles Miller and Stryker were tied, with thirteen out of ten pairs of doubles. In the shoot-off Stryker won out by the score of 13 to 12. There were 3,000 targets thrown from the traps during the afternoon.

After the regular program there was a special match at 100 targets between stryker, Gary and Elmer Gardner, of Bernardsville. This was won by Stryker also. He broke 94, Gary 87 and Gardner 85.

WANT GAMES.

The baseball team of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, who are one of the leaders in the Manufacturers' League, have several dates open on Sundays and holidays, and would like to arrange games with strong semi-professional teams in this vicinity or teams of manufacturing or other industrial organizations offering suitable guarantee for expenses. Quick action being desired, it is requested that all managers of teams desiring to arrange games with this team will kindly communicate in detail with C. C. Thompson, Mgr. Spicer Mfg. Co.

LINCOLN GIANTS WILL BE SATURDAY'S ATTRACTION

Manager Dorsey announces the Lincoln Giants as the attraction staged for Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. This team will present their regular line-up with Redding and McClelland on the firing line, and Fanton to handle the big mit.

Plainfield's line-up will probably be the same as for the two previous Saturdays with the exception that a league pitcher will probably be procured to take Frederickson's place, who will remain upon the bench. The Lincoln Giants are considered the strongest colored professionals in the business and is a sample of the attractions that will be booked at the Oval if the fans show their approval.

RECTOR IS IN TRAINING.

Great Sprinter Will Try Hard to Make Place on Olympic Team.

James A. (Jimmy) Rector, the Virginia sprint marvel, who is at present residing in St. Louis, will try for the American Olympic team.

Reports have it that Rector is running in his old time form, while others say that the old time crack has shot his bolt and will never again be able to perform in his old time style. He will compete in the Olympic tryouts at Chicago, June 4.

Fans Should Remember This.

Emotional cranks who excoriate the umpire on the least provocation should remember that his judgment is as good as theirs and that he's nearer to the play.

Bresnahan Putting on Weight.

Roger Bresnahan is a real heavyweight. He tips the beam at 200 pounds, but is just as active as ever. He says he will catch regularly this year if possible and will gradually reduce. Roger admits that the time is rapidly approaching when he will be compelled to manage the St. Louis Cardinals from the bench.

Absent—Freeholders Acken, Darby and Meisel.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was ordered dispensed with.

Communications.

Board of Chosen Freeholders, County of Union, N. J.:

Be it further resolved, that a true and correct copy of this resolution be forwarded to said Board of Freeholders and to Mr. Henry Krouse, the chairman of the Board Committee of said board.

Attest: A. M. WOODRUFF, Borough Clerk.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur, this communication was received and ordered placed on file.

Elizabeth, April 16, 1912.

County Road Committee:

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur, this communication was received and ordered placed on file.

Committee Reports.

Elizabeth, N. J., April 18, 1912.

By Committee on Elizabeth Drawbridge:

The Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Elizabeth Drawbridges would respectfully report as follows:

The present bridge over the Elizabeth River at South street was built in 1896. It is of very light construction, and many of the members of the bridge are bent out of position. The bridge is in need of replanking and of new steel floor beams, the present floor beams being entirely rusted through in places. Contracts have been entered into by this committee for the replacing of the plank flooring and also a replacing of the steel beams, which said contracts amount to about $70. These contracts, however, have not yet been carried out.

This bridge, at the present time, requires extensive repairs besides those above mentioned. When the bridge is opened for river traffic one side of the long end of the bridge drops down out of level about eighteen inches. One corner of the short end of the bridge also drops down out of level. It is perfectly feasible to make repairs to this bridge which will permit it to be moved in a proper manner and without dropping under the level. If such repairs are undertaken, the present bent and twisted members of the steel construction should all be replaced. It is also quite possible that some of the present steel work would have to be strengthened by addition of other plates or the substitution of any members, in order to permit the bridge to operate perfectly. Your committee has not determined the cost of these repairs, but estimate the cost thereof at about $800.

If, therefore, the present contracts are carried out, and the bridge is otherwise repaired as stated, the whole cost would be probably not less than $1,500.

Your committee, together with the county engineer, has made careful examinations of the structure on different occasions, and it is our opinion that, owing to the lightness of the present construction, it would not be wise to spend $1,500 on this bridge in making repairs thereof, as we would still have an old and light bridge.

Your committee and the county engineer are of the opinion that the present steel superstructure should be removed and a new steel swing bridge be erected in its place.

The foundations of this bridge, including the centre pier, are apparently in very fair condition.

Your committee would, therefore, introduce the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Elizabeth Drawbridges be hereby empowered to proceed with the securing of plans and specifications and the construction of a new steel drawbridge on present foundations over the Elizabeth River at South street, Elizabeth, N. J., the cost of the work not to exceed the sum of $5,000.

Signed by the committee,
JOSEPH PERRY,
GEORGE G. TELLER,
D. F. HENNESSY.

On motion by Freeholder Smith, the report was received and ordered placed on file and the recommendations contained therein were on roll call adopted unanimously.

New Business.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Whereas, The Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union heretofore, to wit, on March 7, did adopt a resolution providing that that portion of Chestnut street and Stuyvesant avenue, in the County of Union and Borough of Roselle Park and described as follows:

Resolved, That the resolution heretofore adopted by this board looking to the improvement of that portion of Chestnut street lying within the Borough of Roselle Park, be and the same is hereby rescinded; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the clerk of this board to the clerk of said borough.

This resolution was, on motion by Freeholder Wilbur, adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Randolph:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to investigate conditions of the Grand street, Rahway, and report at our next meeting as to replanking same, together with the cost of the work.

This resolution was, on motion by Freeholder Jones, adopted unanimously. The Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Randolph, Gruener and Acken.

By Freeholder Teller:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine into the necessity of new culverts at the new street crossing underneath the Central R. R. of N. J., east of the Rahway River, at Cranford, N. J., the committee to report at the next meeting of this board what should be done, and the cost thereof.

This resolution was, on motion by Freeholder Randolph, adopted unanimously. The Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Teller, Hall and Bourdon.

By Freeholder Fay:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed with power to replank the bridge over Woodruff creek, in the City of Elizabeth, the cost not to exceed the sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125).

On motion by Freeholder Randolph, this resolution was on roll call adopted unanimously. The Director appointed as said committee Freeholders Fay, Smith and Perry.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Whereas, Charles Eilbacher has made application to this board for permit to occupy a portion of the street at Cranford, N. J., while erecting and constructing a new building on the premises known as the Sperry property; therefore be it

Resolved, That permission be given to said applicant to occupy about one-third of the street fronting said premises where said building is to be located during the progress of the erection and construction of said building, upon condition that the applicant enter into bond to this board in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), agreeing to indemnify the county against, and the public against all claim or claims for damages by reason thereof.

This resolution was, on motion by Freeholder Gruener, adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Whereas, This board heretofore, on February 15, 1912, adopted resolutions looking to the acquiring and improving of the following named streets, namely:

Newark avenue, beginning at North Broad street; thence running northeasterly to the city line of the City of Elizabeth, said road being at least one hundred (100) feet in width and one mile in length;

Westfield avenue, beginning at Broad street; thence running southwesterly to the city line, being sixty (60) feet in width, a part of said distance, and eighty (80) feet in width the remainder thereof, and being about one mile in length;

And South avenue, in the City of Plainfield, extending from Richmond street northeasterly to its intersection with Terrill road, a distance of about one and a half miles, said street being sixty-six (66) feet in width.

And whereas, in and by said resolutions, the county engineer was directed to cause a map to be made of the same, and to be filed in the office of the clerk of the county; and

Whereas, The act of 1889, under which said roads are to be constructed, required under said proceedings, that said board shall cause a map to be made, or adopt a map already made, on which the principal public roads or highways of the county shall be, or are plainly laid down; and

Whereas, It is ascertained that a map has already been made on which the principal public roads or highways of the county are laid down, said map now being on file in the clerk's office, and known as a county road map; therefore be it

Resolved, That the roads, streets and avenues hereinabove referred to, and hereinbefore adopted and proposed to be improved under said act, be plainly indicated on said map not on file.

On motion by Freeholder Gruener, this resolution was on roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That proper advertisement and notice specifying the work to be done, and the materials to be used, and inviting bids or propositions for said work, in the building and constructing of that portion of

Rahway avenue, in the City of Elizabeth;

Newark avenue, in the City of Elizabeth;

Westfield avenue, in the City of Elizabeth;

And South avenue, in the City of Plainfield, heretofore adopted as county roads under the act entitled "An act to enable Boards of Chosen Freeholders to acquire, improve and maintain public roads," approved March 19, 1889, and the supplements thereto and amendments thereof, be published as required by law; and be it further

Resolved, That the County Road Committee be and are hereby authorized to receive and open bids for said work, and award contracts upon the same, upon the plans and specifications for the same prepared by the county engineer, which are hereby approved.

Dated April 18, 1912.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was on roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Whereas, This board has heretofore adopted as county roads the following named streets, namely:

Rahway avenue, in the City of Elizabeth;

Newark avenue, in the City of Elizabeth;

Westfield avenue, in the City of Elizabeth;

And South avenue, in the City of Plainfield, and are proposing to build and construct the same in accordance with the provisions of an act of the Legislature, entitled "An act to enable Boards of Chosen Freeholders to acquire, improve and maintain public roads," approved March 19, 1889, and the supplements thereto and amendments thereof; and

Whereas, For the purpose of raising money to pay the cost of paving, macadamizing or otherwise improving said roads it will be necessary to issue bonds of the county; and

Whereas, Prior to the issuing of such bonds, it is necessary for this board to make application to the Circuit Court of the County of Union, setting forth the assessed value of the real estate in said county for the purpose of taxation in the year 1911, together with a statement of the entire debt of the county for all purposes, and the amount of county road bonds proposed to be issued; therefore be it

Resolved, That the county attorney be and is hereby authorized and requested to prepare and make such application to the Circuit Court, and to do all matters and things necessary or required to be done in said matter, in accordance with the provisions of the act aforesaid.

AIRSHIP KILLS 2; MASON IS VICTIM

Former Secretary to Alger Dashed to Death.

AIRMAN FISHER ALSO DEAD

Sopwith, Flying Nearby, Prevents the Burning of Bodies—Mason Prominent In New Jersey Politics and Member of Many Clubs.

London, May 14.—Victor Louis Mason, an American mining promoter prominent in national and New Jersey politics, and the English aviator, E. V. S. Fisher, were instantly killed at the Brooklands Aviation grounds, when an airship in which they were riding crashed 150 feet to the ground.

Mason was a friend of the British naval air man, Commander Sampson, who gratified his wish for an air trip by asking Fisher to take him up. The pair circled the Brooklands course about half a dozen times in a Howard-Flanders monoplane. They were coming down when the machine seemed to sideslip suddenly and then dived down straight like a stone for about 150 feet.

Aviator Sopwith, who was flying about at the time, saw what had happened and swooped down to the spot to see what he could do. He found both men dead, the machine a wreck and the tank burning. Mason's clothes were on fire. Sopwith and some men whom he called to his help succeeded in extinguishing the fire before the bodies were burned up.

It appeared to be certain that both men were killed instantly. Their spines were dislocated. It has as yet been impossible to decide as to the exact cause of the accident.

Mason Was Well Known.

Victor Louis Mason was born in Washington on Dec. 9, 1870. In 1897 he took his B. S. degree at George Washington university in that city and the same year was appointed private secretary to Secretary of War Alger, a position which he retained for two years. He had interested himself in New Jersey politics and was a delegate to the Republican state convention in 1898, being named by that body as an alternate delegate to the national convention in Chicago. Relinquishing his duties at Washington, he went to Detroit in 1899 and was associated with General Alger there until 1902, when he returned to New Jersey and made his home in Passaic. He was vice president of the Development Company of America, director of the Imperial Copper company, Tombstone Consolidated Mining company, Poland Mining company and the Gila Copper Sulphide company. From 1906 to 1909 he was president of the Passaic board of trade.

He was a member of the Metropolitan, Lawyers' and other clubs.

One Killed, Another Dying.

St. Louis, May 14.—Raymond Wheeler, student aviator, aged thirty, of Washington was almost instantly killed and Peter Glasser, student aviator, aged twenty-seven, of Billings, Mont., received injuries which will probably cause his death when an aeroplane in which they were flying at Kinloch field, St. Louis, became unmanageable in a high wind, crashed into a telegraph pole and dropped forty feet to the ground, burying the two students in the wreckage.

Sea Gull Spills Airman.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 14.—While flying over the ocean at Venice at a height of a thousand feet Phil Parmalee's biplane struck a seagull, and the machine dropped like a plummet 500 feet before he could regain control. Thousands of spectators on the sands and piers thought the young aviator was plunging to his death in the ocean. Parmalee worked desperately at the levers and succeeded in balancing his machine and starting the engine.

AIR ARMY IS NEEDED.

Volunteer Aeronauts Necessary if United States Went to War.

New York, May 14.—How far the United States is behind other countries in military aviation was shown at a dinner given by the Aero Club of America to General James Allen, head of the signal corps of the United States army, who told of the need of legislation to provide an effective air corps for the United States.

General Allen said that if the country went to war the brunt of the aerial military work would fall on volunteers. Stations should be provided to train them, he said, and also to see that the national guard could hold their own in the field of aeronautics.

BIG EXHIBIT IN NEWARK OPENED

President Taft Presses Button 500 Miles Away.

MORE THAN 200 EXHIBITORS

Crowds of People Pack First Regiment Armory—Principal Streets Are Lighted Up at Night—Slogan Is "Newark Knows How!"

Newark, N. J., May 14.—Crowds of people packed the First regiment armory building in Newark at the formal opening of the Newark Industrial exposition, at which products manufactured by local concerns will be put on display. There are 206 exhibitors at the show, which the committee predicts will be the greatest in the history of the city. It will continue until May 25.

The exposition was opened by President Taft, who was more than 500 miles away. While he was traveling on a train between Bellaire and Steubenville, O., the train was stopped, and he entered an office of the Western Union Telegraph company and pressed an electric button at 7:30 o'clock, which threw on the current for 5,000 incandescent lights in the armory building and about 25,000 of the lamps strung along the principal streets leading to the building, besides the many other illuminations.

Brief ceremonies were held in one of the squad rooms immediately after the lights were thrown on. The Rev. Dr. William J. Dawson of the First Presbyterian church made the invocation and Mgr. Isaac P. Whelan of St. Patrick's cathedral gave benediction. Addresses were made by Mayor Haussling and Curtis R. Burnett, president of the board of trade.

The executive committee in charge of the show is composed of Mr. Burnett, George W. Jagle, John L. O'Toole, James M. Reilly and H. Stacy Smith. The slogan is "Newark Knows How."

TRAMPLED BY HORSE.

Father Badly Hurt, Mother and Daughter Narrowly Escape Death.

Cranford, N. J., May 14.—Placed by her father on the back of a supposedly gentle horse, the two-year-old daughter of J. Frank Doremus frightened the animal with her joyous capers. She was thrown before her father could reach her. She was trampled and bruised. Doremus, in trying to rescue her, had a leg broken by blows from the frantic animal's hoofs. Mrs. Doremus, who had accompanied her husband and daughter to the stable, got the child out, but was painfully hurt herself.

Her cries for help brought James Corbett and Frank Sanders, who dragged Doremus, unconscious and terribly hurt, from the stall. Beside a fractured leg he had a cut seven inches long on his head. Internal injuries are feared.

Doremus is a grocer here. Just after preparing for church his family went to the stable to look at the stock. Doremus took the child into the stall and placed her on the horse's back, as he had done often before.

MOTORCYCLISTS HIT WAGON.

Farmer Drove on and Left Disabled Couple to Care For Themselves.

Egg Harbor, N. J., May 14.—While on his way to Atlantic City, Randolph Bates of this city was driving his tandem motorcycle at a speed of eighteen mines an hour when he suddenly crashed head-on into a farm wagon.

Bates was hurled into a ditch, and his companion, Miss Lillian Edwards of Atlantic City, was pinned beneath the heavy machine. Dragging himself from the ditch, Bates lifted the motorcycle from the body of the unconscious young woman. Meanwhile the farmer had whipped his horse into a gallop and escaped, leaving the young couple alone on the dark road. Bates finally succeeded in reviving his companion, who was terribly cut about the head and body.

Together they walked to this city, where Dr. Frank dressed their injuries. The young woman collapsed several times during the walk. Bates says the wagon was on the wrong side of the road and without any light, while he himself had two lights burning brightly.

Montclair Garden Prizes.

Montclair, N. J., May 14.—James N. Jarvie has given $500 to be distributed as prizes for the best gardens in Montclair. The competition is open to all and will differ somewhat from that of last year and the year previous, when Mr. Jarvie also offered prizes. There will be one general prize for a garden of any size instead of three separate prizes for places of varying sizes, and there will also be prizes for the best garden in each of the several wards of the town.

What is said to be the most wonderful rock chimney in America stands near High Bridge, Ky. This natural chimney is seventy-five feet high and only 4 by 6 feet at its base. It is so delicately molded that it looks as if a push would send it over, yet it has successfully defied the storms of unknown ages.

U. S. SENATOR WORKS.

Father of Measure Limiting the President's Term to Six Years.

The senate judiciary committee has decided to report favorably the Works resolution restricting the presidential tenure of office to a single term of six years. A minority report favoring a single term of four years also will be made from the committee. The reports are expected to be made in a day or two.

NAMES ASTOR GUARDIAN.

A. Perry Osborn to Represent Muriel In Will Probate Proceedings.

New York, May 14.—Surrogate Fowler fulfilled one of the legal requirements preliminary to the probate of the will of Colonel John Jacob Astor next Friday, when he appointed A. Perry Osborn, a lawyer, as special guardian for Muriel Astor, ten years old, in connection with the probate proceedings only.

Under the law relating to the estates of decedents, when the petition accompanying a will states that one of the heirs-at-law is under fourteen years old, the probate department of the surrogate's office is required to bring such facts to the attention of the surrogate in order that a special guardian may be appointed for the infant heir.

For this reason no petition by Mrs Astor for the appointment of a special guardian for her daughter was necessary. In the case of Vincent Astor and the widow, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, it will be necessary for their legal advisers to petition court to appoint special guardians for them, since they are over the age of fourteen and have to be consulted concerning such appointments.

As special guardian Mr. Osborn will not have the handling of any of his ward's estate, and for that reason his fee will be merely nominal.

BRANDT CASE ON TODAY.

Meanwhile Banker Schiff's Former Valet Is In Tombs.

New York, May 14.—The application for an appeal by Foulke E. Brandt from the decision of the appellate division of the supreme court ordering him back to the custody of the warden of Dannemora prison was put off until today, by request of counsel for Brandt.

Assistant District Attorney Johnstone appeared and filed the formal order of the court. Later an assistant from the office of Mirabeau L. Towns, counsel for Brandt, called upon Justice Ingraham and declared that Mr. Towns needed more time; therefore the case was put over until today.

In the meantime Brandt remains in the Tombs.

RICHESON TRIES TO GET POISON

Declared He Offered $100 For Vial of Cyanide.

GUARD AGAINST SUICIDE.

One Insanity Test of Condemned Slayer of Avis Linnell Lasts More Than Seven Hours — Ex-Minister Fresh Doctors Find, at the End.

TRYING TESTS APPLIED BY RICHESON ALIENISTS.

Besides being made to sing and whistle by the three alienists appointed by Governor Foss to examine Clarence V. T. Richeson, these additional physical tests were employed:

Kneecaps were tapped with silver hammers.

Blindfolded and made to jump first on one foot and then on the other.

Pricked all over his body with a gold pin.

Eyelids were twitched this way and that.

Forced to hold his hands extended so that the trembling of the fingers might be observed.

Put through a brisk series of gymnastic "stunts."

Made to hop about the room seminude.

Rigorously questioned on incidents in his life for years back to the time he was six years old.

Made to walk a tape stretched along the floor.

Made to squat down on his heels and then rise again, his eyes blindfolded, time after time.

Tapped on the tendon above the heel with the little silver hammer.

Boston, May 14.—With the decision as to the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson's fate due today extra precautions have been adopted in guarding the prisoner, due to a fear that he will try to cheat the electric chair if Governor Foss finds from the alienists' report that he is insane.

This vigilance is caused by the discovery that Richeson has recently tried to bribe a jail trusty to buy poison for him. An official in the case is authority for the statement that within a fortnight Richeson offered a man in the Charles street jail $100 if he would procure for him a small vial of cyanide of potassium, the same deadly poison that Richeson bought from a Newton Centre druggist and gave to Avis Linnell.

Miss Edmands Writes to Him.

It was also learned that Richeson has been in constant correspondence with Miss Violet Edmands since his arrest. She is still doing settlement work on the east side in New York.

The death chamber in Charlestown state prison is in readiness to receive Richeson. The men who will accompany him there have been assigned. A few minutes before the time set Sheriff Quinn will go to Richeson's cell and tell him that the change is to be made.

The prisoners in the tiers of cells through which Richeson must pass will be moved to other parts of the jail so that he may be spared their jibes. A closed carriage will be used, and the route will probably be down Charles street to the Charles river dam, thence to Prison Point street and the state prison.

Here Warden Bridges will officially receive Richeson, who will be quickly taken to the death house in the cell adjoining the electric chair.

Foss Studies Briggs' Report.

After Governor Foss had spent an hour and a half in going over the report of Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, the first alienist to examine Richeson, he took the report home to further study it.

"I shall not be able to make a decision until I get the reports from Drs. Stedman, Frost and Tuttle," said Governor Foss. "I expect these reports today, so that I will be able to decide on the matter soon after that."

MAY HEAR QUACKENBUSH.

Senator Bristow Asks For All Correspondence In Case.

Washington, May 14.—The senate adopted a resolution offered by Senator Bristow, the Kansas insurgent, directing the postmaster general to furnish the senate all correspondence between the president and other persons relative to the discharge and reinstatement of Charles H. Quackenbush.

The charge is made that Quackenbush was active in organizing postal employees and was dismissed by Mr. Hitchcock for that reason. It is alleged that later the president, over the protest of the postmaster general, reinstated Quackenbush, who is said to have worked for the Taft forces in the recent Massachusetts primaries. Mr. Bristow, an avowed enemy of the administration, wants to air the case in the senate.

Judge Hanford Criticised.

Washington, May 14.—The action of Judge Hanford of the United States court at Seattle in cancelling the citizenship papers of Leonard Olson, a Socialist agitator, was criticised today by members of congress. LIGHTS IN MINES.

First Praetioal Tast of Davy's 8af«ty Lamp Was Dramatic.

If you have ever looked at pictures , of coal miners you must have noticed that they are sometimes represented ! with peculiar little lamps stuck In their enps. These are known as the Davy I safety lamp. The flame Is entirely surrounded with very fine gauze wire, j which permits enough air to enter to keep tbe lamp aligbt. but is too One for any flame to pasn through it. The dangerous gases in the coal mine can enter tbe lamp and burn, but the flame cannot get out.

Before this Invention the miners often worked In absolute darkness, as It would have been madness to carry a light Into any cool mine, where whnt la called fire damp Is common.

Tbe safety lamp was invented by Sir Humphry Davy, a famous Enp -! lish sciential, but the wonderful thing I about the story of Its Invention 1* that no one could be found who would I dare to carry It Into a coal mine to test It. I

On Jan. 9. 181*5, John Hodgmn. a j minister who lived near Newcastle. In! the north of England, which is a great coal mining region, volunteered to go I down Into the Hebburn coal pit with j a lighted Davy lamp In his hand so as to settle for all time whether It was really a safety lamp or no.

The first miner who saw him approach was nearly bexide binwelf with terror and screamed and prayed for whoever it was to put out the light before it waa too late. Bat tbe minister walked steadily on, confident In the truth of the scientific fact upon which tbe lamp was built, until be got close enough for the miner to recognize him.

Every miner to tbe pit knew the par- j son. and their confidence In htm and { what be told them was greater than tbetr faith In tbe lamp, ranch aa they deMred ft. But for the bravery of tbl« Newcastle preacher It might have been a long time before tbe lamp came Into «ae. If at all.-Exebanze.

ORDER ENLARGEMENT OF ISOLATION WARD

Muhlenberg Governors Expect New Building Plans Soon—W. C. Kinney Resigns.

William C. Kinney, who has been a member of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital for several years, and who has devoted a great deal of time to the work of the institution in his capacity as president of the board and in other capacities, has resigned, and Henry A. McGee, of North Plainfield, has been elected in his place. The annual election of the governors resulted in the choice of the following:

Edward H. Booth, William R. Cock, Frank J. Hubbard, Louis K. Hyde, Harry W. Marshall, Charles W. McCutchen, George P. Mellick and Henry A. McGee.

The governors have gratefully acknowledged the receipt of $400 from the pupils of the Hartridge School, for the purpose of endowing two beds for children for one year. One of these beds is in memory of Evelyn Gertrude Frost.

The board has authorized an enlargement of the building which is used as an isolation ward. This will be done at a moderate cost. The improvement is needed in order to provide for the treatment of more than one contagious disease at a time. The report of the treasurer regarding the collection of campaign funds is very satisfactory, showing that pledges are being kept.

The building committee has been busy with the plans and details for the proposed new buildings to be erected, and it is expected that they will be presented for the approval of the board at the June meeting. It is hoped to start the work this summer with a view to having the same completed before next winter.

The medical report for April showed 39 regular patients remaining at the hospital April 1, and 107 patients admitted during the month, making a total of 146 in wards and private rooms. There were 75 patients discharged cured; 16 improved and 3 unimproved; 4 patients died. The percentages for the month follow: Free ward, 47; pay ward, 36; free isolation ward, 3; pay isolation ward, 1; private room patients, 13. In the dispensary 142 patients were treated and there were 355 visits to the dispensary, an average of 12 patients a day. In the tuberculosis pavilion there were 7 patients treated during the month. There were 15 ambulance calls and a total of 288 patients treated in all departments of the hospital.

CHESS EXHIBITION AT Y. M. C. A. ON MAY 28

Interest is being revived in chess at the Y. M. C. A. Stanley H. Chadwick, of the Brooklyn Chess Club, has consented to meet all comers in a simultaneous exhibition on Tuesday evening, May 28, starting promptly at 8 o'clock. Plainfield can boast of some excellent players and it is hoped that they will try their skill in contest with the veteran.

There will be no objection to two players consulting or playing as a team at one board. Westfield and Cranford have been invited to send players. All those who are interested kindly communicate with James McClymont, 918 West Sixth street, telephone 407-L at once.

NUNS RESCUE FARMHAND FROM AN ENRAGED BULL

Denville, May 15.—John Shehan, a farmhand employed at the sanitarium of the Sisters of the Sorrowful Mother, probably owes his life to two sisters of the order, who a few days ago rescued him from the attacks of a savage bull. They dragged him out of danger.

Shehan had gone into the pen to feed the animal, when suddenly, and without warning, he was attacked. When it seemed as if he would be gored by the bull's horns, he screamed for help, his cries being heard by the sisters, who were nearby. They reached the pen just in time to rescue the man. This was the second time Sheehan was attacked by the animal.

PATENTS DEVICE FOR NIGHT SIGNALS BY AUTOMOBILISTS

Amos Stites, of West Front street, received work from the government authorities at Washington, today, that his application for a patent on an automobile safety signal device had been granted. The matter has been pending for several months and the information is added that the Plainfielder's invention is distinctly original, approaching in no way anything of the kind that has been passed upon before.

The device is an electrical appliance, operated automatically by both the steering wheel and brake. When the car is turned either to the right or left or is stopped by the application of the brake, a green light is displayed on both sides of the auto, visible front and rear. This serves as a warning to anyone ahead or behind of what is being done, lessening the danger of collision at night.

Several concerns are already in negotiation with Mr. Stites for the purchase of the patent rights and if none are accepted, he will organize a local company to manufacture the device.

FURTHER HISTORY OF SEWER PLANS

Written by Councilman Buttfield in Reply to Councilman Holt.

AS TO ETHICS INVOLVED

Mr. Holt's Reply to Mr. Gilbert's Strictures, Says Mr. Buttfield, Far From a Correct Presentation of the Case.

W. J. Buttfield, chairman of the North Plainfield Council's Sewer Committee, in a letter to the Daily Press today answers a recent communication of City Councilman Frank L. Holt, to the Daily Press on the subject of joint sewerage for Plainfield and North Plainfield. Councilman Holt's letter was written in reply to an editorial on joint sewerage contributed by former Mayor Alexander Gilbert.

Mr. Buttfield's letter follows:

"Editors Plainfield Daily Press:

"The attitude of the Borough in the above matter has been brought into question by the reply of Mr. Frank L. Holt, appearing in your issue of April 30th last, to the editorial of Mr. Alexander Gilbert on this same subject. Without wishing to cause friction between the two municipalities, it is due their inhabitants, particularly those of the Borough, that any impression erroneously created should be corrected.

"Mr. Gilbert points out that the Borough, after accepting the City's invitation to reopen the question of a joint sewerage undertaking, was not accorded a reception which courtesy demanded, and that while there was still pending a proposed co-partnership agreement upon plans jointly prepared, the City Council was working secretly in other directions, keeping the Borough in entire ignorance thereof.

"The gist of Mr. Holt's answer to the severe strictures on the ethical question raised is a statement that simultaneously with the rejection of the joint plans, an invitation was extended to the Borough to join in a system with disposal works at the Darling site, and that, ignoring this invitation, the Borough renewed its application to the State Board of Health in respect of its own plans at the Zvolnck site. This is far from a correct presentation of the case.

"On February 19th last, the City Common Council passed the following resolution;

"'Resolved, That it is the sense of the Common Council that it is not desirable that the City of Plainfield should join with North Plainfield in a joint sewer system with disposal works to be located at the Cramer farm; but that the corporation counsel and the city surveyor be instructed to advise the Common Council with respect to the procedure and expense of locating disposal works at the Darling farm. in Piscataway township, and constructing a trunk sewer thereto, and that a sum not exceeding $500 be appropriated for that purpose.'

"In passing, attention is called to the fact that the City displayed considerable hesitancy in appropriating $150 as its half share towards joint plans.

"This resolution was the first intimation the Borough received of the rejection of the plans or consideration of the Darling site, and there was no accompanying suggestion of further conference or invitation extended. Within two days of the City's action above noted, the Borough renewed its own application as to the Zvolnck farm, and a public hearing before the State Board of Health was set for the morning of March 5th. On the night of March 4th, the City Common Council passed further resolutions as to the Darling farm, and made some suggestions as to the Borough joining in its plans at that site. Of this eleventh hour action, North Plainfield received notification two hours before the public hearing above referred to. Rightly or wrongly, this was construed as an attempt to sidetrack the Borough's proposal before the State Board of Health by suggesting that the approval of its plans should be withheld in favor of the adoption of the City's proposition as to the Darling site, it being well-known that the board is opposed to a duplication of disposal plants.

"It might be in order briefly to recite the facts concerning North Plainfield's efforts in the past towards consolidation of interests in this matter:

"In 1907 an agreement was reached with Mr. Daniel Ginna (the chairman of the committee on sewers) whereby the Borough should pay the City $25 per 1,000,000 gallons for disposing of the Borough's sewage at the City's present works. In the face of a recommendation from the Borough's engineers that it would be more economical to install its own plant, this proposal was accepted on the theory that it would be wiser for North Plainfield to conserve its finan-

A Cornish Superstition.

The word "rabbits" on board a Cornish fishing smack arouses the anger of the crew. Should the word be uttered as the boat is leaving the harbor on a pilchard expedition the speaker would stand a chance of being hurled overboard, as the mere mention of rabbits is believed to destroy all chances of a catch.

RESULTS TELL.

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Plainfield.

Results tell the tale.

All doubt is removed.

The testimony of a Plainfield citizen.

Can be easily investigated.

What better proof can be had?

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 1009 South Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "There was a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly and any hard work made my condition worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and various other remedies but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. They did such good work in correcting my trouble that I heartily recommend them." (Statement given August 25, 1908.)

Re-Endorsement.

Mrs. Driscoll was interviewed on January 29, 1911, and she added to the above: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as I have been for the past five years. They made a lasting cure in my case."

TUSSLES TO GIVE CASH TO SPARTAN CONSTABLE

New Providence, May 15.—For a time at the meeting of the Borough Council Monday night spectators treated to the sight of Councilman Myers and Constable Miller wrestling around the borough hall, with money flying in many directions.

Myers was valiantly trying to force the constable to accept the currency, which Miller, with Sparan-like fortitude, thrust from him again, again and again.

Into Miller's pockets the currency would not go, for the constable would not remain still long enough for the councilman to accomplish the presentation.

All that was the matter was that Miler's claim for fees due for the collection of delinquent poll taxes had been denied. Myers wanted to pay the bill out of his own pocket, but this the constable would not agree to. The bill amounted to $12.50.

Miller claimed twenty-five per cent. on $50. His compensation, he declared, was to be one-quarter of what he collected. There was paid him by delinquents $38 and $12 was turned in to Colector Doty as a sequel to Miller's visits.

One reason for denial of the constable's claim was that the Council's resolution which authorized collection of the taxes by Miler was characterized as invalid. Myers, at whose instance the resolution was passed, then offered to pay Miller from his own pocket.

All of the councilmen who voted for the collection of the money when the alleged invalid resolution was submitted, voted against payment of Miler's bill.

RAHWAY'S FOURTH.

Rahway, May 15.—Fourth of July will be publicly celebrated here under the direction of a committee appointed by the Board of Trade. The committee Monday night outlined its program, which will consist of a parade in the morning, in which school pupils, firemen, military organizations, civic societies, lodges, clubs and merchants will take part. Numerous handsome floats will be in line. Following the parade public exercises will be held at "Squier's Island." In the afternoon there will be athletic sports, and at night a river carnival, followed by a display of fireworks in the eastern section of the city. Invitations will be sent to United States Senators Briggs and Martine, Congressman Tuttle and prominent State officials to be present.

GIVES $3,000 BAIL.

New Brunswick, May 15.—Charles Yetter, of Reading, Pa., gave bail here Monday in $3,000 on a charge of manslaughter. Yetter had charge of the automobile which ran down Isadore Fedor, a four-year-old boy, of Deans. The case came up before the grand jury yesterday. Former Senator Theodore Strong, who represents Yetter, said that at the time of the accident one or two women in Yetter's car fainted and that in the stress of the moment the other occupants of the car made the blunder of running away. He said that Yetter had suffered keenly since the accident. Mr. Strong added that Yetter would have surrendered before Monday had it not been for a misunderstanding between Yetter's counsel in Reading and himself, Strong.

PROTECTING THE BIRDS.

Bird and game lovers about the country will be gratified to learn that the bill introduced in Congress by Senator McLean for the protection of migratory birds is almost certain of passage at the present session. Both in the House and the Senate the measure has been reported favorably by the committee and so far as can be learned there is no opposition to it.

The American Game Protective and Propagation Association has set forth clearly the necessity for quick action. In a circular issued a few days ago, the association states incidently:

"Millions of dollars can annually be saved to the people of the United States by wise and conservative treatment of the enormous natural resources represented by our migrants. Under present conditions countless numbers of ducks, geese, and shore birds are slaughtered at a time when every female killed means the destruction of a small flock. At all times the killing goes on at a rate that is out of proportion to the natural increase.

"It is further pointed out in this report that the annual loss to the country through insect pests amounts to from $795,000,000 to $800,000,000. To bring home the significance of these figures, the report adds that 'there are about 600 colleges in the United States today. Their buildings and endowments have been centuries in accumulation. The value of the college and university buildings is estimated at $260,000,000 and the endowments at $219,000,000. If they should be destroyed tomorrow—buildings and endowments—the insect tax of one year would replace them and leave a balance sufficient to endow thirty-two new universities in the sum of $10,000,000 each.

"'We have in this country today about 20,000,000 school children, and the cost of their education has become by far the heaviest tax laid upon the surplus of the country, yet it costs more by many millions to feed our insects than it does to educate our children. If there is any way in which this vast and destructive tax upon the National income can be prevented or stayed or resisted in any appreciable measure, it would seem to be the part of wisdom to act without delay.'"

Foes of Commission Rule cite Trenton as an example of the alleged shortcomings of the truly business scheme of municipal government. Anent this, the Trenton True American said this morning:

"The commissioners came into office August 22, 1911, so they have over three months of administration to finish before completing their first year. And when that year is complete the results should be compared with previous results on exactly the same basis of accounting. In all cities governed on the old plan of separate powers and kindred authority, it was the practice to make fictitious budgets. Expenditures were underestimated and receipts overestimated, so a growing floating debt was a regular feature of municipal finance, to be cared for at intervals by bond issues.

The Trenton Board of Commissioners had to grapple with that situation on assuming office. The tax levy was not enough to meet the expenditures, and hence the Commisioners had to revise the estimates for 1911, increasing the amount to be raised by taxation about $40,000. That did not mean that the cost of government was increased, but simply that the Commissioners intended to pay the bills as they went along, and not create a floating debt. Meanwhile the Commissioners have been steadily improving the administration in economy and efficiency, and the results will appear in due time.

"The commission plan has now been adopted by over 130 cities, and it has never been a failure yet. Trenton will prove no exception to the general rule."

Commission Government has won the day at Atlantic City—the worst boss-ridden and most corrupt municipality in New Jersey. Friends of decent rule were jubilant last night when the result was learned and already candidates, substantial and honorable business men, are being groomed for the contest for commissionerships. There is no place in the whole State where this improved form of administration of public affairs is so sorely needed as at that resort community and now that it is to be had we can look for better government there.

Elizabeth also registered its verdict on the same proposition yesterday. There, however, the commission plan met with defeat. Naturally the Democratic administration at the county seat of Union did not want to be ousted and furthermore the bosses of that party did not desire to lose their control of the people's business. Their determined opposition was given aid and comfort by the Socialists, a party which is a strong factor in politics in that city. The Socialists voted solidly against the proposed innovation. As a result, hopes of commission rule are lost to Elizabeth for at least two years to come.

That popular weekly feature, the contributed editorial, next Saturday will be written by the rector of one of the largest and most influential parishes in this section of the State. This man of the cloth has a faculty of concise, forceful expression and his writings have a marked literary value. Best of all, what he says is to the point and he hits the mark every time.

HISTORY OF SEWER PLANS

cial resources pending the time when the City would be compelled to move its plant, in which event the Borough would be in a position to co-operate. Before this agreement could be consummated the personnel of the City's committee was changed, and additional terms were injected which rendered the contract impossible from North Plainfield's standpoint.

"In 1909 plans for a trunk sewer to a point below Bound Brook were jointly considered, but the cost proved prohibitive.

"That same year, after prolonged negotiations, an agreement was reached with the City for a joint sewer with disposal works at a point in the Greenbrook Valley under which the cost was apportioned 75 per cent. against the City and 25 per cent. against the Borough. To quote from the City's Committee report to its Common Council, dated December 6, 1909:

"'It was therefore agreed that each committee would recommend to its respective Council that the cost be adjusted on the basis of 75 per cent. thereof to be paid by Plainfield and 25 per cent. by North Plainfield.'

"Absence of legal authority was then encountered, and to overcome this difficulty, the City requested the Borough to undertake the framing and passage of the needed legislation. An Act, known as the 1910 Joint Sewerage Law, was drawn up by Mr. Sherrerd Depue, the Borough's counsel, carefully amended by the City authorities, under the advice of the late Craig A. Marsh, and as finally agreed to by all, was passed by the Legislature. After the passage of this act, the two committees (the personnel of the committee from the City being identical with that making the above report) met presumably to conclude their agreement, but the Borough was met by a flat refusal from the City to proceed further unless 30 per cent. of the cost was levied upon North Plainfield, which would have been a charge of $13.64 per capita as compared with $9.46 against the City's inhabitants. To this day no reason or excuse has been assigned for thus repudiating the agreement reached, based upon which the Borough incurred considerable expense and labor in accomplishing that which the City had requested. It is difficult to avoid the impression that the same guiding spirit in this breach of good faith was in evidence in the acts of the City Common Council so severely criticised by Mr. Gilbert.

"Once more the Borough showed its earnest desire to co-operate, when this year it temporarily dropped its own plans at the urgent request of prominent citizens and taxpayers of the City, with the result above referred to.

"Briefly stated the Borough's proposition at the conference with the City was—that it should pay 25 per cent. of the cost of the improvement and be entitled to 25 per cent. (neither more nor less) of its capacity, and in event of additional capacity being needed by either party in the future, over and above the capacity to which each would be entitled under the original agreement, that the expense of providing such additional capacity should be borne by the party requiring the same. Maintenance and operating expenses were to be divided in the proportion of the relative volume of sewage delivered by each.

"Mr. Holt finds fault with the clause relating to veto power of the 1910 law, but it has apparently escaped his attention that no mention of any veto power existed in the draft as drawn up by the Borough's attorney, and that a veto clause originated with the City itself, as evidenced by the communication from Mr. Craig A. Marsh to Mr. Depue. Mr. Holt also suggests that a partner contributing 25 per cent. of the capital invested should not have an equal voice in the expenditure for and maintenance of the project. It might be pertinent to ask—If one of two partners has less than an equal vote, what voice would he have in the management of a business, and how could his interests be safeguarded?

"The Act of 1910 authorizes the making between two or more municipalities of a joint contract 'upon such terms as to them shall seem proper.' Surely under such a contract all conceivable contingencies could be provided for, but if there was any real fear in the minds of the City Council of a deadlock arising as to some unforseen difficulty, this could have been entirely obviated by an act of the Legislature providing for the appointment of a commission by the Governor to act as arbitrators when found necessary.

"The fact is that the Borough has from the beginning favored a joint sewer as being a wise and logical solution of the sanitary problems of both municipalities, providing for the removal of the objectionable and, now out of date, disposal beds from the precincts of the City and the borders of Dunellen and North Plainfield, and, at the same time, furnishing the Borough with a sewer system imperatively necessary for the health and safety of its inhabitants.

"The City of Plainfield is as vitally concerned in the prevention of an epidemic in North Plainfield as is the Borough itself. The attitude of the authorities of the Borough has been throughout consistently friendly to the City and its authorities on this subject, ready at all times to welcome suggestions or proposals, and to co-operate for the general good, recognizing that in this matter there is no place for politics, or pettiness, pride of personal opinion, or sectional differences; but that the establishment of the health and security from disease for every member of these adjacent communities is the highest duty devolving upon the responsible administrators of public affairs.

"Several individuals prominent in the City's matters, and in the furtherance of its welfare, bear testimony to the conciliatory and earnest efforts on the part of the Borough to bring about this common sense and obvious solution of the sewerage problem for both communities, and the North Side of the Brook is not willing to rest under the imputation of being responsible for its failure.

"W. J. BUTTFIELD."

STANHOPE, UNAIDED, TO BUILD A HIGH SCHOOL

Netcong, May 15.—Not discouraged by the refusal of the voters of Stanhope to join Netcong in the establishment of a combined four-year high school for the two boroughs, the Board of Education of Netcong has decided to go it alone on the school proposition and erect an additional school for the proper education of their children at home.

They have decided upon the erection of four rooms to be used for a four-year high school, which will be approved by the state authorities, and every effort will be made to have this approved by the citizens and ready for occupancy next fall at the opening of school.

Messrs. Bostedo, King and Bird have been appointed as a building committee, and Architect Frank DeLara has been engaged to draw plans and supervise the construction of the building.

De Lara s to submit an estimate to the board at their meeting this evening on the approximate cost and a special election wil be caled at once to secure the approval of the voters, so that wrok can be started at the earliest possible moment.

As Stanhope could not afford to join in the establishment of this school, they will therefore be unable to have any school except the grammar grades, and Netcong will erect a building of sufficient size to take care of the high school pupils of both boroughs.

WOMAN PROTESTED BUT 'PHONE POLES WERE SET

Washington, N. J., May 15.—Though she made a most determined resistance, Miss Ella Frome, sister of William Frome, of near Montana, sister of William Frome, was unable to prevent the planting of telephone poles in front of the Frome farm by the West Jersey Toll Line Company.

A number of farmers in the vicinity of Montana and Rockburg are having telephones installed by the company, with connections with the long distance company.

In building the line to connect with the residence of Henry Dalrymple, near Montana, the company met its first opposition at Mr. Frome's farm. Both Frome and his sister objected to the poles being erected in front of their property. The linemen reached the Frome farm last week, while the farmer was away from home. His sister, however, put up a stubborn fight to prevent the line being erected. When a hole was dug in front of her home she promptly jumped into the excavation before the pole could be placed therein.

The men dug another hole a few feet away and seemed to be amused at the efforts made by the determined woman to get one foot into each hole. In spite of the protests of Miss Frome the poles were erected and the wire strung.

CONSTABLE UNDER BOND ON DOG CATCHER'S PLEA

Perth Amboy, May 15.—Daniel Keegan, a Sayreville constable, was put under bonds by Recorder Henry W. Kehoe, on a charge of assaulting Albert Leonard, official dog catcher of this city.

Keegan's cousin, Samuel Keegan was shortly afterward held on a similar charge, made by Mrs. Louisa Letts, Leonard's housekeeper, who lodged her complaint with Justice of the Peace H. E. Pickersgill.

The two Keegans undertook to arrest Leonard in this city several days ago on an accusation of assault upon a neighbor in Sayreville Township. Leonard and Mrs. Letts claim that the constable and his cousin displayed revolvers and threatened to shoot before showing a warrant or sating their errand.

In a struggle between the three men a revolver was discharged, but no one was hurt.

The timbale irons are heart shaped, star shaped, round, square or oval.

For the Batter.

The following recipe for timbale batter has been tried with success. Take three-quarters of a cupful of flour and mix with a teaspoonful of sugar and half a teaspoonful of salt. Add to it half a cupful of milk, a well beaten egg, a tablespoonful of melted butter or olive oil and whip until it all is blended.

This batter should be placed in a cup or bowl into which the timbale iron may be dipped so that the outside of the mold will be covered with the preparation.

Timbale Cases.

Put a kettle of fat on the fire. It should get as hot as is required for baking doughnuts. Dip the timbale iron into the fat and let the mold heat. Then dip into the batter and lift it out again. A film of the batter will cling to the iron. Submerge this in the pan of fat, and when it is cooked lift it and set on a folded napkin or absorbent paper to drain. Then proceed to cook more timbale cases in the same way.

Creamed mushrooms, chicken, veal, oysters or fish may be served in the cases.

A Rich Combination.

Mutton Timbales.—Take a half pound of finely minced cold mutton, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, a tablespoonful of breadcrumbs, a dessertspoonful of chopped mushrooms, one egg, a gill of stock, a little pepper and salt. Mix all the ingredients and steam for twenty minutes. If canned mushrooms are used for this recipe they should be cooked in butter for a few minutes. Buttered timbale cases should be filled with the mixture set on a silver dish to serve and covered with a good, thick gravy with fried mushrooms in it.

Daintily Served.

Chicken Timbales.—Cook together till a paste is formed half a cupful of stale breadcrumbs and half a cupful of milk. Add two ounces of butter, the stiffly beaten white of one egg, salt to taste, a few grains only of cayenne, and a pinch of ground nutmeg. Add to this two-thirds of a cupful of raw chicken breast, which has been beaten to a paste in a mortar and forced through a fine strainer.

Fill the timbale cases with this and garnish with mushrooms cut in fancy shapes.

Buttons are lavishly used on many of the frocks.

The new silk serge suitings are lovely. They come in black and colors, but are unusually smart in white striped diagonally in black or gray. The shepherd's plaid and diamond checked designs in black and white are also good.

Sunbonnets have the unusual advantage of being both picturesque and practical. In the illustration two are shown, one of which is made with a separate crown and brim that are buttoned together, and the other has a full crown that is sewed to the brim.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS.

Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, Mrs. Louise Bryan Dorr, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, Mrs. Vernona Henry and Miss Zoe Bateman.

The recent women's parade on Fifth avenue, New York, has brought the question of woman's suffrage before the public, as an important and live issue; and suffragists are being asked on all sides: "Tell us what would you do with the vote if you had it?" This question seems rather on a par with that of the careful mother, when her baby asks for the scissors. "tell mother what you want to cut?"

Just why it should be taken for granted that a woman with the ballot is likely to get into mischief, it is not easy to see, but in these days of women in industry such happenings as the shirt waist makers strike, the Triangle Factory fire, etc., make it very clear that a woman without the ballot is in very bad mischief indeed.

Few suffragists assert that women are going to reform politics and bring in the millenium, but they do believe that the conditions of the working woman will be better safeguarded, and her value as an individual increased by her position as voter. A cursory glance at the working conditions of the immigrant laborer who is not a voter, and the American workingman who is, bears out the truth of the statement. When, too, it is realized that the large majority of charity and settlement workers headed by such an authority as Miss Jane Addams look on the ballot as a protection for woman, we must believe that those coming in such perpetual contact with labor problems are reliable judges in this matter.

So much fear as to what women will do with the ballot seems little justified by the fact that in most homes the apportionment and handling of the family income is in the hands of the women. If they are to be thus trusted in housekeeping for the family, housekeeping for the city and housekeeping for the nation are but higher branches of a science in which they have already proved their efficiency.

When all is said about the ballot as a protection to woman, and of woman's fitness to use this instrument wisely, there still remains the question of the perfect Democracy, in which the privileges and powers of the people shall be equal, and where all the people shall be represented, not the male part of the people only.

It is contended that women have no experience in using the ballot, that they are ill-prepared and need to be educated up to it. Though this charge may be in certain cases well-founded still is not this a Democracy, and has it not been said: "That a Democracy is a state of educating oneself in public." This argument of unpreparedness has never been urged on a woman in the most important step of her career—that of wife and mother. As a woman in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred conscientiously goes to work to teach herself to care for a home and to rear children in the best possible manner (neither of which occupations, by the way, is she born knowing, as is so often imagined) she may be trusted, when the work of insuring better working conditions, more sanitary food and living conditions, the upright administration of justice, the wiser and more efficacious methods for restricting and abolishing vice and crime are placed in her hands, to rise up just as conscientiously and try to fit herself for this work of bettering her country.

An Ivory Mat.

Many people have never even heard of such a thing, and it is not to be wondered at, for these mats are exceedingly rare, and it is said by those who know that only three of these beautiful curiosities exist in the whole world. The one we now write about is the largest one made. It measures 8 by 4 feet and, though made in a small hill state in the north of India, has an almost Greek design for its border. It was only used on state occasions, when the rajah sat on it to sign important documents. The original cost of the mat is fabulous, for 6,400 pounds of ivory were used in its manufacture. The finest strips of ivory must have been taken off the tusks, as the mat is as flexible as a woven stuff and beautifully fine.—London Graphic.

Coaling the Sun.

Coaling the sun is an expression used by physicists to indicate the necessity of renewing the stock of motive power, exactly analogous to coaling a vessel for an ocean journey. Many maintain that this is done by the incessant showers of meteorites which rain upon it from celestial space. Thus it is that the sun's energy is continually kept up and its fires are fed. Atom after atom in the continuous collisions of matter is changed into vapor and adds its quota of energy to the great central storehouse—in fact, "coals the sun."—Exchange.

QUALITY OF MILK.

It Can Easily Be Determined by Using the Candle Test.

Here is a very simple way in which to test the quality of the milk you buy. First stir the milk with a spoon in order to disseminate into the whole liquid the cream which may have come to the surface. Then one volume of milk is poured into fifty volumes of water—one fluid ounce to two and a half pints. A candle is lighted in a dark room. Take an ordinary drinking glass with a tolerably flat and even bottom and hold it right above the candle at a distance of about one foot from it, so as to be able to see the flame of the candle through the bottom of the glass. Then pour slowly the diluted milk into the glass.

The flame becomes less bright as the level of the liquid rises into the glass. The flame is soon reduced to a dull white spot. A little more liquid slowly added, so as to avoid pouring an excess, and the flame becomes absolutely invisible. All that remains to be done is to measure the height of the liquid in the glass, this being most conveniently ascertained by dipping into it a strip of pasteboard and then measuring the wet part. It should measure not over one inch if the milk is pure. With good quality milk, diluted and tested as stated, the depth will be about seven-eighths of an inch before the flame is lost to view. A mixture of one volume of milk and a half a volume of water should show a depth of one and a half inches. A depth of two inches indicates either partially skimmed milk or a mixture of one volume of good milk and one of water, and so on.

The process is based upon the close relation between the opacity of milk and the number of fatty corpuscles contained in it. Both skimming and the adding of water work in the same direction—namely, to decrease the opacity of milk. The same cannot be said of the density. Skimming increases it. Adding water decreases it, and the common test that consists in the mere introduction of the lactodensimeter in milk is worthless, as skimmed milk may have a normal density if care has been taken to pour into it a certain amount of water.—New York World.

SECRET WRITING.

Simple Cipher System That Keeps Postcard Messages Private.

Postal cards would undoubtedly be in much greater demand than they are for purposes of correspondence but for the fact that the messages they convey are open to all through whose hands they may pass. Yet this objection is easily overcome.

There are some beautifully simple ciphers that are almost impossible for any one not in the secret to read. Only by luck, for instance, can even the expert find the key to a short message written in the "trellis" or "grill" cipher. It is extremely simple, and thousands of people use it to baffle folks who take an interest in the contents of postcards.

To use it all you have to do is to cut a few oblong holes in a blank postcard, place it over the postcard you mean to write on and write your message in the holes. Then take the upper card off and write some natural reading sentences round the cipher words.

Any inquisitive person reading the card when it reaches your correspondent's house will find a message of no interest whatever. Only your correspondent himself—or herself—can read the real message, and that by placing on the card a blank card cut in exactly the same way as your own.—Pearson's Weekly.

Why Shoes Have Tongues.

Every one that wears lace shoes knows that there is a tongue of leather under the place where the two sides of the shoe meet, but there is none in button shoes. Probably very few persons know that this is a comparatively modern idea and is not for the purpose of keeping the laces from hurting the instep, but is to keep out rain and snow. There would be no discomfort if the laces touched the sock, but no matter how closely a shoe may be laced up there is always a slight space which would allow rain to reach the stocking.—New York Sun.

Nature Provides.

As to the horror of death—this the spectators may have. But it is the rarest phenomenon for him who is about to die to "suffer" death. Immediately death impends, the end is almost invariably benignant and peaceful. What, indeed, is there in all the cosmos so composed and content as the face of the dead?—Medical Record.

Sights Unseen.

Smith (at the club)—Yes, by Jove, there's very little you can teach me. I've been everywhere, done everything, seen everything! The Scotch Member—Young man, did you ever have the D. T.'s? Smith—D. T.'s! Great Scott, no! The Scotch Member—Then you've seen nowt.—London Sketch.

A Queer Town.

"Who is the Nestor of the bar here?"

"I don't believe we have one. I've never heard of any such thing hereabouts."

"What! No Nestor of the bar? Say, what kind of a town is this?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Would Come Without Drawing.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Leal's vs. P. H. S. this afternoon on Parker Field.

This will be the first meeting between teams representing these institutions in a number of years. At present the dope points towards an easy victory for the High School boys but Leal's has been playing in streaks of good and bad throughout the season and may come across with one of their good days. In that case they might surprise their supporters.

The City High School team has got into the habit of winning this year and that habit has had a chance to become so firmly fixed that the Front street aggregation will have to go some to break their winning streak.

The North Plainfield High School team has gone to Kearny, where they meet the school boys there.

The borough team fell into the hands of the Jinx in the Battin game Monday. They had the bulge on the Elizabeth boys until the very last minute, only to weaken long enough to lose the game.

They did manage to find a new pitcher over the brook, and with a little seasoning it looks as though he would make good. That would fill a very weak spot in the line-up.

Carroll Taylor, who broke his leg in the P. H. S. game, is reported as getting along nicely.

The Yanks slid out of the cellar during Monday's wind-storm.

The recent visit of the Giants in Cubland resulted in a shake-up in the Windy City team. A year ago every team that ran up against the Cubs thought that someone had shaken them up.

But them was the good ol' days.

When the Giants meet the Reds, what will O'Day do? He cannot banish McGraw to the clubhouse any more.

McInnis is high man in the American League with his bat, having an average of .421.

Just a mid-week reminder. The Manufacturers' League games for Saturday are: Saurer vs. Public Service, Commercial vs. R. G. E., and Spicer vs. Banks.

The Plainfield Club will meet the Lincoln Giants on Crescent Oval. Manager Dorflinger will have a pitcher with a "rep" on the mound, with Frederickson held in reserve.

The Phillies are beginning to hit their stride. About all of their cripples have returned and they are on a gradual climb, and are liable to prove dangerous before the season ends.

Since landing in big company, Jack Martin has retained a batting average of .273 and .872 in fielding.

Zach Wheat, the Brooklyn outfielder, was married on Monday to Miss Daisy Kerr Forsman, of Cincinnati.

On the thirteenth of May, 1912, snow flurries prevented a ball game between Newark and Rochester.

Another significant thing happened in the same city on the same day. Ten out of every twelve boys who were given the chance gave up the circus to attend ball games.

K. M. The present International League is comprised of the same clubs as made up the Eastern League, which is now extinct. The United States League is an outlaw league and is not under the jurisdiction of the National Commission.

KILBANE BEATS BURNS.

Champion, Conqueror of Abe Attell, Easily Outpoints Jersey City Boy.

New York, May 15.—Johnny Kilbane, before a crowd at the St. Nicholas Athletic club, had no trouble in outclassing Frankie Burns of Jersey City in a one sided ten round bout. Burns employed rushing tactics practically all the way, but found it a puzzle to reach the conqueror of Abe Attell.

Kilbane simply punched Burns when and where he pleased. He had Burns in some trouble in the eighth, when he reached the jaw with a solid hook.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED AT Y. M. C. A.

For the promotion of the different branches of athletics at the Young Men's Christian Association, and to systematize their control, nineteen members responded to the call for a meeting last night. A constitution was adopted which will govern all of the activities that may come under the jurisdiction of the officers and the different committees which are to be appointed by the president. It was decided to allow the organization to be known as the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Athletics Association.

The branches of athletics that the association will take up and push will include track athletics, pocket billiards, aquatics, tennis, basketball, baseball and gymnastics. It is hoped to stimulate the interest in all of these that has been at a standstill for so long. The local Y. M. C. A. is well equipped to take care of these activities and this association will endeavor to make it easier for the new members, got as a result of the recent campaign, to enter actively into the work.

The officers elected were: President, W. J. McClymont; vice president, E. C. Ostlin; secretary, Alvah Conant, and treasurer, William Peacock. An executive committee consisting of these officers and three delegates are to be elected semi-annually.

The regular monthly meeting will be held the second Monday of each month.

Those attending last night's meeting were Pelham Wilmerding, Albert Bryniarski, Walter Carson, Walter Sampson, William Peacock, Charles Gilmore, Charles Doghty, Edgar Holdt, Charles Post, Jack Fritts, Alfred Day, E. C. Ostlin, Walter Cubberley, Patsy Gleason, W. J. McClymont, Alvah Conant, Donald Ketcham, F. O. Dunning, Jr., and Chester Chamberlain.

The meeting was adjourned to next Tuesday night, at which time it is expected that the organization plans will have been completed.

PRINCETON SAYS A TIE; YALE SATISFIED, TOO

Princeton, May 15.—Princeton is not going to quarrel with Yale over the honors of the "tie" track meet which took place between the athletes of the two institutions at New Haven Saturday. When the games ended the score on points stood even at 58½ for each team. Yet on the grounds that Yale won one more first place than did Princeton the report was sent out from New Haven that Yale would claim a victory.

Princeton people do not see how this claim can be made, as they assert there was no understanding to that effect. Besides there was no trophy at stake and no special reason why such a claim should be set forth. Had there been a trophy offered, there might have been a claim of victory, as the meet was held under the regular I. T. A. A. A. A. rules which provide that in case of a tie the team winning the greater number of first places wins the trophy if one is at stake.

New Haven, Conn., May 15.—It was decided yesterday by the Yale athletic authorities that Yale would not press the point of claiming first honors in the meet with Princeton here Saturday on a technicality. The point honors, therefore, will stand a tie at 58½ for each team.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE SCHEDULE

SEASON STARTS JUNE 2

Each Team to Play all Five Others Three Times Before Close of Season September 7—Eligibility Rule Stands.

The schedule was adopted and a number of other matters of importance were decided at the meeting held last night in the Y. M. C. A., of the Sunday-school League directors. The schedule calls for each team to meet every other in the league three times before the close of the season on September 7. The first game will be played on June 2, when Monroe Avenue will meet the First Baptists. Temple Baptists, Hope Chapel, and Park Avenue Baptists, the South Plainfield Baptists' team.

The matter of the eligibility of different players received a great deal of discussion, one of the representatives stating that the rule as it stands would materially hinder his Sunday-school in putting out a winning team. It was decided, however, that for the good of all, and to assure the supporters that no team desired to evade the spirit of the clause, the rule was allowed to stand. The rule necessitates a player's attendance at Sunday-school at least fifty per cent. of the Sundays since April 1, or five Sundays after the beginning of the league season, before he is eligible to play. This will make the playing of "ringers" on any team impossible.

The matter of electing a president was allowed to go over until the next meeting in order that the man asked may make his decision.

Those present at last night's meeting and the Sunday-school that each represents is as follows: William Conger, Temple Baptist; J. T. Wenzle, South Plainfield Baptist; Randolph Chandler, First Baptist; J. R. McCormick, Monroe Avenue; George Leigh, Hope Chapel, and George Gage, Park Avenue Baptist.

FRESHMEN CAPTURE ONE FROM STILLMAN NINE

The Freshmen baseball team of the Plainfield High School added another game to its list of victories yesterday afternoon when it took a contest from the Stillman School nine at the Parker Field by a score of 5 to 3. The Freshmen's lead in the first inning saved them from a rub at the end, as the Stillman boys tied the score in the sixth. Two runs in the eighth gave the Freshmen the game.

A feature of the game was a home-run by Peacock in the eighth inning. A three-base hit by Noonan for Hillman scored two men; Peacock, LaRue, Canter and Harding all got two-baggers.

LIE IS PASSED AT HOUSE HEARING

Looked Like Fisticuffs Between McCabe and Nelson.

FRIENDS GO BETWEEN THEM

Following Stormy Session on Meat Inspection Service, Solicitor and Representative Threateningly Move Toward Each Other, but Are Separated.

Washington, May 15.—At one stage of a hearing before the house committee on expenditures in the agricultural department it was feared a riot call would have to be sounded. The lie was passed and a fist fight narrowly averted.

The committee was considering the Nelson resolution proposing an inquiry into the present administration of the meat inspection service. George P. McCabe, the solicitor of the department of agriculture; Representative John M. Nelson, a combative Scandinavian who hails from Wisconsin, and J. C. Burroughs of Cumberland, Md., a former meat inspector, furnished the fireworks.

Mr. McCabe took exception to testimony given by Mr. Burroughs, the witness of the day. Mr. Burroughs told his story of "unclean meats" placed on the market through the alleged laxity of the meat inspection service. Representative Nelson demanded that Burroughs tell of the "feasts" given the "trusted servants of the people by the packers."

"While I was in charge at Cumberland," said Burroughs, "I received an invitation from the American Meat association to a banquet in Washington."

"The dinners, jollifications and feasts tend to influence the discipline of the inspectors," Mr. Nelson suggested, "and should not be allowed."

Fist Fight Is Threatened.

Solicitor McCabe interrogated the witness closely as to his conduct while inspector, dwelling at length upon the friendship of Burroughs and the packers. The witness said he discharged his duties faithfully and resigned voluntarily.

"Do you remember saying to Dr. Schaufler, inspector in charge at Philadelphia, 'Schaufler, I'll get square with you for reporting me for borrowing money from the packers'?" McCabe asked the witness.

"It is a falsehood," Burroughs shouted indignantly. McCabe previously had charged Burroughs with borrowing money from the packers and said that he was discharged for that reason.

At the close of the hearing Messrs Nelson and McCabe nearly came to blows. Becoming involved in an argument, they moved toward one another in a belligerent manner, but committeemen prevented a clash.

PRINCE OF WALES' NEW HOME

Reported That He May Buy Penrhyn Castle.

London, May 15.—There is a likelihood that the Prince of Wales will have a home of his own in his own principality. The recent death of the dowager Lady Penrhyn makes it possible to put through the scheme which has been on foot for some time to purchase Penrhyn castle for him.

The castle stands on an eminence two miles from the town of Bangor, in North Wales. It is a very imposing affair, with a high Norman tower and turrets. Its interior is notable for its fine old furniture, sculptured chimney pieces, oak carving and paneling. It took twelve years to build the castle, and it cost $2,500,000.

The Square Pot Furnace concentrates the heat

Concentrates it on the inside of the house—nothing but the smoke escapes up the chimney.

The patented square bottom fire pot makes a slight twist of the shaker all that is necessary to remove the ashes from the grate—they fall at the sides as perfectly as in the center.

The square fire pot in the Square Pot increases the fire surface 10% to 15% over other furnaces of the same size. This makes it the most economical furnace in existence.

Ask your dealer to tell you more about Square Pot Furnaces, Boilers and Newport Ranges. If he doesn't sell them, write and we'll send you the name of one who does.

FIREMEN PERMIT HOUSE TO BURN

Child Is Saved From Death by Neighbor.

TRUSTEES BUSINESS MEN.

Village Company Refuses to Aid In Fight, Claiming That It Didn't Want to Be Ridiculed—Required an Order From Chief or Trustee.

South Orange, N. J., May 15.—Obedience to ethics governing suburban fire departments caused bitter comment in South Orange when the fire company of South Orange village declined to fight a blaze in the home of Henry J. Bell, South Orange township, forty feet from the dividing line, and as a result the house was destroyed, causing a loss of several thousand dollars

Ralph Bell, six years old, son of the householder, was saved from death by Mrs. Charles W. Dowler, a neighbor The lad was ill with measles, and his mother, who was attracted by the child's screams when a lighted oil stove was overturned, tried to get to his room, but was driven back by the smoke. Mrs. Dowler, hearing the cries of the parent, rushed in and carried the boy to safety and then looked after Mrs. Bell, who was rescued by Thomas B. Smith.

The township fire company, which has limited equipment for fires, responded quickly, but the rapid work of the flames alarmed Mrs. Bell, who called village headquarters on the telephone.

"We're sorry, ma'am," replied William P. Kane, fireman in the village company, as Mrs. Bell importuned him to hurry to the blaze, "but the last time we went to the township we were ridiculed. We can't go over unless the chief or a trustee tells us to."

"But this is a case of life or death!" screamed the excited woman. Rules were adhered to, however, and no relief was sent. Patrick McCahery, the fire chief, was not about the fire house and the trustees are New York business men.

LAURA BIGGAR SUES.

Former Actress Seeks to Recover More From Bennett Estate.

Jersey City, N. J., May 15.—Vice Chancellor Garrison heard testimony in chancery chambers, Jersey City, in the suit of Laura Biggar-Bennett, the former actress, against James P. Yatt of Pittsburgh and the estates of Peter J. McNulty of Pittsburgh and John Hawkins of Asbury. The three men were executors of the estate of her husband, Henry M. Bennett of Pittsburgh.

The Bijou theater and business block in Pittsburgh, owned by Bennett, was appraised at $750,000. There were debts amounting to $150,000 against it and it was mortgaged for $200,000. The actress agreed to accept 60 per cent of $240,000 in settlement of her claim.

She received some cash and took a $200,000 mortgage on the property, which she later sold for $160,000. She now wants all the proceedings set aside and insists that the difference between the $200,000 and the amount she realized from the sale of the mortgage is due her from the executors. She also claims the property was underestimated $250,000, saying its real value was $1,000,000, and she seeks to recover the former amount.

TAFT GOING TO JERSEY.

Roosevelt Will Be In the State at the Same Time.

Newark, N. J., May 15.—That President Taft will spend three or four days in New Jersey just prior to the New Jersey primaries on May 28 was the announcement made at the headquarters of the William H. Taft league of New Jersey.

The dates for the visit of President Taft on his campaign tour have been finally fixed. President Taft will complete an engagement in Philadelphia, Thursday evening, May 23, at 6 o'clock and will immediately come into New Jersey, being met by United States Senator Frank O. Briggs, chairman of the Republican state committee, and other party leaders.

The president will spend Thursday evening and Friday, Saturday and Monday in this state. His itinerary is now being arranged.

This means that President Taft will be campaigning in this state at the same time that Colonel Roosevelt will be here.

Receivership Is Denied.

Newark, N. J., May 15.—Vice Chancellor Howell in Newark denied a motion for a receivership for the United Box Board company, which is capitalized at $15,000,000. The application was made by Ralph E. Lum in behalf of Charles E. Bell of Hillsboro, O. Affidavits were presented showing that the company was not insolvent.

The Horsefly.

The horsefly is the most cruel and bloodthirsty of the entire fly family. He is armed with a most formidable weapon, which consists of four lancets so sharp and strong that they will penetrate leather. He makes his appearance in June. The female is armed with six lancets, with which she bleeds both cattle and horses and even human beings.

SUBWAY CAR WRECK.

Many Persons Hurt In Subway-Elevated Crash, New York.

Fourteen passengers were injured, one mortally, in a rear end collision between a train of two empty cars and a southbound passenger train of eight cars on the Broadway elevated extension of the subway at the Two Hundred and Thirty-eighth street station, New York.

WHITE FIGHTS TO END COAL STRIKE.

Show Down of Strength Expected Today.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 15.—In a battle which will put his ability as a leader to the real acid test, National President John P. White took charge of the tridistrict convention of the United Mine Workers, which opened here with the odds greatly against his peace plan. In face of this discouraging situation he is confident that he can save the leaders from repudiation and the organization from internal strife. He is certain his plans to bring about the adoption of the tentative agreement will receive the support of a majority of the convention.

One of the officers, following the adjournment of a session, said: "The situation is not as bright as we would like to have it. In fact, present conditions are not at all favorable, but we will put a new face on the situation by Friday and get into the line enough followers to back up the efforts of the leaders."

KAISER CAUSES SENSATION.

Threat to "Smash to Pieces" Alsace Lorraine Stirs German Press.

Berlin, May 15.—Nothing the kaiser has said or done in many months has created such a sensation or so much widespread comment in the German press as his threat at Strassburg to "smash to pieces" the recently granted constitution of Alsace Lorraine and make it a Prussian province if political conditions there do not change.

The kaiser's threat and warning were delivered to the Alsatian diet, which last week passed a vote of censure on the Alsatian government for boycotting the Grafenstadt locomotive works because of the pro-French agitation of its managers and employees, who carried French flags at picnics.

The Radical, Liberal and Socialist papers sharply criticise the kaiser's utterances. They remind that the reichstag will have something to say about rescinding the Alsatian constitution, that it was not of his own making and that he could not unmake it.

WILL PROHIBIT DANCING.

Card Playing Also Banned by Methodist Episcopal Church Conference.

Minneapolis, May 15.—Unless the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church overrules the action of the committee on state of the church that part of the famous paragraph 209 of the church discipline which especially prohibits dancing, card playing and kindred amusements will remain a law of the church.

The entire committee voted, 100 to 51, to reject the report of the majority of the subcommittee which favored the elimination of a portion of the paragraph and leaving the amusement question to the "conscience" of the individual member.

ROOSEVELT WINS IN CALIFORNIA

La Follette May Beat Taft For Second Place.

DEMOCRATS NAME CLARK.

Women Voters Out Early So as to Get Back to Their Housework — Some Bring Their Children — Roosevelt Leads Two to One.

San Francisco, May 15.—With 10 per cent of the state vote counted early today it is plain that Roosevelt has carried California by more than two to one and that Taft will do well if he figures second on the list.

The tremendous vote cast for Roosevelt was unexpected except by few of his warmest partisans. It is to be explained in several ways. Most of the women who cast their first vote have voted for the spectacular candidate. Then most of the federal officeholders here and especially custom house officials, to show their resentment against reductions of salary, voted against Taft. To these must be added the progressives and all who believe that Taft has not carried out the policies of his predecessor.

Champ Clark Also Winner.

In the Democratic fight Champ Clark has carried California by a majority of two to one. His vote both in San Francisco and throughout the state is more than twice that of Wilson, and in many places he will poll a vote of three to one. In southern California Clark polled the same surprising vote that Roosevelt did.

Some of the Early Returns.

Here are some of the early returns:

Twenty-two complete precincts in San Jose give Roosevelt 109, Taft 47, La Follette 61.

Twenty scattering precincts in San Francisco give Roosevelt 522, Taft 363, La Follette 215, Wilson 32, Clark 100.

RICHESON TAKEN TO DEATH CELL.

Minister Now Looks Out on Execution Chamber.

Boston, May 15.—Without previous warning the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the murderer of Avis Linnell, was whisked from the Charles street jail to the state prison in Charlestown in an automobile.

The former Baptist clergyman is now occupying one of the three death cells in which condemned criminals have spent their last days before going to their seats in the electric chair. Richeson can see the door of the death chamber from his cell, and unless there is intervention on the part of Governor Foss and the executive council he will pass through it and not come out alive some time early next Monday or Tuesday morning.

Mr. Holman, the governor's secretary, said that the Richeson case would not be placed before the executive council at today's meeting.

ISMAY SUBSCRIBES $50,000.

Fund to Pension Widows of Seamen Who Lose Lives.

Liverpool, May 15.—J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, has contributed $50,000 and Mrs. Ismay $1,000 as the nucleus of a fund which Mr. Ismay suggests the Earl of Derby, lord mayor of Liverpool, should initiate in order to provide pensions for the widows of seamen who lose their lives while serving in vessels of the British mercantile marine.

Sir Cosmos and Lady Duff-Gordon, survivors of the Titanic, arrived from New York today on the Lusitania. Both declined to discuss the stories regarding their escape from the sinking liner.

HOLD INQUEST ON MASON.

Arrange Transportation of Body of American Killed In Airship.

London, May 15.—An inquest will be held at Weybridge today over the body of Victor Louis Mason, the American promoter and politician, who was killed by the fall of an aeroplane at the Brooklands aviation grounds.

William Phillips, the secretary of the American embassy, and Deputy United States Consul Treadwell will attend to the transportation of the body to the United States after the inquest.

Dismiss Ruef Indictments.

San Francisco, May 15.—Sixty remaining indictments against Abraham Ruef, convicted political leader of San Francisco, will be stricken from the calendar in the superior court under a peremptory mandate by the district court of appeals.

BORO GAME CANCELLED.

The game scheduled between the North Plainfield High School team and the Kearny High School aggregation at Kearny for this afternoon was cancelled by the latter management this morning. The reason given was that the Kearny team had had a number of players disqualified during the past few days as the result of poor scholarship, necessitating the team's disbandment. Saturday will find the borough team lined up against the Bound Brook High team in the race for the county championship.

STRANGE BEDS.

In Germany a Person Should Be an Acrobat to Sleep Well.

Habit conceals all sorts of absurdities. It makes one ache to see an illustration of a Japanese sleeping block, hollowed out just enough to permit of the neck being adjusted thereto. The Germans' notion of night repose does not come much nearer our idea of comfort. There are many ill made and unsatisfactory beds (from the American point of view) to be found in the kaiser's dominions.

German beds, almost without exception, are single—so much so, indeed, that the occupant, if he attempts to deviate an inch or two from his position, finds himself sprawling on the floor. The sheets, bed blankets, etc., are made just to fit the beds and are never wide enough to tuck in. They are seldom more than an inch or two wider than the mattress, and it requires the skill and experience of an acrobat, especially in the case of a foreigner, to keep the bedclothes evenly balanced over one.

Many of the German hotels use the French pillow, which is about half the size of the mattress and stuffed out so hard and plump that about the only benefit the tired traveler gets from it is to have it serve as a rest for his back while he sleeps in a sitting position. The majority of pillows found in Germany, however, are wedge shaped, of the same material as the mattress, and come to a point near the center of the bed. On these the sleeper (if he sleeps) rests on an inclined plane and looks like a body on one of the narrow planks in the morgue in Paris, with a sheet thrown over it.—Harper's Weekly.

Some Consolation.

The man who sometimes spoke his thoughts aloud had been more concerned with the things of the world than with things spiritual. One day by chance his hand fell upon a book containing the catechism of a certain Protestant church, and he was soon earnestly engaged in reading the Ten Commandments. For some time he pondered over the "Thou shalts" and "Thou shalt nots," which had been forgotten almost since childhood. Then, laying down the book, with a sigh, he muttered, "Well, I've never killed anybody, anyway."—Everybody's.

Funny Man.

Henri Bergson in his recent book, "Laughter," lays stress on the fact that man, long defined as "the laughing animal," is also the only laughable animal. There is nothing really comical except human beings. The animal world is solemn beside the so called lords of creation. Man alone is an object of ridicule.

Agreeing on a Point.

"I wish you could make my wife look on the bright side of things."

"Perhaps there is no bright side to her life."

"Nonsense! Hasn't she got a home and a husband?"

"That's what I was thinking of—her husband."—Houston Post.

ANOTHER CLAIM ON THE TREASURE

Mrs. Geiger Says It Was Her Father's $1,000 That Laborers Dug Up.

LETTER FROM NEBRASKA

Elizabeth, May 16 (Special).—Through a letter to County Clerk James C. Calvert, Mrs. Jennie Geiger, of Ingleside, Nebraska, may be able to establish her claim to the money said to amount to $1,000, recently discovered by a negro named Meyer and another laborer while working on the opening of a new street through the property of United States Senator James E. Martine on Watchung avenue, Plainfield. The money is now in possession of Meyer's wife, it is believed, and she is reported to be hiding in the south.

According to Mrs. Geiger, she is the daughter of Frank Martine, who died recently at Ingleside, Nebraska. On his deathbed he told her that he had hidden $1,000 in bills in a can and placed the money underground somewhere on a large farm near Plainfield 25 years ago. He said he afterward lost track of the exact spot. He was returning to his home one evening, the letter details, when he was attacked by robbers. They took $50 from him and some jewelry, but overlooked $1,000 in bills which he had secreted in a belt. Fearing that they would follow him he hid the money once they were out of his sight, and returned to his home. Mrs. Geiger says that her father had not finished the full story of the buried treasure before death came upon him.

Mrs. Geiger writes that she is very poor and a cripple. She offers half the money as a reward to the finder. Mr. Calvert will turn the letter over to Chief of Police Kiely.

BUSY WITH PREPARATION FOR "TRIP TO THE MOON"

The success of "A Trip to the Moon" to be given in the Plainfield theatre is assured because of the large sale of tickets. On Monday costumes will be given out to those who will assist in the production of the spectacle and all final rehearsals will be held that evening. The pay is a very pretty musical effort. 330 people will be in the cast.

The reserved seat sale of tickets will open Monday morning, May 20, at 9:30. Owing to the large sale of tickets by the children the committee wishes to caution ticket holders not to wait until the last minute but go at once and get the best seat for the money.

No pains or expense are being spared, it is said, to make "A Trip to the Moon" as near like a professional production as possible. The presenting company will consist of the flower of local talent, an orchestra will assist in the presentation of the production. Beautiful costumes will be sent from New York and it will be staged here fully as elaborately as in the larger cities.

Y. P. S. C. E. SHOWERS NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE

Forty members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church met last night at the church, and after transacting the business at hand, proceeded to the home of John Neagle on West Sixth street and gave a miscellaneous shower to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Neagle, who have just returned from their honeymoon at Kennebunkport, Maine. The young couple were married recently by Rev. Edwin Shaw at the home of Mr. Neagle's parents. Mrs. Neagle was Miss Olena Margaret Mortensen, of Dell Rapids, South Dokato.

The evening was spent in the playing of games and with a general social time, after which refreshments were served by the young people from the church. Mr. and Mrs. Neagle will make their home in the future with Mr. Neagle's parents.

STILLMAN PUPILS WILL PRESENT TWO COMEDIES

The pupils of the Stillman Grammar School will present two plays Saturday night in the High School auditorium, the proceeds to be used in swelling the picture fund. The plays will be "Miss Civilization," and "Who's to Inherit?" two clever and interesting farces. Miss Eason, head of the English department in the school, has been coaching the casts and feels very much gratified with the spirit and vim which the boys and girls have shown in their rehearsals.

Those who are to take part in "Who's to Inherit?" include, Concepta, Pila, Florence Alpaugh, Ruth Voorhees, Marion Volliners, Townsend Dickinson Leonard Lewis, Minor Trobridge, Katharine Lee and Dorris Silbert with Bessie Shrager as promoter. The pupils who will comprise the cast for "Miss Civilization" are Edith Bachtel, Paul Vestergard, Holmes Clawson, Arthur Ellinger, George Vollmers, Rene Chatel, Miner Trobridge, Fred Smith, Stevens.

REPUDIATED LEASE; SUED FOR $1,200 BY ESTATE

Elizabeth, May 16 (Special).—Mary Isabelle Hill, trustee under the will of Anthony Dyatt, is suing Elliott Cutting in the County Court at Elizabeth, today, before Judge Vail and a jury, to recover on a lien on property in Plainfield. Cutting leased the property on October 1, 1909, for $1,200, with the understanding that certain improvements and alterations were to be made before he occupied it. It is claimed that everything was done as agreed.

On October 18 the lease was repudiated owing to certain objections to the improvements as made by the plaintiff. According to Cutting they were not as agreed upon. The suit is for $1,200 and the cost of the improvements. W. R. Codington and S. S. Swackhamer, of Swackhamer & Bird, are representing the defendant, while Raymont Parrot is the attorney for the plaintiff.

MEETING IN INTEREST OF FRESH AIR HOME

For the purpose of acquainting the public with the work of the Netherwood Fresh Air work and to further its usefulness, a public meeting will be held Monday night in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church. Charles W. McCutchen will preside and the speakers will be Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield; Rev. Dr. Flagg, of New York; Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Fresh Air Home, and L. B. Rolston, of New York. A choir comprising children who have been under Miss Curry's care will sing.

Number of children received at the home, 2,995; number of mothers received at the home, 1,005; number of religious services held, 37; number of entertainments held, 17; average cost per child for ten days outing, 80 cents; average cost per day for Home expenses, $38.

At the Little Missionary Day Nursery, in New York, of which Miss Curry has charge, the following volume of work was done in 1911:

Number of children received at the Nursery, 44,587; number of poor families called on, 8,009; number of sick people visited, 6,803; number of sick people visited, nursed, cared for and given medicine, 5,201; homes provided with Thanksgiving dinners, 1,189; number of people fed by these dinners, 7,285; number of poor people helped with food, 2,693; poor people to whom garments were given, 5,479; poor people buried, 7; work found for poor women, 109; work found for poor men, 136; work found for poor girls, 97; work for poor boys, 73. The nursing and visiting has all been done by Miss Curry personally. The aim is the uplift of humanity, the temporal relief being a matter of second consideration.

FIRE FIRST GUN FOR THE COLONEL

Union County Republican Presidential Preference Campaign Opens.

FORT SENDS BROADSIDE

Arraigns Some State Leaders and Tells Why He Favors Roosevelt—Mayor Moy Also Speaks at Elizabeth Meeting.

The Republican Presidential primaries campaign was opened in Union county last night, when former Governor John Franklin Fort, of Newark, and Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of this city, addressed a Roosevelt mass meeting.

The whole trend of Mr. Fort's speech was that President Taft had lined up with a set of "discredited bosses" against the adoption of progressive policies advocated by Theodore Roosevelt.

After referring to the support of Taft by Senator Penrose, in Pennsylvania; eSnator Lorimer, in Illinois, and other Senators who have been more active in the Republican leadership at Washington, he said that all these men were against Taft four years ago, but were now supporting him because Taft had changed his point of view.

"Look at our own State four years ago," said the former Governor. "I voted for Taft at Chicago. Mr. Murphy was for Fairbanks. Senator Briggs and David Baird voted for Knox. Congressman Loudenslager and Bob Hand voted for Cannon. Loudenslager is dead, but the rest are all for Taft. Have they changed, or has Taft?"

Mr. Fort went on to say that when he supported Taft in 1908 he thought Taft stood where Roosevelt stood.

Mayor Moy said he considered that the people of New Jersey were to be congratulated at this their first opportunity to express their wish on Presidential nominations. It was amusing, he asserted, to hear the wails of the bosses and stand-patters throughout the land. No longer could they see that there were packed conventions and packed primaries for now and for all future time the people rule. If he were a stand-patter he said he would think twice before he voted for Taft once.

Taft's entire strength, the Mayor continued, comes from States that elect Democratic Presidential electors and the States behind the President are Democratic when the general election is held. Therefore, he said, he would turn and find the Republican who could be elected if nominated, and "I would turn to Roosevelt as the man." An analysis of the vote of the primaries, he asserted, shows that approximately one million have expressed their preference for Roosevelt, while about half that number have registered a preference for Taft.

The Mayor used the Titanic disaster to illustrate his thought on the little attention people are giving to these important primaries. When the ship sank the people thought of the 1,600 lives lost but did not generally consider how those 1,600 deaths affected hundreds of others depending on them in some way. The man to be elected President next fall, he said, will rule over 100,000,000 people.

Governor Fort said in part:

"I thoroughly believe in Theodore Roosevelt. In my view he is the one great man in public life today. Of his sincerity in his beliefs and his devotion to the people I have not a shadow of doubt. There is no other man in whom the average American has so great confidence, and it is not misplaced. Mr. Roosevelt is a real representative of the people. He is their friend. They know it and believe in and trust him. He is democratic to the core. No influence or interest or force can pursuade him to do what he does not believe to be right. He knows this nation and its basic principles as few, if any, other men do. Equality of opportunity is his one object. He believes, as he has so many times said, that 'this country is not good enough for some of us unless it is good enough for all of us.' It is to make this country one in which all have the same chance that he is now fighting the people's battle.

"Mr. Taft was nominated, by the influence of Roosevelt, as a Progressive Republican.

"Aldrich, Cannon, Crane, Penrose and Lorimer were all against him. They were beaten overwhelmingly. Mr. Taft was supposed to be against them. The people thought they were to go to the rear and intended they should.

"Mr. Taft was expected to carry out a progressive policy. He has done just the opposite. He at once left the Progressives and turned to the stand-pat crowd and has worked with them ever since. If he had thrown them over, and had failed, through their efforts, to accomplish any legislation, the people would have approved his administration

KEEPING TABS ON HUDSON'S HOURS

Borough Street Commissioner Will Keep an Account of His Activities.

NO PERMIT FOR ICE CO.

On Advice of Lawyer the Council by a Decisive Vote, Refuses Authority for the Erection of Wagon Shed.

The Plainfield Ice and Supply Company was denied permission to erect its proposed wagon shed at Somerset and Regent streets, at an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council last night. This action was taken upon advice of William R. Codington, who informed the Council that it had a right to refuse permission. Councilmen Stahl, Rushmore and Woolston voted in favor of granting the permit, and Councilmen Buttfield, Van Arsdale and Milne voted against the proposition. Five votes being required to pass the resolution, it was decisively lost. Representatives of the Ice company are said to have declared that they will build in defiance of the Council and fight the case out in court.

Councilman Milne brought up the subject of Street Commissioner Hudson's activities. He asserted that under the provisions of the ordinance the commissioner was called upon to devote eight hours a day to his duties and that he had information to the effect that Mr. Hudson was not giving the required time to his work. He did not consider, he asserted, that the streets were in as good condition as they should be kept and that more money had been spent in that department for the first three months of the year than for the corresponding period last year. Councilman Rushmore declared that he had figures at hand which showed that less money had been spent. He and Councilman Woolston defended Hudson claiming that he had been seriously handicapped by the rainy weather and by other causes.

Before the discussion was closed Mayor Clark explained what the commissioner had done and also told of his difficulties. He told of the inability to get teams for road work and while he would not claim that there was a conspiracy on foot he asserted that Mr. Hudson had been strangely embarrassed. He, the mayor, favored hiring the city roller because of inability to get teams. The statement was made that he had kept in close touch with the commissioner and knew that he was doing everything that he should. Councilman Buttfield introduced a resolution requiring the commissioner to keep account of the time he devotes to various work and that met with unanimous approval.

Councilman Milne brought up the question of a new contract with the Public Service Corporation for street lighting under the provisions of the new schedule just announced by the company, and on his motion the Light and Laws and Ordinance Committees were authorized to draft a new five year contract with certain modifications adapted to the borough.

Mr. Milne explained that by making a contract now the borough would be able to save $1,284.45 on five year's service. The new rate for the borough will be $14.81 per lamp as against $15.50 the present price, it being understood that the candle power is to be the same as now furnished. Mr. Milne said Plainfield is losing $250 a moth by its failure to make a contract under the provisions of the new schedule.

S. St. John McCutchen, George T. Rogers, E. S. Boyer and J. O. Osgood, comprising the borough sewer commission held a private conference with the members of the Council after the Council meeting to discuss sewer matters. No information was given out as to the result of the conference.

The question of an unpaid stone bill of $250, claimed to be due John Y. Wilson was discussed at length. Mr. Wilson declared that the stone had been furnished and that a bill was presented last year. It was the opinion of Councilman VanArsdale that the bill was a just one and should be paid. However, it appeared that there was on knowledge of such a bill having been received at the clerk's office last year. Mr. VanArsdale's motion that the bill be paid was lost. The vote was a tie, three for and three against, but Mayor Clark voted against paying the bill.

The Board of School Estimate will meet at the Plainfield High School tonight when there will be a discussion of the budget of expenses for the coming year. ROVING TENDENCIES OF PLAINFIELD HUSBAND

Newark, May 16.—It was "Wanderlust" that brought David Derier, of Plainfield, into Vice Chancellor Stevens' court yesterday to defend a maintenance suit brought against him by Mrs. Rose F. Dreier, of Brooklyn.

According to Mrs. Bertha Sanger, a married sister of the defendant, it was David's habit, when a boy, to leave home at frequent intervals without warning, and stay away for months. Usually, according to Mrs. Sanger, her father, the late Samuel Dreier, who was a wealthy business man of Plainfield, had to send on money to enable his son to return home.

Eight months after Dreier married Miss Rose F. Friedenthal, in 1905, the wanderlust again overcame him and he disappeared, taking with him $2,000 which Mrs. Dreier, on the stand, said belonged to her, her father having given the money to her as a wedding present. After some months Dreier according to Mrs. Sanger, was located in Chicago by his father and induced to return to his wife.

Dreier, on the stand, told that he is now earning about $10 a week on an average, playing the violin in Atlantic City. He didn't deny taking the $2,000 when he left his wife the first time, but declared that it was a wedding present to him from his wife's father.

FIRE FIRST GUN

and aided him in overthrowing them this year if not before. Mr. Taft turned from men like Dolliver, Beverage La Follette, Cummins, Bristow, Poindexter, Dixon, Norris and others of the Progressive kind, and has neither counseled with or helped them in any way to make the party progressive. Under Mr. Taft's policy the party has become almost ruined. State after State has changed Republican for Democratic Governors and the House of Representative has become a Democratic body. This fight is to settle whether the party is to be Progressive or stand-pat. It must become all one thing or all the other. Roosevelt stands for the elimination of the old guard and the bosses, and for the establishment of the rule of the people on a progressive platform which shall put man above the dollar and patriotism above personal interests and special privilege. When the great Republican states, upon which the party can always count for their electional votes, like Illinois Pennsylvania, Maine, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Oregon, California, Nebraska and others go by enormous majorities against Mr. Taft's renomination it means something. It means the people are determined to rule the country and that special privilege is ended.

"The republican manhood of the country will not stand for Lorimerism. Thirteen of the Senators who voted to keep Lorimer in his seat have already been relegated to the rear and will no more go to the Senate. All the others who voted for him will also soon end their careers. If the people are competent to vote for and select a Governor in their State, and who questions that fact, why are they not table to express their choice for United States Senators? One thing is sure, many now in the United States Senate would not be there if the people had made the choice. Which system do you like the best; that which permits the people to decide who shall be the candidate of the party for President, or that which gives Barnes and Murphy in New York the right to vote ninety delegates in the Republican and Democratic National Convention, respectively. That is the issue in this campaign. Roosevelt and the people or Taft and Barnes. Which combination do you like best? The opposition call this kind of talk demogogy. But is it? This is either a Democratic - Republican government or it is not. It certainly was never contemplated by the fathers that this should be a machine, boss ridden country; and the people do not mean that it shall become permanently such as it is and has been the past few years. The average voter is only about thirty to thirty-five years of age, and the young American is intelligent and means to have a say as to who shall be his representative in office. The legislation of the nation and state has been altogether too much dominated by those who have axes to grind and special interests to serve. The cunning selfishness of some of us should not be permitted to exploit the wealth of all of us.

"Wherever the people have had a fair chance to express their choice for President in the primaries the answer has been overwhelmingly for Col. Roosevelt. In states where there is a fair preferential primary Mr. Taft does not get a third of the votes. The sentiment of the rank and file of the party in every state where it has a chance to voice itself is overwhelmingly against him.

"What is New Jersey going to do? Will we stand beside the enlightened progressive action of Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maine, Maryland, Nebraska, Oregon, Minnesota, California and the other great Republican states, or will we remain in the grip of the machine and with the reactionary stand-patters?

"No one believes the gentlemen opposing Mr. Roosevelt do so for the reasons they give. They know as well as we that Colonel Roosevelt is a man of great ability and is a far-seeing statesman—the greatest living American. The world recognizes the truth of that statement. These men know also perfectly well that the country was never more prosperous than during his term in the White House. He never struck any interest unless it deserved it and he never protected any interest or man when it or he was doing wrong. Capital and labor will get justice and neither of them will get anything else. With him there is not one rule for special privilege and another for the man of toil.

"Penrose, Crane, Cannon, Aldrich, Lorimer, Guggenheim and all the bosses were against Taft four years ago. Why? Because they thought he would carry out Roosevelt's policies. They are all for him now. Why? Have they changed? Not on your life. Well, then, who has changed? They are all for Taft now and about every leader at Chicago who was for him then is against him now. Look at our own state four years ago. I voted for Taft at Chicago, Mr. Murphy was for Fairbanks Senator Briggs and David Baird voted for Knox. Congressman Loudenslager and Bob Hand for Cannon. Loudenslager is dead but the rest are all for Taft. Have they changed or has Taft? When I supported Mr. Taft in 1908 I supposed he stood where Roosevelt stood—that he was a progressive—that he would do all in his power to strengthen the Interstate Commerce Act and not set up a Commerce Court with men like Archbold on it to over-rule or stay the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in eighteen out of twenty-four cases, which they had decided for the people. I supposed we were going to have a downward revision of the tariff, to reduce the cost of living, not an increase of rates on the cheaper grades of cotton and woolen goods which the average citizen wears—and surely we did not expect that a man whom we had elected as a progressive President would endorse Tawney and declare at the same time that the Payne-Aldrich tariff was the best ever. We thought that Pinchot's conservation and Garfield's trust regulation policies were going to be approved, and not that they should be both thrown out of public life and these policies disapproved. Nor did we suppose that all we should get in three years out of the pure food fight would be a decision that 'whiskey is whiskey' and Dr. Wiley out of power, and McCabe and his pure food fakir associates bereft in the Department of Agriculture.

"It is men of Roosevelt's courage and purpose that the people want and they do not, if they can help it, mean to have any other. The bringing in of the absolute rule of the people is the issue. Let us do our part to put New Jersey on the right side of this issue.

"It is always wise to see who opposes a proposition before you decide. Who is it that is against the initiative and referendum? The same men who opposed any public utilities commission; who fought the Interstate Commerce Act and railroad rate regulation. It is the same men who opposed regulating the age of children in factories and the hours of labor for women. It is the same men who opposed Employer's Liability Laws, and the abolition of the Sixteenth Century rule, which makes one workman suffer in a factory for the carelessness of another; the doctrine as we know it of the negligence of a fellow servant. It is the same men who denounced Col. Roosevelt for compelling the coal barons to settle the coal strike. In a word it is the same men who have oppsed everything for the uplift of man and who put property above humanity under all circumstances. Mr. Roosevelt typifies all the great reforms of the day. No other man could have done, single-handed and practically alone, what he has achieved in the past thirty days. Such an exhibition of popular approval has never before occurred in this nation. Why is it? There is but one answer. It is the demand of the people for him, founded upon their firm belief that he will promote their rights and strengthen popular government.

"Those who call Mr. Roosevelt radical know it is not true. Ask them to name any act of his that is or has been dangerous to the country. Ask them to name anything he actually stands for which they can show is not for the common good. They are constantly perverting his position. You would think to hear them talk that Mr. Roosevelt was, if elected, going to recall all the judges in the country at once, and yet he has never uttered a word favoring the recall of judges even after mature consideration. They likewise would make the people think that he would change representative government by having a pure democracy and make and unmake laws through the initiative and referendum. No one favors the initiative for legislation until and unless the legislature refuse to give the people a law which public sentiment demands. Take the three years I was Governor. The Legislature refused to pass a public utilities bill that the party platform had declared for. Why should not the people have a method to accomplish their will when the men they elect to represent them are false to their pledges and refuse to grant that which was promised? The Constitution of our State and probably all the states in some form, gives to the people the right of petition. The initiative of legislation by the people is nothing more than the right of petition made absolute. And what is there new about the referendum? Certainly nothing in New Jersey. There has not been a city charter, or hardly a police or fireman's bill, or a park act, or an act for a bond issue for any new project in the last thirty years in this State, which has not contained a referendum to the people to say whether or not it should become a law. Even under our present Constitution our Courts, in Paul vs. Gloucester, decided such referendum legislation to be constitutional. No one is against submitting acts to the people or the people's rights to demand that acts may be submitted to them, except the special interests who wish to dominate legislation for the benefit of special privilege. If the legislation of the State shall respond to popular demands there will never be any need to use either the initiative or referendum. It is only when the legislature refuses acts in the interests of justice and the whole people, at the behest of the selfish and self seeking, that these remedies would ever be used. As it has been well expressed a constitutional provision permitting such methods is only a gun behind 'the door.' It would only be another force to drive out of the halls of our legislature the friends of special privilege. Is there any man in this county who wishes that one man or set of men shall have any privilege which he or his neighbors shall not have?"

ACCUSED NEWARKER HAD PISTOL PERMIT

Perth Amboy, May 16.—Accused by a woman with trying to kill her, a Newarker having a permit to carry a pistol issued by Newark authorities, was in jail here yesterday pending a hearing before Recorder Kehoe. The prisoner says he is Dominick Sargente, of 4 Drift street, Newark. His accuser is Mrs. Rocco Terrioli, of this place.

The local detective force is investigating the mission which brought Sargente to this city. Several persons said in court that they saw Sargente with a revolver, and Mrs. Terrioli says that he aimed the weapon at her and tried to kill her. Sargente had no revolver when arrested by Patrolman John H. Martin, but he displayed a permit to go armed, issued by Mayor Haussling March 23 last. The permit set forth that the purpose Sargente had in asking permission to carry a revolver was "self-protection." The permit, although approved by Police Chief Michael Corbett, was not recorded at the county clerk's office, as required by a recent law regulating the carrying of concealed weapons.

Sargente refused to explain his errand here, claiming that he had a right to go where he pleased. He denied having a revolver, but admitted throwing a handful of ice cream cones at Mrs. Terrioli.

THE BARD OF PLAINFIELD.

(From last night's New York Evening Sun.)

That favorite of kind fortune, Senator Jimmy Martine, of New Jersey, erst President of the Board of Education of Plainfield and forever the poet laureate of Jerseymen wherever found, has smitten his thrilling lyre again, and in a lofty hymn of praise to Jersey's ancient and most honorable essence, the lambent and compelling applejack, milk of heroes, divine ichor of superjersey men, chrism of statesmen whose happy eyes first see the light through the golden mists of the low-lying meadows which skirt that sandy coast.

Senator Martine was turning his gigantic intellect upon the Agricultural bill, straining at the brakes to prevent that measure from being reduced to powder by the impact of his attention, when Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, presumed to remark upon the difference between straight and blended whiskey, and deplored the commercial coloring of that spirit. Senator Martine's quick perception flew instantly to the real point at issue. "What difference does it make?" he cried, "if the whiskey is good?" He proceeded:

"What does its color matter, if the deliciousness and the delirium of flavor are there? Come to the glorious commonwealth of New Jersey, where they brew rivers of an elixir known as applejack, whether colored or uncolored.

"It is rich in aroma, delirious as an intoxicant, promoting happiness, health and longevity. Why, Mr. President, after a couple of drinks of New Jersey applejack, no man is able to detect the colors in a rainbow. But, Mr. President, dismiss this question, and on the adjournment I invite you to come to New Jersey and see and taste and test for yourself. Come!"

Spoken like a demi-god among Senators—a demigod with a demijohn. That starry mind illuminated the whole subject in the few words of his first question; what matter if brown or ruddy, straw-colored or dark as the purple wine of the South, if only it be good—good! Yet, perhaps, his generosity led him into great complaisance; should a Jerseyman nurtured on applejack admit so readily that mere whiskey can satisfy the soul? Because in all applejack lie those intimations of immortality which bring pervasive peace and the great contentment, does he not concede too much to his learned and honorable colleague?

Senator Martine conceded to whiskey possible "delirium of flavor" as an indication of its excellence. Nobody knows better than he that applejack consists of something harder, longer, stronger and possessed of more foot-pounds of influence than mere "delirium of flavor." Would he have the Senate understand that Minnesota ought to be satisfied with whiskey as a staple and only take applejack on special occasions, as an elixir too potent for any but native Jerseymen and their guests personally attended?

The record does not snow. Probably the fact was that the poet's frenzy overpowered him, and he sang of applejack as a great creative principle; whatever he implied of his colleagues or their taste in beverages was to him unimportant. The sacred name swept him into the clouds of poetical rapture, and swimming in that suffused mist of imaginative applejack he paid his tribute to that great essence without much regard to syntax or anything else. His colleagues' response to the invitation was not reported.

NEXT WEEK'S CAMPAIGN.

For the first time in our history the community is to be honored withing the same week by the presence of the President of the United States and his immediate predecessor in that exalted office. Both of them will appear as aspirants for the Republican Presidential nomination preference of New Jersey. William Howard Taft, the Chief Magistrate of the Nation, will speak here on Friday afternoon, May 24, at 5 o'clock. The following afternoon at 3 o'clock, Theodore Roosevelt will address the local voters. Both of these distinguished men will draw large audiences and each of them should and will undoubtedly receive the respectful attention of the party's voters.

The tours of New Jersey to be made by the candidates will be the most strenuous ones ever attempted in this State at least. Each will devote nearly four days, with an intervening Sunday, on the eve of the primaries of May 28 in presenting their claims to the people. Beginning on Thursday evening, Mr. Taft will deliver speeches at Camden, Burlington and Trenton. The following day he will be heard at Lambertville, Frenchtown, Phillipsburg, Somerville, New Brunswick, Plainfield and Elizabeth. The Somerville speech will be delivered at 1 o'clock in the afternoon while the Elizabeth talk will be given at 6 o'clock. A series of meetings at Jersey City and Hoboken will conclude his day's program.

Saturday's schedule includes addresses at Englewood, Hackensack, Harrison, Newark, Rutherford, Passaic, and Paterson. Perth Amboy, Red Bank, Asbury Park, Lakewood, Bridgeton, Vineland and Atlantic City will be visited on Monday.

Col. Roosevelt's campaigning will be begun at Paterson at noon on Thursday, May 23, and the same afternoon he will be heard at Passaic, Hackensack and Newark. He will talk again that night at Newark and will also address a mass meeting at Jersey City. On Friday noon he will speak at Atlantic City and from there he will go to Millville, Bridgeton, Glassboro and Woodbury. That night he will talk at Camden and at Trenton. He will resume his speechmaking on Saturday at Asbury Park. That afternoon he will be at New Brunswick, Rahway and Plainfield. The evening will be spent at Elizabeth. Monday's itinerary has not been announced but it is expected that he will wind up his campaign that day by visiting several large centres of population.

President Taft is scheduled to deliver twenty-seven speeches and Col. Roosevelt twenty-five.

The Trenton True American in commenting on the results of the special elections in Atlantic City and Elizabeth remarks that "the commission plan is essentially the same system of government preferred by private concerns as best conducive to efficiency. Business men would scout the idea that the president of a corporation ought not to be a member of the board of directors. It is only in the United States that the Mayor has ever been separated from the City Council, and along with this peculairity has gone the fact that our municipal corporations have rated far below all our other corporations in efficiency. No such glaring difference exists in other countries. The government of a French, a German or an English city is as well managed as that of any other corporation.

"The cities that are adopting the commission plan are adopting a principle of organization whose soundness is attested by the practice and experience of all well-managed corporations."

"No sensible person will believe that the big cities of this State will continue indefinitely their present partison, cumbersome, irresponsible and extravagant methods of government," says the Jersey Journal. "The simplicity, responsibility and 'pitiless publicity' afforded by the commission form make its adoption ultimately by all the cities a certainty. In the meantime Long Branch, which began its commission form of government yesterday; Trenton, Ridgewood, Passaic and the other commission government towns of the State will all be piling up good reasons and self-evident arguments why other cities should discard their present ineffective methods for the effective ones of the commission plan.

One of the greatest, if not the very greatest, newspapers ever published in New Jersey was the last issue of the Newark Sunday Call. It was great in every respect, not simply because there were 132 pages, including a fine art supplement, nor because it contained an extraordinary volume of advertising. It was great because of the rare good judgment displayed in the make-up of timely articles, history past and present, of illustrations of stories interesting not simply to Newarkers, but to the people of the State generally. This issue marked the fortieth anniversary of the publication, of which every Jerseyman is proud.

You will lose your chance to express your preference for Taft or Roosevelt, if you be a Republican, or for or against Wilson, if you be a Democrat, at the primaries on May 28, unless you voted at the last general election or register this week. The way to register is to visit the city clerk's office where you may sign an affidavit. Remember that unless you follow the requirements of the law you won't be able to vote at the Presidential preference primaries on Tuesday, May 28.

The city is losing $2,000 a year by reason of having to pay interest on a $40,000 issue of school bonds. These bonds were issued more than a year ago for the purpose of meeting the expense of enlarging the high school building. The delay in using the money is due to the fact that the plans for the improvement have been held-up.

CONGRESSMEN'S CLERKS NOT TO GET MORE PAY

Washington, May 16.—The House has squelched the efforts to increase the salaries of the clerks of its members and place them on the federal pay roll. Back of it is a story that amuses some and irritates others.

As matters now stand, the men and the women who serve as secretaries and clerks to the members of the House have no official status. They have no formal connection with the government service. The law now simply provides that each Representative shall have an allowance of $1,500 per year for clerk hire.

The rub comes here: The Congressman is not obligated to hire a clerk. He gets the $1,500 at all events, and uses his own judgment as to whether he'll hand out a job to some one back home.

Now, most Congressmen do hire clerks—all of the Jersey delegation do—but there are others who don't believe in such luxuries at all. Still others keep the $1,500 in the family by letting their wives or daughters attend to correspondence, thus aiming a blow at the high cost of living in Washington.

Scenes of domesticity are not lacking in the House office building. Stroll through the corridors, and you might, by glancing into an office here and there, see a legislator's wife tapping a typewriter while baby plays on the floor with the Congressional Record.

In the minds of some this way of effecting economy is a violation of strict ethics, hence it was that Uncle Joe Cannon proposed an amendment to the executive, judicial and legislative appropriation bill, which provided that the clerks be added to the official payroll and that they receive $2,000 a year hereafter. This is the same sum that the secretaries of Senators receive, and the attaches in the House office building think they do more work than a Senator's secretary.

However, the House has voted against the amendment. The Congressmen on the Democratic side will tell you they were obliged to go against the amendment because of the economy program. Different motives are ascribed to some of them, and the clerks declare they will see to it that the next House will get a chance to vote on the question.

T. A. SPERRY IS SUED BY CRANFORD WOMAN

Trial of the damage suit against Thomas A. Sperry, of Green Stamp fame, by Mrs. Fanny Reves, was callede before Judge Vaiy and a jury in Elizabeth yesterday. The plaintiff is suing for damages done her property by water by reason of damming the Rahway River on Mr. Sperry's estate in Cranford, and for the removal of the dam.

At the time the dam was built, it is alleged, no provision in the way of a gate was provided to carry off the extra volume of water in case of rain-storms. At every storm the water flooded the property adjoininfi that of Mr. Sperry, which is owned by the plaintiff. The case will go to the jury today.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS ELECT REGER GRAND HIGH PRIEST

Trenton, May 16.—With the election and installation of officers at the session of the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons of New Jersey, which took place yesterday afternoon, the final sessions of the Masonic bodies that have been meeting in this city for the last two days, was ended.

Abraham A. Reger, of Somerville, who occupied the post of deputy grand priest, was honored with the office of grand high priest. The customary advancement marked the selection of the other officials.

The list of new officers follow: Grand high priest, Abram A. Reger, Somerville; deputy grand high priest, L. D. Sandborn, Harrison; grand king, R. A. Meeker, Plainfield; grand scribe, F. T. McIvin, Cape May; grand treasurer, Edward Mills, Camden; grand secretary, Peter McGill, Bound Brook; grand captain of host, F. T. Crane, Orange; grand principal sojourner, William Herbert Lowe, Paterson; grand royal arch captain, A. N. McKinnon, Newark; grand trustees, Nelson Y. Dungan, Somerville; Daniel L. Campbell and Joseph Mason, both of Paterson; grand chaplains, Rev. Geo. C. Maddock, Trenton, and Daniel Demerest, Newark; grand lecturer, H. S. Haines, Burlington; grand master of third veil, Louis Menegaux, Weehawken; grand master of second veil, W. A. Smalley, Somerville; grand master first veil, Arthur Patterson, Jersey City; grand tyler, Alfred T. Osmond, Trenton.

Abram A. Reger, of Somerville, the new grand high priest, began his Masonic career in 1892, when he became a member of Solomon's Lodge, No. 46, F. and A. M., located at Somerville. He was elected as grand master of the their veil in 1907, and has advanced each year through the various stations until his election yesterday as grand high priest, the chief officer of the State body.

HORACE ADAMS ELECTED.

Perth Amboy, May 16.—At the annual state convention of the New Jersey Exempt Firemen's Association held here yesterday John Kennell, of Passaic, was re-elected president of the organization. The report of Secretary Edgar F. Humphrey's of Uttley, showed that there were seventy-four associations represnted. The vote for Kennell for president was unanimous. The only contest was for secretary. Horace T. Adams, of Plainfield, was elected.

T. A. B. WILL BE THERE.

The St. Mary's T. A. B. Society has accepted the invitation of Mother Gabriel of Mount St. Mary College, to assist at the services next Sunday on the college grounds in connection with the blessing of the new bell by Bishop McFaul, of Trenton. The society will march to the grounds headed by their fife and drum corps, which will render the march music.

The Plainfield Retail Druggists' Association held a meeting and election of officers Tuesday night in Pratt's pharmacy on Watchung avenue. The officers chosen included L. W. Randolph, president; William Pratt, vice-president, and L. A. Mallinson, secretary and treasurer.

A Famous Fresco.

Michelangelo's fresco in the Sistine chapel of the Vatican completely covers the vaulted roof, which measures 133 feet in length and 43 feet in width. This painting delineates the creation of man, his fall and the early history of the world, with a reference to man's final redemption and salvation.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

DELICIOUS BISQUES.

BISQUES are thick soups, sometimes consisting of vegetables boiled and strained and combined with cream. Fish or shell fish are generally used in making them.

A General Method.

Bisque of Fish.—Any fish which is in season may be used for this, although the recipe calls for fresh cod. Boil a pound of the fish through two waters; then free it from skin and bones and chop fine. Take a quart of white stock and drop the minced fish into this, seasoning with salt and pepper and a little minced parsley.

Take a tablespoonful of flour and two of butter, put in a small saucepan and pour over these a cupful of milk. Place on the fire and stir until the milk thickens; then drop in the fish and stock. Boil these together and just before serving add a half cupful of powdered cracker crumbs.

With Canned Fish.

Bisque of Salmon.—Canned salmon may be used for this. Open a can of this fish and turn the contents into an enameled saucepan. With a silver fork remove all skin and bones; then cover with boiling water and simmer for thirty minutes. Drain off the water and reduce the fish to a pulp.

Take a pint of milk, add a dash of baking soda and a half cup of cracker crumbs. Heat these on the fire in a double boiler if you have one and add a pint of white stock. Rub two tablespoonfuls of flour into two of butter and mix with the soup. Stir to keep it smooth and when it is thick add the minced fish. Season with salt and paprika. Serve with croutons.

Utilizing Vegetables.

Bisque of Tomatoes.—Take a half can of tomatoes, a teaspoonful of finely cut onions, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white pepper, one of paprika and a teaspoonful of sugar. Put these on the fire in a saucepan with a cupful of white stock. Let them boil twenty minutes and then strain. Place two cupfuls of milk in the top of a double boiler and let it boil. Then add the soup to the milk. Rub together a tablespoonful of butter and one of flour. Stir this into the soup. Boil for about five minutes. Serve with croutons.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

The Republic of China has invited Miss Mary E. Ledyard, supervisor of kindergartens in Los Angeles, to act as Organizer of Kindergartens throughout China. Perhaps nothing indicates more clearly the far-seeing policy of the new administration than the fact that one of its first acts is to provide for the education of babies of China. Heretofore they have been early taught to "earn their board and keep." Children of five and six years of age coming from unheated homes with damp dirt floors, work all day in ill-ventilated steaming-hot factories. They help the women dip the silk cocoons into hot water, the little fingers becoming white and swollen. Some occupy a seat on the loom almost as high as the ceiling and all day long pull the bunches of cord or thread from which the beautiful silk is woven. And if the child makes a mistake in the pulling an imperfection in the design results. Children of all ages and sizes work in China, in the rice fields, in workshops, everywhere.

Nothing more effective could be done than the establishment of a complete system of kindergartens to produce a higher class of citizenship. Miss Ledyard has shown her ability as an organizer not only of kindergartens but of Mother Circles as well. The warm interest of many members of Mothers' Congress will follow her into her new field and hope that she may be as successful in China as she has been in America.

The Count and Countess Ogasawara, from Japan, are in this country as representatives of the Japanese Red Cross. They say that two million Japanese women are enrolled in the organization.

Dr. Frederico Rossi, Professor of Medicine in the University of Havana; Dr. Enrique Barnet and Dr. Octavio Coffigny, specialist in infants' diseases, will act as medical councilors to the Cuban branch of the Mothers' Congress. The great need of this work in Cuba will be better understood when it is known that during the past year 3,243 babies were born dead, 10,653 died during their first year and 4,761 before the tenth year.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is preparing a pamphlet in eight or nine languages on the danger of trespassing on the railroad. These will be distributed in the schools to be carried to the homes. It is hoped in this way the general public may be taught more respect for life so easily lost through ignorance or carelessness. In Pennsylvania during 1910 there were 585 killed while trespassing on the railroad property and 582 were injured.

New York City recently gave four minutes to the consideration of the case of nine boys who were arrested in the Subway for "cutting up." The charge of rowdyism could not be made, and the fine of $1 each imposed, in less time. There were no questions asked, no discrimination shown. Why? Oh, New York never does things that way—never has. There is no house of detention in connection with its Children's Court where boys should be cared for while their cases are investigated. There are no men employed to investigate. Chicago has sixty officers so employed.

Oregon leads the way in summer conferences when interest in school is apt to lag. During the Summer School session at the University of Oregon there will be a meeting of State Congress of Mothers lasting two days, July 2-3. Dr. Adolph Berle, of Boston, will lecture each day on child training and other prominent speakers will discuss such vital subjects as Open Air Schools, Supervision of Comercialized Recreation (Dance Halls and Moving Picture Shows), the School as a Social Centre, Playgrounds and Hygiene.

Miss Alberta Reed, a pure food expert in the Bureau of Chemistry at Washington, has riscovered an easy way to detect adulteration in tea. Heretofore an elaborate chemical process was necessary. Now Miss Reed places the sample on black paper and inspects it with a microscope. This shows the presence of talc which gives the tea a hard, shiny appearance. By placing the sample on white paper thes ubstance which merely adds weight is as easily detected.

One of the prominent magazines for women is urging Mothers' Clubs to take up the study of the laws governing women and children in their respective states, and gives information where such material may be obtained. "Laws of the State of New Jersey Relating to Women and Children," may be had by addressing Mrs. Mary L. Calvin, 56 North Maple avenue, East Orange, N. J.

The Haddonfield Mothers' and Teachers' Club gave a "Child Welfare Tea" Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the High School to meet Mrs. Augustus H. Reeve, president of the N. J. Congress of Mothers, who spoke most encouragingly of the progressive spirit shown by the club and the line of work carried out last winter.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Lincoln School, New Brunswick, while just in its infancy, having been organized but a short time ago, is very much interested in the work. They have the second largest enrollment of any of the public school in the city and new members are being added at each meeting. The society is proving a help to both parent and teacher as it brings them in touch with each other.

At the May meeting a very interesting talk was given by Mrs. William M. Sandford, Jr., of Plainfield, on the object of the Mothers' Association. She referred to the great good these organizations were doing in her own city quoting the city superintendent of the Plainfield public schools as saying that they had been a great help to the schools there. Her address was filled with good ideas and will be of great help to the work here.

The social committee is taking special interest in the social hour feature at each meeting.

BAYONNE MAN CHOSEN STATE DEPUTY, K. OF C.

Mt. Holly, May 16.—Besides electing Edward J. Sweeney, of Bayonne, as State deputy, the State council of New Jersey, Knights of Columbus, marked the closing of its annual session by re-electing the other officers and choosing delegates to the supreme national convention at Colorado in August. Next year's State convention will be held in Atlantic City.

The officers elected, other than State Deputy Sweeney, who succeeds Cornelius A. McGlennon, of East Newark, are as follows:

Secretary, John F. O'Neil, of Jersey City; treasurer, James J. Toomey, of Merchantville; advocate, P. J. Dolan, of Newark; warden, Peter J. O'Brien, of Jersey City.

The delegates to the national convention are: John J. Hickey, Bayonne; William Smith and James J. Hopkins, Jersey City; E. J. O'Brien, Newark; William L. Doyle, Trenton.

Among the past State deputies who made addresses, were John J. Hickey, of Bayonne; Thomas P. Fay, of Long Branch; James J. Hopkins, of Jersey City. National Warden Thomas J. McLaughlin, of Newark, was also one of the speakers.

BOY'S DEATH CLIMAX TO ILL-FATED FAMILY

Trenton, May 16.—Death added another chapter of sorrow for the Scott family, of 20 George street, Tuesday afternoon. Robert Scott, twelve years old, was so severely injured while playing in an old stone yard that he died in the McKinley Hospital. His skull was crushed.

The boy's mother is now blind as the sequel to a gas explosion a few days ago, and his sister is suffering from a fractured collarbone.

Coroner Reading is making an investigation into the boy's death, as he is not satisfied with the story told of how the lad was injured. An autopsy will be performed.

Charles Reggi, thirteen years old, of 1261 Princeton avenue, said that young Scott while riding on an old pivot swing fell and struck his head on an iron hook.

—You can't cut some people by ignoring them completely, but the suburbanite discovers that he can't apply the same rule to his lawn.

TAFT AND T. R. IN WHIRL IN OHIO

President Says He's Ready to Answer Charges.

ON GO FOR SIXTEEN HOURS

Roosevelt Declares He's Confident of Receiving Necessary Votes on First Ballot and That His Fight For Nomination Is Already Won.

Sandusky, O., May 16.—President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt mixed it up in fine style in Ohio today. The president called on Mr. Roosevelt to be specific in his accusations against the Taft administration and added that he stands ready to answer any specific charge made by Colonel Roosevelt.

This was the most important development of the day in the remarkable battle now being carried on in this state. The challenge issued by the president puts him squarely before the voters of the state as the aggressor in the fight.

The president's aggressive attitude was plainly reflected in the character of the receptions that he got today. The crowds were bigger and more enthusiastic.

It was at Bucyrus, before a great crowd, that the president first called on the colonel to drop his generalities and come down to fact.

The president in the course of the day also devoted attention to Roosevelt's latest announcements that he would leave the use of epithets exclusively to President Taft in this Ohio fight.

"Mr. Roosevelt," said the president in one of his speeches today, "now says he does not want to indulge in personalities with me. Having called me everything in the category of bad names that are mentioned in polite society, he now wishes to indulge in less emphatic expressions. Well, I don't want to bandy epithets with him, but I do wish to meet his unfounded accusations."

Takes Crack at Hanna.

In one or two of his speeches today the president paid his respects to Dan Hanna of Cleveland, who was indicted by the administration for accepting rebates.

"Mr. Dan Hanna, in this state," said the president, "was indicted for violating the interstate commerce act. He was charged with taking rebates, and I believe there has been a settlement by which he has been fined, but it has made him very active, and he thinks I am no patriot and no proper man to serve a second term. Well, I cannot help that.

"I deny," he continued, "that Theodore Roosevelt and his election are essential to the happiness of the American people."

The day of campaigning which the president ended was the most trying on his strength that he has experienced in the present contest. He was on the go for sixteen hours. He delivered seventeen speeches, the most of them out of doors, and ended the day with his voice so husky that he could scarcely speak above a whisper. It looked for a time as if he would be unable to say anything to the big crowd in this city.

Roosevelt Says Its All Over.

Dayton, O., May 16.—Theodore Roosevelt declared for the first time that his fight for the Republican nomination for president is won. He said that he is now sure he will be nominated on the first ballot at Chicago.

"The number of delegates necessary to nominate is 539. Of the delegates already elected, without counting the contested delegates, I have over 500," he said. "Of the delegates yet to be elected, I am confident I will receive enough to insure my nomination on the first ballot."

At Kenton, he said: "I want Ohio with us. Mind you, I think we'll win anyhow. Ohio stood back of Lincoln, and now I want Ohio to stand at the head of the line and not bring up the tail end."

The colonel was all day in a farming country and was welcomed with big turnouts and crowds.

He scored a big hit at Springfield in a heavy wallop at the president by bringing in the Brownsville Twenty-fifth infantry incident, and the president's share in it. He said he accepted the full responsibility for his action in the Brownsville affair, and the audience of 10,000 that packed one of Billy Sunday's pine board tabernacles roared approval.

"My judgment," he added, "in taking that action has been ratified over and over again by tribunal after tribunal. I acted in that case on the recommendation of Mr. Taft when he was my secretary of war." The crowd howled in laughter and applauded the colonel's telling climax.

The colonel continued: "Mr. Taft cannot and will not affirm that his action then taken was not proper; also he cannot say it was not in his power to have restored all those men."

Lincoln Bodyguardsman Dead.

Monessen, Pa., May 16.—Charles M. Derrickson, a member of the bodyguard of President Lincoln, who is said to have carried the first word of the shooting to the White House, died here. His father, Major D. H. Derrickson, was the one time captain of the president's bodyguard.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

It tried hard enough to put the kibosh on the games yesterday afternoon. The weather man must have made a mistake for he let the Leal's-High School game get by.

The rain did have one advantage on Tuesday. It kept Matty from getting in wrong with the Pirates, for they were certainly getting to him in all the innings that were played.

The Lincoln Giants, who will be the attraction at Crescent Oval on Saturday need no introduction to the man who knows anything about baseball at all. They are without doubt the strongest colored team that is putting its spikes into a diamond today, and it will pay you to go out and watch their antics.

They are noted as coachers on the bases. It is worth the price of admission alone to watch this bunch of colored "Hughy Jennings."

The only thing that keeps a number of these players out of major company is the color line that is observed rather rigidly in the big leagues.

The directors of the Sunday-school League evidently do not mean to stand for any funny work this year in the matter of who is eligible and who is not. Adherence to that principle will do more to help the league than anything else.

It looks as though Saturday would be another big day of baseball in Plainfield.

Those in charge of the American Olympic team seem to be having a pretty hard time in raising the funds necessary to send the American athletes abroad. For some reason or other the American people are not so enthusiastic as it was hoped they might be.

Lobert, the Phillie third baseman who broke his leg recently at the Polo grounds, is able to be out of the hospital on crutches. It is not thought however that he will be able to get back into the game again before mid-season.

The Leal's-High School game yesterday was a pretty lose affair. Both teams spread the errors on thick, Leal's getting eight runs on their seven hits. This gives P. H. S. one defeat over both the other contenders for the inter-city championship and the Collier Cup.

The Yanks do not seem to have tamed the Tigers yet to any great extent. They dropped another to them yesterday 8 to 4.

The Giants slid along their well-greased groove and defeated their old friend Camnitz by one run. Red Ames, going the limit in good shape, gave only seven hits.

McGraw's flingers seem to be in about the best shape of any. Wiltse and Crandall are not yet in condition but the others have shewn that they were.

The Reds keep right on winning and keep their grip on the Giants coattails, staying only one game behind with any day giving them their chance.

Ty Cobb, tiring of abuse from some "would be it" in the grandstand, went after him and got him too. The man was thrashed, so were the Yanks—later.

Canoes will patrol the rowing course on Carnegie Lake on May 18 and June 7, the dates of Princeton's spring regatta. Last year the visitors and undergraduates, afloat in every conceivable sort of a craft, swarmed over the course and interfered with the crews. Inasmuch as it is impracticable to obtain the services of a United States revenue cutter on the lake, as Yale and Harvard have at New London, on the Thames, Princeton has decided on a canoe corps to police the channel. So far very few candidates have proffered either their services or their crafts.

PLAINFIELD H. S. DEFEATS LEALS

Loose Game Results in Victory for Public School 18 to 8.

HARD HITTING IN GAME

P. H. S. Adds to Long List of Victories by Taking Their Second Game for the Intercity Championship—Woodhull the Pitcher.

Plainfield High School baseball team won an easy victory yesterday afternoon at Crescent Oval when they defeated the Leal's School team, in a loosely played contest, by a score of 18 to 8. The Leal's boys were held scoreless for the first four innings while the High School scored in nearly every period, taking a long lead in the early part of the game.

Leal's used three pitchers during the game, alternating Lee and Finch until the seventh when Chamberlain went in for an inning. Woodhull was the box artist for P. H. S. until the eighth inning when he was relieved by Caughlin after several bad periods.

The High School team distributed their runs throughout the game, scoring in every inning but the fifth and last. Seventeen bingles were the result of the P. H. S. swatting ability, Woodhull, Good and Carty getting three apiece and Buckle two. Lee was high man for the Front street team capturing two hits, he also struck out eight men while he officiated on the mound.

Mellor, a member of the Leal's second team, sent in to bat in the seventh inning for Day, proved himself the hero of the afternoon, by cracking out a single with two men on bases and two outs. Both runners came home and Duncan was safe at first. Chamberlain deserves credit for his pitching for although he had recently strained his back he entered the game and pitched one of the High School's barren innings, after which he was compelled to retire because of his lame back. Captain Foote speared a difficult line drive at short in the sixth, with his bare hand.

It was simply a case of the High School being too strong for the newly organized Leal's team although the latter fought gamely to the finish.

The Leal's scores came in the fifth, sixth and seventh, but were held safe during the rest of the game.

CAPRON SPEEDY BOY.

Former Football Star, Now With Pittsburgh, Is Promising Ball Player.

Ralph Capron, the University of Minnesota's former football hero, may not stick with the Pittsburgh Pirates all season, but it is a sure thing that Clarke will keep a string to him.

Capron has never had any minor league experience. For all that, he showed constant improvement in the practice games this spring. He is probably the fastest man in the National league getting down to first; also a swift man in the outfield, a good batter and his arm is O. K.

KING DIES ALONE; TAKEN TO MORGUE

Monarch Unrecognized as He's Stricken on Street.

DOCTOR IS LAST TO SEE HIM

Physician Graphically Tells of Meeting Ruler Seated on Steps of Butcher Shop—Didn't Know He Was Talking to a King.

Hamburg, Germany, May 16.—Dr Ludwig Seligman was the last known person to see King Frederick VIII. of Denmark alive. He spoke to the king shortly before he was stricken. He didn't know he was talking to the ruler of Denmark. Dr. Seligman gives the following graphic account of the meeting.

"I was coming out of a theater at 10.30 o'clock when I saw an aged man sit down heavily on the steps of a butcher's shop. I saw he was suffering greatly and I asked him if I could be of assistance. He was dressed in the ordinary fashion and there was nothing about his appearance to indicate that he was a member of royalty.

"I offered to call a cab for him, but he said:

"'No, thanks. I live at the Hamburger Hof. I feel better now and can walk there.'

"He got up and started, but got only a few steps when he collapsed. I hurried to him and found that his pulse had virtually ceased. A police man appeared and a cab was summoned.

"The policeman said he would take him at once to the hospital and as I realized I could be of no further aid I went on my way without the slightest idea that I had been present at the death of a king."

It was only after the police had made a frantic search of all the popular cafes and places of amusement that might have attracted the monarch on his nocturnal walk that the body was finally found.

When a valet and chamberlain from the royal entourage were summoned to the hospital an attendant drew back the sheet which covered the five bodies. The chamberlain collapsed as he recognized the face of his king.

Then followed a scene of unparalleled excitement, but the officers hurriedly summoned soon gained control. The body was hastily and quietly transferred to the royal suite in the Hamburger Hof.

New King Proclaimed.

Copenhagen, May 16.—Prince Christian of Denmark, son of Prince Frederick, who died in Hamburg, was proclaimed King Christian of Denmark. The prince will be forty-two years old on Sept. 26 next. He was married in 1898 to Princess Alexandrine of Mecklenburg. He has two sons.

Dowager Queen Hears of Death.

London, May 16.—When Dowager Queen Alexandra was informed of the death of her brother, King Frederick of Denmark, she was visibly affected, but bore up bravely. King George and Queen Mary during the day visited Alexandra at Marlborough House and tendered their condolences.

Queen Alexandra will go to Copenhagen to attend the funeral of her brother. She will be accompanied by the Dowager Empress Marie of Russia and other sisters of the dead king.

NO HOT KITCHEN WITH A GAS RANGE

One of the good things about a GAS RANGE is that it doesn't give a lot of worse than useless heat in the summer months.

There is no keeping up fires between meals. No fuel going to waste and heating the kitchen just to save the trouble of building a new fire.

You burn gas only as you need it and you direct the heat exactly where you want it. You can't do this with coal.

We sell the best gas ranges made, at low prices, on easy payment terms. Our representative will wait on you if you send word.

This Company, because of the large volume of its trust business and the special training of its officers, is thoroughly familiar with the duties of executor and administrator.

The fees allowed a trust company for acting as executor or administrator are the same as those allowed an individual.

GIRL NOW BRIDE OF HINDOO DOCTOR

Couple Elope and Sail For His Native Land.

HE WAS HOSPITAL INTERNE

Dr. Paul Came to This Country to Study Medicine About Seven Years Ago and Had Contemplated Sailing For India When Completing Studies.

Paterson, N. J., May 16.—Dr. Darbari Ram Pal, an interne at the Paterson General hospital, eloped with Miss Frances Petry of East Sixteenth street, this city. They sailed on the steamship Kronprinzessin Cecile of the North German Lloyd line for India, Dr. Pal's native land.

The couple met less than three months ago. Mr. Petry would not countenance the talk of marriage between his daughter and the doctor, and he frankly forbade it last week when the subject was broached for his final opinion. The couple were sorely troubled over the refusal and planned to elope. They stole away to New York and were married by a clergyman.

Mr. Petry was perplexed at his daughter's nonappearance and, guessing the trouble, proceeded to the hospital to investigate. There it was learned that the doctor had not been heard of since Monday at about the same time Miss Petry disappeared.

The father went to New York, and at the office of the North German Lloyd line he learned that two of the passengers on the Kronprinzessin Cecile were Dr. and Mrs. Darbari Pal; destination, India.

Dr. Pal came to this country to study medicine about seven years ago. He entered the University of Nashville, from which he was graduated two years ago. Last May he was appointed an interne at the local hospital. He had contemplated sailing for his native town, Amritsar, India, upon the completion of his course of training at the hospital, which he recently finished.

PRINCESS GETS DIVORCE.

Mercy De Gentner Successful In Suit Against Jack Bonavita.

Newark, N. J., May 16.—Mercy De Argenteau Gentner, who previous to her marriage was Princess de Hontglyon of Paris, obtained a decree nisi of divorce from her husband, John Frederick Gentner. Gentner is known the world over as Jack Bonavita. He is an animal tamer. A few years ago a lion attacked him, and he lost his right hand as a result. Gentner did not contest the suit.

Mrs. Gentner in the last few years has won fame with her Pomeranian dogs, and she has a large kennel at Bergen Field, in Bergen county, N. J. Her dogs have won many blue ribbons in various exhibitions throughout this section.

She and Gentner were married on June 29, 1905, at Camden after she had run away from friends in Philadelphia. It is said that because of her marriage to the animal trainer her family in Paris disowned her. Mrs. Gentner brought her suit when she learned that she had several rivals.

PERMITS T. R. TO SPEAK.

Shade Tree Commission Allows Him to Talk In Newark Park.

Newark, N. J., May 16.—Permission has been granted the Roosevelt league to allow Theodore Roosevelt to make a short speech in Military park at 9 o'clock Thursday evening of next week. The Roosevelt leaders expect in this way to give thousands of persons who would be unable to get into the Roseville armory a chance to hear the colonel.

The shade tree commission, in granting the use of the park for the speech, laid down the requirements that adequate police protection must be furnished and that the Roosevelt league must be responsible for any damage done to property.

A band of twenty pieces will give a concert in the bandstand in the park from 8 o'clock until 9. Mr. Roosevelt will speak at the Roseville armory from 8 until 8.45. It is expected he will begin his speech at Military park at promptly 9 o'clock. His next speech will be at Jersey City.

G. O. P. LEADERS COMPARE NOTES

Reports of Conditions in Various Districts of County on Presidential Preference.

SOME ARE PESSIMISTIC

Hard Work Must Be Done In Various Sections If Taft Is To Be Given Big Majority In Union County—Judge Runyon Speaks.

Members of the Union County Committee and other Republican leaders and office-holders favorable to the renomination and reelection of President Taft met at the county committee's new headquarters last night to discuss the situation and to make plans for getting out the vote for the primaries. There was a large crowd present and for several hours reports were given in short speeches made by men from the various districts throughout the county. In some sections, it was found, the sentiment for Theodore Roosevelt is very strong and to overcome it the leaders considered what must be done between now and May 28.

Rutherford Franklin and Mayor Vreeland told what is being done in Summit for Taft. The situation there is favorable to a good majority for the President. For Rahway, H. E. Gore-Kelly and others spoke, and explained that the Taft people are organized and expect to do effective work. Councilman Evans reported for Westfield, which is also in good shape for a Taft victory. Freeholder Meisel, of Springfield, gave a pessimistic talk about conditions in his district where the sentiment for the Colonel appears to be strong.

Chairman Frank H. Smith, who presided, called upon former City Judge Runyon to tell of the situation here. Every vote favorable to Taft, the judge, declared should be polled, for while there appears to be a predominating sentiment for the President, there are many young men who are talking for Roosevelt. He said that the only explanation for this was the dash and action of the Colonel as a campaigner, which he said singularly appeals to the average young man. Several reports were given for Elizabeth and the consensus of opinion seemed to be that the situation is dangerous for Taft in the downtown section. At the county seat as in some other sections it was generally admitted that the Republican organization has a hard fight on its hands.

Chairman Smith announced that he had arranged with the Taft League of Newark for a supply of speakers wherever they are wanted in Union county. A couple of district leaders stated that speakers might do some effective work and meetings will be arranged. During the evening Surrogate Parrot explained the law regarding the affidavits for those who did not vote at the last general election. Quoting the Attorney General he stated that a voter in a given district could swear to the affidavit in order to register another who lives in the same district and did not vote at the last election.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT PROCTOR'S

Charles Wayne, Gertrude DesRoches and the "Incubator Girls" offer the headline act at Proctor's theatre, this week, showing the most up-to-date method of raising children. This is the most pretentious act that has ever played here, as the baldhead row shows. The act is in five scenes. There are four musical numbers, wonderful scenery, beautiful costumes, electrical effects, pretty girls, funny comedian and a charming prima donna. Wells DeVeaux, the tramp comedian with a musical side-line; Mr. and Mrs. Robyns present a clever sketch, "100 Cents on the Dollar;" Chester and Jones, eccentric dancers are above the average and Jeanette Spellman, a charming singing cemedienne, is very good.

OPEN-AIR SCHOOLS.

Ernest Eston, executive secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, of Newark, will deliver an illustrated talk on open-air schools in the Y. M. C. A. Hall next Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. Mr. Eston has taken a prominent part in the anti-tubersulosis movement in Newark and has been instrumental in having several of the open-air schools started here. He will deal with the question from a hygienic point of view and to the public, which is cordially invited to hear him, it should prove a highly interesting lecture.

YOUNG MEN DINE.

The Young Men's Club of Grace Episcopal church held their closing dinner last night in the church gymnasium. Following the dinner a number of the guests and boys made brief speeches.

MERCHANT OF VENICE.

ENTERTAINMENT BY TRINITY HOME DEPT.

Pastor and Superintendent Congratulate the Members on the Year's Progress.

Under the auspices of the Home Department of Trinity Reformed church, an entertainment and social was held in the parlors of the church, last night. Despite the disagreeable weather there was a large attendance of members and friends to enjoy the informal program. There were piano duets and solos by Miss May Randolph and Miss Elsie Dunavan; piano and violin duets and solos by Earl Kirch and Randolph Douglas; recitations by George Dufford.

Short addresses were delivered by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of the church, and F. E. Smith, superintendent of the Sunday-school, in which the members of the department were congratulated upon the excellent progress made during the past year, and the great amount of work accomplished.

A portion of the evening was devoted to conundrums in which various questions and answers were written on postal cards which were cut up and distributed among those present. The idea was to match the pieces of cards. This afforded much amusement.

The entertainment committee comprised Mrs. A. E. Laury, Mrs. Albertus Swalm and Mrs. Joseph Angerbauer. The other committees follow: Reception—Mrs. Julius Williams, Mrs. William Oliver, Mrs. Anna Gannigan, Mrs. William VanDeventer and Mrs. Garret Q. Dolliver. Decoration—Mrs. L. B. VanCamp, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. Allen Coddington, Mrs. George Freiday and Miss Lillian A. Force. Refreshment—Mrs. W. S. Nelson, Mrs. John Whitenack, Mrs. Westphal, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Fred Stires, Mrs. Winfield Schomp, Mrs. Philip A. Vroom, Mrs. A. T. Runyon, Mrs. A. Krymer and Mrs. Gunthier.

UNION COUNTY ACTIVE IN THE MOSQUITO FIGHT

The part Union county is taking in the work of exterminating mosquitoes was praised by Herman H. Brehme, executive officer in charge of the State campaign against the insect, in a statement yesterday, when it was denied that the burden of the fight has fallen on Essex county. Union and Hudson counties, Mr. Brehme said, have been as active as Essex in the crusade.

Besides the work done on the Elizabeth, Newark and Kearny meadows, Mr. Brehme said that the Elizabeth authorities have accomplished considerable in eliminating inland breeding spots. Swampy places in and near the city have been drained and many pools in vacant lots filled in, he said. Oil has been used on ponds.

Mr. Brehme declared that Essex will benefit by the Union and Hudson counties' campaign, as mosquitoes are of a migratory nature.

Continuing, Mr. Brehme said: "The State has spent $2,000 in Essex county for 100,000 additional feet of ditching, and fully ninety per cent. of the salt marsh mosquitoes were cut down. In Hudson county $2,200 was spent and Union cost the State $2,600.

"The statements that only Essex county had sent in its estimate to the director of the New Jersey agricultural experimental station in time to get the money from its Board of Freeholders this year is not so. Union, Hudson and Passaic counties all had their estimates in on time and all were acted on in proper time.

"It may be of interest to state the facts that Union county got the money that it asked for, which is $28,000, and Hudson county will appropriate money after May 28. The estimate for that county is $32,000 and there is a good chance of Passaic county's getting money also.'

SEWER CONFERENCE.

Sale and Tea at Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna's Residence Great Success.

The Charity Circle of The King's Daughters held a successful "gift shop sale and tea" at the home of Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna on Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon. The affair was attended by more than one hundred members and friends of the circle and practically everything offered for sale was disposed of at good prices. SEWELL ULRICH WILL HAVE A DIFFICULT ROLE

The Trinity Club, of Princeton, will offer George M. Cohan's "Fifty Miles from Boston" to the Plainfield public tomorrow night at the New Plainfield theatre. The club comes here well recommended by those who have seen its previous productions. "The College Widow," which the Trinity Club gave last season, was so successful that it was repeated, and from all reports this season's production far surpasses all the club's previous undertakings.

J. Sewell Ulrich, who has won particular favor in Plainfield as an amateur actor, having appeared in most of the Plainfield High School's productions for the past few years, will carry one of the most difficult roles in the play. Mr. Ulrich is at his best in this performance and is bringing out all there is in the difficult catches with his usual ease.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE AFTER NINETEEN HOURS

Elizabeth, May 17 (Special).—After being out nineteen hours the jury in the case of Mary Elizabeth Hill, of Plainfield, trustee under the will of Anthony R. Dyett, against Elliott Cutler, which was tried before Judge Vail yesterday, could come to no agreement. J. A. Maynard, foreman of the jury, told Judge Vail this morning that at the end of their long deliberation the jury was just as much at sea in regard to the merits of the case as they were when they retired.

As told yesterday, Miss Hill sued Cutler for alleged failure to live up to an agreement signed in October, 1909, in which the defendant leased property in charge of the plaintiff.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF FRANK W. RUNYON

The funeral service of Frank Willets Runyon, who died suddenly on Tuesday was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of his father, A. M. Runyon, on Madison avenue. WENT TO CRITICIZE, STAYED TO PRAISE

Mayor and Mygatt Realize School Board Has Been Conservative in Budget

The Board of School Estimate met at the Plainfield High School last night, and carefully went over the budget of expenses for the coming year, as outlined in the Daily Press of yesterday. Mayor G. W. V. Moy and Councilmen C. C. Randolph and F. E. Mygatt, representing the city, and W. S. Tyler and J. Herbert Case, of the Board of Education comprise the Board of Estimate. They were all present and so was Superintendent H. M. Maxon.

As a result of the conference it was learned that the increase in the appropriation was largely called for by changes in the state law which compells that each child attending school shall be allowed a certain number of cubic feet. This requires the hiring of more teachers to prevent the "doubling-up" of classes. In addition, there must be considered the natural increase in the number of pupils each year, averaging about 150. There is also an arbitrary increase in the salaries of the teachers, compelled by law, which has to be met. The cost of coal is higher, which also accounts for an increase.

There is an increase of $1,000 allowed for the Manual Training, the appropriation being $8,000, but the schools receive $4,000 from the state for the support of this department in the schools. Another expense is to be found in the forming of special classes for deficient children, which also requires additional teachers.

The board went over the budget very carefully and it was the opinion of the representatives of the city that the School Board had been reasonable in its demands, had cut out certain things which might have reasonably been included in the budget and that the board was to be commended for its conservative estimate.

"I went to the Board of Estimate meeting last night with the firm belief that the budget as planned was entirely too large," said Mayor Moy today, "but I want to say frankly that before I came away I would liked to have increased the total amount. Everything was gone into in detail and I must congratulate the Board on its conservative and careful figuring."

Councilman Mygatt, also a member of the Board of Estimate, it is reported held the same view as Mr. Moy did and arrived at the same conclusion when he attended the meeting.

FLOYD ALLEN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Leader of Outlaw Clan Was Hopeful That Jury Wouldn't Agree.

Wytheville, Va., May 17.—The jury in the case of Floyd Allen, leader of the outlaw clan, this morning reported a verdict of murder in the first degree.

The jury's verdict was brought in today when court opened at 10:30 o'clock.

Allen was charged with killing Commonwealth Attorney William Foster in the Hillsville Court House shooting affray on March 14.

Allen was hopeful to the last that the jury would not agree. The jury reported to Judge Staples at 9 o'clock last night that they were unable to arrive at a verdict. Judge Staples sent them back for further deliberation and they were locked up for the night.

RACHEL STEVENS.

Rachel Stevens, colored, died this morning in her 76th year at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Margaret Brown, 217 Plainfield avenue. She had been ailing for a considerable time. Her sister is the only surviving relative. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from the A. M. E. Zion Methodist church, and interment will be made in the South Plainfield cemetery.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

To discuss the Presidential primary situation a Democratic mass meeting will be held in Reform Hall, Thursday night, May 23, at 8 o'clock. The speakers will be Mark Sulivan, Judge Robert Hudspeth, Eugene W. Leake, Thomas Haight, Leon Abbett and Archibald S. Alexander.

Arrangements haye been made by Republican County Chairman Frank H. Smith for President William Howard Taft to speak at the Plainfield theatre when he comes to Plainfield on next Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

THREE CELEBRATIONS MARKED BY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Observe Birthday and Two Wedding Anniversaries.

Former Mayor and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, gave a dinner party at their home, last night, that was a triple celebration. It marked the seventy-fourth birthday anniversary of Mr. Randolph, the forty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph, as well as the eighteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashley Grace, of New York. Mrs. Grace is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph.

There were about twenty guests, including the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph, their husbands, and members of the bridal party who will attend the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Blossom Fitz Randolph and Haary Keith White at the Randolph home tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph were married in Newark. They have practically lived in this city all of their married life. Several years ago Mr. Randolph retired from an active business career and since then he and Mrs. Randolph have spent much time in travel throughout the world.

GOOD REPORTS HEARD AT MISSIONARY MEETING

Reports submitted at the last missionary meeeting of the season, held in the Park Avenue Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, showed that during the year ending April 1, more than $550 had been sent to the foreign mission fields by the society. It has supported a school of 60 pupils at Sona Bata, Africa, since the first of April. All of the different branches of the work showed a healthy growth and the work done has been of a high order.

The retiring president, Mrs. E. Frank Vail, has been a most faithful worker in this department during the past year and has been ably assisted by Mrs. St. John Fitch, the newly-elected president. The other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. M. J. Tennant; secretary, Mrs. Hillyer, and treasurer, Mrs. B. F. Hadley.

DECLARATION IN WATSON DAMAGE SUIT NOT FILED

The declaration in the suit of Michael F. Watson against Councilman Patrick J. Reville, for heavy damages for aleged slanderous statements made by Mr. Reville at a meeting of the Common Council, has not yet been filed. Mayor G. W. V. Moy, counsel for the defendant, has agreed to extend the time within which the declaration can be filed to June 15 at the request of counsel for Mr. Watson.

The suit is the result of certain remarks made by Councilman Reville regarding the character of the saloon conducted by Mr. Watson in which personal references were made concerning the saloon man and his stock-in-trade.

BULLET STOPPED ON ITS WAY TOWARD HIS HEART

Elizabeth, May 17.—With a bullet wound over his heart, Harry Jenkinson, Jr., 19 years old, of 403 East Jersey street, son of a prominent downtown merchant, is receiving congratulations from his friends over his narrow escape from death.

Jenkinson was shot yesterday by a man on the platform of a train leaving the Elizabethport station. He was firing at a gang of negroes with whom he had had an altercation.

Jenkinson probably owes his life to his heavy clothing. The bullet penetrated his coat, vest and shirts and made a wound about half an inch deep over his heart. He has the bullet as a seuvenir.

The police of Elizabeth, Bayonne and Jersey City were notified, but could not locate the man who did the shooting, although the train was searched when it arrived at Communipaw.

PUBLIC HEARING ON STREET WIDENING

Councilmanic Committee Considers Improvement to Various Thoroughfares.

The Councilmanic Street and Sewer Committee met last night to consider several matters pertaining to the improvement of different thoroughfares throughout the city. Just prior to the meeting, a delegation of property-owners waited on the committee intending to advocate the widening of Somerset street, between Front street and the brook. Councilman W. L. Gloak, chairman of the committee, informed the delegation that a public hearing would be arranged for Wednesday night, May 22, when arguments for and against the improvement would be heard.

Among those who favor the widening of Somerset street and who were present last night were: N. B. Smalley, representing Mrs. Lena Hoester; Louis Kadish, Harvey L. Linbarger, representing the French estate; J. J. Heideloff and David M. Runyon, of the First National Bank. Herman Schwed and Carl Sibert were among those opposed to the improvement. Afterward those who are in favor of the widening adjourned to Somerset street to discuss the matter.

The question of extending Bradford avenue to Clinton avenue was considered and it was decided to refer the matter to Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman. One of the property-owners on the avenue has started to build a house there which would block the extension, and the committee wants to know whether the city would have the right to stop that work.

There was also a discussion about the application of the Public Service Railway to install "Y's" and switches in this city, and the committee decided to bring the matter up at the next meeting of the Council. The ordinances have been read once for information and Mr. Gloak will move to place them on second reading and have them advertised in the usual way preparatory to adoption on third reading at a future meeting of the Council.

George D. Hallock, of North Plainfield, appeared before the committee to recommend the use of a certain kind of oil on the streets. Ten barrels of the oil were ordered with the understanding that if it proved satisfactory the city would pay for it, but if not there is to be no charge.

RICHESON'S FATE IS SEALED BEYOND HOPE

Clergyman Doesn't Know Governor Foss and Council Refused to Intervene.

Boston, May 17.—The Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson awoke this morning without knowing that his fate had been sealed by action of Gov. Foss and the Governor's Council in refusing to intervene. The State's prison warden delayed the task of telling him that all hope of commutation of sentence had ended and that the final authority of the State had determined he must forfeit his life for the poisoning of Avis Linnell.

Nervously pacing his cell, Richeson this morning was waiting for a word of hope that was not to be forthcoming. He knew that the various alienists who examined him had submitted to Gov. Foss their reports as to his sanity. He did not know that these reports had maintained that he was fully responsible for his act at the time he had committed the murder. Nor did he know at first that the Governor had accepted these documents as final and had decreed that Richeson must die.

It was said early that the duty of informing the prisoner might be left to Attorney Morse, who had labored hard for a commutation of sentence.

$25,000 DAMAGE SUIT.

Elizabeth, May 17.—The retrial of the suit of Excise Commissioner Thomas Y. Bye against John J. Stamler for $25,000 damages was begun today before Judge Vail in the Circuit Court. The jury disagreed at the first trial. The action is the outcome of charges of graft made against Bye by Stamler.

SGT. OVERBAUGH DIES SUDDENLY

Expires Alone, After Over-Night Turn for the Worse in His Illness.

SICK FOR TWO WEEKS

Member of Police Force Eleven Years, and Sergeant Since 1907—32nd Degree Mason and Spanish War Veteran.

Herbert Llewelyn Overbaugh, aged 42 years, for the past eleven years a member of the Plainfield Police Department, and sergeant since March 25, 1907, died suddenly about 7 o'clock this morning at his home, 426 East Second street. He was taken ill two weeks ago with an acute attack of indigestion, and death was due to heart trouble with complications. While it was realized that his condition was serious, he appeared to be improving slowly until about 10 o'clock last night, when he had a turn for the worse. About 7 o'clock this morning, Charles Mowen, who lives at the same address, went to Overbaugh's room with a glass of milk, and discovered that he was dead.

Sergeant Overbaugh was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Overbaugh, and was born in this city in 1870. He lived here all his life. When a young man he learned the machinist trade and for several years was employed at the Potter Press Works. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War in 1898, he enlisted with several young men from this city in Co. E, 3rd N. J. Vols. He served under Gen. Collins about one year, receiving an honorable discharge. The company went as far south as Athens, Ga., where it disbanded.

TRIANGULAR RACE UPON TIGER LAKE TOMORROW

When the Princeton, Columbia and Pennsylvania eights line up on Lake Carnegie tomorrow afternoon, for the triangular race for the Childs Cup, rowing relations will be resumed between the three after a lapse of twenty-eight years. Incidentally the three institutions were participants in the first race ever rowed for the Childs Cup on the Schuylkill on June 24, 1879, and for that reason tomorrow's contest has an added interest.

The Tigers took part in their first inter-collegiate race since the resumption of rowing at Princeton, when it finished second to Cornell and beat Yale in a three-cornered race ast year. That taste of real rowing gave the Tigers the desire for more, and tomorrow's contest is in part the outcome. The crew this year is said to be faster than the eight of a year ago, and is coached by Professor C. Duncan Spaeth, an old Pennsylvania oar, who learned the rudiments of the game from Ellis Ward. It should be interesting to compare Dr. Spaeth's modification of the Quaker stroke with the original stroke. The Princeton eight has had no competition outside of practice spins, and brushes against the other crews on the lake so far this season and enters the race practically untried.

FLATTENED OUT IN THE ROLL-OFF

BREAK THE TRIPLE TIE

Coffman Smashes League Record as Well as Setting High Mark For Elizabeth Alleys—Elizabeth Elks Give Visitors Great Time.

The Plainfield Elks bowling team dropped into third place with a thud in the roll off of the triple tie between them and the Jersey City and Rutherford teams on the Elizabeth alleys, last night. The Plainfield pinners failed to capture a single game of the five games rolled, dropping three straight to Rutherford and two to Jersey City, which puts the latter team in third place in the league standing, with the Rutherford antlered ones following in fourth.

Coffman, the first man to roll for the Jersey City team, had his eye on the pins and picked a large sized hole in the high score record of the league as well as rolling the highest score ever registered on the Elizabeth alleys. He tore off nine straight strikes on his first roll and was only deprived from registering a perfect hit on the tenth by one obstinate pin. He had to content himself with the measly little score of 279.

The Plainfield team was unusually weak in all of their games, Blatz being the most consistent scorer, averaging well above 170 for all of the five games. But the loose bowling of other members of the team deprived the Plainfield team of winning a game.

After the matches the Elizabeth lodge royally entertained all of their visitors, providing an excellent repast for all. As this was an unexpected part of the evening's entertainment it was doubly enjoyed.

At this time the Elizabeth team was presented with the Radel cup, which was to be given to the team in the league making the highest average for the number of pins during the season. Following this Secretary McGuire, of the New York lodge, No. 1, made a speech, as did John Bock, of Jersey City, and Campbell, of this city. Words of appreciation for the treatment accorded all the visitors were expressed by all as the delegations left for their homes.

BISHOP HOMER STUNTZ.

Minneapolis, Min., May 17.—Out of 244 candidates, one bishop was elected yesterday by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here, the Rev. Dr. Homer C. He is the second candidate to have the honor of being elected on the first ballot since the two-thirds rule went into effect. Eight hundred and two votes were cast, three were declared defective, making a total of ballots counted 799. Five hundred and thirty-three were announced as necessary to election. Dr. Stuntz received 577.

CALM TAP DAY.

New Haven, Conn., May 17.—In a heavy rain and with far less enthusiasm than usual, the annual tap day celebration was held on Yale campus yesterday afternoon, and forty-five juniors were chosen to the three senior societies, Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, and Wolf's Head. Heretofore when a junior was slapped by a senior and told to "go to your room," a great shout would rise. But yesterday several of the men were tapped almost in silence. Munay Rushmore, of this city, was tapped for Wolf's Head.

FRESH AIR HOME WORK.

The aims and purposes of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home association are matters of public interest that deserve the attention of our people. They are to be fully explained by those who have given their services and money to the cause at a meeting called for next Monday night. Charles W. McCutchen will preside and after several experienced workers give short talks there will be an opportunity for any who are in sympathy with the undertaking to express their views and make suggestions.

As an illustration of just what is being done at this summer camp for many poor mothers and poor children of New York's densely populated East Side, it might be stated that last season alone 2,905 children were entertained at the camp. In addition, some 1,005 mothers, hard-working and deserving women, enjoyed its hospitality. Without doubt just as many will be provided for during the coming season. To do this costs money. Well managed as it is, and under the able supervision of Miss Sara Curry as matron, the average day's expenses total $38. The average cost for the entertainment of one child for a ten days' stay at the home is but eighty cents, which shows that the institution is conducted on a most economical basis.

Where is there in Plainfield one who will not give something, no matter how small, to this splendid undertaking which provides pleasant vacations for those poor people of the East Side, who would otherwise not know the joys of a stay in the country?

It was stated yesterday that by reason of the delay in making proposed improvements at the High School, for which a bond issue of $40,000 had been provided, the city was actually losing $2,000 a year. In justice to the Board of Education as well as to ourselves, the error should be corrected. The city is drawing interest on the fund of $40,000 on deposit which goes a great way towards making up the interest it must pay on the bonds. As these bonds were issued last September and were sold at a higher figure than could generally be obtained, the loss by reason of the delay up to date is but a trifle.

Statistics given out by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis give the encouraging information that from 1901 to 1910 the death rate from tuberculosis in this country declined from 169.9 for each 100,000 persons living to 160.3, or in other words the decrease was 18.7 per cent. Deaths from all other causes declined only 9.7 per cent. during the same period. The decline in tuberculosis's ravages means an annual saving of 27,000 lives at the present time according to the Government reports.

Tomorrow will be the last day to register for the Presidential primaries on May 28. Those who failed to vote at the last general election are not eligible to participate in these primaries unless by filing an affidavit with the city clerk they become so. The affidavit forms may be obtained at the city clerk's office. If you cannot take the time to go there, get in touch with the district committeeman of the party to which you belong and he will see that you are registered.

A Michigan man and a Nebraska woman both lay claim to the money dug up recently on the farm of United States Senator James E. Martine. The funny part of it is that each of them tells a story of how some relative buried $1,000 in bills on the estate years ago, and there is nothing to prove that the figure named by them represents the exact amount discovered.

When the North Plainfield Council finds a man who will fufill the requirement of the ordinance and will put in eight hours a day as street commissioner it will be one who has far less ability or will get far more money for the services than William J. Hudson.

In the death of Sergeant Herbert Overbaugh the police force has lost an intelligent, courteous and efficient member. The community has lost an upright citizen.

Tomorrow's contributed editorial will be written by a clergyman. He will have something to say to interest every reader.

BODY OF KING IS PLACED ON YACHT.

Escorted by Danish Warships, Sails For Copenhagen.

Lubeck, May 17.—The Danish royal yacht Dannebrog, heavily draped in mourning, steamed out of Travemuende harbor with the body of King Frederick on board.

Dowager Queen Louisa and the Danish princes and princesses stood on her deck, making sorrowful recognition of demonstrations of sympathy from the crowds standing with bared heads on the quay.

The Danish warships Olfert Fischer and Beder Skram saluted with twenty-seven guns as they took up positions behind the royal yacht, which they accompany on her funeral voyage to Copenhagen.

The royal family, which traveled on the train bearing the body from Hamburg, was met here by the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, brother-in-law of the new king.

Foreign Bankers Close Arrangements For $300,000,000 Loan.

Peking, May 17.—Fearing popular disapproval the rate of interest on the loan of $300,000,000 by the six powers, now closed, was concealed.

However, the toll exacted by the foreign bankers is said to have been huge. Only the unimportant details of the loan remain to be settled, and the first payment of 3,000,000 taels was begun.

RICHESON; TWO GIRLS.

RICHESON TO DIE; FOSS REFUSES AID

Governor, After Hearing From Alienists, So Decides.

RATIONAL AT TIME OF CRIME

Avis Linnell's Slayer to Be Executed Monday or Tuesday—Massachusetts Executive Says Clemency Would Be Contrary to Public Good.

Boston, May 17.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson will be executed some time early next week—that is, after midnight on Sunday. Governor Foss, after receiving the opinions of the alienists who examined the prisoner, read them carefully, and he caused the announcement to be made that executive clemency would not be extended.

The exact time when he will be put to death by electricity is a matter of discretion with General Bridges, warden of the state prison. He is allowed the entire week to follow the instructions of the court, but has not been in the habit of delaying his unpleasant tasks later than Tuesday morning of the seven day period.

So it is likely that the slayer of Avis Linnell, the central figure in New England's most startling murder case of recent years, will pay the penalty on either Monday or Tuesday morning about 1 o'clock.

Governor Foss' Statement.

Governor Foss issued a statement in regard to the case. It shows that the opinions of all the alienists, those employed by the state, by the governor personally and by the defense, agree that Richeson was not insane when he committed the crime and is not at the present time. The doctors informed the governor that while the prisoner's antecedents were mentally not of the best and he himself had exhibited abnormalities at times, it could not be said that he was irresponsible when he committed the crime or that he is now legally insane.

The governor's statement in part is as follows:

"The evidence shows that Richeson's family is heavily afflicted with insanity; that he himself is neurotic, a somnambulist and a neurasthenic; that he is subject to extreme emotional disturbances, marked by the loss of memory, which two alienists have diagnosed as hysterical insanity, one physician adding the alternative term of hysterical delirium and the majority opinion indicating that these attacks are hysterical attacks marked by extreme emotional disturbances of brief duration, with loss of memory during the attack and for a varying period following it.

"The evidence, however, while clearly revealing these attacks, indicates that his crime was not committed by him during such an attack. Therefore, while there is some divergence of opinion among the alienists as to whether these attacks indicate actual insanity, there is sufficient ground for the conclusion that he is accountable for his crime and that the exercise of executive clemency in this instance would be contrary to the public good."

Some New Regulations For Marriage Licenses.

Albany, N. Y., May 17.—The state health department is preparing to put in operation three changes made in the marriage license law by the legislature this year.

One amendment provides that the applicant for a license must swear that the statement of fact indorsed on the certificate is true.

Another extends the authority to perform the marriage ceremony to police justices in villages and the third provides that in the case of divorced persons the consent of the parent in charge of the minor about to be married is all that is required. Under the old law, the consent of both parents was required.

MRS. ASTOR GOING AWAY.

With Daughter Muriel, Contemplates Sailing For London Tomorrow.

New York, May 17.—Mrs. John J. Astor and her daughter Muriel, it is understood, will sail for London tomorrow. Mrs. Astor had contemplated remaining here until June 1 and had engaged apartments at the Ritz-Carlton to that time. The engagement has been canceled, however, and it is believed that Mrs. Astor's departure has been hastened by the appointment by Surrogate Fowler of A. Perry Osborn as guardian for her daughter.

Mr. Osborn is an intimate friend of the Astors, and his appointment is said to be pleasing to Mrs. Astor.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The High School team has gone to New York this afternoon, where they will try conclusions with the Manhattan College Freshmen.

Don't forget that the Lincoln Giants will be at the Oval tomorrow. If you have ever seen them play you will want to again and if you have never seen them you ought to.

The Olympic cycling team has been assured, the weak material is being eliminated and a strong team will be sent to the big games. Already the averages of the American riders excell those of the Swedish team.

The Olympic event ranks as one of the most strenuous tests in cycling as the distance to be covered over the Stockholm course is 190 miles.

Plainfielders will have a chance to witness some good riding on Decoration Day on the Cycling Club's usual course. Some of the best men in the business will be on hand to take a hand in the festivities.

Arrangements are now about complete for the big race and the list of prizes includes many useful and valuable articles.

The Cleveland Naps didn't get the chance to open at the Hilltop yesterday afternoon. Why? The usual reason—it rained.

Jack Johnson has shifted his training quarters to Chicago, not liking the sage brush country.

He probably wanted to get back where he knew the cops, and could be arrested every few days for speeding. The cops are Jack's advertising medium: You might include his trusty auto.

On May 18, when the Giants help the Reds dedicate their new ball park, Hank O'Day will probably do his best to win for it is considered a good omen to win the opener.

On the other hand McGraw will be of a different frame of mind. He will probably not sympathize with Hank's little bit of sentiment.

One game is all that separates the last three clubs in the National League. Last year there were four teams at the head of the list with only a game or two to keep them apart.

Mike Donlin, the erstwhile Giant, is hitting the ball hard this year in his new berth with the Pirates. It is reported that McGraw feels a pang of regret every time Mike clouts the ball.

And yet his one misplay in Wednesday's game helped the Giants materially to win the game. That's the irony of fate.

The Commercial-R. G. E. game will be played in Scotch Plains tomorrow. Suitable grounds are hard to locate here in the city when so many are needed as seems to be the case this summer.

The question has been asked, why, when both teams go up in the air, they need a field anyway.

Going after the dope for the Bound Brook-N. P. H. S. game to play tomorrow, we can get a line on the two teams by comparing the games played by these two teams with High Bridge H. S. North Plainfield lost to the upland school last Saturday 13 to 1, and yesterday Bound Brook defeated the same team 1 to 0 in a thirteen-inning game.

But a baseball game is a very uncertain thing to dope out in advance. It would not be much of a surprise to see the borough team win. They were an entirely different team behind Stahl in Monday's game with Battin, and under the same circumstances the Bound Brook team would have to travel some to win.

In the Bound Brook-High Bridge game the upland pitcher, Gerard, caused fourteen of his opponents to fan the breeze, while Matthews, of Bound Brook, went him one better and chalked up fifteen. Consequently about half of the outs for the game were strike-outs.

Leon Ames has won his three starts on the western trip. The old one seems to be sticking pretty well.

And Marquard won his seventh straight start yesterday against the Pirates. He hung it on O'Toole, the Pittsburg goldbug, 4 to 1. He only allowed four hits.

Bugs Raymond wired McGraw: "Am reinstated and fined a hundred. When shall I report?" McGraw replied: "When you pay the hundred." It is doubtful if Bugs ever shows up.

Another big day in Tigertown tomorrow.

WHERE THEY PLAY TOMORROW.

Spicer vs. Banks, on Clinton avenue grounds.

R. G. E. vs. Commercial, at Scotch Plains.

Public Service vs. Saurer, on Myrtle avenue grounds.

Did you lamp one of the opening games of the Manufacturer's League last Saturday? If you did you saw the start of what will be, before the summer is far advanced, one of the tightest baseball scraps ever witnessed by the local fans. Saturday's games started things off, recalling to the game many of the old time favorites, who gamboled around the different lots much as though they had never allowed a baseball out of their hands.

Then there were others, too, who had learned to play the game during the time that the old ones thought that they had forgotten it. Some of these became favorites from the first and will work their way into the fan's approval more and more as the season advances.

Tomorrow the teams will hook up in a different way, some of the winners of last week's contests quarreling it out between them, while some of the tail-enders are scrapping for the cellar position. From Scotch Plains to Clinton avenue is the territory covered by the league's activities, and believe us, these activities will out-active all others 'ere the days are much longer.

Last Saturday's closest game was between the teams from the Spicer Co. and Saurer Motor Works. It was a stiff fight with the Joint-makers coming out on the top of the heap. This week Spicers bump into the Plainfield Banks who lost last week to the R. G. E. team by a one-sided score. The money changers have stiffened up during the past week and are counting on giving the joint boys a tussel. This game will be played upon the Clinton avenue grounds.

The motor boys will try to make the Public Service team, who lost last week to the Commercial team, scratch gravel. Both these teams are tail-enders and will try to use each other as a stepping stone to a higher altitude. They will play on the Myrtle avenue grounds, at Myrtle near Grant avenue.

Scotch Plains will be the scene of the scrap between the Commercials and the R. G. E. teams, both winners in last week's contests and both fast traveling combinations. This game will be fast, for both teams are bound to stick as near the top as the law allows. On the Scotch Pains grounds at the usual time which is 3:30.

Keep your eyes open for these games tomorrow and pick out the one you think will taste the best, hop on a trolley and get off at the right spot. You will not have to walk far to any of the grounds.

DECORATION DAY GAME.

The Plainfield Juniors will play the Domestic A. C., of Harrison, on Parker Field, Decoration Day, at 3:30 p. m. Janette, the star twirler, will pitch for the Domestics.

LINDERMAN TO TWIRL FOR PLAINFIELD TEAM

The announcemeent was made this morning that Linderman will do the twirling tomorrow against the Lincoln Giants at Crescent Oval. This mound artist needs no introduction to the Plainfield fans, having pitched here many times in past seasons. He handed them over for the Plainfield team in eight different games during last year's Central League season and won every one of his starts.

The Lincoln Giants played 56 games last year and won 53 of them, not a bad record for any them. So far this year neither the Giants nor Dorflinger's aggregation have lost a game. Tomorrow will see both of these teams trying their best to maintain that honor.

The line-ups for the two teams have been announced as follows: Plainfield—Cosgrove, rf; E. Stallings, lf; Harter, cf; Dalton, 3b; W. Stallings, 2b; Driscoll, 1b; Emery, ss; Nelson, c, and Linderman, p. Lincoln Giants—Poles, lf; Francis, 3b; Dunbar, cf; Lloyd, ss; Petters, 1b; Wright, 2b; Booker, rf; Santop, c, and Redding or McClelland, p.

JUST A LITTLE RATTLE OF ALITTLE LEAGUE SKELETON

A man from High Bridge, who is in a position to know, made a startling announcement the other day in talking with a Daily Press reporter, which sheds a curious ray of light upon the fight for the championship in the Central League last summer. It didn't take a "Weisenheim" to realize that the Somerville team was out for the flag and that they were also out after the Plainfield team. In fact it was ever thus. But at the beginning of last year's season it was quite evident that the largest amount of interest would center around the games played between the Somerset county team and Dorflinger's combination. It was fight to the finish every time they met, with the Plainfield team coming out on top in the quarrel.

This gentleman from High Bridge said that as the fight crew keener the management of the upland team was approached by certain enthusiasts from the county seat with an offer to foot the bills that would be apt to accummulate if the High Bridge manager would can a few of his weaker players and hire a combination that would stop the Plainfield team. Sort of playing both ends against the middle. The county-scaters figured that this would be an excellent way to land the bunting but were upset in their calculations by the refusal of the High Bridge manager to acquiesce.

Anyone could tell that this plan was cooked up under a political hat.

ROAD RACE PLANS.

Additional preparations were made for the holding of the annual twenty-five mile handicap road race and subscriptions for the Olympic bicycle team were taken at the weekly meeting of the Plainfield Cycle Club last night. It is the intention of the club to make a personal canvass of the different business men in town for subscriptions for the Olympic bicycle team. The Motor Cycle Club meets tonight, Ralph Auerbach presiding. Jack Horner presided over last night's meeting.

MONROES MATCHED.

A game has been arranged for tomorrow between the Monroe Avenue Sunday-school League team and the Trinity A. A., of Rahway, the latter team representing the Trinity Methodist Sunday-school, of Rahway. The Rahwegians come highly touted, and as the Monroe boys have about the same lineup as last year a good game is anticipated. The contest will be staged on the Clinton avenue field, West Fifth street, at 3:30 o'clock.

POSSUMS DEFEAT LINCOLN.

The Possum Town Giants defeated the Lincoln A. C. in a close game on the Lincoln grounds recently by the score of 14 to 13 in a very close game. The batteries for the Lincoln A. C., Romph, Sofield and Bernstein, for the Possums, Davenport, Hansen and McVogt.

DUNELLEN WILL MIX IT WITH DANISH A. C.

The Dunellen baseball team crosses bats with the crack Danish Amerocan A. C., of Perth Amboy, at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon.

The following will give the fans some idea as to the strength of this team. Last year Raritan defeated Dunellen at Raritan, where any visiting team on account of the very poor grounds, was severely handicapped, by the score of 13-5. It was no weak Dunellen team either, that Raritan trounced so decisively, as Ralph Shaw and Nick Powers, who are now playing second and short respectively, for Bound Brook, played the same positions for Dunellen that day. Also Barnes, Dixon, Elliott and Schott of this year's crack Dunellen team, played in that game.

The Danish-American A. C. defeated Raritan at Raritan under the same conditions by the score of 11 to 3. So the Dunellen fans have a baseball feast awaiting them at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon.

McLaughlin, the ex-Pittsburg National League twirler, will hurl them over the pan for Dunellen again, and Lou Dixon will hold him. While it is not definitely known it is thought that Bobby Golden and Sears will be on the points for the Perth Amboy team.

GOLF NOTES.

The active golf season will begin at the Park Golf Club tomorrow with competitions for the regular cups, the President's and golf club in accordance with the usual conditions. Special competitions will be arranged for Decoration Day.

The event at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow wil be the first round, match play, for May handicap, both sixteens, 18 holes, handicap. The qualifying round was played last Saturday, after which the pairings were made. The play wil be followed by a dinner-dance in the evening.

ROYALS TO MEET NETHERWOOD.

The Royal Giants, one of the strongest colored teams in this section of the country, will line up against the Netherwood A. C. tomorrow. This promises to be a fast game. The teams will line up: Royal Giants—Ford, 1b; Jones, 2b; Garner, ss; Jackson, 3b; Slocum, lf; Coleman, cf; Green, rf; Sanderson, c; Kline, p. Netherwood A. C.—Long, cf; Hones, lf; Larien, c; Corsa, p; Cline, 1b; Mikka, 2b; Coons, ss; Ranti, 3b; Baum, rf.

If You Prove a Pudding Only By Eating It, Prove One of My Suits Only By Wearing It.

If the government would allow one seaport town to be free of duty, wouldn't the commerce flock there? Well, rather!

Man will go anywhere to save money—and escape a tax.

When you see the crowds at my store, Friday and Saturday, you see the money-saving instinct of man in action; also the tax-dodging impulse at work.

If you don't get "Rothberged" you pay a tax on inexperience in buying—and you deliberately throw away the "stuff" that's so hard to get.

Try these on your system:

Gray Striped Cassimeres $12, $15 and $18

ALUMINIUM CO. IS MADE DEFENDANT

Federal Government Files Civil Anti-trust Action.

DISSOLUTION NOT SOUGHT

Nine Board Injunctions Against Company's Practices Are Asked—Agreed That Decree Will Be Entered Within Next Few Days.

Pittsburgh, May 17.—A civil anti-trust against the Aluminium Company of America has been filed here by the federal government. The suit will be the basis for an agreed decree designated to restrain the so called aluminium trust from monopolizing the manufacture of aluminium and its products, including cooking utensils.

In a petition in equity to the United States court for the western district of Pennsylvania the company is charged with being a monopoly restraining interstate and foreign commerce in violation of the Sherman law. It is declared to have acquired a substantial control of the aluminium industry in the United States and to have charged unreasonably high prices and profits on its products. The dissolution of the corporation is not sought, but the court is asked to issue nine broad injunctions against alleged unlawful contracts, combinations, conspiracies and practices.

Ownership Not Unlawful.

The government concedes that the company's ownership of more than 90 per cent of the known deposits of bauxite (base of aluminium) in the United States and Canada suitable for the manufacture of the metal is not "within itself" unlawful. It is charged, however, that the practical monopoly in both bauxite and the manufacture of aluminium, which the company legally enjoyed upon the expiration of its patents for making aluminium in 1909, has been maintained by unlawful agreements and unfair methods toward competitors.

The extent of other bauxite deposits in the United States is not known at this time, but it is pointed out that there are inexhaustible quantities abroad which could be placed at the disposal of competitors for aluminium manufacture if the restraint upon the trade were removed.

Agreed Decree Is Ready.

The agreed decree, which will be entered within a few days, will follow the government's prayer for restraints upon the company. This agreement, obviating a prolonged battle in the courts, was the result of several weeks of negotiations between the department of justice and the corporation.

It is set forth in the suit that the use of aluminium in commerce and the industries is a matter of comparatively recent development. Though the metal has been known since about 1722, yet prior to 1889 it was regarded as a precious metal, extracted only in small quanties at great expense and sold by the ounce and at any price demanded. In 1886 Charles M. Hall applied for a patent on a process for the manufacture of aluminium by which he was able with the aid of the electric current to produce aluminium cheaply in large commercial quantities. A patent thereon was granted to Hall on April 2, 1889. In 1883 Charles S. Bradley had applied for a patent under which, also by using electricity, he was likewise able to make aluminium in large quantities and cheaply. A patent was granted to Bradley Feb. 2, 1892. Simultaneously and independently in France a French inventor, Herroult, discovered and applied substantially the same process. The Pittsburgh Reduction company, under which name defendant was first incorporated, was chartered Sept. 18, 1888, by the state of Pennsylvania for the stated purpose of "reducing refractory ores and producing bronzes and commercial alloys and manufacturing and dealing in the same," but in reality chiefly for the purpose of manufacturing the metal aluminium by the use of the Hall patent process, of which it had become the owner. The Cowles Electric company of Lockport, N. Y., as assignees by litigation established its title to the essentials of the Bradley process. Finally on Oct. 20, 1903, it was held by the circuit court of appeals of the second circuit that the Bradley patent was infringed by the manufacture of aluminium as it was being practiced and carried on by the Pittsburgh Reduction company ostensibly under its Hall patent.

Demand For Aluminium.

The demand for aluminium has increased chiefly along four general lines, as follows:

First.—For sheet and tube aluminium in the manufacture of stamped and spun cooking utensils, for which the metal is especially well adapted because of its lightness, noncorrosive quality and durability.

Second.—For castings, particularly in the automobile industry, for which it is so well adapted because of its lightness, combined with strength.

Third.—For wire and cable and similar forms because of its lightness coupled with strength and conductivity, it being a better conductor, pound for pound, than copper.

Fourth.—In the manufacture of useful and novelty articles of every description, for which it is particularly well adapted because of its lightness, noncorrosiveness and malleability.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

ACCEPTING THE UNSTOPPABLE.

Is it not time for the business men of America, especially the men of big business, to re-examine what is called the progressive movement and to determine what is to be their attitude to it? They should realize that an opposition which sometimes has been hysterical, sometimes plaintive, and at all times incoherent, has stayed the march of events little, if at all. Either they must fight harder and moe effectively, or acknowledge that they have been under the dominion of prejudice and ignorance and aversion to change, or adopt the middle course of submitting themselves to the inevitable.

What in the progressive movement do the men of business fundamentally object to? Why do they fear? Why do they applaud banquet speakers who shout that great disasters are to come if the wave of dangerous radicalism does not subside? The business man who will calmly and quietly examine for himself the movement that he is told is dangerous may recover from his fright and be of greater public use. It would be a fine thing for the country if a larger number of practical men were enlisted sympathetically on the side of progress. Too much has the management of the movement been in the hands of theorists and politicians. But the world must get on. When the natural leaders of affairs drift into blind hostility naught remains but to turn elsewhere for leadership.

That now there is widespread suspicion of rich men and assumption that they are not interested in the general welfare is not the fault of the people at large. It is necessary for a man to show that he is patriotic and feels friendly toward popular movements to exercise influence. Men of big business have not been conspicuously patriotic. They have backed corrupt bosses, and every one knows it. When they or their representatives have reached public place generally they have been class men. Except for the tolerance, indifference, and conservatism of the country, long ago it would have risen against the corrupt partnership between crooked politics and corrupt business. Instead of being surprised at the progressive movement the intelligent man of big business, who knows more than he tells, should be amazed that its coming was so long delayed.

The progressive movement on its political side means the public instead of the private ownership of the government and greater honesty and efficiency in governmental affairs. To this end it favors making it easier for the people to name and to control their servants. Is there a business man, big or little, who has a right to oppose this?

The progressive movement on its humanitarian side favors human welfare legislation. It believes that much of the worlds' poverty and misery is preventable. It does not propose to bow down and worship certain hard maxims of the Manchester school of political economy. Is there a big business man worthy of free America who is not in favor of giving those underneath an easier chance to get up?

The progressive movement on its economic side favors frank recognition of the fact that the new machinery of civilization has introduced elements making for wealth concentration, and that as diffusion of wealth is one of the principal ends of civilization there must be new regulatory legislation. At all times and in all lands how a man may use his private property has been a matter of public concern. No man has owned or can own anything for himself alone. No new principle is involved in corporation control. It is a new application and development of an old principle. The right of the community to protect itself against monopoly is indubitable, and the new big corporations are of such significance and importance because of their mere size that new governing laws are essential. Inchoate and unintelligent thus far has been the treatment of this great problem. But this has been largely because the men who have found the new way to milk the public and to grow rich faster than any set of men since the dawn of time have not been broad enough to see that things cannot go on as they are and that new restrictions must be introduced. Even on the economic side a business man will find it difficult to justify to his conscience opposition to the progressive movement.

In every country in the world the progressive movement is on—in the city field, the state field, and the national field. A new spirit is loose, or, rather, there is a revival of the old spirit. Man is at his old task of trying to make the world a better place in which to live—not better for the few, but better for the many and for the average. At present this country, after long leading the van in intelligent community co-operation, is dropping behind—was in apparent danger a few years ago of becoming a plutocracy. But the common school, as it was expected to be, is proving the public savior. Among the rank and file of our people is intelligence enough to see in which direction lies the general interest and to begin to march thereto. To this proposition the people are committed—that all things needful for the promotion of the general welfare shall be done even though it be necessary to rewrite all the laws relating to wealth. It is the biggest moral movement this country has known since the Civil War, and it rests on essentially the same political, humanitarian, and economic basis on which rested the opposition to slavery.

The men of big business cannot stop it. But they can greatly help the country and add to their own satisfaction in life by joining in. When they conquer a few prejudices they will find the helpful society of the "mob" more agreeable than the company whose litany consists of constant repetition of "Awful! Awful!! Awful!!!"—New York Globe.

GRAND RANGER WELCOMED.

Perth Amboy, May 17.—Returning to this city Wednesday night from the session of the grand court of the Foresters of America, at Jersey City, Dennis J. Flynn, who was elected grand chief ranger, was greeted by more than 250 local Foresters. NEW POTATOES.

EVEN if new potatoes are less wholesome than the old ones, when they make their appearance in the market their popularity is assured.

In Their Jackets.

Boiled in the Skins.—Wash and scrub, but do not peel the potatoes. Put some water on in a saucepan, salt and bring to a boil. Put in the potatoes so that the water will cover them well and boil for fifteen or twenty minutes.

Now pour off the water. Even if the potatoes are not quite soft, they may be made so by putting on the cover and being allowed to stand and steam on the back of the stove. Then sprinkle with salt and shake until the skins crack. Serve in a folded napkin.

Browned and Baked.

Crumbed Potatoes.—Scrape and boil some new potatoes in the ordinary way. When soft lift them out and dry lightly. Then cut each in half lengthways, sprinkle some salt and pepper over them, lay them on a hot dish and pour over them a little warmed butter. Lift them out and cover with browned crumbs. Lay on a hot buttered pan and bake about ten minutes in a hot oven.

Miniature Potatoes.

Potato Balls.—Pare a pint of new potatoes, throw them into a pan of cold water and with a cutter shape into balls. Place these in cold salted water until they are needed. Heat two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, drop in the cut potatoes, put on the cover and cook slowly.

Move the pan about so that the potatoes may roll over and be cooked evenly. Test with a darning needle or a hat pin, kept for that purpose. Add a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley when ready to serve.

Diced and Stewed.

Stewed Potatoes.—Take one-half tablespoonful of beef dripping and the same amount of butter. When melted in a frying pan stir in one tablespoonful of flour and one onion chopped fine. Stir for a few minutes, then add one quart of new potatoes cut in cubes and a dash of salt, sugar and cayenne pepper. Cover with just water enough to cook.

With Thick Gravy.

New Potatoes and Gravy.—Pare and cut some new potatoes into dice and lay them in cold water for an hour. Put them on the fire in salted boiling water and cook until tender. Drain and pour over these a cupful of well seasoned gravy. Thicken with flour and butter.

SNAPSHOTS OF LA MODE.

What Is New In Sailor Hats For Summer.

Sailors of white straw with brims rolled at side and one small plume are very stylish.

The French are using flesh colored tulle in combination with black gowns.

EMPIRE BREAKFAST JACKET.

At a distance this has a startling effect as of an exaggerated decolletage, but it is decidedly becoming, because the faintly flushed tulle is much softer against the neck and arms than the white or cream tones.

The breakfast jacket that gives an empire effect and is cut in one with the sleeve is very new. Here is a model along these lines.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in three sizes—small 34 or 36, medium 38 or 40 and large 42 or 44 inches bust measure. Coal, the Furnace —and Heat

The first two are necessities—the latter is often an unknown quality with the old-style, ash-clogged furnaces. The round fire-pot prevents perfect combustion and it cramps the radiating area. The new, patented eliminates all of the usual furnace disadvantages. It increases the radiating area—it makes clinkers and ash-clogging impossible—it disposes of all labor and care. Your dealer will be glad to tell you a great deal more of Square Pot Furnaces.

EXHUME BODIES TO MAKE WAY FOR FACTORY BUILDING

Somerville, May 17.—In order to make room for the new building to be erected by the John Manville Company at Finderne, it has been necessary to remove a number of bodies of persons who were buried on the farm of John Groendyke, one of the places recently bought by that company.

In all, fourteen bodies were exhumed, nothing, however, being left but the bones. These were carefully gathered in a box and reinterred in a nearby cemetery. The headstones will be set up in the new burial place. This was one of the private family burial plots of which there are many throughout this county.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Leo Ditrichstein, who adapted "The Concert," the comedy success that David Balasco will present at the Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night, aws born in Hungary. He has been an American citizen for a good many years and he married an American woman. It is a curious coincidence that in "The Concert" he plays the part of a Hungarian musician who has a sensible American wife. The Ditrichsteins live at Stanford, Conn., and it is there that the actor does most of his dramatic work, for he is the foremost adaptor of foreign plays in this country today.

Mr. Ditrichstein has either written or adapted twenty plays for the American stage and some of them, like "Are You a Mason?" "Before and After" and "The Concert" have been enormously successful. Probably the greatest play of all is "The Concert." If he was as good a business man as he is an actor and dramatist he would be worth a great deal of money today from his writings alone. As it is he is far from being poor. As a matter of fact he is comfortably well off and making more money all the time than he can spend.

He has not always obtained for his plays what they were worth. For instance he sold all the rights to "Are You a Mason?" for $1,000. Four years ago—twelve years after it was first produced, and by the way, it is being played today—he wanted to use that play and he wired the manager to whom he sold it inquiring the amount of money wanted for its use for one week. The reply was $350. The telegraph company refused to send Ditrichstein's answer to this demand.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Gaiety theatre audiences continue to be intensely interested in the battle of wits waged by the sleuth and the cracks man in that play of many mysterious moments, "Officer 666," quite the jolliest farce that has been exploited on Broadway for several seasons. The appeal of this exceedingly laughable play is attributable to the riddle that its plot presents, the solving of which is accomplished in a perfect maze of merriment and heightened by the unfolding of a charming love story that threads the three acts of Augustin MacHugh's thrilling detective story. "Officer 666" will register its 133rd to 140th performance at the Gaiety theatre during the coming week.

The scenery and properties for a so-called "intimate" play of the type that predominates on the stage today may be built at a cost of one or two thousand dollars, or may represent the expenditure of a small fortune. It depends to a considerable degree on the ideals of the producer. Henry Miller's big hit, "The Rainbow," now running at the Liberty theatre, New York, is an excellent case in point. "The Rainbow" might have been staged at the average cost of dramatic productions. But, as produced by Mr. Miller, it is the biggest theatrical investment he has made since he put on "The Only Way," twelve years ago. Not even "The Great Divide," with its superb cyclorama showing Ghent's home in the Cordillieras on "the top of the world," represented as great an outlay of money as the setting provided for "The Rainbow." A great deal of the value in the staging of "The Rainbow" is to be discerned only when carefully studied by expert theatregoers who have learned to distinguish between the plausibly false and the genuinely true.

Lewis Waller's production of "The Explorer" at Daly's theatre has made such a success that it is to be regretted that arrangements have been made for only such a brief engagement. Mr. Waller intends to hold to his original intention and play the piece for only one week more this season. "The Explorer" is by W. Somerset Maugham, the famous English playwright, and is offered by Mr. Waller with a star cast which includes Mr. Waller himself, Charles Cherry, Constance Collier, Grace Lane and other accomplished players. The play deals with the experiences of an African explorer, who sends to death the brother of the woman he loves and then hesitates to confess to his fiancee the high and manly motives which prompted him to take this course of action, thus allowing the young man to retrieve a dishonorable deed.

FINDS WIFE AND 2 CHILDREN DEAD

Mother Kills Entire Family With Gas.

SHE HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH

Father Makes Grewsome Discovery on His Return From Work—Rubber Tube Connecting Gas Stove Had Been Pulled From Pipe.

Elizabeth, N. J., May 17.—When Michael Mullen returned from work he found his entire family, consisting of a wife and two children, lying dead in his home, at 433 Broadway. They had been asphyxiated by gas turned on by the woman, who had been in ill health for many years and evidently decided to end her life and those of her children.

When the man entered the kitchen of his home his wife was found lying on the floor, and his son Theodore, three years old, sitting in a chair. Both were lifeless. His daughter Amelia, five years old, was found dead in an adjoining room.

A rubber tube connecting the gas stove with a pipe had been pulled from the pipe, and the gas was flowing in large quantities. The man called for help, and the neighbors rushed in. A hospital ambulance was summoned, and the physician pronounced the woman and children dead. The boy was seen alive by neighbors at 2 p. m.

The county physician was notified and will conduct an investigation tomorrow.

LOSES $25,000; KILLS SELF.

Woman Was Sister of George Rogers, Once Rockefeller's Partner.

Newark, N. J., May 17.—Losing $25,000 in a speculative deal involving $250,000, which is alleged to have fallen through, Mrs. Charlotte Wooley of Bloomfield, N. J., swallowed carbolic acid while seated on a rock at the foot of Passaic falls, near Paterson, N. J., and then toppled into the water. She was found dead and half submerged some hours later.

The woman was a sister of George B. Rogers, once an associate in business with John D. Rockefeller. Rogers is believed to have originated the venture in which his sister's money is alleged to have been lost.

When Mrs. Wooley was found dead a diamond ring was on one finger. A silver mesh bag was wrapped about her waist, the bag containing 26 cents. The woman's name and address appeared on a slip of paper in a memorandum book in the bag. Relatives claimed the body.

THREE HURT IN EXPLOSION.

Five Ton Steel Door Hurled Forty Feet and Driven Into Building.

Trenton, N. J., May 17.—Three workmen were injured, one of them probably fatally, by the explosion of a steam vulcanizer in the works of the Empire Rubber company. Harry Cross, an expert rubber worker, is in a hospital here, fatally hurt.

A five ton steel door was hurled forty feet and driven into the side of an adjoining building of the same concern. The plant was wrecked. The fact that the men were only just assembling for work prevented a big death list.

WIFE SLAYER TO DIE.

Will Be Electrocuted In Trenton About June 17.

Jersey City, N. J., May 17.—Common Pleas Justice John A. Blair of Hudson county announced that he has sentenced Joseph Kwinthowski, who killed his wife in their home, to die in the electric chair, in Trenton, during the week beginning June 17.

The court of pardons refused to interfere in this case following an appeal for the condemned man.

Hold Boys For Burglary.

Red Bank, N. J., May 17.—Ten boys, ranging in age from ten to fourteen years, are under arrest charged with robbing six business houses here. Arthur Huff, the ringleader, who is ill, was recently released from the reform school. The boys were held under bail by Recorder Badeau for the action of the grand jury.

Tristate League.

All games postponed on account of rain and wet grounds.

DR. WILEY IS FATHER.

He Is Sixty-seven and Married Miss Anna G. Kelten Year Ago.

Washington, May 17.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist of the department of agriculture, became the father of a bouncing boy, his first born. Official trials and tribulations were forgotten, and there was unalloyed joy in the Wiley household.

Dr. Wiley, who is sixty-seven years old, married Miss Anna G. Kelten a year ago.

FORMER WESTFIELD MAN MISSING WITH HIS BOY

New York, May 17.—The assistance of the New York police has been enlisted in the search for Clarence Pierce Brokaw, formerly of Westfield, N. J., who disappeared on May 5, taking with him his six-year-old son. Clarence Brokaw was formerly employed as a clerk in Hutchinson and Son's grocery store, in Westfield. He lost that position and got another in this city as a salesman, his wife taking the son and going to live with her mother, Mrs. Louis Seaman, 1380 Plimpton avenue, the Bronx.

The last seen of Brokaw by his wife was on May 5, when he went to the home of her mother. He is said to have been in good spirits when he called at the house and took the boy for a walk. Neither has been seen since.

YEGGMEN WERE UNABLE TO OPEN HAMPTON SAFE

Hampton, May 17.—No clue has been found to burglars who attempted to blow open a safe in Postmaster Harry M. Bigelow's store early Wednesday morning.

After blowing off the combination lock and the outside shell of the safe the burglars came upon a manganese steel inside, which resisted attack. Dry goods and clothing had been piled around and over the safe, before the explosion was made.

Apparently there had been two men at work, for two pair of new overalls from Mr. Bigelow's stock were found on the floor nearby. The burglars had worn the garments while at work on the safe. Batteries and wires had been used in setting off the nitroglycerine. No one heard the explosion.

The first intimation Mr. Bigelow had that anything was wrong was when he entered the store that morning, although the store and postoffice, which adjoins, were wired with burglar alarms. Nothing in the postoffice had been disturbed, not even a stamp taken. This is the fourth or fifth time the store has been burglarized in as many years.

ALL COUNTIES NOTIFIED OF NEW HOSPITAL LAW

Trenton, May 17.—Calling attention to the mandatory features of the act of last winter, intended to provide tuberculosis hospitals in each county of the state, the State Board of Health has sent out a circular letter to the various Boards of Freeholders, accompanied by a copy of the law and a brief summary of its provisions.

The duty of seeing that the law is enforced and that provisions is made for the proper treatment of tuberculosis patients is vested in the State Board of Health, and it is in the performance of this function that the attention of Boards of Freeholders is being called to the act. In its letter to these boards, the State Board says:

"Section 13 of the law permits Boards of Freeholders to contract with any regularly incorporated society or municipality, maintaining a hospital, for the care of cases of tuberculosis existing in a county.

"Section 13 requires that where no such arrangement is made and no county hospital is maintained for the care of tuberculosis patients it shall be the duty of the Board of Freeholders of each county to provide for the erection of county hospitals within six months from the time the act takes effect.

"The State Board of Health is given power by mandamus proceedings to compel the erection of such hospitals. Two or more counties may join in the erection of a hospital for the care of persons having tuberculosis. Plans for the erection of hospitals should be submitted to the State Board of Health for approval.

"We trust that your honorable body will take action in the near future looking to compliance with the law, as we believe that the proper care and supervision over incipient and advanced tuberculosis cases will tend to lessen in a marked degree the spreading of the disease."

INDEPENDENCE DAY PLANS.

Perth Amboy, May 17.—The general committee named by Mayor Ferdinand Garretson to arrange for an Independence Day celebration has definitely decided to abandon the parade, which had been a feature of the demonstration. No attempt will be made this year to provide refreshments for school children. The committee has been practically assured that an aviator from Collier's Station at Morgan's can be secured, either in the morning or afternoon. Prizes will be offered for motorboat and yacht races, and a cup will be provided for the winner of a ball game. There will be two fireworks' dsiplays and band concerts in two or three parts of the city at night. An attempt is being made to arrange to give each school child a ticket for entrance to a moving picture show during the forenoon, before the regular time of opening. It will be necessary to provide for more than 7,000 children, but it is believed that it can be done. As to getting Wu Ting Fang as the orator of the day, the committee has not as yet been able to get into direct communication with him.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY

Many individual executors are unfamiliar with the details of settling an estate and while they are acquiring the necessary experience the interests of the estate may suffer.

This Company, because of the large volume of its trust business and the special training of its officers, is thoroughly familiar with the duties of executor and administrator.

The fees allowed a trust company for acting as executor or administrator are the same as those allowed an individual.

HOW COMMISSION PLAN IMPROVES

Mayor Donnelly Tells What New Business Gov't Has Done for Trenton.

BIG SAVING FEATURE

Commissioners Specialists in Their Departments and City's Affairs are Conducted as Those of a Large Business Corporation.

"What has commission government really accomplished for Trenton?"

This question was put to Mayor Donnelly yesterday. He was reminded that the new system had been in operation now for about nine months and ought to begin to show tangible results.

The Mayor studied the matter in silence for a few moments. If the average citizen were asked the same question, no doubt his mind would revert to the tax rate. It used to be that that was about the only feature of municipal government that the people took an interest in—the tax rate. If taxes advanced, it was regarded as an evidence of bad management. If taxes went down, it was good management. The people looked no further for facts from which to judge the efficiency of government. It is a habit of long standing and it will take some time for the public to accustom itself to judging government by other standards—by efficiency by the measure of service that is obtained for the money, whether much or little, by the sense of security and confidence born of the knowledge that affairs are being administered wisely.

And no doubt Mayor Donnelly, when asked to point out some tangible benefits of commission government, thought first of the tax rate. But the tax rate hasn't decreased. It is difficult to explain why—that is, to explain it so that the casual reader will grasp the idea, so the Mayor didn't mention it—at least, not at first.

But he did hit the nail on the head with his first observation.

"Well," said he, "it has given the city five men who are becoming specialists, and no big organization can get along well nowadays unless its affairs are managed by specialists. Under the old system city affairs were managed by a debating society, the City Council. Now we have five men who have abandoned everything else to give their time and attention to the city's business. We feel that we've got to be experts. We have to dig down into things. We've got to study and slave and drudge. We've got to fill our minds with this business. We've got to know more about it than anybody else in town. There's not a man on the commission that doesn't feel that way about it. We weren't experts at first, but we are learning—every one of us. Every member of this commission is getting more experience in two weeks under the present system than the members of the old City Council got in two years. We are studying this business every day and almost every hour. We've got to do it. The old councilmen gave the matter their attention for two or three hours a week. A man who is city commissioner can't help becoming expert, if he has common sense to start with."

Mayor Donnelly discussed many other things that commission government has accomplished. Here are some of the things he pointed out:

The atmosphere of the City Hall has changed. Everybody in the building is at work.

All business is done in the open, and it must be right or the people will be heard from.

Some of the commissioners came into office with the idea of serving their party. They have found that that idea won't work and that no party or faction can be served to advantage under the present system.

The members of the commission weigh the expenditure of a dollar of the city's money more carefully than if it were a dollar out of their own pockets.

The City Commission found a budget, prepared by the old council, that was $50,000 short, the idea having been evidently to make up the deficit with a bond issue. The commission added $31,000 to this budget, but was able to turn back $9,000 into the contingent fund because it was not needed, and there will be no bond issue for current expenditures.

The city has acquired a new system of accounting at a cost of $5,000 or $6,000 that is worth many times that sum. Newark paid $10,000 for a modern system that is no better than Trenton's.

Never before has the city had an inventory of its own property. Not a shovel or a chair or a boiler or any other belonging was inventoried. In the near future a complete inventory of the city's property is to be given to the public.

It has established a police court

BETWEEN THE ACTS ATTRACTION AT HOPE

Y. P. S. C. E. of Chapel Present Comedy With Cleverness to Large Audience.

Before an appreciative audience the comedy, "Between the Acts," was presented by members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel, last night. The cast which scored a hit by its clever presentation of the comedy is, with one or two exceptions, composed of the same young people woh made the society's past entertainments successful.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons was again the director and coach. The effectiveness of her work was indicated by the finished performance of the cast.

The comedy is built around "Dick" Comfort, a nephew of Alex. Meander. Dick receives an income from his uncle Alex. on the condition that he should remain a bachelor. Prior to the action of the play he has courted and married a Miss Edith Beatty. In the opening scene, Dick receives a letter from his uncle, telling of his intention to pay him a long-deferred visit. To prevent his uncle from hearing of his marriage he sends his wife away temporarily and begins a campaign of amazing falsehood and contradictions which lead to many amusing and perplexing situations. In the climax the tangled situations are all beautifully straightened out.

The cast: "Dick" Comfort, married, yet single, H. A. Brownell; Geo. Merrigale, an unfriendly friend, T. M. Jones; Alex. Meander, Dick's uncle, blamed but blameless, Frank Rimmer; Harris, Comfort's man servant, G. T. Leighs; Mrs. Clementina Meander, Dick's aunt, blameless but blamed, Miss Eliz. Sforah; Edith Comfort, Dick's wife, "unknown, unhonored and unsung," Miss Jessie Duncan; Sally, Mrs. Meander's maid, Miss E. G. Doig.

The business end of the play was ably taken care of by Thomas Heron. Naville Roseberry was the stage manager. Miss Elizabeth Becker was chairman of the play committee. The ushers were George T. Leighs, Jr., James Doig and David Wardrop. The net proceeds will be devoted to the society's work.

The officers of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Hope chapel are: President, Miss Mary N. Mortimer; vice president, Walter I. Firstbrook; secretary, Lester Sutton, and treasurer, Mellville Roseberry.

MASTER BUILDERS TO HEAR OF INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS

Prof. James E. Dugan, superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School, of Newark, and Dr. H. M. Maxson, superintendent of the Plainfield Public Schools, will be the speakers at the banquet to be given by the Master Builders' Association at the Waldorf Annex, 140 East Front street, Thursday night, May 23.

Both Prof. Dugan and Dr. Maxson will speak on the subject of "Industrial Schools," which is of much interest at present. Other visitors will be present and add to the pleasure of the occasion. The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock.

DR. FAGG'S FAME.

Rev. Dr. Fagg, of the Collegiate Reformed church, New York, who is to be the special speaker at the meeting in Vincent chapel, of the First M. E. church, Monday night, in the interest of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, is widely-known as an orator. He has been closely identified with the Little Missionary Day Nursery, which is the New York branch of the local work, and will relate many interesting incidents. The children's choir, which was an attractive part of the work at the Home last summer, has been carefully trained during the winter by Clifford A. Braider, and will sing at this meeting. The public is invited to the service which will begin at 8 o'clock.

GUN CLUB PARADE.

The New Providence Gun Club will observe Memorial Day by organizing a parade in the morning, consisting of the club, the school children and the surviving veterans of the G. A. R. It will march to both cemeteries and decorate the graves of soldiers. In the evening there will be a dinner of the club and its invited friends at Blatt's Hall.

THIEVES GET $14.

Police headquarters was called by 'phone late last night by Meyer Meyerowitz, of 523 West Third street, who informed them that while he and his wife were out visiting some friends their house was entered and $14 stolen. The police are investigating the case.

RANDOLPH WHITE.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Blossom Fitz Randolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, and Harry Keith White, of this city, will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride-elect's parents.

MEDICAL CORPS OF STATE GUARD

Major Harold D. Corbusier Writes Interestingly of an Important Department.

REORGANIZATION WORK

Lively Pen Picture of How Sanitary Troopers Will Appear in Action With Artillery and Small Arms Belching Death.

In a recent article Dr. Harold D. Corbusier, of this city, major of the medical corps of the State Guard and in command of the field hospital, told of the work being done in a new field. Dr. Corbusier is a former military surgeon, and served in the Boxer rising in China. His article, in part, follows:

In order to conform to Regular Army standards, the State of New Jersey has recently made a complete reorganization of the medical corps of the State Guard. By order of Governor Wilson, a board, consisting of Lieutenant Colonel Henry Allers, Lieutenant Colonel William G. Schauffler and Captain Harold D. Corbusier, was convened last fall to completely reorganize the medical department of the New Jersey National Guard. This board of officers was assisted by Major Evan M. Johnson and Captain Henry Thomason, of the Regular Army.

On December 11, 1911, Adjutant General Sadler published General Order No. 38, which set forth specifically the duties of the various National Guard organizations according to Regular Army standards. This order included the Sanitary Troops, which is the name now applied to all those having to do with the care of the sick and wounded and the direction of sanitation and hygiene of an army. Their duties will be similar to those of the medical department of former years, but more comprehensive in many ways. The sanitary troops include the officers of the Medical Corps, the enlisted men of the Hospital Corps and any nurses or other persons who may be ordered to assist in the care of the sick and wounded.

The duties of the sanitary troops are quite varied. Some of these during service in the field will be as follows: The entire care of the sick and wounded and their effects; the supervision of all sanitary arrangements; instruction of the troops in first aid and camp hygiene; inspection of clothing and of food supplies; the obtaining of medical and surgical supplies; the physical examination of applicants for the National Guard; the inspection of the water supply; the vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever, etc. The chief aim of the entire medical department during a campaign will be to keep on the firing line the largest possible number of men fit for duty. All activities on the part of the sanitary troops will be directed to this end.

An innovation of great importance in New Jersey is the recent organization of the field hospital. This is a separate sanitary unit under the direction of the division surgeon and commanded by a major of the medical department, who has as his medical assistants four other surgeons. On a peace footing there will be thirty-six enlisted men attached to this organization, but this number can be increased to fifty when the troops are mustered into the service of the National Government.

The normal capacity of a field hospital is sufficient to accommodate 108 patients and consists of an up-to-date equipment with operating room, dispensary, wards, kitchen, etc., fully equipped to meet any emergency.

In case of civil disaster, this field hospital can be used to care for the sick and injured and, with a trained personnel, will be capable of taking charge of any sanitary emergency.

In order to have some idea of the real use of the sanitary troops, let us suppose a campaign is in progress.

Bang! goes the first gun—the artillery has opened fire! In rapid succession other batteries come into action and soon the infantry rifles begin to "spat," until the entire line is engaged. A little in the rear of the line of battle are the reserve troops and the hospital corps men, who are eager to be in action. The enemy has now found the range, and bullets begin to make queer little puffs of dust all around. Occasionally a shell sings overhead or drops in close proximity, with a death-dealing explosion! Men are seen to fall or crumple up in a heap and lie motionless on the ground. The battle is raging hotly and the wounded are applying their first aid packets themselves, or their comrades are assisting them. At every opportunity they are carried to the shelter of a first aid station, where the surgeons and hospital corps men apply what dressings they can, stopping hemorrhage and giving the wounded water and stimulants. Then they tag each wounded man with a "diagnosis tag," which indicates the severity of

HUSBAND TELLS JUDGE MAN HE FOUGHT WAS A MASHER

Charles Fay, of 1155 Second street, and Lawrence Miller, of 1212 Park avenue, were arrested last night by Policeman Nolan, and charged this morning in the city court, before City Judge William G. De Meza, with disordery conduct by fighting. Fay claimed that he struck Miller because Miller had insulted Fay's wife.

When asked what the nature of the insult was he said that Miller was standing at the street corner when his wife and several other women passed and he called after them "Hello Girls." Judge De Meza adjourned the case until Monday morning.

SHATTLE'S PREDICTION ON CLARK'S POPULARITY

Frank J. Shattle, leader of the Champ Clark forces in this city, predicts that Clark's vote in this State will be the surprise of the Presidential primaries on May 28. He declares Clark would be the steadiest of presidents if he is chosen; the people have been studying his characteristics far more than is thought.

There has been a searchlight on him continuously, and the bitterest enemy of Democracy has been unable to find anything but honesty, truth, manliness and ability. He is of a certainty the choice of the thinkers o fthe day among the patriots of America. Without a doubt he could not be otherwise than the man for the place at this time; he has made good in every position he has occupied; he is a man of the finest order and judgment and executive ability; his honesty and integrity have never been questioned; he is full of energy and an untiring worker."

STILLMAN PUPILS IN TWO LIVELY COMEDIES

The two comedy sketches, "Who's to Inherit?" and "Miss Civilization," were successfully presented yesterday in the High School Auditorium at a matinee performance by the pupils of the Stillman Grammar School under the direction of Miss Eason, head of the English department. All the parts were well taken and the audience proved very appreciative. The performance will be repeated this evening at 8:15 at the same place and deserves a large attendance.

Concepta Pila in the role of Mrs. Annersley in "Who's to Inherit," took her part in an excellent manner, as did Florence Alpaugh as Mrs. Annersley's daughter. The others who took their parts well included Leonard Lewis, Miner Trobridge and Townsend Dickinson; the three old maids, Marion Vollmers as Mrs. Fritzbridge, Ruth Voorhees, Katharine Lee and Dorris Silbert.

In "Miss Civilization," Edith Bechtel played the title role. Her part was well taken as were those in which Evan Stevens, Rene Chatel, Miner Trobridge, Fred Smith and George Vollmers appeared. Between the plays a minuet was given under Miss Beebe's direction.

TODAY OR NOT AT ALL.

If you have not registered for the Presidential primaries remember that your most important duty today is to file your affidavit with the City Clerk. This is your last chance to claim your right to vote, if you did not vote last fall in the election district where you now live.

LEAL'S ALUMNI HOLD A BANQUET

First One Since the School Was Organized Here Thirty Years Ago.

JOYFUL "OLD GRADS"

Loyal Sons of the Institution Who Can't Join the Circle Send Letters—Undergraduates in the Gallery Loose Some Cheers.

Joyous and happy memories of school life were revived at the dinner for the Leal's School Alumni, last evening, at the Park Club. One hundred of the graduates gathered around the board and joviality and camaraderie resigned. Many on the long roll of the alumni were absent, but the letters of regret for non-attendance penned from all parts of the country expressed a spirit of loving loyalty to the "old school" Alma Mater and the "boys" who had shared in their triumphs and defeats.

It was the first reunion that the school has had of its kind since its inauguration thirty years ago, and the faces of Principal John Leal beamed as he gazed upon his former pupils, now grown to manhood's estate, and occupying positions of prominence. The consensus of opinion at the close of the dinner was that it should be made an annual affair. The suggestion was made in the course of the dinner that the alumni form an advisory board, or have direct representation on the athletic board of the school.

There were a number of the pupils of Leal's present occupying the side galleries, and their yells now and again added to the merriment. The several tables in the dining hall were tastefully decorated with cut flowers. On the wall, over the head of Mr. Leal, hung two banners in white with the years 1882 and 1912 inscribed in gold. In the centre suspended was the school flag in maroon and gold, with the word "Leal's." The banners were presented by the senior class. The one bearing the date 1882 was taken down and the alumni appended their signatures.

The toastmaster was Clifford W. McGee and the speakers Charles D. Wardlaw, L. H. Biglow, John Leal, Carl S. Brown and W. D. Jewett. The toastmaster having spoken about the necessity of having a real active alumni, the roll was called by Mr. Leal, W. L. Glenney reading the letters of regret from absent members. Then Carl S. Brown spoke on behalf of the older members of the alumni.

The presence of such a large body of alumni, said Mr. Wardlaw, one of the teachers, was an inspiration and a stimulus such as were needed in the school. He went on to speak of what the school was doing in the way of athletics this year, and in passing paid a tribute to the excellent work that W. T. Glenney had done to help them along

Possibly the most enjoyable speech of the evening was delivered by L. H. Biglow, who kept the alumni convulsed with his yarns of school-day pranks and adventures, of which many of the members seemed to retain mirthful recollections. Then in serious vein he told of the athletic achievements of the school in his day and called to memory such star athletes as Bob Abbott and "Dummy" Roome. In his opinion he believed the real grit and spirit was in the boys still as in his day but qualified that statement by saying that the class of young men turned out by the schools now were weak and decadent in comparison with what they were in his time and consequently deserved all the encouragement that the older generation could give them.

W. D. Jewett, a pupil, spoke on the athletic outlook of the school. The toastmaster having eulogized Mr. Leal as a man who wins his way into the hearts of all the boys who come under his care, and is universally liked, called upon him to speak. The principal was received with the school yell, in which the alumni joined the boys. Mr. Leal spoke feelingly of how much he appreciated all that had been said by the alumni and dwelt on the memories of his past pupils. Every organization, he continued, every church, college and school which appealed to men for support had to expect the challenge of the world, and to meet that challenge successfully meant that they must retain its confidence in the nature of the product they turned forth. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, the flowers being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mellick.

A popular program of music was played by Ida Randolph-Smalley. During the evening an elaborate buffet lunch was served.

DR. STRONG'S FLOCK HAVE "FAMILY" PARTY

The members of the First Baptist church enjoyed a social last night, the affair being arranged by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong and the officers, just for the members and their families, for the purpose of getting better acquainted. The Sunday-school room was thronged with people, and informal sociability was the keynote of the evening. Through the efforts of Mrs. Arthur M. Harris, Mrs. W. A. Conner and Mrs. Clifford D. Manning, the rooms were elaborately decorated with dogwood and roses.

The program, an informal one, was delightful in that those present had an exceptional opportunity of hearing Mrs. A. M. Dickey, contralto, and Miss Helen Kaiser, soprano, the new church soloists in a varied program of popular numbers, while Miss Florence Wohlfert gave several violin solos in her best style. The singing of Mrs. Dickey and Miss Kaiser was greatly enjoyed and they generously responded to encores. Howard M. Case, musical director of the church choir, was the accompanist.

After the program ice cream, cake and coffee were served under the direction of a committee comprising the wives of deacons and others, assisted by the young women of the church. Mrs. George H. Batchelor was the chairman of the affair.

AUTO WRECKED AGAINST TROLLEY

Haskard's Car Smashed Beyond Repair in Collision on Front Street.

ACCIDENT DREW CROWD

Remains of Auto Carted Away on a Truck—Driver and Two Passengers Escape Injury, Although Badly Shaken up.

John Haskard, of McDowelll street, narrowly escaped serious injury early last evening when his automobile was smashed beyond repair as the result of a collision with a Netherwood line trolley car on East Front street, near Watchung avenue. The auto was so badly damaged that it had to be carted away from the scene on a wagon.

In the car with Haskard were William Kitchen and his son, John, of De Kalb avenue. The party was returning from Scotch Plains. As the car approached Watchung avenue on East Front street, a Main Line trolley car rounded the corner ahead of it and stopped in front of the Woodhull & Martin building. Haskard turned his car in order to pass by and crashed into the Netherwood car, eastward bound.

The front axle of the automobile was broken in half, one wheel badly smashed, and the running boards on both sides of the car crumpled up like paper. The hood was pinched out of shape, and the wind shield smashed. No one was injured, though the party in the car were considerably shaken up.

The smashed auto attracted a big crowd of people all the evening, until it was loaded on a truck and hauled away.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It in Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

A. K. Mattis, 127 W. Fourth St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "I gave Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement five years ago after receiving a cure through their use and today I confirm all I then said in their favor. My cure has been permanent." (Statement given January 20, 1911.)

On August 28, 1905, Mr. Mattis said: "I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that my trouble was due to a great measure, to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases, I got a supply at Randolph's Drug Store. Their use drove away my aches and pains and my experience gave proof of their merits."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Women who use make-up do so to beautify themselves, but it frequently happens that an actress has to use artificial means to make herself homely. No woman likes to make herself less comely than she really is, particularly an actress. That is one reason that many actresses shy at playing character parts on the stage, for such a role often calls for a plain looking person and frequently a homely one. Such a role is that of the secretary to the musical genius in "The Concert," the comedy that David Balasco presents at the Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. Cora Witherspoon, a young Southern girl plays this part. She is a very comely looking girl off the stage but in her character make-up she is just the reverse. When he was looking for a woman to play this part, which requires considerable ability, Mr. Belasco had some trouble in finding an actress who would agree to look the part as he wanted it done. Miss Witherspoon was his final selection and she has played the role ever since.

Mrs. James Gilbert and son, Lesley, of West Fourth street, left today on the steamer Carmania, for Cardiff, Wales, where they will visit relatives.

AMPLE ACCOMMODATIONS FOR KNIGHTS AT DENVER

Denver, Col., May 18.—Twenty-three hundred rooms in hotels of the city have been contracted for to be occupied during the Knights Templar conclave in August, 1913. Practically all of the Grand Commanderies have been located, and those that have not been taken care of can be located quickly when they apply to the hotel committee. Headquarters of Grand Master William B. Melish will be in the Brown Palace Hotel, one of the most magnificent of the hotels of the West.

R. E. Sir Darius A. Barton, chairman, and Sir W. F. R. Mills, secretary, of the hotel committee, have been busy for several months arranging for the comfort of the visitors. So thoroughly has their work been done that the Triennial committee is prepared to promise all fraters who contemplate attending the conclave that their comfort during their stay in Denver is assured.

Even at this early date the indications are that there will be a record-breaking attendance at the next conclave. Fraters can get in direct communication with the hotel committee through their local commanderies.

Following is a list of the headquarters of Grand Commanderies already located:

Alabama, Metropole hotel; Arizona, Albany; California, Albany; Georgia, Brown Palace; Idaho, Brown Palace; Illinois, Brown Palace; Indiana, Brown Palace; Iowa, Brown Palace; Kansas, Tours; Kentucky, Metropole; Louisiana, Brown Palace; Maine, Albany; Massachusetts, Brown Palace; Michigan, Brown Palace; Minnesota, Metropole; Missouri, Savoy; Nebraska, Metropole; New Hampshire, Wynne; New Jersey, Brown Palace; New Mexico, Brown Palace; New York, Brown Palace; North Carolina, Metropole; North Dakota, Brown Palace; Ohio, Brown Palace; Oklahoma, Albany; Oregon, Oxford; Pennsylvania, Brown Palace; Rhode Island, Brown Palace; Tennessee, Adams; Texas, Brown Palace; Utah, Brown Palace; Virginia, Adams; Wisconsin, Brown Palace, Wyoming, Brown Palace.

ALLOWS PUBLIC SCHOOL FOR STUDY AT NIGHT

Perth Amboy, May 18.—An innovation that is being tried by the High School faculty under the direction of City Superintendent S. E. Shull allows the pupils to use the assembly-room of the High School as a place for studying at night. So many of the children are members of large families and others have inadequate facilities for study in the evening, that the scheme was evolved and the use of the assembly-room offered to them with the sanction of the Board of Education.

On the evening of each school day, except Friday, the assembly-room is open and lighted and the members of the faculty take turns in aiding and instructing those who care to avail themselves of the help.

The number using the room far exceeds the expectations of those responsible for the trial, and it is probable that it will become permanently a part of the school work. The teachers give their services and the expense of lighting and heating when necessary will be so small that Superintendent Shull regards it as trifling when compared with the good that is done. The period is two and a half hours long.

Thus far as many children have come from good homes with every convenience as from those for whom the plan was originally intended. Several say that their homes are the centres of so much social activity or church work that they welcome the opportunity to study undisturbed. Attendance at night is wholly voluntary, and those who attend do so as often and remain each night only so long as they wish to.

KNOW OF ANY OLD INDIAN VILLAGE OR QUARRY SITE?

The last Legislature made provision for the beginning of an acheological survey of New Jersey and placed the work under the direction of the State Geologist. A modest appropriation was made available at once for work during the comiag summer and a somewhat larger appropriation was inserted in the regular bill to permit continuing the work for another year. If the results of the first two years' work meet with public approval there is little doubt but what the survey will be continued.

It is proposed to investigate Indian village sites, burying grounds and quarries to which the aborigines resorted for material for their arrow heads, etc. Ultimately it is hoped that it will be possible to publish a map showing the location of many of these ancient sites. Any persons having knowledge of their location will assist much in the initiation of this work by communicating with Dr. Henry B. Kummel, the State Geologist, Trenton, N. J. The small sum available this year will not permit an extended survey and it is hoped by the information obtained from volunteers that much unnecessary traveling may be avoided.

THE DECISIVE HOUR.

That the steady, relentless war which is being waged against tuberculosis, most insidious of foes, is being won, is shown very clearly by comparative figures just made up from the reports of the United States Census Bureau for the ten years from 1901 to 1910, covering every part of the United States. In 1901 the death rate from tuberculosis was 196.9 per 100,000 people, while in 1910 this had decreased to 160.3. This means that the lives of 27,000 people who would have died from tuberculosis in the ordinary course of things, have been saved by the nation-wide work of the anti-tuberculosis societies. Isn't such work as this worth while?

Without doubt when the work to be done by the many preventorims and sanatorims now being erected has a chance to be felt, the decrease in the tuberculosis death rate will be much greater, and if all the workers keep on working, not letting their interest or energy flag, but steadily striving to increase the volume of work done, the number of the saved during the next decade may be doubled. Of course such work is worth while.

Tuberculosis hits every one of us. If it has not attacked our own immediate families, at least we all have friends who are White Plague victims. Even if it has not hit you through your affections or your sympathies, it has hit you through your pocketbook, for the thirty-five hundred people who died of tuberculosis in New Jersey last year, mean a loss of millions of dollars to the state. You pay your share of this tax. No one escapes the results of cousumption. One-fourth of all the orphans in institutions, are orphans because their parents died of tuberculosis.

The first step in the White Plague war is education, which makes the patients careful and the public cautious. Today we are at close range with tuberculosis. We have analyzed its terrors, and find the difficulties in the way of overcoming it less unsurmountable than we once imagined. We know that it may sometimes be cured, and that it may always be preevnted.

The battle against the White Plague cannot be won by skirmishes, by a series of brilliant dashes, or by the advance of any one of the divisions fighting it. The advance must be made all along the line, there must be no retreats, and above all there must be a constantly working recruiting station for the army. This is the decisive hour in the campaign. Let every fighter redouble his efforts, and let those who do not already belong to the army, hasten to enlist in its ranks.

You can join the army by becoming a member of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League. Send your name and one dollar annual dues to J. P. Murray, treasrer of the League.

COMMISSION PLAN IMPROVES

with one judge instead of two where even-handed justice is distributed. The result is not merely a saving of $3,200 a year in salaries, but a better moral tone in the community. For example, formerly drunks were fined $2. It was cheap. Now they are fined from $10 to $20 and sometimes get six months or a year in the workhouse. Saloonists can't afford to have their customers "put away" for such long periods, and thus lose their trade. Consequently, the saloonists are taking care of their customers and are keeping them away from fines and the workhouse if possible. They have to do it to conserve their business.

Under the old system tentative plans were adopted for a filtration plant that was to cost $800,000. The new system will undertake to build the best plant in the world at a cost of $450,000.

Under the old system is was planned to spend $1,000,000 for a sewage disposal plant. The commission expects to get the same plant to $500,000 or $600,000.

The commission is proceeding to the elimination of patent materials in paving, also trust materials and contractors controlled by paving trusts.

A city chemist has been employed whose business it is to see that various materials purchased by the city are what they are represented to be.

It has created a tuberculosis hospital, where 17 men have been cured and sent back to work and where many others are receiving treatment, and this hospital is being conducted at far less cost than the State's hospital at Glen Gardner.

One of the last points made by Mayor Donnelly was one of his strongest.

"Today," he said, "Trenton is in the market for whatever it buys. It goes shopping. It goes shopping for its gravel, for its stone, for its cement; for its asphalt, for its sewer pipe, its water pipe, its machinery and brick, its hay, and oats, and furnishings. It buys where it can get the best for the money, just like every other common-sense shopper does. That system is bound to result eventually in immense saving to the city."

These were not all the points that Mayor Donnelly made, but they are sufficient to give some idea of what the new system of government is accomplishing in Trenton.

THE BULWARK OF FREEDOM.

A community which largely represents an environment of affluence and comparative leisure is not the atmosphere which most readily prompts recognition of the great world forces, just beyond our normal experience. From such an environment it is difficult to appreciate and impossible to measure the significance of the constant rumblings of conflict which rise from the plane of industrial life in America and which reach us by indirection. That these rumblings are not the symptoms of a passing local storm, but the assured evidences of a developing and general conflict imminent and impending, no serious man may question. Even the superficial student of human events sees clearly the significance of these early days of the Twentieth Century. It is obvious to him that now, if ever in the world's history, events are rapidly developing and the whole creation is groaning and travailling in the birth pains of a new social ideal. What the issue will be the wisest prophet will hesitate to predict. In America the signs of unrest are painfully apparent. With strikes just quashed in the city of Lawrence; anxiety in the silk industry in Paterson; the engineers' strike narrowly averted; trouble with the coal miners hanging in the balance; dynamite and death in California, all are circumstances grim enough to impress most minds with the serious strain upon human relations. Within the past twelve months England has been torn with a variety of issues of a social character. Russia, Turkey and Bulgaria are proverbial and perennial types of social unrest; Japan has been made, and the new China is in the making. If necessary, the consideration of these evidences should prompt a man to halt and study the significance of this world enveloping social spirit.

In America it is clear the whole broad question may be resolved into one of class interest. The developing and deepening suspicion of one end of society against another end of society, personal interest being the bone of contention—the man, or corporation, who has at command unlimited resources of wealth arrayed against that body of men who have vast resources of intelligence, skill, and strength at their disposal. And to observe the far reaching effects of this controversy, is to mark the unmistakable fact that, in most communities, the social life of the people is largely influenced by these two great distinctions. The extent to which these two great factors in American commerce and American social life are permitted to become permanently aliinated, will have a vast and serious effect upon the ultimate adjustment of affairs, to make or mar future happiness of American people. No man can estimate the consequences which may attend any fostering or condoning of class distinction in the social life of this country.

To consolidate human interest, and to merge human rights, great kingdoms have been created. The Roman Empire sought the promotion of this ideal by strength of arms and the incorporation of vanquished nations. For the age hers was no mean accomplishment. That a man could say he was a citizen of Rome assured him of liberty and justice, such as it was. Rome and her methods have passed into history. France upon the overthrow of the Empire essayed to establish a republic upon the philosophic principal of Liberty, Fraternity and Equality. The success attending this venture upon human interests is before the judgment of the world today. The framers of the Constitution of the American Republic dug deeper foundations than either. They were Christian men every one of them, and when they founded their kingdom they went to the bed-rock of human rights and built a Republic upon the essential brotherhood of the human race. They asserted from their religious convictions that men were born free and equal. The new nation was to assure these facts to all men without distinction, because it recognized all men as brothers. There isn't a shadow of a doubt, that contrary to the procedure in France, the American Republic was intended to be a nation of free men because it was to be a nation of Christian people. And that cardinal doctrine of the nation is the one peculiar doctrine which above all others stands in jeopardy today. It is the one article of the national faith which has upon it focussed all the emnity of individualism in society. The one article which privilege and patronage are selfishly and thoughtlessly trampling under their feet. And if the impending difficulties are to find a peaceful solution, and frightful national disasters are to be averted, patriots should beat a hasty retreat to the ideals of their grandfathers and inculcate into the minds of their children the Christian doctrine of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man.

It is here that our practical Christianity lamentably fails. If the social element in the teaching of Jesus is fundamental, it should be taught and practised by a Christian nation and a Christian people. That teaching is fundamental and yet it is both superficially taught and practised. First of all, the State declares that her children shall be instructed in every branch of science and education with one exception—the science of religion. The one great charter of human liberty, the one great platform of human brotherhood—the Bible—is excluded in our State educational system from the consideration of the child upon whom rests the future destinies of the Republic. The result is that we are turning out of our public schools every year hordes of pupils who have no religious knowledge whatever, and but a superficial religious instinct. All this because Protestantism stands suspicious and envious of its own component parts. The consequence to the nation is serious in the extreme and will become more threatening; how serious every day is manifesting in the crimes, misdemeanors, immorality and dishonesty of thoroughly educated men and women.

Because of its peculiar opportunity no community should be more concerned with the debt that it owes to American society than Plainfield. It is out of such surroundings of wealth and refinement as our own that sane and sound estimates of life ought to be imbibed, aand levening influences injected into the entanglement of human affairs. Every year Plainfield is turning out young men and young women who should have a deeper sense of their birthright and a wider conception of their social responsibility. Individualism and the individualistic spirit is the great menace to the future of this country. We are apt to shut our eyes and hope for the best, but this you can depend upon that national boundaries do not make brothers, and "trust busting" does not disrupt greed, and legislation does not insure sobriety, nor prison purity. But the ethics of Jesus does promote them all. This is not a religious problem per se nor a religious crisis. It is a social problem, and a national trial. And the State or nation which ignores or excludes from its reckoning the influences of the Bible upon its people, is ignoring the one great bulwark of human freedom and peace.

E. VICARS STEVENSON.

As soon as there is a lull in the firing, litters are brought up and those unable to walk are carried back to the "dressing stations," which have been established by the ambulance companies in a protected place farther in the rear. At these stations those requiring further treatment receive it and are refreshed with water and food if possible. The ambulance companies then load the severely wounded and take them about three miles to the rear, where they find the field hospitals already pitched in convenient locations and the entire staff ready to undertake serious surgical operations and otherwise provide for the wounded.

LEAL'S ALUMNI DINNER

interested in its games, its aspirations and accomplishments. The school itself, by itself and in itself would not long exist. He believed that they stood for some real thing; that they were loyal sons of the school—and loyalty in this country was a fundamental virtue. The boys needed something concrete and vital on which to lavish their loyalty. The school furnished that object. If the school appealed to the body it appealed to him deeply. How could they retain that confidence after they had left? It was by co-operation.

There had never been a more loyal and more whole-hearted body of men, he contipued, working with him than the present staff of teachers, which was one of the strongest the school ever had. He also referred to the splendid work which W. T. Glenney had done in assisting Mr Wardlaw in the coaching of this year's baseball team. The success of the school was due in a large measure to the efficiency of the staff, yet he might say without egotism that in its initiative and constructive policy in meeting obligations it had been a one-man project. Along the lines of building boys and making them good citizens it had always been his endeavor to bring them up self,possessed, clean in thought and word, loyal to themselves and truth in God. Concluding he spoke of the aims of the school and hoped that with the co-operation of the alumnia their alma mater would continue to flourish. Several other alumni having spoken the dinner terminated:

HOSPITAL GOVERNORS NAME ARCHITECTS ON ADDITIONS

Announcement was made today by the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital of the appointment of the firm of Crow, Lewis & Wickenhoefer, of New York city, as architects in charge of the new buildings and improvements to be undertaken by Muhlenberg Hospital.

In speaking of the choice of architects a prominent member of the Board said:

"The Governors have felt that the people of Plainfield, by their wholehearted response to the needs of Muhlenberg, as shown by the recent campaign for subscriptions, have imposed on the management a duty to see that the money shall be so spent as to produce, dollar for dollar, a full and adequate return to those who by their gifts have shown their public spirited interest in the welfare of a great public institution.

"To that end the Hospital Building Committee has spent weeks of time in an investigation of the standing and experence of architects all over the country. They have also conducted a personal tour of investigation in order to visit and examine hospitals of well known or recent construction, which have been erected acording to up-to-date and modern methods. The result has been the choice of the firm of Crow, Lewis & Wickenhoefer. These architects are experts in hospital construction. In other words, they know at the outset a hundred things which an architect in general practice would have to inquite into. They were employed in the construction of the Sloane Hospital for Women, the most completely equipped building of its kind in this country; and also the Vanderbilt Clinic and the laboratory buildings of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York city.

"Local architects were carefully and conscientiously considered; but most of them after various interviews, frankly withdrew out of recognition of the desirability that the hospital should employ some firm of such national reputation as experts in hospital construction as to insure the best and most thorough service available."

Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, of Brooklyn, have returned after a visit with friends here.

Stephen Blazier, of Elmwood place, has returned from a visit with his son at Madison.

Mrs. Charles G. Dow, of Elizabeth, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Amos T. Gray, of East Second street.

Councilman John E. Dunn, of West Front street, has returned from a business trip to Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Mary Moore, of Newark, who has been spending several days with friends in this city, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashley Grace, of New York, are visiting Mrs. Grace's parents, Mr. and Mrs L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SPRING ASPARAGUS.

WE are now getting from southern markets fresh asparagus that is available for many delicious spring dishes.

A Convenient Arrangement.

If you lack a special boiler the asparagus may be cooked by tying the shoots together and standing the bunch in the salted water in the saucepan. When they have boiled about a quarter of an hour they may be laid flat and covered with water until done. The time for boiling asparagus is from twenty to twenty-five minutes.

A Delicate Soup.

Cream of Asparagus Soup.—Take a bunch of asparagus, a pint of sweet milk, one pint of boiling salted water, two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour. Wash and cut asparagus. Cut off tips. Cook in boiling water until tender. Drain and save the water in which they were cooked. Cook the remainder of asparagus for fifteen minutes. Press through a colander, put in double boiler, add flour and butter and cook until smooth and creamy. When hot add asparagus tips. Serve with croutons of bread.

Tomato Baskets.

Asparagus and Tomato Salad.—Select as many firm, medium sized tomatoes as you have people at the table. Cut the tops off these. Slice a lemon the round way about one-eighth of an inch thick. Remove the rind from each slice in one piece. Cut all the strips of lemon peel the same length. Slip a strip of lemon peel into the soft part of a tomato to form the handle of a basket; then lay five or six asparagus tips on top of the tomato in the basket and put a spoonful of mayonnaise on each basket. Serve on lettuce leaves.

In a Baking Dish.

Baked Asparagus.—For this use only the tip end of the stalk, cutting it in half and again subdividing into pieces about an inch long. Boil for a quarter of an hour in salted water. Butter a baking dish and sprinkle this with breadcrumbs, pepper and salt, bits of butter and hard boiled egg which has been passed through a coarse sieve. Put in another layer of asparagus, then one of the crumbs, seasoning, butter and egg, and so fill up the dish. The last layer should be crumbs. Bake for half an hour and serve hot in the baking dish.

TOUCHES OF FASHION.

Newest Colors Used In Millinery and Neckwear.

Old blue is a popular color in hats this spring, while shades ranging from amber to old gold up to the pale straw tints are seen in straw.

Frills of shadow, malines or other light laces, about three or four inches wide, are used as high neck finish.

In evening dress two colors are often combined.

The shirt waist illustrated is a very new one, cut without shoulder seams, with either bias fronts or backs. As pictured, the backs are seamless. Regulation sleeves are sewed to the armholes, but the collar is of the new high turnover sort.

SHIRT WAIST IN BIAS EFFECT.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7406, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Linderman is liable to repeat a few expectations that the dark town team may have this afternoon. If memory fails us not he did that same thing a year ago with certain other teams that Plainfield played.

Scotch Plains being without a representative team to play a game this Saturday on the home grounds, the fans will not be deprived of an exhibition. The Commercial-R. G. E. game is being played there this afternoon and should be a good one.

This has been another bad week for the Manufacturers' League teams to get a little practise. But it has been the same way with all the others.

The Watchung Gun Club is holding a shoot this afternoon on their club grounds.

This is the first day of play for the President's and Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club. The ground has been pretty soggy for any consistent playing as yet.

When it comes to the last word in pitching Marquard seems to be it. Seven times he has gone after the fellows that used to get him and seven times he has laid them low. It was only about a year ago that the New York fans groaned when the Rube walked onto the mound. Thursday the Pittsburg fans were the ones to do the groaning.

O'Toole, who when considered financially with the Rube, should have beaten him by a ratio of 2 to 1.

Why doesn't someone write an editorial on "the high cost of pitching."

If Manager Bogardus' crew of swatsmiths hump along at the pace they set out with the light haired boys from Perth Amboy will have to travel some to keep up in today's game in the borough.

Warry McLaughlin seems to have a lot left judging from his two performances this year. He held the Cranford bunch safe and then had the Raritan team eating out of his hand.

Ban Johnson believes in stern discipline and would not even give the Georgian Peach a chance to state his case. He punishes those who he thinks wrong and punishes hard.

All the past bad weather has played into the hands of the teams having a large hospital list. The New York Yankees have been materially strengthened by their long wait.

Cincinnati, who is stepping on the heels of the Giants, has never won a pennant in the National League. Should they do so this year Hank O'Day would not only be given the freedom of the city but would be quite apt to be given the city itself.

Six feet, six and one-quarter inches in the air is not much for a flying machine to negotiate, but when a man jumps it we consider it wonderful. George Harine, of Stamford University, broke his previous world's record Thursday by clearing the bar at that height.

Stahl will probably be started for the borough team against Bound Brook High this afternoon. He pitched an excellent game against Battin High School the other day and should hold the Bound Brook boys in good shape.

Smith, the New Brunswick High School pitcher, who went bad just long enough for P. H. S. to beat him last Saturday, pitched an excellent game against Perth Amboy H. S. the other day, allowing only two hits and striking out fifteen men.—Pretty fair record.

Scotch Plains team meets the All Stars, of Newark, on the home grounds tomorrow afternoon.

It looks as though the Detroit Tigers might make trouble for Ban Johnson before the fan punching episode is settled.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD TOO MUCH FOR NEW MARKET

The South Plainfield School team walked away from the New Market School team in a close game yesterday by the score of 9 to 8. Ball, who pitched for South Plainfield, had the New Market boys on the run striking out nine. Bays was a little wild, giving 5 passes and whiffing only four. The features of the game were the hard sluggings of Sofield, who captured a three sacker, 2 singles and a sacrifice hit in his four times up.

BALL PLAYERS MAY STRIKE.

Detroits Wont Play Another Game Unless Ty Cobb Is Reinstated.

Detroit, Mich., May 18.—A news special from Philadelphia says that the Detroit American league players have refused to play another game unless Ty Cobb, indefinitely suspended for his battle with a spectator at a recent New York game, is reinstated. A telegram to that effect, signed by all of the players, has been sent to President Ban Johnson.

Philadelphia, May 18.—Manager Hugh Jennings of the Detroit club corroborated the story telegraphed from Detroit about the threat of the club's players to strike unless Cobb is at once reinstated. Jennings declined to comment on the situation or to state his attitude on the strike question.

GAME POSTPONED.

The game scheduled for yesterday afternoon between P. H. S. and the Manhattan College freshmen, which was to have been played in New York, was cancelled at the last minute by the New York team. The reason given was that the 'varsity team had to use the field for a postponed game with St. Joseph's College.

SCOUT MOVEMENT IS STILL UNDER WAY

Active Campaign Considered By Executive Council—Outdoor Rally Probable.

Preparations for an active campaign to organize boy scout companies in Plainfield were discussed at a meeting of the local executive council of the movement, which was held last night at the Y. M. C. A. building. Two applications for permission to form companies were received and committees were named to carry on the details of the work in the future. The meeting was prsided over by Benjamin J. Phelps, president of the local council, and was attended by a dozen members of the committee.

Scout Commissioner C. William Bingaman and Charles R. Bostwick informally discussed plans for the coming summer. It is probable that within a short time a meeting of boys who might be interested will be called, probably at some out door rendezvous, and at that time applicants for membership in the organization will be examined publicly.

To assist treasurer Samuel Rothbery, who by virtue of his office is chairman of the finance committee, the following members of the committee were named: David J. Carney, Frederick Martin, DeWitt C. Hubbell, Edward V. Cox and O. B. Whitford. As members of the Court of Honor, five were also named to assist Chas. R. Bostwick, the chairman, as follows. Robert H. McCready, C. William Binagman, Mayor George W. V. Moy, Henry R. Hubbard and Thomas G. Davis. This body will administer the test and oaths of membership in the organization; administer the tests for the various honors and awards, and pass final judgments on appeals from scout masters' decisions.

A letter was read from the National organization, in which it was stated that a formal charter would be issued shortly to the local council, and in which the Plainfield body was welcomed to the movement.

The two who made application for scout master certificates were Allen E. Beals and Wendal C. Glover of the First Presbyterian church, whose petition was favorably considered by the executive council.

Those present last night besides President Phelps and the Scout Commissioners were Vice President Lindsey Best, Secretary George T. Moore, Treasurer Samuel Rothberg, W. D. Murray, Leslie R. Fort, David J. Carney, Theodore G. Davis and Howard Freeman.

GARBAGE DISCUSSION.

The Councilmanic Public Affairs Committee met last night to discuss details of the proposed action regarding municipal collection and disposal of ashes and garbage. When the Common Council meets Wednesday night, May 22, Councilman G. S. Clay, chairman of the above-named committee, will offer a resolution calling for bids for doing the work. The committee believes that a contract can be made at an expense to the city of probably not more than $6,000 or $7,000 a year.

ORGANIST RESIGNS.

Will S. O'Brien, who has been the organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Holy Cross for the past four years, has resigned to take a position with a relative in the iron business in Cleveland, O. The resignation will take effect about June 1. During the time h ehas been in his present position he has been successful in his work, especially in the training of the boy choir. The vestry is considering several applicants for the position.

ROOSEVELT MEETING.

No place has yet been selected for the meeting next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Col. Roosevelt will speak here. It is reported that the City Park will likely be selected for the purpose.

Abbott-Detroit

The 52 H. P. Seven-Passenger Car at $1,800

YOU MEN—YES—YOU! Who are going to buy a car this Spring and want your honest money's worth of car! Who are tired of glittering generalities and salesmen's talk and "Guarantees" that don't guarantee and demonstrations that demonstrate nothing! Who are looking for a strong, staunch, dependable car that will look good and go good; that will deliver the goods day in and day out loyally; that is built for work and not for half-time in the repair shop; and that you can handle yourself, take care of yourself and run on a minimum of expense!

HERE ARE TWO MODELS YOU MUST SEE—as a matter of justice to yourself—before you decide: The Abbott "44," that has made automobile history this year, and the Abbott "30," a little smaller, a little lighter, but the same wonderful car-value.

ABBOTT-DETROIT "44."

Here is the history of the "44" in New York. We give it because it is harder to sell cars there than anywhere else in the United States. The New Yorker is busy, tired, blase, and—moreover—sees in the streets daily the finest specimens of automobile building that Europe or America can produce. So he knows a good car.

In one month after the "44" made its first appearance in New York, more orders were booked for it than had ever before been taken on any new model by any automobile house.

Better still, three-fourths of the orders were from men who owned far higher-priced cars, and who traded these in, because they realized the Abbott "44" gave them everything their more expensive cars could in the way of elegance, comfort and service. And at about one-fourth the upkeep cost.

Merely one feature of the car will make you realize that here, indeed, is a new standard for a medium-priced car—its big, generous, 4½ x 5½ Continental motor, with the long stroke that is in accordance with the best European and American engineering practice.

PRICES

Abbott "44."

7 Passenger Touring.....$1,800.00
Demi-Tonneau, 4 or 5 Passenger..$1,775.00
Fore-door Limousine, fully equipped.....$3,000.00

Abbott "30."

5 Passenger Touring.....$1,350.00
Fore-door Roadster.....$1,275.00
Colonial Coupe, fully equipped....$2,150.00

ABBOTT-DETROIT "30."

You have heard about the Abbott "BULL-DOG," of course? That marvelous little car that has just finished 52,000 of the 100,000 miles it has set out to do? Every State in the Union; two times around the borders of the United States; a slice of Mexico; through Canada and a dash into frozen Alaska is some of the ground it has covered.

The Abbott "30" you buy off our selesroom floor is a duplicate of the Bull-Dog—the same sturdy efficiency, the same splendid power to get you over every road. Here are some of the "30" features that insure you this wonderful service:

Motor 4⅛ inch bore x 4¼ inch stroke. That means all the power you will ordinarily need and a generous reserve for emergencies.

Full floating rear axle of an improved type specially designed for this car, with Timken roller-bearings throughout.

Big 34 Wheels, with tires amply large to make every road a smooth one for you.

Generous wheel-base of 110 inches—the right length for comfortable riding and smart lines, and yet compact enough to turn easily in a narrow street.

Every detail of finish has been as scrupulously observed as on the highest priced cars It takes 24 seperate painting operations to finish the body, for example. And the smart black and nickle trimmings are the last word in good car-appointments. Every line of the body denotes good taste—service—comfort.

Have you ever heard the phrase "handed a bouquet?" We think it an expressive one. We have had a great number handed to us, by appreciative and enthusiastic Abbott owners—"Men Who Know!" We have just had some of these done into a booklet—original enough and artistic enough to interest you purely as a specimen of beautiful book-making. One of these is gladly yours on request; as is also a copy of the Abbott-Detroit Art Catalogue. Write or 'Phone for them.

MT. ST. MARY BELL IS BLESSED

BISHOP'S SERMON READ

He had a Cold and Used His Secretary's Voice—No Superstition in Pious Faith in Bell's Tones—Dinner at D. T. Kenney's.

Strikingly impressive was the ceremony connected with the blessing of the Convent bell at Mt. St. Mary College yesterday by the Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton. A large platform had been constructed in front of the entrance to the new building. It was tastefully draped in saffron and white. On it reposed the bell which bore the following inscription:

"A loving tribute to Mother M. Gabriel on the Fortieth Anniversary of her Religious Profession, April 30th, 1912.

"Blessing of bell by the Right Reverend James A. McFaul, D. D., LL. D., May 19th, 1912, at 2:30 P. M.

"Motto: Gratias Agamus Domino Deo Nostro.

"Named after Catherine McAuley.

"Sponsors: David T. Kenney, S. C. C. & S., and wife Catherine."

The bell is the joint gift of the Sisters of Mercy, the present pupils of Mt. St. Mary's and the former graduates of St. Joseph's, Bordentown. On the Western side of the platform an altar had been erected where the Bishop, subsequent to the blessing gave Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

From an early hour in the afternoon people came streaming up the hill and at the hour announced for the service upward of 10,000 people were assembled. Contingents and delegations were present from the different churches for miles around. The local church societies were well represented and made a fine showing. St. Joseph's, of North Plainfield; St. Mary's, of this city, and St. John the Evangelists, Dunellen; Bound Brook T. A. B. and Holy Name Societies, A. O. H., No. 4, Knights of Columbus, headed by the T. A. B. Fife and Drum corps, formed in line on the slope of the hill and after the Bishop had passed, formed in procession and marched to the college.

The ceremony was delayed owing to the automobile in which Father Miller, of St. Joseph's, was proceeding to convey the bishop from Perth Amboy breaking down at Metuchen. George Gundrum, of South Amboy, passing later in his auto and seeing the bishop's predicament offered his services which were gratefully received. In his care the bishop, Dr. E. A. Griffin and Father Miller were taken to Mt. St. Mary's from Perth Amboy, while the disabled car arrived later. Dr. G. A. Griffen was master of ceremonies and Father John Baldwin, chaplain of the college, assistant master of ceremonies. Bishop McFaul was also accompanied on the platform by Rev. W. J. McConnell, of Belmar; Rev. John Tyrell, of Rahway; Rev. W. H. Miller, of St. Joseph's, Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kenney, sponsors; Miss Mary Kenney and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clare, of New York.

After the bell had been duly consecrated and blessed, Rev. Dr. Griffen, the bishop's secretary, read the address. Bishop McFaul had a severe cold and was unable to deliver it himself. He said in part that this bell which had been set aside for the sublime purpose of Catholic worship could be likened to a voice in the midst of this worldly wilderness of sin calling sinners to repentance.

This ceremony, the bishop continued, was popularly called the baptism of bells by reason of its close resemblance to the rites employed in administering holy baptism, but it was not a sacrament and therefore in the correct liturgical sense it was styled the blessing of the bells.

Having recounted the religious purposes for which the bells were consecrated he went on to speak of unbelievers who seemed to see superstition lurking in the pious belief that the ringing of church bells can banish diseases or have any influence upon the elements.

"Did these people only trouble to read the prayers uttered by the bishop in the blessing ceremony," he added, "they would discover that such efforts were not expected from these material instruments, but from the prayers of the church."

Bishop McFaul was entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kenney. The other guests present were: Rev. Dr. Griffen, Rev. W. H. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. O'Brien, New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clare, New York, and Miss Mary Kenny. After dinner the bishop left in an automobile for Trenton.

De Meza, George Johnson, of New street, the owner of the house at which the disturbance took place, was arraigned on a charge of keping a disorderly house. Charles Jordan, who appeared with his head swathed in bandages, said that he had been drawn into the fight in endeavoring to rescue his sister whom Johnson was choking. A fine of $10 or 30 days was his portion. Bertha Jordan was fined $100 or 59 days. Cromble was fined $10 or 30 days.

Leaping from the patrol wagon on Saturday night at the corner of Madison avenue and West Front street, George Curtis, a youth, created a mild sensation among theonlookers as he endeavored to make his escape. The difficulty of running through the crowd frustrated his efforts and Policeman O'Keeffe had no trouble in recapturing him.

Special Policeman Dalley, on duty at the Proctor theatre, arrested William Gordon, colored, outside Proctor's theatre, and Curtis, it is alleged, told Gordon to "soak Dalley." The latter arrested Curtis. In the city court this morning, Curtis and Gordon were both freed with a caution.

T. A. B. BEGINS ITS CELEBRATION

Members Attend Two Services in a Body at St. Mary's Church.

BIG BANQUET TONIGHT

Address Yesterday by Priest Who Helped Institute the Branch Forty Years ago—Reception and Euchre Will Wind up Reception.

St. Mary's Total Abstinence Benevolent Society began yesterday the celebration of its fortieth anniversary which will wind up tomorrow night with a large reception and euchre. The St. Mary's branch was organized May 19, 1872, by Father J. P. Morris, assisted by Father Patrick Cody, now rector of St. James' church, Newark, and preacher of the sermon last evening at a solemn vesper service in St. Mary's church. Father Baldwin was the celebrant, Father Bogan, deacon, and Father Sciolla, sub-deacon.

At the eight o'clock mass in St Mary's all the members of the society received Holy Communion. The order of the vesper service was: Solemn vespers (A. Legeal); Veni Creator (Monti), sung by A. Brennan; Alleluia (Lambilothe), sung by Miss Mary Lannon, Miss Julia Day, A. Matthews, and R. Brennan and chorus; Ave. Maria (Weigand), by J. Cleary; O Salutoris (Haegnet), by Miss Mary Lannon; Tantum Ergo (Lenk), by the chorus; "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," by the congregation.

At an interval in the service Father Cody addressed the members. It was forty years, he said, since the great temperance movement had been started here, he having administered the pledge to the first members. Very few of that little band were left, but the society had grown and flourished in the years that intervened. It was a good work that had been inaugurated. Temperance was a natural virtue but the members of their society, by their example and self-sacrifice, made it heroic.

Such societies, continued the speaker, were the greatest blessing in the world so long as men had the sense to join them. It was a pity that other societies which subsequently arose, such as the Holy Name Society, should injure it. Because many good people got the impression that if they belonged to the Holy Name Society it was not necessary for them to belong to the T. A. B. That was a mistake. Speaking generally of Catholic societies, the preacher said, all such organizations as were under the guidance of the church could not fail, provided the members were obedient to the rules established. Their society had been faithful to the church in every way for forty years. It has been a distinct and component part of that congregation and it had been blessed with good leaders like Father Bogan, Father Smith, rof of Jersey City, and Father Egan.. Having instituted a comparison between the abstainer and non-abstainer and how the former was gradually ousting the latter out of every department of business life, he went on to say that sobriety was an absolute necessity to the getting and holding of a good position.

The vesper committee were James P. Lynch, F. T. Donnelly, W. V. Sullivan, Robert Skinner and H. J. Pasch. The society will hold its anniversary banquet tonight in T. A. B. Hall. Edward T. Lynch will be toastmaster and the speakers will include Rev. B. M. Bogan, Father Shanley, of Meriden, Conn.; Mayor G. W. V. Moy and Thomas Dunn, of Newark.

The following committee will have charge of the banquet: Joseph T. McCue, John Walsh, John Barry, Edward T. Lynch and M. D. O'Keeffe chairman; entertainment, William H. Schaefer, John A. O'Keeffe, Michael B. McCaffrey, Thomas Harding; reception, Paul H. Burns, Peter J. McDonough, Patrick McDonough and John J. Carney; decoration, John J. Hines, Joseph P. O'Keeffe, M. B. McCaffrey and Thomas Harding.

There are two surviving founders of the branch, John Walsh and John Barry. During the society's forty years of existence but eighteen members have died. Its present membership is 110. Its officers are: Rev. B. M. Bogan, chaplain; Joseph T. McCue, president; M. D. O'Keeffe, vice president; W. V. Sullivan, financial secretary; H. J. Pasch, recording secretary, and E. T. Lynch, treasurer. On the executive committee are John Walsh, Patrick McDonough and Joseph P. O'Keeffe.

MAN ACCUSED BY GIRL CAUGHT AFTER LONG HUNT

Theodore Gallagher, of Dunellen, for whom the Prosecutor's office of Middlesex county has been hunting for the better part of a year, was arrested in New York city on a serious charge made against him by Mary Soukup, of Dunellen, and is now held in the Tombs awaiting extradition.

Gallagher's accuser is a sister of Annie Soucup, who appeared in court in New Brunswick a few weeks ago as the accuser of Lewis Vosseller, for whose family she worked. Vosseller's acquittal made Judge Daly so indignant that the members of the jury were dismissed for the term.

The Charities Society took up the case of the sisters and brought it to the attention of Prosecutor Booraem last fall. Vosseller was arrested, but Gallagher got out of the State. County Detectives Peltier and Ferguson traced the man to Connecticut and other New England places, but he managed to elude them until last Friday, when Detective Peltier located him in New York and caused his arrest there. Gallagher was arraigned in Jefferson Market Court and committed for 30 days, awaiting extradition proceedings.

MISS URSULA ROWLAND WILL BE WED TODAY

Miss Ursula Frances Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Rowland, and Hicks Leslie Conrad, son of Mrs. Conrad and the late Dr. John E. Conrad, of Philadelphia, will be married at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride-elect's parents on West Seventh street, in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends. The wedding was planned for a later date, but owing to the fact that Miss Rowland's mother will leave in a few days for Portland, Oregon, to visit her other daughter, Mrs. Walter Bowne, it was decided by Miss Rowland and Mr. Conrad to be married today. After the ceremony the couple will leave for an extended trip. They will live in Plainfield during the summer. The bridegroom is associated with the Home Silk Mills, of New York.

LEFT-HANDED FOLK FIND DEFENDER IN DR. STRONG

Rev. Dr. William A. Frye, pastor of the Methodist church, of Orange, preached a special sermon last night to left-handed people, and Rev. Dr. Uhilip B. Strong's sermon at the First Baptist church yesterday morning, was exactly on the same topic. Dr. Frye's sermon was widely advertised beforehand but Dr. Strong had had no knowledge whatever of Dr. Frye's plans to preach on the topic, and after yesterday morning's service expressed great surprise that the latter should have announced a sermon on that theme.

Dr. Strong in his sermon emphasized the importance of a person developing both the left and right hand. He said that some people were inclined to speak rather sneeringly of left-handed people, whereas they should be treated with as much respect and consideration as anyone else.

Dr. Frye, who is left-handed, gave a special invitation to all left-handed people to attend the service last night. His text was "But when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord the Lord raised them up a deliverer, Ehud, the son of Gera, a Benjamite, a man left-handed."

"Left-handed people are right-brained people and out of the ordinary" said Dr. Frye. "They art apt to do the interesting or the unusual things. Do you know that among the greatest baseball pitchers the smartest are the left-handed one? Those 'southpaw' fellows are in the ratio of six to fifteen of great players."

CORRECTING AN ERROR.

In the city court this morning before City Judge DeMeza, the case of Charles Fay and Lawrence Miller, charged with disorderly conduct by fighting, was adjourned for a week. In Saturday's issue of this paper it was stated that the alleged fight occurred because Miller offered an alleged insult to Mrs. Fay. The names should have been reversed. Fay is not married, and Miller is, and Mrs Miller is alleged to have been insulted by Fay. This correction is made in justice to Mr. Miller.

POLES AGAINST WILSON.

Perth Amboy, May 20.—A meeting at which an effort will be made to arouse the Polish voters of the Third Congressional District against Governor Wilson as a Presidential candidate will be held tonight in Pulaski Park, this city. There will be speakers from Newark, Jersey City and Bayonne and clubs of Poles, without regard to party affiliations are expected from South Amboy, Sayreville, New Brunswick and Roosevelt. John Skiocki, of this city, is chairman of the committee of arrangements. Those back of the rally aim to have the meeting criticize Governor Wilson because, it is alleged, some of his writings in which reference is made to certain immigrants is hostile to them. It is not intended that action indorsing any other candidate for the Presidency shall be considered, although the Polish leaders, without regard to party, are enthusiastically for Colonel Roosevelt.

SAWMILL CAVES IN.

Flanders, May 20.—With timbers decayed from age and foundations crumbling, the old sawmill, one of the few remaining landmarks in Ledgewood, is a wreck. Thursday the frail supports gave way, and the building that had stood about a century and once was the scene of much activity fell in. It was built and operated by the late Jacob Drake, the farmers for miles around bringing their logs to be sawed into lumber. Later it was bought by the late Abijah Young and operated by his son, Theodore Young. For twenty-five or thirty years it had been in disuse. The mill was about 20x40 feet, one story high and adjoined the grist mill, until recently the property of Ralph Cary, of Kenvill, the present owner being Thomas M. Lloyd, of Newark. The sawmill is situated on a raceway, 100 feet long and 6 feet wide, fed by a stream that flows from Shippenport.

WORK STILL DELAYED.

Newton, May 20.—The Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Maryland, surety for the contractors for the Stanhope-Newton macadam road, which has been nearly four years under construction, is endeavoring to secure the consent of the road committee of the Board of Freeholders to allow the thoroughfare to be completed under a separate contract, with the company's representatives as supervisors. Ward W. Pierson, of Philadelphia, of the legal staff of the bonding company, has been interviewing the officials in an effort to bring about that result. The county authorities thought that the road could be completed much more cheaply if a new contract was not entered into. The expense of getting the contract advertised as well as the expense of having the county engineer prepare new specifications is the argument they use. The road contractors threw up their job about a year ago and left the country. Since then nothing has been done toward completing the work. The committee will meet here this week and the members expect to arrive at an agreement.

BATTLESHIP TEXAS.

America's Greatest Man-of-war Moving Down Greased Ways.

LAUNCH BIG SHIP TEXAS.

There Are More Than 11,000 Tons of Steel In Superdreadnought.

Newport News, Va., May 20.—America's greatest man-of-war was launched here at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company.

The magnificent battleship went to her native element, the waters of the ocean, without a single hitch or mishap. Promptly at the scheduled hour, the hour and the date set thirteen months ago by her builders, the giant trigger holding the more than 11,000 tons of steel let go, and the greatest achievement in naval architecture began to move down the tallow greased ways.

WOMAN BURGLAR CLIMBS A FENCE.

Produce Dealer's Wife Awakes to Face Revolver.

New York, May 20.—Two burglars, one a woman, entered the home of Mrs. Fegina Katz, badly frightening Mrs. Katz and her family. Alarmed by the screams of Mrs. Katz and her children, the burglars fled, taking with them only a box of silk stockings and leaving behind much valuable silver and cut glass they had already packed.

Mrs. Katz's husband died about ten days ago. He was a produce dealer and had to rise early. When Mrs. Katz awoke at the hour she had been used to rise when her husband was alive she saw a burglar standing in her room with a revolver in his hand. He threatened to shoot if Mrs. Katz made an outcry, but she screamed loudly.

This awakened her two daughters, Bertha and Ann, who are about twenty years old and who were asleep in the next room, and their two younger brothers, Harry and Louis. The burglars escaped by jumping over several fences in a shower of shots from the houses of neighbors. The cap of one of the burglars fell off, disclosing long hair, proving that a woman was in the gang.

BLIGHTS SISTER'S ROMANCE.

Remorse For Insanity of Girl Kept From Soldier Causes Suicide.

New York, May 20.—With her head resting in the oven of a gas stove, Mrs. Anna Klein, thirty years old, was found lifeless on the floor of the kitchen of her home. She committed suicide because she held herself responsible for the mental breakdown suffered by her sister, Ethel, when she insisted on the latter coming to this country from Hungary, where the girl was engaged to marry a soldier in the Royal guards. Mrs. Klein's daughter, Margaret, nine years old, was in a helpless condition from the gas fumes, which spread to her bedroom.

Mrs. Klein tried suicide before. Five years ago she sent a letter to her sister, insisting that the girl, whose guardian she was come to this country. The girl demurred because she intended to marry the soldier, but the sister's demand was enforced. Upon arriving here the sister's reason was affected by worry over the separation from her husband to be, and she was sent to the asylum at Central Islip, and later deported.

Copenhagen, May 20.—The chapel in Christianborg palace, where the body of King Frederick rests, was opened to the public for the official lying in state of the dead monarch this morning. The coffin, which is covered only with the royal flag, is placed on a high gold and black catafalque.

JERSEY WAITING TAFT AND COLONEL

Roosevelt to Make First Appearance at Newark.

TAFT STARTS AT CAMDEN.

La Follette Will Precede Them With Speech at Jersey City Wednesday Night—T. R. Changes Plan When He Hears Taft's Itinerary.

Jersey City, May 20.—With a speech by Senator La Follette at the high school in Jersey City Wednesday night next for a prelude the Taft-Roosevelt show will open in New Jersey next Thursday evening. Ex-President Roosevelt will make his first appearance in the state at Newark. He will address an open air meeting in Military park on his way to the Country club in Orange for dinner and later in the evening speak at the armory. Then he will gravitate toward the Camden end of the state.

President Taft will make his first bow to his Jersey audiences at Camden, so that both ends of the state will be at the show at the same hour. While Roosevelt is working south the president will journey north with his end of the show, making addresses in Burlington and Trenton, where he will put up for the night.

Friday morning he will cover Hunterdon, Warren and Somerset counties, making speeches at Flemington, Phillipsburg and Somerville. In the afternoon he will appear in New Brunswick, be at Plainfield at 6 p. m., Elizabeth at 7, in Jersey City at 8 and in a long list in North Hudson towns later until 11 o'clock.

Hudson Tour Saturday.

The Hudson county tour will be continued Saturday morning. In the afternoon, following a dinner in Newark, he will visit Passaic and Paterson, then swing into Montclair and spend the rest of the evening in Bergen county. On Monday next the president will speed down the coast, taking in Long Branch, Mays Landing and Atlantic City. He will make train end speeches at all the small towns along the road, and his speech at Young's pier in Atlantic City in the evening will end his work in the state.

Colonel Roosevelt's original plan was to spend only Thursday, Friday and Saturday in New Jersey. When it became known that Taft was to stay through Monday, the colonel's managers hurriedly arranged a lot of meetings for him to address on Monday also.

ENDS LIFE IN PARK.

Adolph Wosch Shoots Himself In North Bergen.

North Bergen, N. J., May 20.—Adolph Wosch, a well dressed man, thirty-nine years old, shot himself dead in a secluded part of Hudson County park here. Two cards in the suicide's pocket led to the discovery of his identity. On one of them was written, "Mrs. Richter, 253 West Twenty-third street, New York, telephone 346 Chelsea," and on the other, "M. Seunn, care of R. Marwede, telephone 3142 Bushwick."

Immediately on hearing of the suicide Mrs. Richter and her husband left her home, saying she was going to Brooklyn to see her brother.

M. Seunn lives at 553 Hamburg avenue, Brooklyn. When asked about the suicide he said:

"There shall be nothing published about this. I will see that nothing is published. That's all I have to say."

In the dead man's pockets were 43 cents and a gold watch. His body was taken to a morgue.

TO LOCK OUT SILK WEAVERS.

Move of Paterson Manufacturers Will Affect 3,000 Operatives at Once.

Paterson, N. J., May 20.—The broad silk manufacturers announced that they will lock out the weavers. Three thousand operatives, it was stated, would be idle, and this number probably will be doubled.

Rudolph Katz, organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, said the executive board is considering calling a general strike of the silk workers, because the mill owners threaten the three loom system will be placed in operation, the two loom system now being in vogue.

Many children of strikers have been sent to homes in New York and Jersey City.

Women War on House Fly.

Hackensack, N. J., May 20.—Ten thousand "swat the fly" circulars, 6 by 9 inches and printed in bold black type, have been issued by order of the Children's Relief and General Welfare society for use in a vigorous "swat the fly" campaign to be waged by them shortly and will be distributed all over town. Mrs. H. B. Harding and Miss M. Fischer are superintending the distribution.

Cupid Takes Ex-Mayor's Daughter.

Plainfield, N. J., May 20.—Miss Elizabeth Blossom FitzRandolph, daughter of ex-Mayor and Mrs. L. V. FitzRandolph, and Harry Keech White of this city were married at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. E. Vieras Stephenson of Grace Episcopal church, officiating.

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS.

The amendment proposed by Congress providing for the election of United States Senators by the people passed the House of Representatives of the State of Massachusetts on Friday last by a unanimous vote Governor Foss recommended it to the Legislature and suggested that Massachusetts should be the first State to adopt it. The Senate of the State will pass it today or tomorrow. The growth of public sentiment for this amendment has become irresistible. It has taken years to get this action by the Senate of the United States. That body for years has refused to the people the privilege of voting on this amendment. The Senate of the United States is the great reactionary body of this nation. It is the one bulwark of the privileged classes and the interests. It is as unpopular with the people of this country as the House of Lords is in Great Britain. If it had continued to hold out against popular election of Senators the people would have demanded its abolition as the people of Great Britain have the House of Lords.

Our Federal Senate has been out of touch with public sentiment for years. Its course in keeping Lorimer in his seat—notwithstanding his corrupt election so incensed the public sentiment of the country that the people are really to oust every man who voted to keep Lorimer in his seat. What the people want is a Senator that is responsive to public sentiment. Nobody in this country should be so far removed from the people that its members can feel that they need not give heed to the popular will. The election of Senators by the Legislature is un-American and un-Democratic. Our only regret is that the amendment cannot be passed in time to have it apply to the election of a Senator from this State to fill the seat now occupied by Senator Briggs. But there is some comfort in the fact that his successor will be the last one that the Legislature will ever have a chance to vote for, and in the further fact that our statute will permit the people to express their choice at the primaries this fall. The election of Senators means that no more boss selected and corporation owned Senators will ever again represent New Jersey in the Senate of the United States. For the accomplishment of this much desired result the Progressive Republicans are entitled to the credit. It has been one of the cardinal principles of the Progressives and it means much for popular government in the future.

THE MAN WHO STOOD STILL.

Out in Aurora, Illinois, an obscure man died one day last week. He was "to fame and fortune unknown" to all intents for during his long life he had done nothing to merit any degree of greatness. Yet his death caused much comment. Press dispatches widely published told of him as "The Man Who Stood Still." The obituary notice contained this extract: "As owner of one of the biggest stores in Northern Illinois, outside of Chicago, during the Civil War, he prospered. After the war he failed to keep abreast of the times, and the same goods which he carried then still adorn the shelves and show windows of the store. Five years after the war the place was a curiosity shop, and has continued so. He did no advertising."

What the Philadelphia Record says of him is here reproduced:

" 'The Man Who Stood Still'—'he did no advertising'— one phrase is complementary of the other. There are merchants in this community who are standing still, though few of them have had the vitality to hang on in a state of business coma as long as the Illinois man did.

The times march steadily on. The man who has anything to sell to the general public cannot keep up with them without the help of the push of advertising. It is fatal to lag in the rear; easy to get to the front with the help of energetic, persistent, forceful advertising and business methods in keeping therewith.

ATTEND THIS MEETING.

Action will be taken at the Common Council meeting on Wednesday on the garbage problem. At that time the Councilmanic public affairs committee, of which George S. Clay is chairman, will make its report. This committee will recommend that a contract be made by the city for the collection and disposal of the refuse. It has been found that this can be done at a comparatively small cost. Before, however, the Common Council is likely to pass its favorable verdict on the proposition, there needs be some demonstration on the part of the public showing that they are in sympathy with the public affairs' committee plan. This may be obtained best by the presence of a goodly number of taxpayers at the Wednesday night meeting. Chairman Clay and his colleagues take this view and therefore have extended an invitation to the public to attend. Those who really want the city to supervise and control the collection and disposal of garbage should show their interest by complying with the suggestion of the committee. Don't have the idea in your head that there will be enough to go, so yourself and ask for an opportunity to express your own views in your own way.

HONOR THE PRESIDENT.

On the occasion of the visit of the President of the United States to this community on Friday, all honor should be shown. So far as possible, the merchants might excuse as many of their clerks as they can; the manufacturers could arrange to have the day's work end by 3 o'clock and allow their employes to make up the lost time later. All business houses and private residences, not alone along the route the President will travel, but generally throughout the city, should be decorated; the American flag should be displayed from every house top. The late Grover Cleveland was the last President to visit Plainfield. President Hayes' stay here will also be recalled by many. But it has been very infrequently that a Chief Magistrate of our Nation has honored us by his presence. So let's all give Mr. Taft a hearty reception, such a one as he will remember in years to come.

HOMEOPATH MEETING.

New York, May 20 (Special).—Homeopathic physicians in all parts of the country are preparing to turn toward New York City within the next few days to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the Alumni Association of the New York Homeopathic Medical College, which will be held on Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30. Plainfield is always well repreesnted at these annual gatherings, as it has many graduates of the college among its physicians. The list includes Dr. Daniel C. Adams, of Grove street; Dr. Jefferson C. Anderson of 405 West Fourth street; Dr. Roger L. Cooley, of the Plainfield Sanatorium; Dr. T. D. Blair, of 414 Park avenue; Dr. Frank W. Cornwall, of 192 East Front street, and Dr. E. L. Finch, of 1106 Park avenue.

AMHERST'S NEW PRESIDENT.

"TRIP TO THE MOON" TICKETS SELL RAPIDLY

The advance sale of seats for the comedy opera, "A Trip to the Moon," has been unusually large so far. Crowds flocked to get their tickets in advance and it looks very much as though the theatre would be packed at both performances. There are still a number of good seats left but they are going rapidly and they will not last long.

The public is assured by the management of a professional performance put on by amateurs. The cast, which includes 350 people, is well drilled and the music is catchy. This should prove to be one of the musical treats of the season. An orchestra will accompany the opera.

ELIZABETH'S NEW STATION TO BE HANDSOME

Elizabeth, May 20.—Probably the greatest improvement for Elizabethport in several years will be the station that is now being erected in Second avenue, between Baltic and Caspian streets, by the Long Branch division of the Jersey Central. This station, when finished and thoroughly ejuipped, will have cost about $40,000. It will be of concrete and stone. The dimensions will be seventy feet long by thirty feet wide. There will be a passenger tunnel ninety-three feet long, with stairways on both sides of the track.

With favorable weather it is expected that the work will be completed in three months. The contractors are the Latta & Terry Construction Company of Philadelphia.

SERVICE AT HOME.

A delegation of forty from the Park Avenue Baptist Bible school visited the Industrial Home yesterday afternoon and held a service that was both interesting and helpful. The meeting was in charge of the superintendent of the Bible school, George E. Hall. Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire spoke on the subject, "What will ye do with the Christ?" Singing was a feature of the service and was greatly enjoyed by the men and women of the Home. Mrs. Manley presided at the organ, accompanied by Whitney Frazee, cornet.

E. L. ANNIVERSARY.

The anniversary of the Epworth League and installation of officers in Grace M. E. church took the place yesterday of the regular evening service. TO ELECT DEACON.

"The Man Who Showed Gratitude,," will be the topic of Rev. Royal A. Stout's talk at the mid-week prayer meeting at the Netherwood Reformed church Wednesday afternoon. Afterward a deacon will be elected to succeed Gustave Frumerie, resigned.

PRIMARY REGISTRATION.

There were 456 affidavits of voters filed with City Clerk J. T. MacMurray on Saturday, being those of voters who did not cast ballots at the last election. It is compulsory that all those who did not vote last year to register by affidavit by Saturday to vote the coming primary election on May 28. Last year there were but 2,500 votes polled. The total registration should be nearly 5,000.

AFTER TAXES.

All delinquent personal taxes in the borough of North Plainfield have been turned over to Justice Thomas H. Snape, who has been appointed deputy tax collector for delinquent personal and poll taxes.

MEETING AT BRIDGE.

There will be a meeting of the freeholders of Somerset and Union counties on Washington avenue bridge tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

MOTOR CYCLE RUN.

The weekly run of the Motor Cycle Club to Budd Lake was much enjoyed by the members yesterday, fifteen of whom turned out.

The Dutch Arms of the Netherwood Reformed church will mett tonight at the home of Angus Kennedy, of South avenue.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Netherwood Reformed church wil hold a social at the home of A. P. Finckel, of 332 Emerson avenue, Friday night.

"The Concert," the comedy that David Belasco will present at the Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, is now nearing its 700th consecutive performance. It had a run of a solid year at Belasco's theatre in New York and this season has only been presented in the larger cities. Chicago had this play for eight weeks' Boston five and Philadelphia five weeks. There is only one company playing in "The Concert" and the original production with all the original players will be seen here. Leo Ditrichstein, who adapted this comedy from the German of Herman Bahr, plays the leading role, that of a musical genius, who is adored by the women. This great musician plays the piano devinely and his feminine admirers flirt with him regardless of the fact that he has a very charming and sensible wife. It is his wife that saves the genius from his own folly and the story of how she does so makes the play. Like many other men who are geniuses this great musician's folly is his liking for the society of other women. When he takes one of his married woman pupils to his bungalow with him telling his wife that he is off to give a concert he starts trouble for himself. It is this concert that gives the play its name.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

CANDIED FRUIT.

IN the summer when fruits are available candied fruits may be made which can be kept until Christmas. Almost any fruit may be candied or crystallized.

Fruit is glazed by dipping it into sirup and drying as quickly as possible in the open air or by an electric fan. To crystallize fruit it should be dipped in the stringy sirup and dried slowly in the oven or sun.

White grapes, sections of orange, dates or cherries may be candied by dipping once or twice in the sirup.

A Delicious Confection.

Candied Cherries.—There are a number of ways of candying cherries. This one requires that the cherries should be cooked in the sirup. For the latter put into the kettle a pound of sugar and a half cup of water for each pound of fruit. When this comes to the boil the cherries are added. The sirup must be skimmed to keep it clear. The fruit should cook slowly, and when transparent the sirup may be poured off. The cherries are then laid on dishes and dried in the sun or in a slow oven. Sprinkle with sugar and put away in layers on glazed paper.

An Orange Confection.

Candied Oranges.—Peel the oranges and quarter them, then take three cupfuls of sugar and one of water and boil to a sirup. Strain in the juice of a lemon. Take up each piece of orange on a fine knitting needle or hatpin and dip into the sirup; then set aside on a dish to harden. Seven or eight oranges may be candied in this amount of sirup.

A Delicate Process.

Candied Pineapple.—Allow a pound and a half of sugar to each pound of the fruit. Place the pineapple after it has been peeled and sliced into a kettle with water enough to cover. Boil until it becomes tender; then lift on a dish and let it cool while the sirup continues boiling until it thickens; then put the pineapple into the sirup and let it cook for several minutes longer. Take out, spread on platters and dry.

Preserving Melon.

Candied Citron.—Take the pulp and seeds from the inside of a citron melon, peel the rind or shell, cut it into strips, then weigh these and allow to each pound of them a pound of granulated sugar and a teacupful of water. Put sugar and water in a kettle and boil to a thin sirup, then lay in the citron and simmer until this is tender. Remove and spread on platters while you add to the sirup enough ginger to give it a slight flavor; then boil until thick. Add lemon juice to taste, return the citron rind to the sirup and cook until coated with sugar and candied.

For the Children

Two Baby Waifs Rescued From the Sunken Titanic.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

When the steamship Carpathia, which picked up the survivors of the wrecked Titanic, came into the port of New York she carried two small French boys whom nobody knew. They were cared for by a Miss Hay of New York. The children were mere babies, one four, the other a little over two years of age, and answered to the names Louis and Lolo. They knew no other names. The babies were found wrapped in a blanket in one of the Titanic's lifeboats. According to the stories told by survivors, a man passed the children into the boat just as it was leaving the side of the ship. Officers stepped forward to prevent his taking a place in the boat, but he declared he did not wish to go, asking that the children be taken. They proved to be the sons of Mme. Navratil of Nice, France. They had been taken away by their father, who probably perished on the Titanic.

Donkey In Lion's Skin.

A donkey finding a lion's skin put by hunters in the sun to dry, bravely clothed himself with it. Returning speedily to his native village, he sorely frightened his friends and companions, both men and animals. His appearance making such a great impression he was unable to withhold his great glee and brayed out his heehaws in boisterous guffaws. Forthwith those who had fled now turned upon him and gave him a merciless beating and cudgeling.

Later, while moaning and whining in his lonesome corner, his friend, the fox, gave him this advice:

"A fine appearance may disguise, but silly words will disclose a fool."

No Laughter Party.

Great fun is caused by a party given by children to children where the rule of the evening is "no laughter permitted." Every time the rule is transgressed a forfeit must be paid, to be redeemed later on, and all games are played with the one idea of provoking laughter. Every child comes in some quaint homemade costume, a prize being given for the funniest, and, instead of the usual decorations, absurd toys are placed on shelves and mantelpieces, such as long bodied dogs and cats, odd colored birds and monkeys, rag dolls, Teddy bears, etc., all in the funniest possible attitudes.

Slap Jack.

This game of cards can be played by not more than ten persons. The cards are dealt one by one and placed in a pile, face downward, before each player. Then in turn each one takes a card from the top of his pile and, without looking at it, plays it in the center of the table. When a jack is thrown on the table all the players try to slap it, and the one who does so first takes all the cards in the center of the table and adds them to his pile. The object is to obtain all the cards, and the one who succeeds in this is the winner of the game.

A Castle In the Air.

Featherly Flutter and Fidgety Wing,
Twitter and Flitter and Warblety Sing
Were five little birds who lived one spring
In a castle in the air

Each was as happy as queen or king,
Without a care about anything.
When the mother bird a worm would bring
Each birdling had a share.

If a bee came by with a flip and a fling
They welcomed him gayly nor feared his sting,
And they cheerily chirped as they sat in a ring
While the bee flew here and there.

When their little air castle would sway and swing
Then closer together the birds would cling
And merrily chirrup a ting-a-ling-ling
For the gladness everywhere.

The Newark Industrial Exposition

They had to close the doors at the exposition Saturday night to keep the crowds out.

Not a bad record for a three-day-old show, eh?

The Newark Industrial Exposition is a success because Newark is the INDUSTRIAL CITY. We make such a diversity of articles here and WE MAKE THEM SO WELL, that an exposition of this kind is a perfectly natural thing—we were going to say an EASY thing, but it has NOT been an easy thing by any means. Those in charge of our big industrial show have labored long and hard to make it the success it is, and great credit is due them.

Go to the exposition tonight or tomorrow. Don't put it off until the last day or so, because after visiting it once you will want to visit it two or three times. Many people have acquired the EXPOSITION HABIT—they go daily.

You may buy your tickets here if you care to and thereby avoid having to stand in line at the Armory.

A WELL SET TRAP

Snared a Blackmailer Who Dared to Invade Wall Street.

TRIED TO WORK JAY GOULD.

But the Old Financier Was Not to Be Scared by a Black Hand Letter, and His Partner Fixed Up a Scheme That Cleverly Caught the Culprit.

The late Jay Gould arrived at his office one morning in a state of mind. "There!" he said to his favorite partner, flinging down a letter which had been addressed to Mrs. Jay Gould. "I don't mind their writing their scurrilous things to me, but when they begin to send them to my wife it's got to be stopped. What can you do?"

The partner first read the letter. The writer premised that he had lost a great deal of money speculating in Gould stocks, especially Missouri Pacific, and required that he be advised how to get back what he had lost and more besides. Unless Mr. Gould imparted to him straight, bona fide money making information he would destroy Mrs Gould. The manner in which he desired the information to be imparted was this: Every morning an advertisement should be inserted in the personal column of a certain New York newspaper advising him when to buy and when to sell Missouri Pacific. The advertisement should be written in a code which he had devised, so that he alone would receive and understand the tip.

"I think I can catch him," said Mr. Gould's partner. "Just leave it to me."

Mr. Gould was for calling in Inspector Byrnes at once, but his partner thought they had better wait until they had laid a mine for the offender.

The partner, who had a shrewd understanding of human nature, proceeded in an unexpected manner. It happened that Mr. Gould's firm was very active in Missouri Pacific and controlled the stock's fluctuations. On the next day an advertisement was inserted, as the blackmailer had requested, informing him agreeably to his code to buy Missouri Pacific and to watch for further instructions. Missouri Pacific stock went up. A few days later another advertisement was inserted telling him to sell Missouri Pacific. And Missouri Pacific declined. Again he was told when to buy it and again when to sell it, and when this had been repeated a number of times the partner was ready to spring the trap. He inserted an advertisement which took the blackmailer off his guard. It read somewhat like this:

"Missouri Pacific.—The person who has been receiving information to his own profit about the movements of this stock has not kept faith with us. He has been imparting it to others. For that reason it is discontinued."

That was not true. There was not the slightest reason to believe that the blackmailer had imparted his information to others; there had been even no conclusive evidence of his acting on it for himself, as he would not be likely to speculate on so large a scale as to be recognized in the stock market. But even in a few hundred shares at a time a man could make a great deal of money in a short time if he knew beforehand infallibly when the price would rise and when it would fall. Mr. Gould's partner counted upon the man's natural impulse when accused of having, by his own lack of discretion, slain his goose. The impulse would be to deny that he had broken faith. The chances were that he would deny it by letter. The trick was to nail him as he mailed the letter.

Inspector Byrnes was now called into the case. The accusing advertisement was printed on Sunday morning, so that if the blackmailer posted a letter during the day it would be all the easier to catch him. Inspector Byrnes stationed a man at every mail box in the postal district from which the original letter of threat had been posted to Mrs. Gould. Every man who posted a letter anywhere in that district that Sunday was under suspicion. Before he was out of sight a detective, under pretense of posting one of his own, had opened the box with his pass key and had inspected the letter last deposited.

And just before dark a letter addressed to Jay Gould was posted by a well dressed young man, who ten minutes later was in the office of Inspector Byrnes protesting indignantly and declaring his family connections. He did not know on what evidence he had been taken. Mr. Gould's partner was summoned, and he opened the letter, which was exactly the one expected. The writer warmly and truthfully denied that he had imparted the Missouri Pacific information to any one and said that therefore he should expect to continue receiving it as before.

But the blackmailer was no more surprised when confronted by the letter than Mr. Gould's partner was when he saw the blackmailer, for it turned out that he was socially well connected. He was, in fact, the son of a man for whom one member of the Gould firm entertained feelings of friendship. He had done badly with everything and had at last resorted to blackmail. His threat to do violence to Mrs. Gould was empty, though there was no knowing beforehand that such was the case. Mr. Gould was not easily mollified. He thought an example should be made of one of the few threatening letter writers Wall street had ever caught red-handed. The pleading of the young man's family at length prevailed, and he was let off.—New York Post.

A tree that gives thee shade, do not order it to be cut down.—Arabian.

—Muggins—"What did your wife say when you got home last night?" Buggins—"When you have four or five hours to spare I'll tell you."

TART NOTES ON SIGNERS OF LICENSE PETITIONS

That week is accounted drab in the Passaic Valley in which the Passaic Valley News doesn't print at least one peppery little piece, mayhap about Valley things in general mayhap about somebody in particular. The editor didn't disappoint his readers last week, as witness:

"Last week Judge Atwater reissued licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors to John Maher, of the Union Hotel, New Providence Borough, and to Joseph Kuntz, of the Pine Tree Inn, Berkeley Heights. This was done on the strength of the presentation, by each applicant, of a petition signed by at least twelve persons who represented themselves to be freeholders of the respective communities who had not signed another similar petition for one year preceding. The lists of the signers are herewith reproduced. They will repay reading and study. It will be seen that among the signers are members of churches which expressly prohibit any participation in the liquor traffic; professed Sons of Temperance; men who reside in other municipalities; and at least one who is not a property owner. There are also at least two who signed a petition for another saloon in the same municipality less than six months ago. Here are the petitioners for saloons:

"For the Union Hotel, New Providence: Fred Correll, William A. Crane, Bradford Jones, Max Kipple, Charles E. Kaemmerer, F. B. Totten, Benjamin L. Webster, W. F. Brower, Adolph Miller, Henry S. Woodruff, David L. Osborne, R. B. Sampson, W. E. Attridg, J. A. High, Samuel C. Parcells Charles Springstein, Edward Furnell, W. D. Clark, J. E. Parker.

"For the Pine Tree Inn, Bekeley Heights: William S. Lutz, Adolph Wagner, James Venezia, George Herber, Frank C. Shafer, George F. Wahl, B. F. Cummings Edward J. Frey, E. B. Oechsner, Frank Oechsner, Victor Mercier, Frank Keel, C. K. Davies, George Mercier, T. W. Oechsner, Michael Amadeo.

"All of which is respectfully submitted."

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

Carnegie Libraries.

The trustees of the Free Public Library, we are told, are not disposed to seriously consider Librarian Hughes' suggestion that Mr. Carnegie be asked to provide money for an enlargement of the library or the establishment of branches, because "they feel that city pride will be better maintained by delaying the opening of new branches or of the needed addition to the main building till the financial condition of the municipality justifies the usual appropriation of funds." To which the esteemed Sunday Advertiser adds: "It is worth something for a city to be able to say that it can afford to pay its own way, either through the ordinary channels or through the beneficence of its own citizens.—Trenton Times.

SERVICE AT FLANDERS.

Flanders, May 20.—Special services were held yesterday in the Presbyterian church in Succasunna. They were in recognition of sixty years' active ministry of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Elijah W. Stoddard, forty-eight of which have been at Succasunna. Twenty-six years of work by the Young Girls' Mission Band was also observed. The services marked the anniversary of the death, May 19, 1886, of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Stoddard's only child, Miss Eliza Platt Stoddard. At 10 o'clock the members of the Boys' Brigade and Mission Band met in the memorial chapel and carried flowers to the cemetery to the grave of Miss Stoddard. The services followed at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. David R. Frazer, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Newark, preached. Three hymns, composed for the anniversaries by Mrs. Stoddard were sung. Pins bearing the picture of Dr. Stoddard were distributed to the congregation.

The charge against him was pressed by Miss Alma Wiederstrom, assistant to Cornelius Lyons, overseer of the poor.

DOMINICAN DIES IN LEPER COLONY.

Brother Dutton Succumbs In North Pacific Islands.

Boston, May 20.—Confronting death with as much fortitude as his noted predecessor, word has been received in this city that Brother Ira Dutton of the Dominican order, a former New England man, has been stricken with leprosy on the island of Melokai, in the Hawaiian group. He is the last of the pioneer nurses who first took care of these unfortunates of the islands of the north Pacific.

Brother Dutton succeeded Father Damien, who made a name for himself by his segregation and care of the lepers in the Sandwich islands. Father Damien contracted leprosy and died, but from the time he was stricken until he passed away he never complained of his fate, which he knew that he could not avoid.

Brother Dutton was living in a Trappist monastery when the story of Father Damien's work reached him. In 1896 Brother Dutton joined Father Damien and after the latter's death took up the work where Father Damien left off. Now after twenty-six years of labor he has also fallen a victim to the ravages of the disease. He is well known and has a large circle of friends in Boston.

HENRY W. FOLK ESTATE AMOUNTS TO $60,000

Newton, May 20.—The final accounting of Mrs. Mollie Divers, of Blairstown, and Henry Folk, of Sparta, executors of the estate of their father, Henry W. Folk, banker, merchant and miller, who died at Sparta, January 3, 1911, was confirmed by Judge Martin, in Orphans' Court, Friday.

It showed that Mr. Folk left a fortune of more than $60,000. The balance in the hands of the executors is $56,035.29. This sum will be divided into equal shares among Mrs. Divers, Mr. Folk and Mrs. Belle Folk, widow of Richard Folk, as guardian of her son, Richard G. Folk. Of the share of her son Mrs. Belle Folk will receive the income from $4,000.

Mr. Folk left a widow, who was his second wife, but on account of an antenuptial agreement she will not receive a share of the estate. The court allowed the executors $2,241.41 for the settling up of the estate.

The court also confirmed the final account of Rev. Floyd Decker, of New York, executor of the estate of his father, Jonas Decker, of this place, who was a former surrogate of Sussex county.

The final account was confirmed of George Roe, of Branchville, trustee under the last will and testament of Lucretia C. Dalrymple, of Branchville, of Mabel A. Swartwout, Eleanor Swartwout and Cornelius Swartwout, minors. Cornelius recently, became of legal age. Mabel is now dead. Less than $600 remains to be divided between the heirs.

The final accounting of William S. Miller, administrator of the estate of Mary H. Miller, of Andover, was passed.

The first accounting of R. Lee Slater, guardian of Ellen L. Earl, a minor, was confirmed.

TAFT CALLS T. R. TRAITOR TO PARTY

Says Roosevelt's Course Is "Rule or Ruin."

THINKS COLONEL WILL BOLT

Apparent President Was Deeply Moved by Roosevelt's Continued Accusations In Cleveland—Open Break In Party Regarded Certain if Taft Wins.

Cincinnati, May 20.—President Taft issued a statement accusing Theodore Roosevelt of being a traitor to his party and of having forfeited his right to stand as a candidate in a Republican convention. The Taft statement plainly shows that the president believes Roosevelt is going to bolt in the event of his (Taft's) nomination at Chicago.

He characterizes Roosevelt's course as one of "rule or ruin," and he declares that his statement in Cleveland that he is the Republican party finds no parallel in history, save in the words of Louis XIV., "The state—I am it." The issuing of this statement, it is believed, removes the last hope that Roosevelt will yield in the event of Taft's nomination.

The statement is the most severe the president has made against Roosevelt. Mr. Taft was deeply moved by Roosevelt's continued accusations against him in Cleveland and plainly showed his feeling.

Open Break Looked For.

An open break in the party is now regarded as certain in the event of the Taft people winning at Chicago.

Rumblings were heard among Ohio Republicans in favor of the elimination of both Taft and Roosevelt, but many think it is now too late.

Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's campaign manager, was in town. He was asked what Roosevelt's recent statements meant, whether or not the colonel intended to bolt if Taft was renominated. His reply was somewhat evasive. He said he supposed the colonel was merely giving a hint that he would not stand for unfair work at Chicago.

The president spent the day at the home of his brother, C. P. Taft, in this city.

Columbus, O., May 20.—On the last day of the Roosevelt-Taft campaign the indications are that the contest at the primaries will be very close. It looks as if Ohio's forty-eight delegates to the Chicago convention are to be divided about equally between Taft and Roosevelt, with the odds favoring Roosevelt.

A splitting of the Ohio delegation on fairly even terms would have the effect of prolonging the fight between the president and Colonel Roosevelt and would center the efforts of both on the New Jersey primaries on May 28.

The Roosevelt managers believe the colonel is going to make as impressive a showing here as he did in Illinois, but they are not making any predictions.

WILSON MANAGERS ANGRY.

Call Bulletin on Governor's Votes "Absolute Dishonesty."

Washington, May 20.—"Absolute dishonesty" and "silly mendacity" are terms employed by the Wilson managers in a statement issued denouncing a bulletin recently issued at the residential headquarters of Champ Clark of Missouri.

The Clark statement that aroused the ire of the managers of Woodrow Wilson sets forth that up to date only eighty delegates had been pledged to Governor Wilson, whereas the Wilson statement says among other things that Governor Wilson now has 273 delegates to the Baltimore convention and that the number will be materially augmented when the primaries and conventions in the next three states to act—namely, Ohio, Virginia and New Jersey—are held.

BARON, IN LOVE, ENDS LIFE.

Holds Picture of Niece of Late Millionaire Packer as He Shoots Himself.

Chicago, May 20.—Baron Henry Spruck von Armenthal, a member of the German nobility and owner of ranches in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, fired two bullets through his head in his room in the Palmer House while he gazed with death bedimmed eyes at a photograph of Mrs. Frances Rosenblatt, niece of the late Nelson Morris, millionaire packer.

Liquor and a love that did not run smooth were the cause of the baron's suicide. He had not used his title for years, but was known in the plain American fashion as Henry.

The Manufacturers' League teams continued their grapples for the Daily Press Cup on Saturday and sprung some surprise on the fans. The apparently weak Bankers turned and disjointed the Spicer team. The Commercial team continued it's whirlwind pace and smothered R. G. E., while the Public Service team put its game with Sauer away in one plethoric inning.

COMMERCIAL RUNFEST.

Freeman had the R. G. E. team at his mercy on the heavy Scotch Plains diamond after the first two innings and the Commercial team won its way to the top of the heap by the score of 19 to 4.

The clerks proved to be heavy stickers, Brokaw leading with four singles in his five time's at bat. Clarke added two two baggers to the list, with McVoy and Randolph each garnering two singles apiece.

Fritts, left fielder for the Commercials, and Welsh who fills the same position for the R. G. E.'s, each made a sensational running catch that brought the crowd to its feet.

ONE GORGEOUS INNING.

The Public Service after putting up a weak showing a week ago go busy with their sticks in their game with Saurer Saturday and took the Motor boys into camp 10 to 6.

The fifth inning proved to be the disastrous one for the Saurer team and before the smoke had cleared the Service team had put twelve men across the pan. After that McVickers, who went in the box in place of Coons, kept the hits fairly well scattered, but the Public Service team had got a taste of runs and were not to be denied, adding four more before the close of the game.

BANKERS REFORM.

The Bank's team showed a reversal of form in their game with Spicer's and took the jointmakers team out of first place with an 11 to 8 score. Demler pitched well for the gold-handlers, having seven strike-outs to his credit. The Bankers hit Dolan twelve times safely. Demler, Dunham and Doeringer all chalked up three singles for themselves, one of Doeringer's being for two bases.

The game was none too cleanly played, each side making a generous share of errors.

DUNELLEN TOO MUCH FOR LIGHT-HAIRED LADS

A glance at the score tells the story of the game played at Dunellen, Saturday, when the light-haired boys on the Perth Amboy Danish-American team fell down before the locals 21 to 5. There was nothing to it from the very first and the fans settled back and made altitude guesses, and wondered where the score would stop. Dunellen got 23 hits.

ROUND BROOK TRIUMPHS OVER BOROUGH HIGH SCHOOL

Bound Brook High School with the best team it has had in many years found the Borough High team unusually weak Saturday afternoon and took a loosely played game from them 16 to 4. For a couple of innings things were about even but in the third Bound Brook forged ahead and was never overtaken.

The visitors found Stahl for hits frequently and a great many of them were for extra bases. The local pitcher's support was very weak indeed, ten errors being made behind him. Matthewson pitched a masterful game, holding the home team to three hits, which were well scattered.

SCOTCH PLAINS WINS FROM NEWARK ALL-STARS

Not satisfied with defeating Rahway Saturday afternoon, the 'Plains team hung it on the All Stars, of Newark, in the game played at the 'Plains yesterday afternoon, by the score of 2-1. The game itself was one of the prettiest contests a fan could wish to see and it was not over until the last man was out in the ninth that the game was stowed away. Frederickson had it on Huntley by a shade on strike outs, sixteen of the All Stars failing to connect with the ball; while Huntley returned five 'Plains batters by the fan-out route. The hits were evenly divided, the 'Plains, however, getting their's at the right time.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Freeman was a little too much for the machinists from Electric works. He had every thing his own way all through the game.

The Commercial team is a hard hitting bunch of huskies. In their two games played so far it has been a case of sting the ball to all corners of the lot.

Walt Nelson pushed the ball into right garden for a long journey. A few feet more and it would have been a homer.

Between the innings at all of the games it was "What do you think the outcome of the Ty Cobb case will be?" Ban Johnson could have received any quantity of free advice had he circulated among the fans.

The coal workers may strike and the American citizen will grumble a little, talk about the high price of living and then sit back and take his medicine; but let a major leaguer ball team go out and it hits said citizen in a vital spot.

That fan certainly did start something, didn't he?

The Lincoln Giants left Plainfield with an entirely different opinion of certain swat artists under the employ of Ernest Dorflinger.

They had the idea that it was going to be an all-star comedy with all of the stars of a darkish hue. Francis fooled away one run early in the game by a little choice monkey work on third base. He probably thought that Harter had glue on his feet.

When the manager and one of his assistants approached the dark corner where the long green was floating around in undisputed evidence, one of the "Collud Gemmen" informed his nibs that he "wasn' bettin no money, just askin' a frien' o' mine for a chew o' tobaccer'."

"De green stuff wha you seen was de wrappin' on a paper o' Green Turtle."

That was the hardest pounding that Redding had received at the hands of any team since he has been a member of the Lincoln Giants.

When Ed Stallings stepped to the bat it was either a case of nit him or else let him hit the ball. He took one on the ribs and lifted the horse hide for three safties. Some clouting. What?

The Banks got to the joint makers.

BASEBALL STRIKE GROWING WORSE

"I'm Pat," Johnson Says, Defying Detroit Players.

WILL BE NO GAME TODAY.

Jennings Haunts Railroad Station In Wait For Owner Navin—Players Are Reported to Have Said They Acted In Hasty Manner.

Philadelphia, May 20.—The Detroit baseball team, which is on strike, will not play today, according to Ban Johnson president of the American league. He added that the team will not play again until the regular team was placed on the field.

"I am standing pat," Johnson declared when asked his position on the strike. He refused absolutely to discuss the matter. Johnson went immediately to the Bellevue-Stratford, where he was joined shortly by President Shibe of the Athletics, Manager Connie Mack and Manager Jennings of Detroit. The two managers left a short time later, but Shibe and Johnson remained in conference for several hours. They refused to say what had transpired.

Jennings Waits For Navin.

President Navin, owner of the Detroit club, had not arrived, and until he does arrive nothing can be accomplished. Jennings has haunted the railroad stations, meeting every train from the west. He wants to have a talk with Navin before the owner of the striking Tigers sees Ban Johnson. It was declared that Owners Noyes of the Washington club and Farrell of the New York club had been summoned here for the conference and that the entire question would be settled by these two men in conjunction with Owners Navin of Detroit, Shibe of Philadelphia and Johnson. This could not be verified by Johnson, as he stuck close to his apartments and refused to answer any messages. Shibe made the brief announcement that there was nothing new in the situation.

Striking Players Gloomy.

At the Aldine hotel, where the Detroit players are stationed, there is an air of gloom, and several of the players have said confidentially that they think they acted in rather a hasty manner.

The players got a tip from some unknown source, strongly hinted at as coming from Jennings, that the entire strike would be settled by a short suspension of Cobb and by the punishment of the ringleaders among the strikers. The players immediately held an executive session, in which they passed a resolution agreeing to stand by each other, and if punishment was handed out to one player and others were allowed to return to the game without punishment that they would stand together and all be pardoned or all be punished. Almost immediately after passing this resolution cooler heads prevailed, and the vote was reconsidered and the resolution was abandoned.

Since coming here Ban Johnson has remarked that Manager Jennings of the Tigers apparently forgot he was a representative of the owners of the club and not of the players. Johnson also remarked sarcastically upon the manner in which Jennings lauded his players and apparently failed to censure them for striking.

Mack and Jennings at Odds.

In some semiofficial quarters Johnson is being quoted as declaring that a baseball manager unable to handle a crisis with more tact than the Detroit situation has been handled would be much better off as a player.

It was learned that Saturday was the first time Mack and Jennings had exchanged a word except on strict business since Jennings was the adviser of the Giants in the last world's series. During that series Jennings was given the credit of telling McGraw of the Giants that "Home Run" Baker was a yellow. With this information the Giants were charged with getting after Baker's goat.

—Figuring out the possibilities that the Press want ads. hold for you should be one of your most interesting tasks today.

PITCHER TRAVERS.

Warming Up For Team That Took Place of Striking Tigers.

When the Detroit baseball team, on strike because of the suspension of Ty Cobb, refused to play its scheduled game with the Philadelphia Athletics on Saturday another team was placed in the field. Travers was snapped as he was warming up for a game which may make baseball history in the big leagues.

ROYAL GIANTS DEFEAT STRONG NETHERWOOD A. C.

The Royal Giants took the Netherwood A. C. into camp in their game Saturday, by the score of 13 to 5. Ford, Coleman, Jackson and Kline starred as hitters for the Royals, clouting the opposing twirlers to all corners of the lot.

Netherwood changed their pitchers twice but the moves were of no effect in stopping the Giants who were out after the big end of the score and were not to be denied. Kline, of the Royals, made nine of the A. C. boys fan the breeze, while Steward whiffed six of the Royals.

LINCOLN GIANTS SHRINK A LITTLE

Husky Crew, But Not Big Enough to Trounce Dorflinger's Men.

ED. STALLINGS AGAIN

Heavy Hitting by Head of Batting Order Proves Undoing of Redding, Who is Weak With Men on Bases.

The Lincoln Giants were the show at Crescent Oval last Saturday afternoon, but they were not showy enough to break the winning streak of the Plainfield team and had to content themselves with the shrunken end of an 11 to 10 score. It was the Giants' first defeat. The game was a pretty one to watch for the scoring was distributed throughout the game in such a way as to make the result uncertain from the beginning to the end. Ed Stallings was again the hero of the occasion with his heavy and consistent clouting. Cosgrove and Harter were a close second with three hits apiece to their credit.

At the last minute Linderman, who was slated to do the twirling for the locals, informed Manager Dorflinger that, owing to a very sore arm he would be unable to hurl them over, so Sammy Smith, who is no stranger to the Plainfield fans, was summoned to the fray and proved to be the right medicine for the dusky visitors. While touched up frequently he managed to keep the hits pretty well scattered with the exception of one innng when the visitors shoved four tallies over the pan. Good support helped him.

Redding pitched well in spots, but was touched up frequently when Plainfield had men on the paths.

This is the first defeat that the visitors have met with so far this season and it is needless to say that it was an unexpected one. It takes a mighty good team to hang it on to them and the Plainfield fans showed their approval when Dorflinger's combination accomplished the deed.

PARK GOLF PLAYERS NOT IN GOOD FORM

Good Field Out But Rainy Weather Had Made Course Heavy.

The Park Golf Club began its active season on Saturday with the initial play for the President's and Gold Club Cups weekly competition. There was a good field out, but the scores for the most part were high, due in a large measure to the heavy and slow condition of the course. This was caused by the recent rains, but it is believed that in another week or two the course and greens will be in the best of condition.

While there was a large number of players on the course many did not return scores. The following were posted:

H. L. Moody, 110, 26-84; A. M. Morrell, 107, 12-95; George T. Rogers, 113, 18-95; Samuel Townsend, 115, 20-95; John V. Beekman, 121, 26-95; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 112, 14-98; Peter C. Sweeny, 118, 13-105; J Harry Greene, Jr. 120, 14-106.

PROBE OF PRISONER'S DEATH.

Paterson, May 20.—Mayor McBride has sent a communication to the Police and Fire Board calling for an investigation of the death of the unidentified man in a cell at police headquarters Thursday night. The communication was referred to the police committee, of which Commissioner Morgan is chairman. The man was arrested Thursday morning for drunkenness, and was so intoxicated that it was considered best to postpone his arraignment for a while.

OROZCO'S FORCES SCATTERED

Federals Reported to Have Demoralized Main Force of the Rebels.

Washington, May 20.—State department representatives in Mexico reported that the federals have demoralized the main force under General Orozco, the rebel leader, to a greater extent than has been supposed hitherto. The rebel force is so scattered, it is stated, that the federals are finding it difficult to locate the revolutionist army.

It is believed many of the rebels have forsaken Orozco, following the defeat suffered by the rebel commander last week and are making their way to their homes.

FATHER OF TWINS AT EIGHTY.

It Is the First Experiment of Dr. Gorton, Philosopher, In Eugenics.

New York, May 20.—Dr. David Allyn Gorton at the age of eighty is the proud father of twins, the only half expected result of a novel and absorbing experiment in eugenics, for experiment avowedly it is, a deliberate testing of a philosopher's theories for the improvement of the human race.

But the babies? Let science wait a minute. These babies are the most wonderful babies in the world. Dr. Gorton and his wife, who is approaching middle age, believe so just as surely as any bridal couple of twenty. They are as perfectly formed and healthy as any two babies could be, and each weighed exactly six and one-half pounds when they arrived at the Gorton apartment, Brooklyn.

World's Oldest Investment.

The oldest investment security on earth is the real estate mortgage. We know that money was loaned on mortgages in ancient Babylon in the time of King Hamurabi, 4,000 years ago, and that some 2,500 years ago the great Babylonian banking house of the Egibi family invested large sums in mortgages on both city and farm property, the mortgages being recorded on bricks, which have been preserved in the safety deposit vaults of those times—great earthenware jars buried in the earth—preserved until the archaeologists in our own day and age dug them up to show us when, where and how mortgages originated.—S. MAYOR ATTENDS T. A. B. BANQUET

Tells How He Enrolled in Total Abstinence Ranks For Life.

PRIEST DEFENDS FAITH

A. P. A. Accuses It of Being an Enemy to the Country, He Says, Whereas It Is Strongest Force for Good.

The virtues of total abstinence were urged with much earnestness by various speakers at the banquet last night to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of St. Mary's Total Abstinence Benevolent Society. Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who was one of the principal guests of honor, congratulated the members of the society and pointed out what a force for good they were in the community. Dealing with the physical effects of alcohol, he said that in order for a man to do his best work he must have a clear brain; that it was never intended as a condensing chamber for a human alcoholic still. There were more monuments to the wrecks of alcohol than to anything else. Every brewery and saloon are a monument to the wrecks they are making.

For forty-seven years, the Mayor said, he had been a total abstainer and had yet to take his first drink. That was due to a promise he had made his mother. He was not to be understood as being a prohibitionist, for he was not. He was glad to know that in the community there were over a hundred young men pledged to the cause of total absinence, and he congratulated them for their success in the past and wished them all prosperity in the future.

Toastmaster Edward T. Lynch told of the inauguration of the society, its early struggles and the assistance that had been rendered it. He also read a letter of regret for non-attendance from Father Murphy, of Dunellen.

Father B. M. Bogan, spiritual director of the society, spoke in glowing terms of the high-mindedness and self-restraint of the mayor and felt assured that any society which contributed to the moral uplift of the city always received his cordial approval.

Continuing on the theme of subjection to lawful authority, Father Walter J. Shanley, rector of St. Mary's church, Danbury, Conn., and former president of the National C. T. A. U. of America, said that all authority comes from God and Catholics were taught to respect it no matter whether it was held by laymen or cleric. They were living in a day when authority was despised and attempts were being made to dethrone it. When the day of socialism arrived the strongest force against it would be the Catholic Church, because it respected authority. The Catholic Church had been accused by the A. P. A. of being opposed to the best interests of the country and of being a curse to the public schools; and that the Knights of Columbus were mobilizing and arming for a religious war. If they but realized that they were arraigned on the side of established authority these people would solicit their co-operation not antagonize it. The other speakers were William F. Mullen, of Newark; John Walsh and M. D. O'Keefe. The banqueting hall was artistically decorated with flags, banners and multi-colored electric arcs. The tables were decorated with carnations and ferns and the effect was plenteous and pleasing.

Joseph T. McCue presided. Vocal selections were contributed during the evening by Patrick J. Powers, J. Cleary and Thomas Roddy. Suhr's Orchestra played.

The banquet committee were Joseph T. McCue, J. Walsh, J. Barry and E. T. Lynch. Among those present were: E. Conshay, B. Hilliard, W. H. Schaefer, J. Barry, P. H. Burns, J. C. Callahan, J. Carney, J. Comiskey, P. Flynn, F. Harding, G. Howe, P. Melvin, T. Roddy, E. Lynch, M. Moynihan, H. G. Pasch, J. McCarthy, J. Connolly, J. Duffy, W. Russ, J. Bydoroski, P. Allen, P. Kane, J. Winzered, Jr., M. Devine, M. McCaffrey, J. Bebout, R. Birmingham, W. Brown, D. Couraine, H. Forirstel, W. H. Forristel, T. Harding, John Hines, T. Hines, J. Lynch, A. McDonough, J. F. McDonough, Peter McDonough, Patrick McDonough, C. McDonough, M. O'Keefe, D. O'Keefe, James O'Keefe, T. O'Keefe, John O'Keefe, and John Walden.

LAFOLLETTE TO BE HERE FRIDAY

Progressive Candidate's Itinerary Brings Him to Plainfield Same Day as Taft.

ARRIVES IN AFTERNOON

Taft's Time of Arrival Set for 3:30, LaFollette's Not Announced Yet, in This City—Three Days in New Jersey.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, as well as President Taft, will be in Plainfield next Friday afternoon on campaigning bent. Senator La Follette, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination of those Progressives who will not accept Roosevelt's leadership, will begin his onslaught in this State tomorrow night in Jersey City. He will be in New Jersey for at least three days.

La Follette, like Taft, is due, according to his itinerary, in Plainfield Friday afternoon. The President's arrival is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock. No hour has been set for La Follette's coming, and there is some speculation as to a possible conflict of rallies.

No announcement has been made yet by La Follette supporters here of plans for the candidate's reception. Howard C. Tracy, of this city, is one of the candidates for delegate on the La Follette ticket in this district. D. Edwin Davis, of Elizabeth, is the other.

James E. Pope, of Jersey City, chairman of the La Follette Progressive Republican campaign committee, announced yesterday Senator La Follette's itinerary for the first three days he will spend in New Jersey.

The campign will open in the High School at Jersey City at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. On Thursday, La Follette will speak at Elizabeth at noon, at Trenton at 4 p. m., and at Atlantic City at 8:30 p. m. Friday morning his schedule takes him to Asbury Park and Long Branch in the morning and to Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy and this city in the afternoon. At 7:30 p. m. the Senator will speak at the New Auditorium in Newark, and at 8:30 in the hall of the Y. M. C. A. in Paterson.

WM. MORRIS TO APPEAR HERE IN "THE CONCERT"

William Morris, who has one of the important roles in "The Concert," the comedy success that David Belasco presnts at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, is one of the best known actors on the stage today and one of the most competent. He was well-known as a player when some of the present day stars were unheard of. He has been on the stage so long that playgoers, or at least some of them, might think he was an old man. He is not. He is not even middleaged. He began his career when he was 14 years old with the famous theatrical organization known as the Boston Museum Stock Company. That turned out many great players and Mr. Morris is one of them.

When "Men and Women" was first produced years ago Mr. Morris had one of the leading roles in that play. A very small part in that play was entrusted to a pale faced young woman, who at that time had little ability. Her name was Maude Adams. Later Mr. Morris was leading man with Miss Adams. For several years Morris was the leading man of the Empire Theatre Stock Company in New York. He created the role of Dr. Dallas in "The Concert" and previous to beginning to play that part two years ago, he starred in several plays, the most notable being "Under the Red Robe" and "The Witching Hour."

CYCLED FROM CITY.

Emerich Spitzer, Ralph Kean, Mr. Myers and Mr. Taylor, all members of F. A. M. Club of New York, were guests of Miss Cleo Lutzke, of Rahway road, Sunday afternoon, having made the run from the city on their motorcycles. Mr. Spitzer won a gold medal two weeks ago in a 200-mile motorcycle race. An enjoyable afternoon was spent at the farm, after which the return home was made.

TO GIVE AN "AT HOME."

Mrs. George Staats, of 112 Netherwood avenue, will give an "at home" on Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. Members of the W. C. T. U. are especially invited. A committee from the union will conduct a cake sale at that time.

MISSIONARY TALK.

Dr. Edward H. Hume, a medical missionary stationed at the Yale Mission in China, will give an illustrated lecture on his work at the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow night.

PLAINFIELD UNDER THE COMMISSION

A BRIEF EXPLANATION

Non-partisan Business Administration—Schools Unaffected—Saving of Public Money—Over 180 Cities Thus Ruled.

The city will be governed by a board of five men elected by the people. All the other boards and unnecessary departments will be abolished.

The Commissioners will be nominated at a primary at which men will vote as citizens, not as Democrats, Republicans, etc.

The election will be held separate from the National and State elections. Party politics will play no part in this election.

The men elected will be therefore the representatives of the people and not of political machines, and political boss or bosses will not be able to control or use them.

Each Commissioner will be at the head of a department of the public business. Responsibility will therefore always be easily placed.

General business, including the appointment of subordinate, the spending of money, and the enactment of city ordinances, will be transacted by the board as a whole, and everything thus done will be publicly done.

Publicity is a compulsory incident of commission government.

The Commissioners will select one of their number as Mayor or presiding officer but he will have no special powers as such.

There will be no division of the city by ward representations. Each Commissioner will represent the

MEET IN INTEREST OF FRESH AIR HOME

Charles W. McCutchen Pleads Earnestly for Support of Netherwood Home.

In the interest of the work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, which will soon be re-opened, a largely attended meeting was held in Vincent chapel, of the First M. E. church, last night. It was arranged by Clifford A. Braider, who has taken charge of the music at the Home and at the Little Day Missionary in New York. A dozen or more girls from New York were present and sang for the audience.

Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, presided, and in a short address made a strong plea for support of the excellent work being carried on by Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Home. Among the other speakers were Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, who told of the starting of the fresh air work at Westfield; Rev. Dr. Fagg, pastor of the Collegiate Reformed church, New York, who spoke of the work being carried on at the Little Day Missionary in New York. He said it was one of the most important on the East Side of the city.

Miss Curry also made a few remarks, thanking the friends of the work for what they had done in the past and expressing the hope that the support would continue even in a larger measure. W. J. Morgan, of New York, one of the directors of the work, urged the Plainfield supporters of the Home to organize their committees promptly.

J. F. Parker, who is also associated with the work, gave a brief summary of the past year's work. The Home has a yearly income of $1,600 from the Hewitt bequest, and the balance necessary to carry on the work is raised among friends. In conclusion, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, spoke a few words in commendation of the work and pronounced the benediction.

It is planned to open the Netherwood Fresh Air Home about Decoration Day and the work of getting the place in condition is now progressing.

Plainfielders desiring to contribute to the support of the Home should send their remittances to D. M. Runyon, treasurer of the association, at the First National Bank.

WILLARD C. TITUS.

Willard C. Titus, aged about fifty years, who died at his home, 297 Market street, Newark, last Friday night, was buried at noon today in the Methodist cemetery on Plainfield avenue. Mr. Titus formerly lived in this city, at which time he was a lineman in the employ of the New York Telephone Company. He left here about twenty years ago.

MISS MANN'S BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED AT RECEPTION

The engagement of Miss Rose Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Mann, to Isidore Schwartz, of New York city, was announced at a party given at Miss Mann's home, 313 Stebbins place, Sunday night. There were about fifty guests. The home was decorated with carnations and American Beauty roses. Miss Mann wore a gown of white charmeuse with American Beauty and silver trimmings. The couple received many gifts.

Supper was served in a large tent which was illuminated with electric lights and Japanese lanterns. Dancing, with vocal and instrumental music were much enjoyed. Guests were present from Brooklyn, New York, Newark, Passaic, Paterson, Elizabeth, Roselle, Dumont, Perth Amboy, Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Trenton, Philadelphia and this city.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS BRING MONARCH SHOWS AGAIN

The Monarch Greater shows will be in Plainfield under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, commencing a week's engagement next Monday night. They are in Morristown this week. This year the Monarch Greater shows are much larger than last and far more pretentious. The principal attraction is the trained wild animal arena, featuring "Bonavita." He will give an exhibition for nerve and daring unequalled by any one who enters a lion's cage.

There will also be seen Pattee's Diving Girls in acquatic feats. They also have been one of the features at Dreamland, Coney Island and Revere Beach, Boston. Another new feature this year is the Big Ten in One, wherein will be found the fat girls and all the strange wonders and curious freaks from the far off lands. Hamda eBn's Oriental theatre is better than ever. The shows will exhibit for six days.

There will be the same "flea circus" which was shown here last year; Captain Joseph Freari's dog, monkey and pony circus; Minehaha, and other shows will go to make up a group of amusements for all ages.

COMPANY K STARTS ITS SEASON OF OUTDOOR DRILLS

Co. K, under the direction of Captain Charles Peterson and First Lieutenant Nathan Hort, had its first outdoor drill, last night, and hereafter most of the drills will be of that sort. The company was out for about an hour, and upon the return there was a spread and entertainment. The spread was the result of the recent contest. The company was divided, one division being in charge of Lieut. Hort and the other of Lieut. Phillips. Lieut. Hort's company won and according to the arrangement the defeated side was to furnish refreshments. An elaborate buffet luncheon was served.

Afterward the company's orchestra furnished a popular program of music; also vocal selections, and a social time was had. The company will go into camp at Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 15-24, and the members are making preparations for that trip.

DIRECTORY WILL COME OUT UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The Plainfield city directory for 1912 will be issued by W. L. Richmond, member of the Association of American Directory Publishers, who has purchased the rights, copyrights, title, etc., from the Wand Directory Co. Mr. Richmond recently purchased the Perth Amboy directory from the Wand Company, and the newspapers in mentioning the new issue there last month said that Perth Amboy had long waited for a directory such as Mr. Richmond had just published. The canvass for the Plainfield directory will be commenced at once, and a modern publication is promised, such as Plainfield has not seen in the past.

It will be comprehensive, up-to-date, and a credit to the city. The canvass will be made in a scientific manner, and if you look up a name, it will be there. FORTUNES NOT NEEDED

Men of Comparatively Small Means Can Build Houses That Will Return the Usual Profit and Do Practical Good Without Expense.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield gave out today the folowing report of its Visitors Committee:

"The Visitors Committee has been enlarged by two new members during the month, making a total of 17 members to date. Dr. Van Horn has very kindly consented to take charge of the nose and throat cases. Four new cases have been referred during the month for visiting work, one of whom has since died. His welfare was looked after, however, up to the time of his death. There are now 17 cases on the list, 14 of whom have vistors.

"Dr. Kraus' Class has had a total attendance during four weeks of 66, 9 being the smallest and 23 the largest number present at one time. Three new members have joined and three have been referred to Glen Gardner. $30 has been raised during the month, part of which has been expended for cod liver oil and medicine. On two of the Fridays the children were delightfully entertained with stories and games by two ladies not on the regular entertainment committee.

MISS ROWLAND AND HICKS CONRAD WED

Miss Ursula Frances Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Rowland, of West Seventh street, and Hicks Leslie Conrad, of Philadelphia, were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents on West Seventh street, in the presence of the members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a traveling gown of blue meteor crepe and she carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Marguerite Adriance, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was the maid-of-honor, while Fred Grosscup, of New York, was the best man.

An automobile lecture was given last evening before a large delegation of autoists from Plainfield by William H. Have a little respect for human life and speed laws and you will never see the inside of a jail—from a legal point of view, and above all never attempt to drive a car if you are not thoroughly familiar with its mechanisms as you are liable to land, as well as others, in the hospital."

CITY PARK SCENE OF COL.'S SPEECH

Two Former Governors to Be With Roosevelt When He Visits Plainfield.

TWO WHIRLWIND TRIPS

President and Former President With Their Spellbinders to Put in Busy Days—"T. R." Announces His Schedule day Before Primaries

It has been decided definitely, according to Mayor G. W. V. Moy, who is the Roosevelt alternate candidate for delegate, to have the City Park as the scene for the open air mass meeting of voters to be addressed by the Colonel on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is expected that the Mayor of the city will preside and that the most prominent supporters of Roosevelt in New Jersey including former Governors Fort and Stokes, former Senator Colby and others will be present.

Although the baseball games are schedules to start at 3:30, it is understood that the contests on the diamond will not be begun until 4 o'clock in order to insure good attendances. The Plainfield team will play at Bound Brook on that day. Manager Hoffman, of the "Trip to the Moon" spectacle, has abandoned any hope of having a crowd at the house for the matinee.

Besides the numerous meetings to be addressed by President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt in New Jersey this week both sides have arranged meetings for other speakers of national note. There will be more spellbinding in the state this week than it has ever known before in a like period.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, of Missouri, one of the influential members of the Taft cabinet is coming to plead the cause of the President, as is also United States Senator Burton, of Ohio; Congressman Samuel W. McCall, of Massachusetts; Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of St. Louis who will deliver addresses in German; former Congressman Adam Bede, of Minnesota; former Governor C. N. Utter, Rhode Island; William Mason, and others.

In an effort to keep the negro vote in the Taft column, there will be Sergeant Mingo Sanders, who was in charge of the colored troops dishonorably disbanded by Roosevelt upon recommendation of Mr. Taft as Secretary of War after the Brownsville raid and William H. Lewis, who is an assistant to the attorney-general's department.

Former Governor Utter has undertaken to address meetings at Camden and Trenton with noon-day meetings thrown in. Dr. Joseph Arnold, of Seton Hall, will speak tonight at Bradley Beach. Colonel A. C. Rankin will speak at noon-day meetings at Camden and nights at Trenton. W. Mason opens his speaking tour at Burlington on Thursday night. George L. Fox, of New Haven, a valunteer speaker, will speak at Asbury Park Thursday night and at Rutherford on Saturday. Senator Burton makes two speeches on Saturday, one at Paterson and later in the evening at Englewood. Julius Kahn, of California, will speak Friday at Jersey City and Hackensack on Saturday.

The Roosevelt meeting planned for Military Park, Newark, next Thursday night has been abandoned. Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, who was to have talked there to hold the crowd for the coming of Roosevelt from the Roseville armory, will be in Monmouth county that night. Stubbs will speak at Somerville Wednesday night, at Burlington City Friday, at Atlantic City Saturday night and at Boonton Monday night.

Congressman Victor Murdock, who also hails from the Sunflower State, will speak at Bloomfield tomorrow night, at Paterson just before the arrival of the Roosevelt train Thursday noon, at Jersey City the same night, in Monmouth county on Friday, at Perth Amboy to keep the crowd till Colonel Roosevelt arrives Saturday, at 4 o'clock the same afternoon at Roselle Park and on Saturday night in Harburger hall, Newark.

U. S. Senator Poindexter, of Washington, will be at Hammonton in Cape May county, Wednesday night and on Thursday at Westfield. The rest of the Poindexter dates are yet to be arranged.

U. S. Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, will be at Roselle Park Wednesday night, at Montclair Thursday night and at Arlington Saturday night.

Besides these speakers the Roosevelt League will send out former Governors Fort and Stokes, former Judge Thomas L. Raymond, former Senator Colby and former Comptroller Prendergast, of New York, to various parts of the state.

Colonel Roosevelt himself will make the first speech of his New Jersey campaign in Paterson Thursday noon. President Taft will enter the state the same night at Camden. While Roosevelt is lambasting Taft

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Seats can be had at the box office of the Plainfield theatre today for the performance of "The Concert" tomorrow night. The mail orders already received would seem to indicate that the fame of this comedy and its players had long ago reached local theatre goers. "The Concert" is not a musical play despite its name. It is a comedy in three acts, adapted from a German play of the same name by Leo Ditrichstein, who heads the cast that David Belasco, who makes the production, sends here. This is the comedy that ran for one entire year at Belasco's own theatre in New York. It has only been presented in the larger cities this season. There is only one company palying it and this is the original company that will appear here. The entire production will be the same as it was in New York. The chief character in this play is a great musician. He is a Hungarian with a sensible American wife. This musical genius stirs up a great deal of trouble by leaving his home and his wife on the plea that he is going to give a concert. This alleged concert takes him to his bungalow in the mountains and he goes there with one of his married woman pupils. They are found there by the deserted wife and the deserted husband. It ends happily at the end but it takes much diplomacy on the part of the deserted pair to straighten out their matrimonial tangle.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liefke and their granddaughter, Miss Irene Samuel, of West Front street, will leave on the steamer Pennsylvania, Thursday, for Germany.

DWELLINGS FOR T. B. VICTIMS

have been several presents of toys and games and one of preserves, and a few gifts of flowers and plants, which are being cared for by the patients.

"A meeting of the Visitors Committee was held on May 6 for the purpose of discussing the change in practical work necessitated by the closing of the Pavillion when the county sanatorium opens, which leaves two important and heretofore neglected departments of tuberculosis work to be developed. The Class is one and the various groups of cases not under institutional care is the other. A summary of the discussion, and the ideas and opinions of the different physicians follow:

"From one point of view the class has been a success, that is as regards its social aspect, and also to a certain extent as a means of keeping the members up to the mark in their hygiene and on the alert for the first signs of a relapse. As regards treatment, however, there are few facilities and little money to provide care, food, or opportunities for rest except those provided by outside charity. The idea of watching for contingencies that cannot be met is absurd, and unless a way of practical, effectual treatment can be devised, it seems as if some change ought to be made. Such change would have to depend on the decision of the League in regard to the second matter to be mentioned. Nevertheless, a feature of the Class that has come to the fore of itself is the dispensary work—little of it to be sure, but enough to indicate that if it were fostered it might become larger and of much usefulness. Perhaps the most advantageous plan is to so nominally continue the Class, of course stil retaining the social element, but also, notify physicians, factories, the clergy, and others who come in contact with the needy sick, that the Class is a tuberculosis dispensary as well, and examines any person in failing health, who cannot afford to see a private physician, for the impression of the public is apt to be that only those are desired who have been definitely diagnosed as tubercular. At present the attendance is made up chiefly of women and children because the meetings are in the afternoon, so that it is imperative that the men should be reached by the institution of a night class or clinic. The appropriateness both of the night meetings and of emphasizing the dispensary aspect in conjunction with the subject next to be discussed will at once be apparent. In addition a clinic or dispensary will include certain cases not at present attracted to the Class.

"The idea that the new county hospital will relieve Plainfield of most of its responsibility in regard to tuberculosis seems to be held by some people but the facts do not entirely support that supposition. There are and always will be a great many persons, who for one reason or another cannot or will not go to a county sanatorium. These cases must be watched and prvided for, and for brevity and clearness the following summary of them and measures suggested for handling them is presented:

"1. Working Cases: Treated at night, holidays, or work half day and be treated half day.

"2. Parents: Those that refuse to break up home to go away for treatment. Men cling to wages that keep the home going till last moment, when it is usually too late. Objections often arise in fear of having children scattered. Under the new law the careless members of this class can be removed by legal commitment not the careful parent.

"3. Advanced Cases: Never will succeed in getting all advanced cases in county institutions. Those at home should be watched to insure the taking of proper precautions are not taken by these patients they cannot be sent to county sanatorium and must be provided for at home.

"4. Persons of Small Means: While such cases will be treated at the county sanatorium at moderate charge and therefore are protected from any stigma of charity there will be some exceptional cases whom it will be advisable to treat in their homes.

"5. Arrested Cases and So-Called Cures: All cases including arrested cases and so-called cures, should report regularly to private physician, dispensary, or Board of Health. Those not reporting should be investigated.

"Measures that have been suggested or tried:

"Day and Night Camp: The situation must be central, near trolleys and railways. Roof of large building or vacant lot is the most advantageous location.

"Tuberculosis Boarding House:

"Colony: This consists of shacks, some of which are intended to hold families. Should have central location and include a night and day camp. Its best feature is the provision for families.

"Small Sanatorium: Has been put on paying basis, and combines philanthropy and an investment yielding three or four per cent. It provides for those of small means, but would have to get inmates from a larger area than Plainfield in order to secure a sufficient number to reduce the per capita cost.

"Houses for Tubercular Tenants: To be built or specially adapted for tuberculosis tenants. Such houses cost no more, or very little more than any decently built house. Preferably several should be built in a row, so that as much yard as possible should be shut off by an ell from the neighbors for privacy.

"The plan that would include the greatest variety of cases with centralization and also economy in operation is naturally the one to be desired. These requirements are best filled by houses which would have to be built with private capital, but would yield the same rent as under conditions of occupancy. For instance supposing the building could hold four families, half could be rented to tuberculous families, who would pay just as they had been paying elsewhere, while the other half would be hired by the League and used for such indivdual cases as required care at the time.

"As regards the class of cases now most in need of attention everybody agrees that provision ought to be made for instant treatment of the relapses, and with the aid of the proposed survey it would be quite feasible to round up and watch arrested cases, and at the first sign of trouble offer them the League's hired quarters in the house mentioned above. Parents that will not leave home, and patients that work but can take treatment at odd times, have also been pretty generally deemed urgent cases. Practically all those mentioned it might be well to note, could be disposed of by the house-building scheme. Certainly no measure thus far suggested has combined so many advantages, that is to say; centralization with the subsequent saving of effort and money, provision for many different groups of persons, the paying of rent by those who can do so as a good counter-tendency to pauperization, and lastly the object lesson it would be of the possibility of uniting moral purpose and sound business vehture. Indeed an excellent end would be served and such chances should be made the most of, of putting a philanthropic enterprise on a paying basis, so that philanthropy need no longer monopolize the production of good works, but that small capital know that it can contribute to the betterment of man without a plunge into bankruptcy."

The Commission plan will save many thousands of dollars annually to the people, and the public will get a dollar in value for every dollar of public moneys expended.

Over one hundred and eighty cities of the United States are now governed by the Commission plan, and not one of them could be induced to return to the old system. (By the "old system" is meant the system we are operating under.) Los Angeles, Kansas City, Spokane, Des Moines and Galveston are notable examples of Commission Government cities.

The present system is government by the politician.

The Commission plan is government by the people.

whole city and the city will develop as a whole.

All employes of the city, whose services are necessary, will be safe in their employment so long as they civilly and honestly attend to the city business. Employes shall be removed for cause only, after trial.

The public school system will in no wise be affected.

Veterans, policemen and firemen will not be affected as far as their tenure of office is concerned.

Any one having a complaint, a grievance or a healthy suggestion will be able to take it "straight to headquarters" without being obliged to waste time or patience, as is the case under the present complicated system.

No Commissioner will be able to escape his obligations. If anything is wrong with any department of city life, the elected head of that department will have to respond.

There can be no shifting of responsibility.

The law provides a four-year term for the Commissioners, but if any of them fail to satisfy the public demands, a provision of the law known as the recall applies, and the voters can, by proceeding under the recall, discharge the unfaithful or unsatisfactory servant, and select a new one in his stead. This will make the Commissioners in fact as well as in name the people's representatives.

Plainfield, N. J., May 21, 1912.

An attempt to prevent the use of a schoolhouse for the holding of political meetings has met with failure in this State. Although in many parts of New Jersey such public buildings are resorted to when taxpayers want to gather to discuss matters political, it seems that it has remained for Jersey City to have the test made. There the Board of Education granted permission to voters to use the high school building for Taft, Roosevelt, Wilson and LaFollette mass meetings. Application was forthwith made to Judge Swayze to grant a writ of certiorari to carry to the Supreme Court for review the action of the Board.

In denying the application, the Court said it could find no basis for its favorable consideration. He mentioned that there had been no claim of private injury nor of discrimination. "I come from the country," Judge Swayze continued, "and to me there is nothing repugnant in the idea of holding such meetings in a public school. Where I was brought up it was the regular thing to hold political meetings in the public schools. It seems to be a fitting place for the public discussion of affairs that concern the people."

"What more appropriate place," remarks the Trenton Times, "could be chosen for the discussion of ward or municipal questions than a school building, owned and maintained by the people? They are conveniently located, and usually unoccupied in the evenings, when the residents of the neighborhood desire to use them. The only objection to the greater use would be in case an admission fee was charged, and an attempt made to use a public building for private profit. Justice Swayze suggested that there might be a doubt whether a school could be used for such a purpose, but said that appeal should be first made to the State Board of Education."

Bearing on this subject, Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, made some timely remarks at the annual meeting of the Sussex County Teachers' Association. He was speaking on some changes he is planning to bring about, and this is what he said in this connection: "Another suggestion; schoolhouses should always be open as social centres. They should be used for entertainments, lectures, public meetings and even amusements, and that day is not far off when they will be used in that way. The school buildings should not be closed too much."

Just what the elective commission form of government would mean for Plainfield is briefly told in the news columns of this issue of the Daily Press. Already over 180 cities have adopted this improved form for the administration of municipal affairs and the movement is spreading rapidly for so far as can be learned the plan has proved a practical success wherever adopted. Last fall, at a referendum election, the proposition met with defeat when put to a vote at Paterson, but according to the Paterson Guardian the sentiment is changing. Says the Guardian: "In January of next year, at the earliest opportunity possible under the Walsh act, a much larger percentage of the voters of Paterson will once more bring our present system of municipal government before the bar of public opinion, when Paterson will probably take her proper place among the progressive cities in New Jersey which have tried real commission government and found it good. Public sentiment in Paterson regarding commission government has undergone a great change during the past year."

Tomorrow night at the Councilmanic chamber any taxpayers who desire to be heard on the subject of collection and disposal of garbage will be given that opportunity by the Common Council, after the report of the public affairs committee is presented. As we have already reported this committee will recommend that the city make a contract for removal of the refuse. This means that there will be a big saving to every householder. But before final action is taken, the councilmen want to make sure that there is a general and popular demand for the improvement. So, if you happen to be among those who would have the change made do your duty as a citizen by attending the meeting tomorrow night.

DOGS SUFFERED.

Special "Policeman" Mrs. S. G. VanHoesen, of the S. P. C. A., visited the city dog pound this morning and according to a statement made later to Mayor G. V. W. Moy, she found the conditions deplorable. She said that there were three large sized dogs at the pound, and they were confined in a place far too small for them, and beside they had no water to drink and were suffering from lack of it. Mayor Moy promptly communicated with John Kitchen, who has charge of the pound at present, calling his attention to the conditions complained of and directing him to remedy them without delay.

THE FORUM.

ELECTION OF SENATORS.

Editors Plainfield Daily Press:

It seems to me that in your editorial yesterday on "Election of U. S. Senators" you have placed the importance of the action of Congress in proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by the voters of the States instead of by the Legislatures on the wrong ground. You say the present method is un-American and un-Democratic. The only test by which it can be determined that any institution is American is whether it is authorized by the organic law. The Senate was created by the Constitution, as was also the method by which its members should be elected. Hence it is distinctly American. As to its being un-Democratic, in the United States government is a mixture of direct democracy, as in the town meeting system of New England, and of representative democracy, and the election of senators by the Legislature is just as democratic as is the appointment of the various administrative officers, and of the judiciary by the Governor of a State by and with the consent of the State Senate.

The Legislature is elected by the voters directly, and its members are the representatives of the voters; a United States Senator elected by these representatives is just as much the representative of the State as he would be if directly elected by the voters. The theory of the framers of the Constitution was that greater deliberation would be exercised by a body composed of a few men, picked out for the purpose of all, in the election of a senator than could be shown by the whole body of voters. The very purpose for which the Senate was created was to obtain a conservative body of men which should act as a check on the more emotional House of Representatives elected directly and for a shorter term. I think that a review of our history under the Constitution will show that the framers acted wisely in making the Constitution of the Senate different from that of the House of Representatives. You say that the Senate is the great reactionary body of this nation. I doubt the accuracy of your designation. It has often caused the nation to exercise a sober second thought, and has at time wisely stood in the way of hasty innovations, radical in their nature and passed by the House in response to the insistent demand of some organization whose votes timid Representatives feared to lose if they opposed the demand. Too often the House has passed an ill-considered bill as a sop to some large contingent of voters, in the full expectation that the Senate would refuse to concur. The Senate has not broken down, nor do I think it is generally unpopular, at least among thinking students of the science of politics. If it is "the one bulwark of the privileged classes and the interests" as you assert, whose fault is it? Whose, but the voters! Had they been more careful in the selection of their State Legislature, those bodies would have acted in the interests of the people in their election of senators. Your charge in effect is that the members of the State Legislatures have been false to their trust.

In order that senators directly elected by the people shall be more in touch with them, and that they shall not be selected by bosses or owned by corporations the voters must show more intelligent interest in the primaries than they have thus far shown under the Geran law in this State, for I read in the same issue of your paper that out of almost 5,000 voters in Plainfield, not 3 000 will be qualified to vote at the primary on the 28th of this month for delegates to the National Convention, and it is a fair prophecy that not over one-half of this number will take the trouble to attend the primary, if we may judge from the results in other States. Your statements to which I have referred are a repetition of those very freely made today by persons calling themselves "progressives," who however fail to see that real progress can only be obtained by a zealous, intelligent and co-operating exercise of political duties.

The great advantage which will result from the direct election of senators will be the freeing State considerations from National politics. At present a voter often finds himself in a dilemma at the polls; to try to secure the election of a United States Senator of his own political belief, he must vote for a candidate for the State Legislature who will not represent him in purely State policies, and he must decide which is the least of two evils. Under the direct system he will be under no such difficulty, for it will make little difference to him whether the legislative candidate for whom he votes is of one party or the other so long as he feels he is the best man. This is a great gain, and will go far to purify our State politics. But the voters must not forget that they will be no better represented than now if they continue to confine their political activities to casting their ballots in November.

SCHOOLBOYS ENLIST FOR WAR ON TREE ENEMIES

The North Plainfield Shade Tree Commission have induced a number of boys from the North Plainfield schools to interest themselves in the work of securing orders for spraying shade trees. The boys will make a complete canvas of the borough and report not only orders taken, but also the number of elms on each place. The elm beetle is already starting its deadly work of destroying the foliage and the commission is ready, having bought a complete apparatus, to stop its advance.

The territory has been divided into four sections and thus far the boys selected have been assigned as follows:

District No. 2—(between Westervelt avenue and Somerset street), David Denny and John Dawe.

District No. 4—(west of Washington avenue), George Hummel.

Dressmaker Collapses and Mrs. Pankhurst on Verge of Breakdown.

London, May 21.—At the suffrage trial in the Old Bailey court a dressmaker, Lillian Ball, apparently a renegade from the cause, was put on the witness stand. While testifying she burst into tears and collapsed.

Bouquets which were noticeably present hitherto were not present, as the sheriff had notified the spectators attending the trial that they would be allowed no longer.

At the conclusion of Pethick Lawrence's defense, Mrs. Pankhurst addressed the judge, speaking with great emotion and several times being on the point of a breakdown.

KING OF ENGLAND.

in Newark and Jersey City Thursday night Taft will be denouncing the Colonel at Trenton.

Following the example set by President Taft, Theodore Roosevelt has decided to continue his campaign in New Jersey to the very last minute, and on that account has authorized the Roosevelt League to arrange for speaking dates for him Monday, May 27, in addition to the three days he will speak in the State this week.

Colonel Roosevelt will make addresses at Lambertville, Flemington Somerville, Bound Brook, Hopewell, Pennington, Hightstown and Princeton.

The Colonel will begin speaking in the district of Lambertville, where he is due at 2:30 o'clock. From Lambertville he will go to Flemington by train, speaking there about 3 o'clock. From Flemington he will go to Somerville, where he will speak at 3:30.

From Somerville he will go to Bound Brook, speaking there at 4 o'clock. He will then proceed to Hopewell and Pennington by train.

From Pennington he will go to Hightstown, by way of Trenton, by automobile. From Hightstown he will go to Princeton by automobile, and speak there in Alexander Hall, which will seat 6,000 people.

From Alexander Hall the Colonel will go to his train, which will be waiting at Princeton, and proceed by rail to Northern New Jersey, where he has a number of addresses on Monday evening.

PERSONAL.

Mark Doud, formerly of the borough, but now of Newark, has been visiting friends here.

Miss Elsie Smith, of Newark, has returned home after a visit of several days with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Welsh and son, of East Millstone, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van-Cleef, of Grant avenue.

Mrs. Henry Johnson, of Washington avenue, will leave Thursday for her home in Sweden, where she will visit relatives for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashley Grace and children, of New York, have been visiting Mrs. Grace's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street.

Mrs. David H. Rowland, of West Seventh street, will leave in a few days for Portland, Oregon, to visit her daughter, Mrs. Walter Bowne. She will be away several months.

BIG BEARS AT PROCTOR'S.

Alber's big trained Polar bears, the hit of the Hippodrome, New York, are playing a three-days' engagement at Proctor's theatre. There are eight of them. They are good comedians. Robert Craig and Co., in the comedy sketch, "John's Dad," is a funny act; Vonhampton and Josiyn, musical comedy entertainers, in a singing and dancing skit, are clever. Billy Quirk, the whistling mimic, is excellent. The Moscrop Sisters, singers and dancers, are exceptionally good. Proctor's photoplays are changed every day.

CLASSIS TO MEET.

The Classis of Newark will meet in special session next Saturday afternoon for the purpose of hearing the report of the Church Extension Association on Marconnier chapel.

SUNSHADE BEAUTY.

What the Summer Girl Will Find New In Parasols.

PARASOL WITH PERSIAN LINING.

Persian effects are seen in dress materials, in frock trimmings, and now this season comes the Persian silk lining in the latest parasols. The outside covering of such a sunshade is usually of some dark color harmonizing with the costume with which it is to be worn.

The sunshade illustrated is of dark blue satin with a lining of Persian silk in tones of tan and old blues.

IN THE WORLD OF FASHION.

Modish Fancies For the Well Dressed Woman.

The latest kind of malines comes one yard wide. It is especially intended for millinery and costs 60 cents a yard. It is called crinkled malines, and its tones are changeable. Probably the most popular of its shades is the new "heart of fire" tint.

New petticoats for young girls are of china silk in pale colors and white. These are lace edged with an underpiece of silk accordion plaited. Petticoats for silk slips are of chiffon in white and colors, and small chiffon roses of many tints are added about the border, scattered or in wreath pattern.

One of the newest black and white parasols has a fringe of silk around its edge about four inches in depth. However, the black and white parasols with wide stripes are being too generally shown to become popular with the woman of refinement and exclusive taste in dress. A dainty parasol for the debutante in her first summer is of one tone very thin plain china silk, and for the matron there is shown a taffeta parasol, the center of black and white stripes, the border with a flower design in blue, pink and lilac. This has a fringe of chenille.

The Trained Pannier Gown.

Here is one of the latest and possibly the ugliest of the pannier fashions that have been revived this spring, but it emanates from that fountainhead of style—Paris. Consequently the woman who wishes to be in the fashion "swim" will treat the model with respectful attention.

The material used is black meteor crape with a guimpe of white net. The somberness of the costume is relieved by an emplecement on the waist of jet and gold embroideries.

Line the Yokes.

The young woman who has a taste for active sports should see that all her shirt waists have lined yokes at the back. If this precaution is omitted this part will become soaked with perspiration, which will mean ruin, to the colored waists at least.

Still Does Her Work.

Mrs. E. M. Scott is past seventy years of age, and yet she still paints in oils and water colors. She was recently presented with a life membership in the National Arts of New York City, having been one of the founders.

—New York's Democratic delegation is uninstructed. Instructions will come later—from Tammany Hall.—Chicago Post.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

PUTTING UP CHERRIES.

CHERRIES should be put up when they are cheapest and at their best. Select firm fruit. It is better that it should be a little underripe than overripe.

If you are so fortunate as to grow your own cherries pick them and put them up as they ripen. Then only will you get the most delicious flavors. If the cherries are picked from day to day and a few jars are handled at a time the labor of preserving will be much lightened.

For Small Families.

When putting up fruit use small jars if your family is not large. A pint jar of fruit is enough for a moderate family at a meal, and if fruit stands after it is opened it may ferment.

All jars should be sterilized before using. When they are to be filled they should be taken from the boiling water in which they stand and placed on a cloth wet in hot water. Then the jars will not crack from the heat of the fruit when it is poured into them.

Careful Preparations.

Use the utmost vigilance in the selection of the rubbers. Old ones should never be used. Economy in this respect has cost many a housekeeper some of her best fruit. See that no air bubbles are in the jar when the fruit has been poured in.

With the Stones.

Canned Whole Cherries.—By this is meant cherries preserved without stoning. Some persons think the stones add to the flavor. To each pound of the cherries allow a third of a pound of sugar. Put the sugar in the preserving kettle with half a pint of water to three pounds of sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. When it is boiling add the cherries, which should have been stemmed and well washed. Cook for three minutes and then put into jars.

The Popular Way.

Stoned Cherry Preserves.—Wash, stem and then stone your cherries. Save all juice. Put the sugar and water into the preserving kettle and on the fire stir until the former is dissolved. A quart and a half of sugar and half a pint of water should be used for every six quarts of the cherries. Put in the cherries and heat to the boiling point. Boil for ten minutes, skimming carefully. Then put into jars.

Highly Spiced.

Spiced Cherries.—Prepare as for ordinary canned cherries, using, however, to one quart of sour cherries three cups of sugar. Add half a cupful of vinegar and boil until thick. Then stir in a quarter of a teaspoonful of cloves, a dash of nutmeg and a teaspoonful of cinnamon and boil for a few minutes.

SMART STYLES.

Cotton Ottomans Are Good In the Inexpensive Materials.

The new cotton ottomans are extremely pretty. Especially good are those striped alternately in blue and white, violet and white and tan and white.

Eyelet embroidery batiste is among the favorite summer materials.

Hemstitched collars of a variety of ratine which is almost of canvas texture, in a color that contrasts with the suit, are worn over many serge and wool jackets. Sometimes there are cuffs to match.

Good Form

The Informal Dinner at Home.

What woman does not remember the failure of her first dinner party—a failure which seemed to cast a gloom over life for a long time afterward?

First the bell rang before you were dressed to receive the first arrivals; then the baby began to cry so loud every one couldn't help but hear her. After that the cook spilled soup all over the range and filled the house with a bad odor; then the waitress, usually so cool, lost her presence of mind and dropped a tray in the tiny pantry, breaking the dishes with a terrific crash. After this catastrophe one disaster succeeded another until your husband turned and looked at you with surprise and reproach in his eyes. You, poor creature, had been working day and night to get up this dinner, and you weren't responsible in any way for any one of the failures.

After this first fatal attempt at entertaining you were probably sick for a week.

Now, a failure of this kind may seem of no moment to the average man, for he, as a rule, knows little and cares less about the social side of his home. All he wants is to be made comfortable, to find a warm, clean home awaiting him and a good dinner, presided over by a charming wife.

Of course he likes to invite his friends to dinner once in awhile, just to show them what a jolly little place he has of his own. A man wants and usually gets all the enjoyment of entertaining and none of the troubles that depend thereon. It is the wife who must struggle with the problems of domestic defeat or victory.

Considering all that is expected of her, the average woman does very well indeed. She must be not only a wife and mother, but a housekeeper and a trainer of servants; she must be the mind of the home, even though she has maids to furnish the hands; she must never be fussy, never grotesque; she must steer her ship through stormy seas; she must be ready to meet any emergency that may present itself for her solution. To accomplish all this the young housekeeper must learn first to live well every day. Her tablecloth must be fresh, her glass and silver clean; a few flowers must be on her table to make it dainty; a few dishes well cooked. If this is the daily routine then the unexpected guest will not cause alarm. Little will need to be added to entertain any visitor.

"But we live so simply I couldn't entertain," sighs the young bride, thinking perhaps of the functions she used to attend before consenting to share Jack's humble fortunes. She fears that her friends will compare her station unfavorably with theirs and dreads to invite a few guests to her simple home dinner.

If the truth were known that simple home dinner, cooked and served without pretension, can be made as attractive and successful an entertainment as the elaborate feast of a prince. Very often its very simplicity is its greatest charm to the guest who is stifled with luxury at home. There is about it a note of intimacy and understanding which is flattering to the one asked to partake of the simple repast.

Dress Etiquette.

The skirt must be neatly fastened at the waist line so that no pins or hooks and eyes will show.

The lines of the cheapest and simplest gowns or suits can always be good if the wearer will only superintend the making or alterations with intelligence.

See that a long sleeve fits snugly at the wrist.

See that a turnover collar lies flat and close.

See that the skirt lines are straight and not curving in below the knees at the back or bulging out on the front.

See that the bottom of the skirt hangs evenly all around.

See that there are no missing buttons or hooks and eyes.

Never let a skirt sag at the waist line; keep everything trim and neat.

Then see that hat, suit or gown, gloves and shoes correspond in style and color.

Never wear a very dressy hat with a severely made tailored suit.

Never wear tan colored shoes with a velvet suit or with an elaborate suit or gown of any kind, and, of course, never wear them with house gowns or in the evening.

Home the Place to Start.

Breeding, like much slandered charity, must begin at home and maintain there a perpetual scholarship. Mme. Recamier, the most beautiful and most gracious woman of her age and country, was asked how she became so elegant in carriage and manner. Her answer is historical:

"By conducting myself in solitude as I would in public."

There should be no dishabille manners in the home so far as gentle consideration for the happiness and comfort of others is concerned. A man who fails to rise from his lounging chair when his wife enters must not complain when his sons, grown to young manhood, forget "company manners" so far as to sit still while fashionable visitors stand. Example is more potent and lasting than present.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

There were one or two surprises in the Factory League games Saturday. The Bankers reformed and jumped on Nolan and the rest of the Spicer team, while the strong Commercials took an easy one from the Electrics, when the latter played with a reversal of form.

That one fat inning enjoyed by the Public Service team with the Motor team was productive of a sufficient number of runs to win almost any game.

The Borough High team went at it in a sloppy manner again Saturday. After the gilt-edged sample they gave the fans when they met Battin it was a disheartening sight.

The Bound Brook team plays a pretty fair article of ball and should stand a good show for the county scholastic championship.

If said fan becomes obnoxious again why not Ty Cobb.

Zowie! "Clevah."

No foolin' now, why wouldn't that work.

They say out in Pittsburg that the reason Marquard hung it on O'Toole was because Marty failed to hold his head at the right angle. "Rube" evidently has the correct one.

The smoky city fans didn't like the idea of Rube's supremacy very much.

War has been declared. The Tiger Confederacy is the latest. Ty Cobb is elected president.

The Chinese baseball team from the college of Hawaii will meet the Fordham University nine tomorrow afternoon at the Polo Grounds.

Word has been passed around that John Paul Jones would not go to Sweeden even if chosen as a member of the Olympic team. Jones says that such is not the case, and that he is entered for the trials.

The Tiger oarsmen are to be congratulated on their good showing in the triangular race Saturday. Any crew that could make Columbia work hard to win and at the same time outrow Pennsylvania deserves credit. Princeton has had only two years of rowing, but they are sticking right with the leaders even now.

The Plainfield team plays in Bound Brook next Saturday. Frederickson will probaby be on the mound for Dorflinger's bunch.

The Bound Brook team has a number of players that are no strangers to the local fans and in their two games have been playing good ball, losing an extra session game Saturday.

The Cincinnati Reds seem to like the top step pretty well and are willing to fight hard to stay there.

Mattie has met the Reds twenty-four and has defeated them twenty-two times. They deefated him once last year on the Polo Grounds and then last Saturday. But even that doesn't say that he'll never take another from them.

The crowds that attend the bicycle races at the Velodrome in Newark is surprising. Each attraction sees from 15,000 to 20,000 people on hand to watch the speed contests. About as popular as a ball game.

BALL STRIKE ENDS; DETROITS TO PLAY

Promise to Resume Schedule at Washington Today.

FINES MADE GOOD BY NAVIN

Ban Johnson, However, Declares He Will Not Permit This and Will Make Penalties Heavy—Magnates Blame Jennings.

Philadelphia, May 21.—The baseball strike is at an end. The Detroit players who refused to play because Ty Cobb had not been reinstated by President Ban Johnson of the American league, have promised to play their scheduled game at Washington today.

The surrender of the Tigers was unconditional. But it did not materialize until President Navin of the Detroit club had promised to pay whatever fines President Johnson may inflict at a meeting of the league here today. Navin acted in good faith Johnson, when he learned of the magnate's promise, declared emphatically that he would not allow Navin to reimburse the players, and furthermore the fines would be made extremely heavy.

This may cause more friction, for the strikers were in a belligerent frame of mind when they boarded the train and said that they had given up the fight simply to protect their employer, not Johnson, and the other club owners. It was understood that each Detroit player would be asked to pay $100 fine when the settlement first was reached, but American league men intimated that Johnson, clothed with absolute authority, would possibly increase the penalty to $250.

Cobb, who remains under suspension, will go to Detroit to wait for further instructions. Navin said that Johnson had refused to state when the suspension would be raised. In short, the American league men—Frank J. Farrell of New York, James McAleer of Boston, B. F. Shibe and Connie Mack of the Athletics and Navin—said that Johnson had won a signal victory for clean baseball.

Bitter Against Jennings.

It was evident during the conference that the magnates are extremely bitter toward Hugh Jennings, manager of the Tigers, for his failure to keep the men under control. Jennings was openly charged by McAleer in the corridor of the Bellevue-Stratford with encouraging the players in their revolt against organized baseball. Other American league men went so far as to predict that Jennings would soon be released by the Detroit club for the alleged sympathy expressed by him for the strikers.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor will make an effort to "unionize baseball as a result of the strike" of the Detroit Tigers. Federation officials commend the action of Ty Cobb in resenting the insult offered him in the New York American league grounds, and they likewise commend Cobb's teammates for standing by him.

FISHING NOTES.

Acker's boat house at Sewaren was opened to the fishermen last Wednesday and several parties went out to try for eels. They were successful, and also surprised by catching many tomcods. Beginning this week, the regulars will gather at Sewaren to try and capture Acker's prize for the first weakfish caught from one of his boats.

The Seines at Morgan and South Amboy have been catching weakfish and bluefish among the schools of menhaden all week. The demand for fresh fish down that way far exceeds the supply. Men and women from the Amboys line the shore waitting for the fish to be landed on the beach. They buy up all that are fit for food. While there seems to be plenty of the fish in the bay, they will not take the most tempting bait until the second week in June.

UNLUCKY SEVENTH TOO MUCH FOR N. P. H. S.

Bernardsville Starts Batting Rally in That Period and Wins 6 to 3.

One bad inning was enough for the Bernardsville High School to win by 6 to 3 from N. P. H. S. in their game yesterday afternoon, played at Bernardsville. In that inning the home team bunched their runs and romped away with the game before the borough team knew what had happened.

For the first six innings it was anybody's game with both teams scoring one run up until this period. But the damage was done in the unlucky seventh, when the home team batted around.

Crismas pitched well for the Bernardsville School, sending ten back by the strike-out route. He was a little free with his passes, however, distributing four. Hurling hit the ball every time he came to the bat and had much to do with the batting rally started in the seventh. Taylor, for N. P. H. S., played the best game, catching in his usual masterful style.

Plainfield High School will meet the strong team from the State Capitol tomorrow afternoon on Parker Field. The Trenton aggregation is touted as one of the strongest scholastic teams in the State and should make the local team hustle some to keep up. However, with the record gained in its previous games the P. H. S. team should give a good account of itself.

They left the city hall, New York, at 9 o'clock on Wednesday and expect to walk to the Pacific Coast, reaching there in October. They are not hurrying, but digressing to view interesting points near the general route, and also endeavoring to pay their expenses by taking pictures along the way. Then they came on to New York and have been working and saving for the longer trip on which they have started.

RICHESON GOES TO DEATH RESIGNED

Minister Electrocuted For Avis Linnell's Murder.

SINGS FAVORITE HYMNS.

Condemned Clergyman, Fearing Mutilation, Exacts Promise From Counsel That His Body Be Not Dissected. Gives List of Hymns For Funeral.

SKELETON HISTORY OF RICHESON'S CRIME.

Oct. 14, 1911—Miss Avis Linnell of Hyannis, Mass., found unconscious at Y. W. C. A. in Boston. She dies of cyanide poison.

Oct. 31—Richeson is indicted on a charge of murder on very day he was to have wed Miss Violet Edmands, an heiress, of Brookline, Mass.

Nov. 2—He resigns pastorate of Immanuel Baptist church of Cambridge, Mass.

Dec. 20—He slashes himself in his cell.

Jan. 3, 1912—He confesses. It is made public on Jan. 6.

March 12—Richeson is examined by brain experts.

May 14—He is put in death cell.

May 16—Brain experts say Richeson is sane.

Boston, May 21.—After awaiting death impatiently, Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Avis Linnell, died in the electric chair at 12:17 o'clock this morning. He ate almost nothing all day and did not attempt to sleep between nightfall and the hour of his doom.

He was attended constantly by Chaplain Herbert W. Stebbins and the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson. The voice of the man about to die rang through the small chamber of the condemned as he sang his favorite hymns in unison with his spiritual advisers.

Resigned To His Fate.

Richeson was seemingly resigned to his fate and determined to meet it fearlessly when Warden Bridges visited him,

"I will be ready when you want me, warden," he said, "and you needn't worry about what I may do. I'll not break down."

He read from the Psalms and seemed to take pleasure in interpreting their lessons. When he was urged to take a little rest he replied:

"I have so little time to live and have so much to say that I want to talk, talk, talk."

Deserted Even by Brother.

Although his brother, Douglas Richeson of Chicago, was in the city, and the prisoner expressed a wish to see him, the brother did not visit the prison before the execution.

Thus the young clergyman went to his death without hearing a word of sympathy or farewell from his kindred. His aged father was too ill in his Virginia home to make the journey here, and his brother, Douglas, will take charge of the body and send it to Virginia.

Attorney Morse, who represented the prisoner, said that Richeson himself had vetoed a proposal to seek a writ of habeas corpus and delay the execution. Since Governor Foss' decision not to interfere the condemned man had been eager for death.

Final Consolation a Cigarette.

Richeson had no supper, saying that he desired none. After eating a little fruit he lighted a cigarette, and he was sitting on the edge of his cot, apparently enjoying his smoke, when Deputy Warden Allen entered his cell with the black suit of clothes to be worn during the execution. Richeson nodded calmly to the deputy, but said nothing.

Feared Mutilation of Body.

William A. Morse, his counsel, remained in the death chamber for two and one-half hours, during which he assured the condemned man that his body would not be mutilated. Richeson has feared all along since he learned that he was to die that as soon as breath had passed from his body the physicians were going to dissect. Upon leaving the prison Mr. Morse said:

"Richeson is going to die without holding a grudge against any one. He talked to me calmly about his funeral. He said he wished to be buried in Virginia, and it appears that this will be done. He told when and how he wished to be buried. He gave a list of the hymns that he wished sung at his funeral. Most of them were familiar.

WIDENER GIVES BIG SUM TO CRIPPLES.

Endows Philadelphia Home With Additional $4,000,000.

Philadelphia, May 21.—The memories of a crippled child, of a devoted wife and of a brave son who gallantly stepped aside on the wrecked Titanic that women and children might be saved were revived when P. A. B. Widener executed a deed of trust to the Land Title and Trust company and delivered to it $4,000,000 in 4 per cent securities as an endowment for the Widener Memorial Home For Crippled Children.

The fortune that is given outright to the great charity is sufficient to make its service perpetual and to place it in the front rank of charities of its kind

The sum given makes a total of $7,000,000 actually paid and set aside for the home by Mr. Widener. It is proposed to utilize and invest the $4,000,000 in such a manner that it will eventually become an endowment fund of $5,000,000.

ROOMING HOUSE MYSTERY.

Father-in-law of George W. Perkins Found Ill In Chicago.

Chicago, May 21.—A man seventy years old, giving the name of Flamin Ball and claiming to be the father-in-law of George W. Perkins of New York, has been found seriously ill in a rooming house here. He says he is also the father of an officer of the New York Life Insurance company.

Mrs. Perkins was Evelyn Ball before her marriage, and a friend of the Perkins family said that he thought her father's name was Flamin Ball and that he lived in the west. Miss Dorothy Perkins, Mr. Perkins' daughter, said that she hadn't heard anything about her grandfather being ill. She added that she couldn't tell anything more about her mother's father than that his name was Ball.

FIND WEALTHY MAN'S BODY.

Believed to Be That of Clark Cheny, Killed With Bullet.

Chicago, May 21.—A well dressed man was found shot to death in Grant park. A revolver with one chamber emptied lay near the body. The police believe it a case of suicide.

A postal card addressed to "Clark Cheny, care of W. Leland, Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York," was found in the man's clothing. He had no money or other valuables.

At the banking and brokerage offices of Arthur S. Leland & Co. it was said today that a Clark Cheney, about twenty-five years of age, was an occasional visitor there, but had not been seen for ten days. He was described as well to do.

HONOR CARPATHIA'S CAPTAIN.

Loving Cup For Skipper of Ship That Saved Titanic Victims.

Newport, R. I., May 21.—A silver loving cup is to be presented to Captain Rostrom of the steamship Carpathia when that ship returns to New York from Naples the latter part of the month, according to information reaching this city.

The trophy is to be in recognition of the service rendered by Captain Rostrom to the survivors of the Titanic disaster. The cup will be presented by one of the survivors, Mrs. James J Brown of Denver, and will come from herself and a number of Denver women.

NEWPORT; CAPTAIN.

Commander Tillman to Take New York Schoolboys on Long Trip.

OHIO'S PRIMARY BATTLE ON TODAY.

Taft and Roosevelt Both Are Confident.

Dayton, O., May 21.—President Taft ended his Ohio campaign with a speech before a big crowd here. The president finished with assurances from his managers that he will at least break even with Roosevelt in regard to delegates. The president after the final meeting of his campaign left for Cincinnati, where he will cast his ballot today and then head for Washington. Mr. Taft will reach the White House just about in time to get a fresh change of linen and then make a beeline for New Jersey, where the next great stumping contest between him and the colonel will take place.

Cambridge, O., May 21.—Colonel Roosevelt served notice that he would resist any compromise at the Republican national convention. "There can be no compromise," he said in Cambridge. "Some of our opponents are saying that neither Mr. Taft nor I should be nominated. I'll name the compromise candidate. He will be me."

Longest Tunnel In World.

St. Petersburg, May 21.—The government is planning the longest tunnel in the world. It is to be fifteen miles long and with other facilities will connect Tiflis and Vladikavkaz, the latter place being a town in Cis-Caucasia. The two places are 125 miles apart.

WEAK WITTED BOY SCALDED TO DEATH

Forced Beneath Hot Water In Vineland Home.

MOTHER IS INVESTIGATING

Wealthy Widow Declares Her Only Son's Tragic Death Would Not Have Occurred Had Management of Training School Taken Precautions.

Vineland, N. J., May 21.—The charge that her son was scalded to death in the Training School For Backward and Feeble Minded Children here is made emphatically by Mrs. Minnie Zuckermann, a well to do widow of Brooklyn. The mother, who is plunged in grief, will ask the authorities of Cumberland county, in which Vineland is situated, to investigate the boy's death.

Elijah Zuckermann, seventeen years old, had been in the institution eleven months. Mrs. Zuckermann declares her belief that her only son's tragic death would not have occurred had the management of the training school taken proper precautions. She vows, too, that in a letter C. Emerson Nash, assistant superintendent of the institution, wrote to her he practically confessed a lack of proper care of her boy.

Boy Is Fatally Scalded.

The superintendent wrote, she says, that Elijah was bathed soon before supper time on Saturday, May 11, and put to bed. During supper time a boy took Elijah from bed to the shower bath, "where the water was turned on."

Mr. Nash wrote that evidently Elijah sprang from under the scalding water as soon as it touched him, which seems credible. But his back and arms were severely scalded. He was taken immediately to the hospital and did not seem to suffer after treatment.

"We regret very much this accident," Nash's letter read. "We thought we had taken all precautions against such danger by having no keys on the bathtubs, but had not removed them from the showers."

The boy died of his burns early Thursday morning last.

BOY BANK THIEF TO ELMIRA.

Many Asked For Suspension of Sentence on Edward J. Morris.

Jersey City, N. J., May 21.—Edward J. Morris, a seventeen-year-old bank messenger, was sentenced to Elmira reformatory by Judge O'Sullivan in the court of general sessions. He had pleaded guilty to the larceny of $5,000 from the Bankers' Trust company. The case received special attention because of the number of persons who pleaded for a suspended sentence for the lad and because of the fact that he pleaded not guilty first and then was brought back the same afternoon to plead guilty.

Morris received the money to carry to the Bank of Montclair last April. He and another boy went to Columbus, O., instead, and from Columbus Morris wired back to the Bankers' Trust company $4,249 of the money. He was arrested in Chicago several days later and had $600 left, which also was returned.

FIND MARINER DROWNED.

Body Found In East River Is That of Captain Kimmitte.

Newark, N. J., May 21.—The body of a drowned man found in the East river three days ago and taken to the morgue was identified as that of Captain George W. Kimmitte, forty-nine years old, of Newark. Captain Kimmitte was a sailor and a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Until a year ago Captain Kommitte was in command of a sailing vessel. As he was bringing his ship around the Horn last year he was stricken blind. He tried to regain the use of his eyes, but was told that his sight was destroyed. This caused him to become depressed.

SHOOTS ANNOYER.

Striker Interferes With Man, Who Fires Twice.

Nutley, N. J., May 21.—Firing of shots and the forcible removal of men at work marked the activity of the striking laborers here.

Pasquale Gencarelli fired the shots. He was at work when Salvatore Martini interfered. Gencarelli fired two shots at the annoyer, neither of which took effect. Former Chanceman James Giangarelli arrested the shooter and lodged him in the lockup in town hall.

Two Admit Horse Stealing.

Washington, N. J., May 21.—On charges of horse stealing, Benjamin Heath and Jack Kern of this place pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge G. M. Shipman at Belvidere. Heath admitted stealing a horse from Jacob Miller, near this place, and Kern, waiving indictment, confessed the theft of an animal from Edgar Metler. The men will be sentenced Friday.

Fire Destroys a Steamer.

Montreal, May 21.—Fire destroyed the steamer Iona in Lake Ontario, fifteen miles north of Oswego, N. Y., according to a long distance telephone message received here from Captain Paul Hymond, who, with a crew of twelve men, escaped in a lifeboat to Henderson Harbor, N. Y.

—The British jury out of which nine could not write and seven could not read seems to be almost a judicial ideal.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ELECTRICITY IS THE POWER.

It is becoming more generally recognized every day in the industrial world that Central Station Electric Power is the most economical and most satisfactory power drive there is under all sorts of conditions.

This fact is conceded by those who have had experience with both steam and Electric power.

But the fact has not yet been impressed upon all manufacturers. Nor is this at all surprising.

Many power users have large investments tied up in steam plants and they hesitate to scrap their present equipment. Again comparatively few men keep an accurate, complete record of their power costs and consequently do not know how much power they are wasting. And wasted power means wasted money.

We have experts who stand ready to consult with any power user about his particular power plant and show wherein Electric drive is superior to and cheaper than steam.

One of these men would like to meet you and discuss your problem. You can get the facts without cost. Write or telephone.

DEFEATS TAFT IN OWN STATE

The Colonel Wins 32 District Delegates and President Gets 10 in Ohio.

SIX ARE IN DISPUTE

Both Claim Delegates-at-large But "T. R." Will Probably Get Them—Severe Blow to President's Candidacy.

New York, May 22.—Returns from the Ohio State primary up to an early hour this afternoon left the control of the State convention in doubt. The convention will elect six delegates at large.

Both the Taft and Roosevelt managers claimed a working majority in the State convention and it was said the fight over the final six delegates would be waged to the end. The chances are that Roosevelt will win the six delegates.

Of Ohio's twenty-one districts, each electing two delegates in the State-wide primary, the returns this afternoon indicated a sweeping victory for the Roosevelt men.

The district delegate vote stood:
Roosevelt, 20 delegates.
Taft, 10 delegates.

Most of the country districts were yet to be accounted for at noon. The Progressive vote for La Follette was light throughout the State.

Gov. Harmon had a substantial majority over Gov. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, in the Ohio Democratic primary, but his lead in the popular vote was less than Roosevelt's.

In the race between Governor Harmon and Governor Woodrow Wilson, Harmon, it is predicted by his managers, has carried the state by a slight majority over Wilson. It is certain Wilson has carried Cleveland by a vote of 2 to 1. Most of the industrial centers also have been carried by Wilson, while Harmon has carried the farming districts, Columbus and home county, Hamilton.

Clark's Name Not on Ballot.

Speaker Clark's name was not on the ballots because Mr. Clark courteously refused to be voted for in any state having a favorite son. The complexion of the state delegation cannot be determined at present.

President Taft carried Hamilton county by a plurality claimed to be 8,000. In Cincinnati it was a sweep for the president. The only strength shown by Roosevelt was in the negro districts, where he ran well.

Governor Harmon carried Hamilton county over Wilson, but made no such sweep of it as President Taft did. He led Wilson but slightly. In the Democratic primaries there was a direct Harmon and Wilson vote. In the Republican primaries delegations were put up pledged to vote for Taft or Roosevelt delegates, and the same applied to the delegates to the state convention.

The president's strength was shown in the southern districts. The great vote for Roosevelt came from the northern congressional districts, where in some places he polled twice as many votes as President Taft.

Chairman Brown's Statement.

Chairman Brown of the Roosevelt forces issued a statement in which he says Roosevelt had swept the state. Appearances are that this is true. The heavy vote given to the president in the southern part of it will, however, make his showing on the total vote not so bad as it appears in the light of the number of delegates he lost.

Cleveland was a Roosevelt stronghold. In the congressional districts here the old Hanna influence was felt as exerted by Dan Hanna.

The manner in which the vote has been divided, according to the Roosevelt managers, is that Roosevelt has received three out of every five votes cast in the primary.

Governor Harmon was beaten in Cleveland, where Mayor Baker waged war on him, using Wilson as a club.

Harvey C. Garber, Wilson's manager, gave out this statement:

"We are already sure of carrying the Third, Fourth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Sixteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first districts for Wilson. Returns from other districts have not yet been received, but the general trend will sweep a number of other districts into the Wilson column. I would not be surprised if Wilson gets thirty of the forty-eight delegates from Ohio."

VALUE OF OPEN-AIR SCHOOLS HIS THEME

Anti-Tuberculosis Lecturer Tells of An Important Field of Work.

Under the auspices of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, a public meeting in the interest of the fight against the "White Plague" was held at the Y. M. C. A., last night. Ernest Eaton, secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Newark, was present and gave an illustrated lecture on the open-air school work being carried on in Newark and various other parts of the country.

Preceding and following Mr. Eaton's talk two moving picture films were shown. They were vivid reminders of the necessity for waging the fight against the "Plague," and visibly impressed the audience.

Mr. Eaton presented facts and figures to show what has already been done in the campaign against tuberculosis, especially among school children. He said that statistics show that 5 per cent. of the children attending school are anaemic, and 2 per cent. are tubercular and die before they reach the age of 12 years.

Mr. Eaton said that it costs the State between $30 and $80 a year to educate a child and in the case of those who die at an early age the State loses just that much money. Mr. Eaton then gave a brief history of the discovery of tuberculosis and the subsequent fight against it, during which he showed numerous pictures of open air schools throughout the country.

William S. Tyler, of the local league, supplemented Mr. Eaton's remarks with a strong plea for the support of the work. There was a large number of children present and he especially impressed upon them the importance of enlisting in the campaign and doing everything possible not only to escape the disease themselves, but to assist in educating others.

Mr. Tyler referred to the work being carried on by the league at its pavilion in this city, telling how many persons have been cured of the disease by taking the treatment before the advanced stages were reached. He disabused the minds of those present that the Union County Sanitarium, which will be opened in the fall, will lessen Plainfield's responsibility, adding that on the contrary it is a plain duty for the league to work all the harder to rid the city of the disease.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR "TRIP TO THE MOON"

With everything in readiness even to the most minute detail, the three hundred and fifty young people who constitute the cast in the comedy, "A Trip to the Moon," are but waiting for the time to elapse until tomorrow night when the first performance will be given.

Although the city has had many other things to distract its attention during the last few days, the "Trip" promises to be a rousing success.

The final rehearsal was held last night and everything went on in fine style. Today the members of the cast will be given a complete rest and when they appear on the stage tomorrow evening for the first performance they expect to be at their best. J. G. Hoffman, the musical director, has worked out all the details and expects the affair to be a grand success.

The plot in the play has a local flavor. Roundsman Higgins and Chief Kiely will assist the cow in jumping over the moon.

RECEPTION TO SENIORS.

CRANFORD PRISONER IS IDENTIFIED BY DETECTIVE

Detective Sergeant John Flynn, of this city, identified yesterday the colored man captured Monday after an exciting chase from Cranford to Springfield by Policeman Wood, of Cranford. The colored man was in a wagon and was pursued by the Cranford policeman on a bicycle. The fugitive did not slacken rein until the horse dropped from exhaustion, although shots were fired at him. He was taken back to Cranford and held on suspicion.

In the wagon were a number of musical instruments, clothes and other assorted articles. He had $50 in his possession and also a bank book which showed $150 to his credit.

Yesterday evening Detective Sergeant Flynn on his return from a trip to Elizabeth dropped off at Cranford. He identified the prisoner as one Pearl Rogers, formerly of Plainfield, who twelve years ago was sentenced to seven years for the burglary of Charles Jeter's house on Belmont avenue, and to five years for bicycle thieving. The Cranford police are investigating the history of the rig and other things found in the negro's possession.

ENTERTAINED AT HOME.

The inmates of the Industrial home were entertained with song and instrumental music for the fourth time last night by the Richards Company. The Queen City Quartet sang several selections. Other parts of the program were solos by Miss Mildred McAuliff, comic songs by George Simons, harmonica solo by William Richards, violin solos by John Page and Ramsey Wilson, and duets by Miss Mildred McAuliff and John Richards. Walter Cubberly and Jocelyn Mead also took part.

LOST END OF FINGER.

Joseph T. Kelly, of 708 West Fourth street a machinist in the employ of the International Motor Truck Company, had the fingers of his right hand crushed in a machine at the works yesterday afternoon, and was obliged to go to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment. The physician in charge found it necessary to amputate the end of one finger.

Roselle, May 22.—The case of Hugh Higgins, of Plainfield, a trolley car inspector, against Sonie Cross, colored, was before the Union County Grand Jury at Elizabeth, Monday. Several Roselle persons were called to testify. Cross was one of several negroes charged with assaulting Higgins and the conductor of the car recently. The trolley company is pushing the case in an effort to break up rowdyism on cars.

MOTORCYCLISTS DITCHED.

Benjamin Howell and Walter Kennedy, of this city, were proceeding at a merry clip yesterday evening in the direction of Westfield on a double-seated motorcycle when rounding a corner too sharply the cycle skidded and flung both young men into a ditch. With the exception of a few bruises they escaped unhurt. The motorcycle was undamaged.

ENTERTAINED CLASS.

Mrs. Henry DeMott entertained the members of her Sunday-school class of Grace M. E. church at her home on Somerset street, last evening. Twenty-five of the young folks were present. A most enjoyable time was spent, numerous games being played and refreshments served.

RELEASED BOY PINNED BY A HEAVY WEIGHT

Resourcefulness of Durant Frees His Helper From Agonizing Plight.

William Durant, of West Fifth street, displayed ready resourcefulness in a trying situation yesterday morning. He works in the Times building, New York, as chief machinist. He has a young helper named Charles Gibbs. Something went wrong with a freight elevator that runs from the pavement to the cellar and Gibbs was sent to adjust it.

As Gibbs worked, the automatic weight which regulates the elevator's movements suddenly came down pinning one of his hands to the pavement, almost crushing it to pulp. A crowd gathered and every effort was made to raise the weight from the youth's hand but in vait.

Word of the accident reached Durant and he hurried to the scene. With a glance he took in the situation, and solved the problem it presented. He got a drill with which he bored a hole through the weight. Then a steel rod was inserted and with that purchase the volunteers from the crowd were able to raise the weight off the boy's hand. Gibbs was immediately hurried to the Roosevelt hospital, where it is feared that his hand will have to be amputated. The crowd worked for twenty minutes on the weight before Durant arrived; it took him only ten minutes to drill the weight and effect the youth's release.

APPROPRIATIONS CARRIED AT BORO SCHOOL ELECTION

A special meeting of the voters of the school district of North Plainfield was held last night in the Somerset school house to determine by ballot the purchase and installation of a heating apparatus not to exceed in cost $18,000; and also to authorize the Board of Education to raise $23,500 for current expenses, manual training and repairs. The tellers were J. W. H. Bauersachs and B. J. Phelps. Thirty-four votes in all were cast; twenty-eight were cast for the $18,000 appropriation and six against. The remaining appropriation were all voted by large majorities.

This election was the second one held on the same question. The former vote was pronounced void by the Attorney-General.

CITY EDITOR HUGHES TELLS HOW NEWS IS HANDLED

George T. Hughes, city editor of the New York Globe, took his audience on the daily journeys of the reporter in a big city, in his address before the Men's Club of Hope Chapel last night. Told too, how the news is brought to the newspaper office, how the city editor sorts and edits it and gets it before the public.

His descriptions of some of the experiences, including the trials and pleasures that confront the newspaper man were amusing and absorbing. Mr. Hughes spoke from a wide personal knowledge of his subject. Folowing the address a social time was enjoyed.

CHESS EXHIBITION.

Considerable interest is being expressed in the revival of chess at the Y. M. C. A. A number of players have sent in their names for a place against the veteran player, Stanley H. Chadwick, who will meet all comers next Tuesday evening in a simultaneous exhibition. All players are to bring their own boards and chess men. Those interested should communicate at once with James Mc Clymont, 918 West Sixth street, telephone 407-L.

MRS. ROGERS A WINNER.

Mrs. N. P. Rogers beat Mrs. F. E. Donohue, of Montclair, 6 up and 5 to play, and Mrs. W. J. Faith beat Mrs. H. R. Stockton, 6 up and 4 to play, in the first match round in the women's golf tournament for the Metropolitan title at Englewood yesterday. Although Mrs. Rogers was hit in the side by a golf ball, she pluckily continued to play, defeating her opponent.

STILLMAN EXHIBITION.

An exhibition of cooking, manual training and art opened in the Stillman School yesterday. It will close today. All of the exhibits shown are the work of the pupils in the school and are highly creditable productions. The cakes, pies and other products of the girl's cooking class are especially tempting, and the work of the boys, while of a different nature, are equally good.

Mrs. Charles W. Klag, of Watchung avenue, leaves this week for England, where she will spend the summer with relatives and friends.

NON-PARTISAN PRAISE FOR ALBERT RICHARDS

Democrats and Republicans Tell How They Esteem the Giver of Feasts.

Albert Richards, of Dover, one of the Board of Managers of the State Hospital at Morris Plains, was the host at a dinner given at the Queen City Hotel last night, at which were gathered men of all political beliefs. Politics were tabOO, and only in one instance was the rule broken. Former Mayor N. P. Smalley, of North Plainfield, was the transgressor. During his remarks he paid a high compliment to President Taft, explaining that "he just couldn't help saying a word for Taft."

The affair was called a "friendship dinner." Mr. Richards entertains his friends in this way now and then. All but four of the invited guests were present. Dr. B. D. Evans, the head of the State Hospital, was the toastmaster. In his brief introductory remarks, he sounded the praises of Mr. Richards, which was the keynote for the speakers of the evening.

"Friendship" was the one toast of the evening. It received emphasis from such arrangements as the placing of former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., beside W. L. R. Lynd, of Dover, who has been named as a Wilson delegate. Their propinquity didn't seem to mar the pleasures of the evening for either Mr. Smith or Mr. Lynd.

Among those who made short speeches, following the fine dinner served by Proprietor Floersch, were James Smith Jr., of Newark; William A. Coddington, William N. Runyon, N. B. Smalley, of this city; W. L. R. Lynd, of Dover, and R. B. Cornish, of Stirling. The praises of Mr. Richards rang through every speech, and the host was voted to be "one of the best fellows that ever lived."

Those present were: Albert Richards, W. L. R. Lynd, W. B. Gillen, Emil Katterman, H. B. Johnson, of Dover; James Smith, Jr., and J. C. Eisele, of Newark; Dr. B. D. Evans, Daniel S. Voorhees, A. C. Bowen, of Morristown; Mahlon Hoagland, Jr., of Rockaway; R. A. Alland, R. B. Cornish, of Stirling; Joseph Kenworthy, W. A. Tripp and E. A. Wilkinson, of Madlington; William N. Runyon, N. P. Smalley, W. A. Coddington, David J. Carney (the artist who created the menu cards), George J. Tobin and Herbert Buxton, of Plainfield.

MRS. PERCY CLARK DIES AFTER WEEK'S ILLNESS

Mrs. Elsie M. Clark, wife of Percy Clark and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Peters, of North aveue, Dunellen, died this morning at her parent's home in her twenty-sixth year. She had not been well for many weeks but it was not until last week that her condition was considered as serious and her death comes as a great shock to her many friends.

Mrs. Clark was well-known among younger people in both Dunellen and in this city with whom she was very popular. About a year ago she was married to Percy Clark, an electrician, and the young couple made their home with her parents.

Besides her parents and husband Mrs. Clark is survived by two brothers, John, Jr., and Ernest Peters, both of Dunellen. The funeral services will be held from the Dunellen Methodist church, of which Mrs. Clark was a member, Friday afternoon, and the burial will be in the Bound Brook cemetery.

MRS. FLORENCE HADDEN DIES AT THE AGE OF 39

Mrs. Florence J. Hadden, aged 39 years, wife of C. Edward Hadden, died at 4 o'clock this morning at her home, 117 Westervelt avenue, the borough. She was taken ill suddenly last Friday and diabetes coma developed with scarlet fever complications. On Sunday Mrs. Hadden became unconscious.

Mrs. Hadden was born in Brooklyn and was the daughter of Mrs. Orrington Lunekin. Her father, who was a sea captain for many years, died some time ago. She was a member of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational church, Brooklyn, but during her two years' residence in the borough had been an attendant at Warren chapel. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Miss Constance Hadden, and her mother, who lived with her. Private funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. O. McKelvey will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

TWO PRINCIPLES OF COMMISSION

Concentration of Responsibility and a Larger Share of Power in the People.

OPERATION EXPLAINED

Chief Advantage of Commission Form of Government is Business Administration—Taxpayers and Governing Body Closely Connected

The commission form of government for cities is, in a word, the direct application of business principles to municipal needs.

The significant features of commission form of government, as found in all of the charters of cities adopting it, are as follows:

1. A small commission, usually of five members elected from the city at large by qualified electors.

2. Assignment of the important decisions of city government to individual members of the commission, each of whom is directly responsible for the best conduct of his particular department.

3. Adequate compensation to the members of the commission for their time and labor, the city employing all the commissioners at living wages and requiring of them al necessary time.

4. Regularity, frequency and publicity of the meetings of the commissions.

5. Power to initiate any desired legislation is reserved in the people. This right is known as the initiative.

6. Power to call for public vote on any measure adopted by the commission, before given effect as law, is reserved in the people. This is known at the referendum.

7. Power, at any time, to make any member of the commission stand for reelection is reserved to the people. This is known as the recall.

Basic Principles of the Plan.

The commission form of government is the outcome of recognition of two principles: (1) The routine of municipal administration requires for success a concentration of responsibility; (2) the larger the share of the people in the responsibilities of their government, the more successful will be that government.

The commission form of government, therefore, provides for the careful selection of a small body of capable administrative officers.

1. The smaller the number of officers to be chosen the more important to the people becomes the proper selection of each; hence, stimulated interst in the election.

2. The more important the office to be filled, the greater the appeal to the capable men to offer for election.

3. Adequate compensation for the time of the officers elected makes it possible for them to devote the necessary time to the welfare of the city.

4. Concentration of responsibility gives each official the largest opportunity for the best development of the interests of his particular department.

5. Relentless publicity, adequate supervision of public accounts and freedom of access at all times to the ears of the commission, provides for the people safeguards and natural checks for the proper administration of all public funds.

The commission form of government provides for the immediate exercise by the people of a voice in all matters of general importance.

No ordinance can go into effect until after the public has had opportunity to inform itself.

No ordinance, to which twenty per cent. (Only fifteen per cent. is required under the Walsh Act.) of the electors file a petition in opposition can become effective until after the public has sa elected.

Any ordinance desired by twenty per cent. (Only fifteen per cent. is required under the Walsh Act.) of the electors must be submitted to a vote of the people.

The people can put to reelection, at any time, any officer in whom or in whose administration they have lost confidence.

Organization and Operation.

The administration of the affairs of the municipality is usually divided into five departments.

1. The department of public works, of which the mayor is the head.

2. The department of accounts and finances.

3. The department of public safety.

4. The department of streets and improvements.

5. The department of parks and public property.

One commissioner is assigned to the head of each of the last four departments.

The commissioner in charge of any department is responsible for the conduct of his department, both to the commission and to the public.

Reassignments of departments may be made at any time.

THIEF HID $20,000 IN SAFETY VAULT

Believed to Have Robbed Home of Morgan.

LIVED LIKE A RICH MAN.

Frequented Big Hotels In Immaculate Dress and Gave Many Notable Dinners and Late Suppers at Restaurants on Broadway.

New York, May 22.—More than $20,000 worth of jewelry was found in a safe deposit vault of the Harlem branch of the Colonial Trust company, where it had been placed by Bert Curtis, one of the new old fashioned burglars whose existence is admitted by the police. The police opened the box in the presence of Curtis, who gave his consent despite the advice of his attorney, Rudolph Newman.

The key of the box was given to Captain Tunney and Captain Brown of the detective bureau by a woman they found in the flat which Curtis occupied under the name of Lamont. With the permission of Magistrate Freschi the detectives took Curtis to the bank handcuffed to Deputy Jailer Julius Brumel of Harlem court prison. There was a little delay at the bank while the manager waited for instructions from downtown. Captain Tunney took from the box seven envelopes and opened them and found a horde of jeweled booty.

Morgan May Be Victim.

Several wealthy men and women who have reported jewelry losses by robbery recently, including J. P. Morgan, Jr., have been asked to communicate with Captain Tunney to aid in the identification of the jewelry.

It was hard for the persons who followed in a curious crowd as the prisoner and the police accompanied him to the bank to realize that Curtis was the "Beau Brummel" burglar of whom they had read. The police say that he frequented the big hotels in immaculate dress and that he gave many notable dinners and late suppers at restaurants of high priced menus.

He was a furtive looking, not overclean creature when arrested. It seemed hardly possible he could ever have passed a watchful head waiter.

MARRIED WOMEN LAWS COMPILED BY MR. KNOX

A new book has just been issued by the New Jersey Law Journal Publishing Company, entitled "The Law of Married Women in New Jersey," the author of which is Reuben Knox, Esq., of North Plainfield. The subject is one which has not before been treated in this State, and is upon one of the most important topics which interest and puzzle the average lawyer. The book contains 564 pages, and ought to be welcomed by the lawyers of the State because it presents in a most accessible shape what the courts have ruled, and the statutes have decreed upon the subjects of ante-nuptial agreements, chattel mortgage, contracts between husband and wife, maintenance, marriage, mechanics' lien, separate estate, etc.

The plan upon which the book has been prepared is a novel one, because usually the method pursued is to give a synopsis with comments of what the law is supposed to be, whereas this gives the actual text of the opinions of the courts, followed by any comments, by way of cross references, etc., which the author has chosen to make. While the book is written for the profession, it is valuable also for married women.

VETERANS FILE PAPERS FOR PENSION INCREASE

Many of the old soldiers in Plainfield and vicinity are filing their applications for increased pensions under the provisions of the Smoot Bill, which was recently passed by Congress. The increase will date from the time of filing the application with the Pension Departmen at Washington. Martin B. Stutsman, V. W. Nash, Jr., and other attorneys of the city have received application blanks and have already taken a number of affidavits.

The government has fixed the fee which attorneys can charge for filling out applications and taking affidavits at 50 cents for each paper. That sum covers all expense of making out papers and postage. Attorneys are allowed a fee of 25 cents for each affidavit in making out papers for the quarterly pension.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilman, of Lenox avenue, have returned home, after spending the past two weeks with Mrs. Gilman's sister, Mrs. Dean Edwards, of Brooklyn.

PRINCIPLES OF COMMISSION

All city employees are appointed by the commission and cannot be removed except for cause.

Complaints, suggestions, petitions, are acted upon as soon as practicable. There is no referring to committees. Access to the responsible head is immediate. Attention to the public business is his one duty.

Advantages of Commission Government.

Commission government offers a first advantage in providing for the business administration of the city, the same concentrated executive force, working unitedly in its interests, which distinguishes every other large corporation.

No complex private business concern could exist, much less prosper, with the loose executive supervision which distinguishes the administration of cities under old conditions.

Failure in private business is indicated by bankruptcy, insolvency, closed doors. Failure in city administration in indicated by increasing taxation and the issuing of bonds.

A city is an unusually complete business organism. Opportunity for waste is tremendous. Unsystematic supervision means loss.

The advantage of the commission form of government is that it gives the business of the city a business chance, under competent executive control.

1. It does this through the form and nature of the commission, the powers and responsibilities with which it is invested, its opportunities for private initiative in the public interest.

2. It does this through the careful selection of the members of the commission.

The people are more sensible of the danger to them, of electing even one bad man among five than of electing many bad men among twenty-five.

It provides competent salaries. Free labor is usually the most expensive, if only because of the slight interest taken in it by the laborer. The workman measures the importance of his task to his master by the value the master himself sets upon it.

3. The commission form of government gives the business of the city a business chance, by providing for careful supervision. The public know, even better than the ordinary stockholders of a corporation, every detail of the administration of their affairs.

And they are given a right, at any time, to make effectual protest.

Commission government offers a second advantage in that it makes officials responsible to the people and not to the bosses.

There is no such thing as a ward, under the new form of government. The city is administered as a unit, not as a confederacy of unrelated provinces. The ward boss disappears as a factor in the political situation, except as a part of political organization including the whole city.

Since no employe can be discharged, except for cause, after a public hearing, there can be no intimidation for tribute.

The impossibility of tampering with the public funds or, unlawfully benefitting from public contracts, cuts off stil more of the sinews of war.

Each commissioner is directly responsible for the best conduct of his department, and is continually subject to the threat of the recall so that in the end the city affairs are run in the interest of the city and not in the interst of the politicians.

Everything is done in the limelight of publicity.

What It Has Accomplished.

Commission government has accomplished the revival of hope in the unselfish majority of the electorate, by providing at last a rational system of administration.

It has accomplished the successful demonstration of the truth, that the people can safely rule themselves if given a fair chance to do so.

In Houston, Texas, "In less than a year it enabled the city to wipe out a floating indebtedness in the neighborhood of $400,000, and in three years $700,000 of permanent improvements were made, without the issuance of a single bond; and while these improvements have been going on, the tax rate has been reduced to 20 cents on the $100. Real and personal property is assessed at 25 per cent. of its real value."

In Sioux Falls, South Dakota, "Under the old system the floating indebtedness gradually increased. The first year of the commission government we retired $30,000 of the floating indebtedness. We do not have any politics in our city affairs now; we have no curb-stone political bosses. Everything is done on its merits. You could not find ten people in our city dissatisfied with the present way of managing the city business."

In San Diego, California, "The bonded indebtedness of our city has during the past year, been reduced $59,200, and the tax rate reduced 20 cents on the $100."

In Miami, Oklahoma "The commission has had the effect of reducing the taxes in this city, from 13 mills in 1909 to 9¾ mills for the year 1910."

No city of the one hundred and eighty odd that have adopted this form of government reports anything but success and freedom from the pest of local politicians.

What It Promises.

The commission government plan does not positively insure good government; no mere system can do that. The people must be alert, interested in their city and its administration, and ready to act if their interests are not guarded. No scheme of government can take the place of these qualities on the part of citizens.

But what the commission government plan does is to closely connect the people and the governing body; it enables the voters to really choose their men, to judge their acts with a fair degree of accuracy and to hold them responsible for the kind of government given, retiring the commissioners, if necessary, or refusing approval of their laws; and this fact inspires the hope that American cities can be, after all, well administered; a new feeling that there is a plan which gives the average citizen a chance to determine who shall represent him, and afterwards to decide whether he is being adequately represented.

This is why commission government is spreading so rapidly and so steadily, and why the results so far obtained have been so favorable.

No Longer Experiment.

One of the best arguments that commission government is a success and best adapted to modern needs, is shown by the manner in which it is being adopted by various cities of various states.

Opposition to the Movement.

The movement in the direction of the commission form of government for cities has met with determined opposition.

1. From a well-meaning element of the electorate everywhere who have not considered the question, are not informed as to any of its details and accept their attitude ready made at the hands of those whose self-interest in its defeat gives them an eloquent earnestness in the opposition

2. From the stand-patters, who see only innovation without alowing themselves the opportunity to analyze the character of these innovations. The argument against the new form of city government is only the old argument against democracy.

3. From the army of professional politicians whose bread it takes away. From him who prefers graft to the fruit of honest labor, personal power to good service, fraud to clean elections vice to honesty and decency, ignorance to education, corruption to cleanliness, money to honor, self to the people; whether he be the leader with money to spread or the debauchee of the gutter, whom his money purchases, has come a determined, relentless and always unsuccessful opposition. The city politician sees in the new system his doom, and so do the people. His type of candidates would never dare the limelight of publicity, an effectual barrier to all but the honest and fit. His hour of control is over.

Conclusion.

Whatever opposition has come it has been easily classified as (1) uninformed or misinformed; (2) the pessimism of intellectual inertia; (3) self interested.

"There is no variation in the character of the reports—everywhere it is leaks stop, system taking the place of choas, efficiency substituted for poor service, promptness for poor service, promptness for hopeless procrastination, lower for higher tax levies or better values received for the public outlays.

Vigor and Vitality of the Movement.

"But back of all these causes for congratulation and rising above every other consideration, the student of the new charter discovers that which explains the wonderful vigor and vitality of the whole movement and accounts for a popular favor out of all proportion to any financial results recorded at Galvaston or Des Moines, or in any other city operating under the new plan, or all of them combined. It is the reconciliation of the citizen and his city; the new birth of his faith in it and in himself as a factor in its public life; the revival of his hopes for the republic as a thing that is not to languish and die from the toxins evolved within itself, but is to go for unreckoned ages, playing a good part in the drama of national life.

Final.

"Thus, that which most commends the commission plan of municipal government is the optimism it brings back into our municipal politics; the new anchorage it affords for the democracy which is conquering the world, but can rule it only so long as it believes in itself."—Atlantic City Daily Press.

SOCIALISM.

Time was when Socialism was discussed merely by the politicians. Now that political doctrine is engaging the attention of the religious forces and especially bitter are the controversies as to its merits and demerits. The Roman Catholic Church is arrayed against Socialism. In the Episcopal Church it appears to be gaining recruits though as a body there appears to be no unity of thought. Now and then a bishop or a prominent clergyman has something to say in favor of the political creed in question. For instance only yesterday, Bishop Lines, of the Diocese of Newark, expressed these views.

"There is a systematic attack upon Socialism just now which is not worthy of respect, because the motive is not quite honest. A good many people are joining in the cry against Socialism who know very little about it. No such movement can have gained its strength and hold upon many people without expressing some need and some truth which right-minded men are bound to recognize. It is a means which a great many people in the harder places of life are using in their contention against privilege, and the wise course is for those who bear the Christian name to try to understand the movement and to get into as friendly a relation as possible with those who are finding in Socialism their religion.

"It is a great deal better for all of us to try to remedy whatever is wrong in our existing social, political and industrial system than to denounce those who feel that it is working hardship against them and are trying to substitute for it some other system. The discussion of another industrial basis is not improper, even if much that is said for it seems not to us practical and reasonable. It does no good to abuse people who are sincerely advocating another order of things than that which we have accepted and with which prosperous people are satisfied.

"A good many people are questioning whether some long-standing institutions are as secure as has been thought. Representative government, unrestricted competition, municipal administration, some methods of administering justice are on the defensive. It may be that all of us who are living at ease in respect to our support are on the defensive also. Many contrasts are discovered between the life of us who bear Christ's name and the life of Him who had not where to lay His head. He who had compassion upon the multitude would not have been among those who reproached the great company of His children for trying to make the conditions of life tolerable.

"Wrong things are said in the name of Socialism and are done in the name of organized labor, but they may be matched by things as bad, said or done in the name of religion—and that not so very long ago. We do all need to keep a sense of justice and of fairness and not to be moved by self-interest or prejudice from judgment and conduct which are in accord with the highest principles of the religion of the Christ. It is time for judgment to begin at the house of God."

NOW FOR NEW JERSEY.

The scene of the Presidential conflict is now transferred to New Jersey and during the next six days the people in nearly every village or hamlet in the State will have a chance to see a President, or a would-be President. Many towns will be visited whose inhabitants could never expect to have such distinguished travelers make a call, if those travelers were not "looking for something." The result in Ohio yesterday could not be but disappointing to the Executive, much as it will be disappointing to Governor Wilson if he fails to get the New Jersey delegates to the Baltimore convention. To feel that the inhabitants of any State do not feel honored by having one of their number in the highest office in the land must be mortifying, to say the least.

Mr. Roosevelt will enter the New Jersey campaign with a rush, as he has the campaign in every other State. The fact that he has been able to carry so many Republican States, in his fight for delegates, will encourage him to try to make a strong local windup to his campaign, although he has claimed a number of times that he does not need the New Jersey delegates in order to be nominated.

One thing is certain. The people of Plainfield will have a chance to hear all brands of presidential and near-presidential oratory, during the last two days of the week. With La-Follette and Taft here on Friday and Roosevelt on Saturday, the fireworks will explode in all directions, and if some of the language is resorted to which was a feature of the campaign in Ohio, the local newspapers will have their gas bills reduced for heating the metal in their typesetting machines.

The local managers of the Taft campaign make a mistake having him speak in the Plainfield theatre. When a President of the United States visits a town, whether on a political mission or not, the people all want to see and hear him. Certainly more than the number that can be accommodated in the theatre will turn out on Friday afternoon, and the proper place to hold the meeting is in the open air.

Former President Roosevelt is fortunate in his campaign in New Jersey in one thing. Some of the men who have been imported to make speeches against him are so intemperate in their remarks that their efforts lose all weight. Here are a few of the things that a speaker said about the ex-President at Trenton last night:

"Roosevelt is as crooked as a barrel of snakes."

"He is an unscrupulous, unprincipled and lying demagogue."

"I can put the brains of Theodore Roosevelt on the point of a needle, and they will have as much room there as a tadpole has to wiggle in the Gulf of Mexico."

"There is no more brazen and contemptible creature in politics than Theodore Roosevelt."

Such attacks as these only strengthen the man attacked, for an insinuation that one whom the people have chosen twice as their president has no more brains than can be put on the point of a needle, is an insult to the intelligence of those who elected him to the office.

Bear in mind that the Common Council tonight will consider the proposition to make a contract for the removal and disposal of garbage. An invitation is extended by Chairman Clay, of the public affairs committee, to all taxpayers to attend and to express any views they may have on the subject. Those who criticize the Common Council because it does not do exactly as they would wish, have now an opportunity to be consulted on a matter of prime importance to this community. Don't stay away from the meeting and then "knock" if there is not sufficient display of favorable public sentiment to prompt the city fathers to order the improvement.

Again this week the contributed editorial will be written by a local clergyman, one who takes a deep interest in the community's welfare. Be sure to read what he will have to say. It will be found, as customary in Saturday's issue.

YOUNG CONNOR FINED FOR SHOOTING A DOG

Metuchen, May 22.—In the police court, Francis Heisner Connor, the former choir boy who married Mrs. Mary Morton Picksley Upjohn, forty-three years old, pleaded guilty to shooting a dog. His wife paid a fine of $50 which was imposed on him.

The dog shot belonged to Rev. John F. Fenton, of St. Luke's church, where Connor sang. The clergyman testified that Connor popped the animal over with a shotgun. John Murdock Connor, after a split in the family over his son's marriage, lived for a time with Mr. Fenton.

The marriage of Connor split two families and caused a division in the church which his bride and his own family had attended. The wedding took place in San Francisco three days after a Reno divorce had been granted Mrs. Upjohn.

Connor's appearance Monday was his third in local courts in about a year. Dr. Alfred Lauder Ellis, a former Mayor, caused the arrest of Connor for shooting a dog. Connor's father caused his arrest for attacking him with the butt of a revolver.

MASSEURS TO ORGANIZE FOR HIGHER STANDARDS

Invitations are being sent out to all graduates in massage and medical gymnastics in the Metropolitan district to attend a meeting to be held in New York City June 1, for the purpose of organizing an association for mutual benefit and to raise the standard of graduates in massage and medical gymnastics. This meeting is the outcome of one held on May 11, at which the preliminary steps were taken and an organization committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws.

It is the desire of the committee to have a full representation at this meeting, and as there is at present no available lists it is requested that each graduate send in his or her name to T. A. Melander, Carnegie Hall gymnasium, 57th street and Seventh avenue, New York, chairman of organization committee, and he or she will receive an invitation. R. Morris Adkins is the local representative on the committee. In addition to the business session there will be addresses on important phases of the work by well known physicians and instructors in medical gymnastics.

STRIKERS FROM NEWARK FORCE MEN FROM WORK

Summit, May 22.—Some 250 striking laborers from Newark, entered the Springfield floral plant, just east of this city's boundary line, yesterday and forced a dozen men to quit work. The visitors were led by Joseph Conzalo, walking delegate.

J. Nell Jacobsen, manager of the plant, said that he was paying his employes $11 a week and that during the winter they got $10 a week.

But when the strikers crossed the boundary line, they got cold comfort. Police Sergeant John T. Murphy and Patrolman Daniel McNamara, alone but resolute, drove them back across the boundary line, and then forbade the mto enter the city.

The object of the trip to Summit was to force out the construction gang at work there on the tracks of the Summit Traction Company. As the strikers departed Hahr's Hotel in the eastern section and the Farmers' Hotel, conducted by William Petz, where closed for fear of violence. They left avowedly headed for Elizabeth.

DECREES A MISTRIAL.

Elizabeth, May 22.—A suit for $10,000 damages brought against the Public Service Corporation by Mrs. Annie Finnegan, of Elizabethport, which was to have been tried yesterday was thrown out of court by Judge Vail. Counsel for the plaintiff was former Judge Heisley, of Long Branch. Mrs. Finnegan had her arm broken last fall at Elizabethport, where she started to board a trolley car at the Elizabethport station of the Jersey Central. The car started before she got fairly on, and she was dragged a considerable distance. Former Judge Heisley said that the company had offered her $1,000 in settlement for her injury. Judge Vail said that was no matter to be brought into the public court. In consequence of th edisagreement on this point, Judge Vail declared it a mistrial, and said suit would have to be brought over again.

BARN AND SHEDS BURN.

Califon, May 22.—The large barn and cowsheds on the George Frome' farm at Bunnvale were destroyed by fire. A silo and the contents of the buildings were also destroyed. A horse and cow belonging to George Alpaugh, superintendent of the farm, were burned. Several cows in the barnyard broke through the gate and escaped. The blaze was discovered by an automobiling party returning from High Bridge, and Daniel Hoppock, a neighbor, who gave the alarm. The building appeared to be on fire in several places, and it is thought to be the work of an incendiary. The building and contents were partly covered by insurance.

WAGON OVERTURNED.

A wagon owned by S. Mann, a West Third street grocer, was overturned with a barrel of sugar and other goods on Manson place, yesterday afternoon. At the place where the accident occurred there is a hill down which the wagon was being driven. One of the wheels became caught in a rut, causing the wagon to overturn and throwing the horse. Barton Davis and a number of other onlookers helped the driver to right his wagon and start on his way. Aside from a severe shaking up the driver was unhurt.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE.

Glen Gardner, May 22.—The spring session of the Southern Conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New York, met in the First Lutheran church in this place Monday afternoon, Rev. F. H. The Boynton "Square Pot" Boiler shown here gives more heat from the same amount of coal than any other boiler can give. It is equipped with the famous square fire pot—which increases the effective radiating surface 15% and more over other pots of the same diameter—thus decreasing the cost of your heat. The square fire pot was brought out, patented and can be used only in furnaces and boilers made by

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EGGS AND TOMATOES.

EGGS may be combined with vegetables, one of those with which they blend most satisfactorily being the tomato. Here are some recipes for dishes of this kind which may be served for breakfast or luncheon:

On Buttered Toast.

Scrambled Eggs With Tomatoes.—Take a can of tomatoes, add a pinch of soda and place in a saucepan with a small piece of butter. When hot put in three eggs and stir gently. Add a scant teaspoonful of salt and a quarter teaspoonful of pepper and serve on buttered toast.

In Individual Dishes.

Parisian Eggs.—In a certain famous French restaurant eggs are prepared thus: Stew a large, ripe tomato, place it in a shallow baking dish; then season with salt and a pinch of paprika. Now add a dash of garlic, two good teaspoonfuls of butter and a few grains of sugar. Break over the tomato one or two eggs, dust with salt and pepper and set in the oven for the eggs to poach. These may be served in the baking dish or on buttered toast. The recipe is for one portion only. This makes an attractive dish for an invalid.

Dressed With Sauce.

Eggs in Tomato Sauce.—Take three eggs, one cupful of tomatoes, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white pepper, half a teaspoonful of cornstarch, three slices of stale bread. Boil the tomatoes in a saucepan with the onion, salt and pepper three minutes.

Mix the cornstarch with a little cold water and add to the tomatoes. Boil one minute. Strain on to the other platter or baking dish, which has been brushed with butter. Place the rounds of bread in the tomato, then in the center of each round put an egg, being careful not to break the yolk. Dust with salt and pepper and put a small piece of butter on the top of each egg.

Place in a moderate oven for ten or fifteen minutes or until they are firm. Remove from the oven and serve in the dish in which they were baked in. Garnish with parsley.

Anna Thompson.

FOR THE WEE FOLK.

Juvenile Styles That Are Quaint and Attractive.

Smart frocks for children are usually made with separate guimpes made of fine linen or batiste and finished at the neck with dainty turnover collars.

Although embroidery is used on everything possible for children, it is confined generally on coats to the removable collars and cuffs of white ottoman silk, pique or lingerie.

COMMENCEMENT FROCK.

Never were styles prettier for young girls than at present. This charming frock is designed for commencement day and is simple and modish in the extreme. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for misses of sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7428, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp. When ordering use coupon.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS.

Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, Mrs. Louise Bryan Dorr, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, Mrs. Vernona Henry and Miss Zoe Bateman.

By Mrs. Louise Bryan Dorr.

Until two years ago I was a resident for more than thirty years of St. Paul, Minnesota, where, as in its twin city, Minneapolis, a very large body of the most intelligent women are strongly organized into clubs, and district as well as state federation. As vice president of the state federation and president of the 4th district federation it became my duty and pleasure to lead in many efforts to better the condition surrounding our boys and girls and to arouse the best men to their responsibility as voters for the many evils from which the state and city were suffering. As chairman of a State Legislative Committee appointed to induce the Legislature to investigate the inhuman, demoralizing conditions existing in the State Training School for delinquent boys and girls at Red Wing, Minn., and having investigated to separate them widely into two well appointed, up-to-date institutions under trained, broad-minded supervisors, I learned from many heart-breaking experiences how wasteful of time, ability and energy are the indirect methods by which women now accomplish, or seek to accomplish, needed reform. In Minnesota we finally succeeded and the state has now two splendid State Home Schools—none better in the land, for the hundreds of boys and girls under 17, who in early life are denied a fair chance. The women of Minnesota, unselfish, devoted, persistent, have been at the forefront of nearly every humanitarian movement undertaken during the last quarter century.

A few days ago a friend sent me a marked copy of the St. Paul Dispatch, a fine, progressive newspaper having an immense circulation throughout the city and state. In glaring headlines I read:

CITY GETS NEW CHARTER PLAN

Determined Fight Against Great Odds Wins the Fight for the Commission Form.

Women of the City Come to the Rescue—Vote 5 to 1 in Its Favor.

Then follows the (to me) thrilling story of the long fight against boss rule—the reepated failures to release the grip of the O'Connors and "Ed" Murphy—the remarkable campaign of education carried on by the Pioneer Press and Dispatch and a few public-spirited men for three years and then I read "It was here that Mrs. Hamlin and Mrs. Higbee with the most prominent club women in the city came to the support of the charter amendment. They already had the organization to do effective work and went into the contest with the enthusiasm of crusaders. They suprred on the lagging spirits of the men and undoubtedly won the day.

On another page is told how they did it:

WOMEN WERE BUSY."

Club Committee Employed Boys to Aid in Publicity Campaign for Charter Amendment.

"The club women's charter publicity committee did yeomen service in the interest of the commission plan charter amendment, which was carried at the election yesterday.

"The women employed 112 boys to hand out cards at 112 of the 135 voting precincts, and special women inspectors, by using automobiles, made the rounds to check up on the work of the boys. The publicity work was done for three hours in the morning and three hours in the afternoon.

"Boys from the High Schools and from the State University were employed and the expenses were borne by the committee. The women of the Sixth and Seventh wards paid the entire expenses of the campaign in the precincts there, and the women of the other wards half the expense. The work was done in connection with the Current Topics Club charter committee."

And then follows the remarkable editorial which I cannot help hoping many Plainfield men and women interested in the Commission plan of city government, in good water, sewerage and garbage collection, for instance, may read and ponder earnesty and fairly, asking themselves this question, "Are the women of Plainfield any less inteligent and public-spirited than the women of St. Paul? Should not both cities put the ballot into the hands of such unselfish citizens?"

"VICTORY FOR THE WOMEN.

"Women of St. Paul interested in woman suffrage have done more for the cause by the campaign which they have just made for the charter amendments than they could have done by years of preaching their doctrine. They have shown that women can grasp situations of public service, and can give important service when it becomes necessary.

"While leading men of St. Paul stood back and said they did not know and indicated that they did not care to try to find out, leading women found ot and went to work for the necessary charter amendments. They really won the fight. ..ot only is the commission charter due to the efforts of these women, but the same is true regarding the installment assessment amendments and the city clerk amendment.

"Hundreds of men who were opposed to woman suffrage heretofore or indifferent to it now are its active champions on account of the service performed by the women in this campaign. They believe that such a citizenship should have a voice directly in public business, especially the business of the city. They are the one mass of citizens who seem to be able to put aside personal considerations and approach public questions from the standpoint of the public good."—St. Paul Dispatch.

AROUSED INTEREST IN KOREAN MISSION WORK

Miss Irene Hayes, a returned missionary from Korea, made the principal address at the afternoon session of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society district meeting, at the First M. E. church, yesterday. She told an interesting story of what has been accomplished by the Methodist in Korea, and aroused keen interest in the work.

Mrs. J. H. Knowles, one of the secretaries of the society, conducted a round table, which proved helpful to the women in solving some of the perplexing problems that are constantly confronting them in their work. Miss Hoyt, of Brooklyn, gave a talk on "Children's Work," and Mrs. Thomas MacDonald sang a solo during an intermission in the program. The invitation from the women of St. James' M. E. church, Elizabeth, was acepted, and the society will meet in that church in the fall. There were nearly one hundred delegates present at yesterday's meeting, a delegation of seven from Clinton being among those at the meeting. Mrs. Nelson A. Miller, of this city, president of the society, presided at the sessions during the day.

How does it strike the commuter?

A downtown store at Warren Street just a few steps from the Brooklyn Bridge, the Hudson Terminal and the downtown ferries.

A store in the wholesale district at Thirteenth Street just around the corner from a Subway Express Station.

An uptown store at Thirty-fourth Street, a block away from the new Pennsylvania and Long Island terminal, and across the way from the Hudson tubes.

All on Broadway.

Everything men and boys wear.

Mid-week reminder: In the Manufacturers' League the teams will hook up in the following way on Saturday—Public Service vs. R. G. E., Commercial vs. Spicer, Plainfield Banks vs. Saurer.

The baseball strike is settled and the Detroit Tigers have returned to the fold. Ban. Johnson's reign is unspeckled.

But the Detroit players say that they will continue to fight against his dictatorship.

Josh Devore is warming the bench as the result of a period of inability to hit the ball.

The top place in the National League is a disputed question, and it is rather an uncertain quantity as to who will become a permanent resident at the head of the street.

It took the Rube to do it.

The Giants will be at home, after one more game with the "Reds," to tackle Brooklyn.

The Yanks have taken to sliding again and are perilously near the hard cold bottom again.

Manager Lumley, of the Scranton team, has released five of his pitchers, including "Cliff" Randolph, of this city.

The Polo Grounds have been offered to the Yankees for their Decoration Day game with the Athletics. This is in appreciation of favors shown the Giants after the burning of their stands last year.

Hal Chase is back at first base for the Yanks and does not seem to be much the worse for his recent illness.

A baseball strike that the fans have heard little about occurred in Washington recently when a number of the members of the U. S. League team deserted the ship. They were afraid that they would not get their money.

The Reds had the first laugh but as usual the last one was the one that counted. It took the Rube to start the ball a-rollin', but once the Giants got a taste of victory they were not to be denied and it looks now as though they were going to leave the town on the flats with a comfortable lead.

If it doesn't rain the High School from this side will try to lift the scalp from the Trenton High School team this afternoon at Parker Field.

With President Taft here Friday afternoon and ex-President Teddy here on Saturday and a possibility of having La Follette here between the two, the fans are very apt to hear enough healthy knocks passed out so that they will not feel the need of seeing a baseball game this week.

They say that all three have high batting averages.

However, should you feel like taking a rest after the strenuous time we'll tell you on Friday where you can get a little relief.

The Williams College baseball team has the knack of humbling all of the big ones. They tripped Princeton last week and yesterday took Yale's measure, 3 to 1.

Princeton will have a crackajack kicking squad on the 1912 football team, according to the educated pedal extremities which were revealed last week in the annual spring punting, drop kicking and passing contest. W. L. DeWitt banged out a 66 yard punt, but H. H. Gile won the cup with an average of 56 yards 2 feet; W. G. Penfield won the drop-kicking contest, scoring eight goals out of a possible dozen, all at difficult angles. W. G. Andrews took first place in passing the leather. He averaged throwing the ball within 2½ feet of the object he was throwing it.

Two years ago Hal Chase saw Jack Martin, the Yankee shortstop, playing with an amateur team in Brooklyn. He kept his eye on him, and Martin got a berth last year with Richmond. In a year he has developed into a big leaguer.

LANDED BIG ONES.

Fred. S. Sandford, of Sycamore avenue, and Freeholder Samuel P. T. Wilbur, of Westervelt avenue, returned yesterday afternoon from a trout fishing trip of a week's duration in New York State. Although the weather was cold both men had plenty of sport and a big measure of success. Most of the fish were from thirteen to fifteen inches long.

FRESHMAN TAKE LEAD IN INTERCLASS GAMES

The freshman class team of the Plainfield High School took the lead again in the interclass series when they defeated the sophomores by a score of 10 to 6 yesterday afternoon. The freshmen have the best record in the class league, not having been defeated this season.

LaRue and Moore both pitched a steady game. The freshmen hit Moore freely in the early innings and gathered thirteen hits before the end of the contest. The sophomores got seven bingles. The lineup follows:

Freshmen—Wilmerding, ss; L. LaRue, p; Canter, c; Mann, lf; Linke, 2b; DeHart, 3b; Randolph, 1b; Sacher, cf; Gray, rf; Vail, rf, and Ball, rf.

Score by innings:

PRESIDENT TAFT MAY PITCH THE FIRST BALL

New Brunswick, May 22.—It is very probable that Manager Scudder, of the Rutgers baseball team, will be able to get President Taft to throw the first ball in the game between Rutgers and the University of Michigan here Friday afternoon, just before he starts for Plainfield. The President is due in New Brunswick at 3:30 Friday afternoon to speak and expects to leave about 4 p. m. Efforts are being made for him to stop off at the field and throw the first ball at the game.

This is the first time Rutgers will have met a large Western university such as Michigan.

BUSINESS COLLEGE SENIORS PLAN FOR COMMENCEMENT

The first meeting of the 1912 graduating class of the Plainfield Business College and School of English was held in the College rooms last night for the purpose of arranging details in connection with the annual commencement exercises, which are to be held in the Plainfield theatre the second week in June. The class of 1912 is the largest in the history of the institution, numbering 48.

This year marks the seventh term of the school under the proprietorship of Professor Herr and the growth of the institution during these years, from an obscure little school located in two rooms over the City National Bank building, to the present institution, occupying the entire third oofir of the Woodhull & Martin building, is worthy of comment. The public graduating exercises of the Business College have become a feature in the educational life of Plainfield.

The growing confidence of the public in the work and efforts to establish ac ommercial school in Plainfield that shall be known throughout the state of New Jersey for thoroughness in the teaching of commercial subjects is evidence by the moral support extended to the school by prominent business and professional men in the city and the steady numerical growth of the institution.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

A walk with a picnic supper at the end is planned for Saturday afternoon, starting from the association building at 2:30. All girls and young women are invited to join in the walk.

Plans are being made for an all day picnic on Decoration Day starting from the building at 10:30 in the morning. The day will be spent in the Watchung Mountains. All those wishing to go must leave their names at the office by Tuesday evening, May 28.

The birthday supper for members and their friends having birthdays in May or June will be on Saturday evening, June 1, at 6:30 o'clock. All eligible are asked to register their names before Friday, May 31.

The dates for the Eastern City Conference of the Young Women's Christian Association at Silver Bay, on Lake George, have been set for July 2 to 11. The Plainfield association is planning to send a delegation and any who are interested are asked to talk with the secretaries.

TEMPLE AID SOCIETY HOLDS ENTERTAINMENT AND SOCIAL

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Temple Baptist church held its annual birthday social and entertainment at the church last night. There was a large attendance of members and friends and all enjoyed the informal program of music which comprised soprano solos by Miss Bertha Van Nuis Willis, banjo selections by A. A. Farland, vocal numbers by William Smith, and piano solos by Ida Randolph Smalley, who was also the accompanist for the other entertainers.

The affair was a success financially, about $80 being realized from the returns of the society's members. A social hour with refreshments followed the music. Those in charge of the affair comprised Mrs. Edward Baker, Jr., chairman; Mrs. Harry Bouton, Mrs. Charles L. Jeter, Mrs. P. H. Moore, Mrs. Charles Griffin and Mrs. Evarts C. Conover.

GIMBEL BROTHERS Will Offer Tomorrow

A Phenomenal Purchase from one Maker of $15,000 Worth of

Fine LINGERIE BLOUSES

At $2, $3, $3.95 and $5

Representing Savings of a Third to a Half Regular Prices

We wish that we could put aside in this instance our hard and fast rule not to advertise the trade-mark name of apparel, for if we were to mention that these Blouses are the famous "——— Make" the mere quoting of the name would be sufficient to bring thousands of women to Gimbels tomorrow.

By way of identification—these Blouses are the essence of simplicity and richness, being made in very dainty and refined styles that come under the heading of regulation lingerie models, beautifully embroidered and inset with lace. However, "gentlewomen's blouses" may describe them more explicitly.

Not a "Job"—But 40 Carefully Selected Styles—Complete Sizes in each

"Did the manufacturer have these Blouses on hand?" the advertiser asked. "Certainly, because he is not only one of the largest blouse makers in New York, but one of the most renowned—having clientele all over America!" the blouse chief replied. And he permitted us to select the blouses, because of the magnitude of the purchase, regardless of the fact that he granted us an extraordinary concession—he wanted to co-operate with us in our Summer Sale. In other words, he extended an unusual courtesy to us, and we appreciate it, for it gives us an opportunity to Eclipse All of Our Previous Blouse Sales

Owing to the vastness of his output, this manufacturer imports all of his embroideries, laces, batistes and lawns, which accounts for the fineness of the blouses. Some of the embroidered medallions are like that fine Venetian handwork, which one always associates with the lovely blouses from Naples. And the Swiss hand-loom embroideries are exquisite. French Valenciennes lace dominates, but there are other dainty kinds, too. Every embroidered blouse bears a guarantee for its handwork.

From the tiny thread buttons, and veining-run seams to the well-shaped high collars and tapering sleeves, and wrist frills of lace—these Blouses have all the earmarks of highest class merchandise.

The forty styles are thus:

Models with high necks and long sleeves, $2, $3 and $3.50.

Models with high necks and three-quarter length sleeves, $2, $3, $3.95 and $5.

Models with open fronts and long sleeves, $2, $3 and $5—sizes up to 50 in those at $2.

Again we repeat that these prices represent savings of a third to a half regular prices, and that sizes are complete.

POLICE IN BATTLE WITH STRIKE MOB

Men Dragged From Bridges and Thrown In River.

MAYOR CALLS DEPUTIES.

Special Officers Given Double Barreled Guns to Be Ready For Any Emergency—Negro Lays Out Three Before He Quits.

Hackensack, N. J., May 22.—Two hundred of the invading army of strikers from Bloomfield and Passaic, who have terrorized the laborers of Lyndhurst and Rutherford, swooped down upon Rutherford and Woodridge, but the police were ready for them.

In Rutherford the police used their clubs freely when the strangers began to use violence and threatened the local laborers, and the horde was driven across the Passaic river. They pulled a negro driver from a wagon, but he laid out three of the strikers before he made his exit. Three men were dragged from a dredge and thrown into the river in the meadows.

The mayor of Woodridge phoned to Sheriff Conklin for deputies. Several armed men were hurriedly sent to that town. These rescued fifteen local laborers who were surrounded by the strikers. The invaders threatened to enter Hackensack 500 strong.

Chief of Police Dunn says the invaders, who are anxious to create a state strike, will get a warm reception if they come here. The deputies in Lyndhurst have been informed, and each was given a double barreled shot gun to be used in case of anticipated trouble when work is resumed on the plant of the New York and New Jersey Brick company.

Sheriff Conklin is in touch with a large number of deputies who can be put on duty in a very short time. The authorities in the several municipalities where the police forces are small fear serious trouble before this invasion of strikers is stopped.

ALL VAMPS MAY WALK OUT.

Englewood Firemen Peeved at Common Council's Ordinance.

Englewood, N. J., May 22.—Trouble over an ordinance passed some time ago by the common council relative to the fire department may cause the two remaining volunteer companies of firemen in that town to resign. Company 3 disbanded last Friday night and Companies 1 and 2 were said to be considering it. Such action would leave only the eight paid men to look after any blaze that may get a start.

In connection with the matter Thomas J. Hucken, president of the council, said:

"The council holds that the ordinance, which in substance states that the members of the fire department shall be either permanent members or volunteer members appointed by the council, does not work for the disbanding of the present volunteer companies, but we have referred the legal point to the city solicitor, Judge Senffert, for official decision. He will probably report to us today."

RIOT GUNS FOR POLICE.

Increasing Disorder In Newark and Vicinity Cause of Drastic Order.

Newark, N. J., May 22.—The police commission has ordered the distribution of riot guns among the police because of increasing disorder growing out of the intimidation of laborers on street work and quarries by marching bands of foreign laborers, who are on strike for more wages.

The clashes between strikers and the police and county officials of Essex and Hudson counties have become very serious, and the action of the commission indicates concerted efforts to put down lawlessness.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 strikers have been parading the streets of Belleville, Bloomfield, Montclair, the Oranges and other suburbs of Newark, in bands of hundreds, driving the street and road workers from their jobs by threats and violence.

SEVEN TEACHERS STRIKE.

Refuse to Accept Reappointments Because Principal Was Dropped.

Swedesboro, N. J., May 22.—Seven young women teachers in the public schools here have refused to accept reappointments for next year unless Miss Elsie B. Nicholson, the supervising principal, is reappointed. The board of education refuses to name Miss Nicholson to succeed herself. The young women say they will seek positions elsewhere unless the board gives in.

Miss Nicholson, the teachers and many other persons assert that Miss Nicholson was dropped by the board for the reason that she refused to promote the son of a prominent resident because the boy was backward in his studies.

The President's Title.

Washington, the first president, was inaugurated April 30, 1789. The ceremony was delayed several days while congress disputed as to whether the chief magistrate should have such title as "his excellency," "his highness" or the like. It was decided that he should be simply "the president of the United States."

The price is low enough to arouse the interest of every woman in Newark. It means a loss to the maker. But we pointed out the future gain and the additional prestige and reputation acquired, that's how it comes we can sell these celebrated waists at $1.89, instead of $3 and $4, their regular prices.

SAYS HE LOSES $1,000 A MINUTE.

Subway Smoker Nervously Displays Roll Paying Fine.

New York, May 22.—Aladar W. Herzog, an Austrian of noble birth, who gave his address as the Ritz-Carlton hotel, was fined $3 by Magistrate House in the Jefferson market court for carrying a lighted cigar in the Fourteenth street subway station.

"Judge, your honor, I should have been down at the Stock Exchange an hour ago," he said. "My shares are going up, up—how is it you say?—up the flue. I am losing a thousand dollars a minute and all on account of a beastly little cigar. Ah, I could crush it this minute."

"Three dollars," said the court.

"Ah, $3 against my thousands!" muttered Herzog as he tendered a new hundred dollar bill in payment of the fine. Clerk Richter was a little slow in making the change, and the Austrian cried:

"Oh, keep the change!"

"Come back, come back!" called Clerk Richter as the Austrian started to leave. "I can't keep your change. Here it is."

The Austrian ran back, made one grab for the bills offered him and then, with a parting salutation, hurried from the courtroom.

HORSE KILLS SOCIETY WOMAN

Daughter of Mrs. Caroline Knapp Sees Her Crushed In Central Park.

New York, May 22.—Mrs. Caroline Knapp, prominent socially and known as one of the best horsewomen in New York, was killed in Central park when her mount stumbled and fell and then rolled over upon her.

The accident occurred in the west bridle path near Ninety-fourth street and was witnessed by Mrs. Knapp's twelve-year-old daughter Emily, who was accompanying her upon the ride.

Mrs. Knapp was the wife of Wallace Percy Knapp, a lawyer and a member of the Riding, Racket, Yale and other clubs.

NOT ENGAGED TO ASTOR.

Miss Margaret Andrews, Home From Antwerp, Flatly Denies Rumor.

New York, May 22.—Miss Margaret Andrews of Newport arrived with Mrs. Andrews from Antwerp. Her father, Paul A. Andrews, met her at the pier.

When Miss Andrews was asked if she was engaged to Vincent Astor she replied that there was no truth in the rumor. She brought with her a German police dog, which started a fight on the pier with two small fox terriers that went too near it.

Standard Oil Gets Stay.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 22.—The supreme court of Missouri has continued the application of the Standard Oil company for a modification of the judgment against it until the October term of court and has specified that, unless otherwise ordered, the writ of ouster against the company be held in abeyance until arguments are submitted on the modification motion.

ELECTRIC DISPOSAL PLANT IS SUGGESTED

Firm Says $150,000 Works Can Care for Millions of Sewage.

Another possible solution to the local sewer problem was presented to the members of the Common Council following the adjourned meeting, last night, by Barton Hammond, of the Hammond Iron Works, of Warren, Pa., and C. P. Landreth, of Philadelphia, representing the Electrolytic Purification Company. Sewage disposal and purification by electricity was the proposition offered, and the method impressed the councilmen.

Mr. Hammond explained that according to his system the sludge or solids is received in large tanks, where it is filtered and separated from the liquid. The sludge by means of the electric appliances is thoroughly dried, all germs being killed, and can afterward be disposed of easily, either at a profit as fertilizer or thrown away. It was explained by Mr. Hammond that the sludge in its dried form could be sold for fertilizer from $12 to $14 a ton.

It was further stated by Mr. Hammond that the plant could be installed on a tract of land 200x200, and that for the purpose of taking care of approximately 3,000,000 gallons of sewage, the plant of that capacity would not cost more than $150,000. He said that the company would give an absolute guarantee that the system would do everything claimed for it, and furnish a bond in any reasonable amount covering that guarantee.

The plant caring for 3,000,000 gallons of sewage, it is estimated, would meet local conditions for many years to come, and when a larger capacity was needed it would only be necessary to add another tank or two. Mr. Hammond assured the councilmen that with his system there is absolutely no odor from sewage, as it is all handled within tanks, and the liquid, being treated by electricity, is made sterile and odorless.

It was claimed by the representatives of the company that there would be no guesswork as to the cost of installation or maintenance of the plant, that positive figures would be given and the expense would be no more than stated by the company. In answer to a question as to the drying of the sludge, Mr. Hammond said that the cost would be $1 a ton.

Mr. Landreth gave a demonstration of the treatment of liquids by the electric process, showing how foreign substances are separated by means of the current. While the councilmen reached no decision last night it was more or less apparent that the system presented found much favor with them. It was the opinion that in this way Plainfield's sewage could be disposed of easily and for a great deal less money than by the present method, and besides practically all objectionable features would be eliminated.

It was suggested that the Hammond Iron Company arrange to give a practical demonstration of the system by erecting a small plant in this city. Mr. Hammond will take the matter up with his company and confer with the Council later as to whether this can be done.

FRIEDA RICHTER SENT TO STATE GIRLS' HOME

Elizabeth, May 23 (Special)—Frieda Richter, 17 years old, of Plainfield, who forged the name of her mother, Bertha Richter, to an order on the Plainfield Savings Bank recently and cashed it, was sent to the State Home for Girls by Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Sessions, yesterday afternoon. She pleaded guilty last Wednesday.

Minnie Dunham, colored, a maid formerly employed in a Plainfield family, who was accused of stealing a willow plume from her employer, was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Gaetano Capuccia, who was about to go bail for three Italians living in Broad street, Westfield, who were accused of assault and battery as the result of an attempt to incite a strike at the manufacturing plant of the Garwood Company, Garwood, changed his mind. The bail demanded was $200 for each defendant. They were recommitted to jail. The defendants are Ernest D. Chillis, Samuel Ochipinti and Joe De Bella. They attacked Lawrence De Fabio on March 9 last because he would not quit work when they ordered. Capuccia is the owner of realty in Westfield.

CLARK MEN ORGANIZE CLUB OF THEIR OWN

Formation Developed From What Was to Have Been Only a Quiet Meeting.

What was intended to be only a quiet little conference of the friends of Champ Clark in this city at the home of Frank J. Shattle, of West Fourth street, last night, turned into a real Champ Clark meeting, at which a lot of enthusiasm was let loose. Every election district in the city was represented.

One of the chief results of the meeting was the formation of a new Democratic organization to be known as the Jefferson Club. The officers elected were: President, Barton K. Davis; vice president, Thomas A. Connelly; secretary, Eugene Caffrey; treasurer, Frank J. Shattle.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That after carefully looking over the various candidates for president on the Democratic ticket, we heartily endorse the candidacy of the Hon. Champ Clark, feeling, as we do, that he is the truest representative of the Democratic party, both in action, deeds and speech."

The following committee was appointed to draft by-laws and secure meeting rooms: Charles R. Baker, Clarence H. Waldron and Frank J Shattle.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT REFORM HALL TONIGHT

Democrats of the city have arranged for a mass meeting to be held in Reform Hall tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The following speakers have been secured: Judge John Wahl Queen, of Jersey City; Peter Stagg, of Hackensack; Simeon Northrop, of Newark, and Clinton Fisk, of Jersey City.

Issues of the campaign will be discussed and the claim of the party will be presented in an able and interesting manner. The public is invited to be present and seats will be reserved for women.

GIVE FAREWELL PARTY TO MLLE. ALICE JACCARD

A farewell banquet was given by the Senior High School class of Mt. St. Mary College to Mlle. Alice Jaccard, at 94 Fairview avenue. Mlle. Jaccard wil go to France on a visit June 15. There were eighty-five pupils present and the occasion was a delightful one.

The opening address was in French, read by Miss Katherine Fagan, wishing her bon voyage. On behalf of the class she also presented Mlle. Jaccard with a beautiful bouquet of American white and red beauty roses. The tables were artistically decorated in red and white, the class colors, and little birch canoes were presented as souvenirs of the occasion.

On her return in September she will take a position as assistant in the French department at Dana Hall Preparatory school at Wellesley. The guests of honor were Mlle. Dutoit, Miss K. A. Redican, Miss L. E. Nolan and Miss Irene Duchesne.

"BON VOYAGE" PARTY SEE MISS SAMUELS LEAVE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liefke and their niece, Miss Irene Samuels, of West Front street, left this morning on the Pennsylvania, of the Hamburg-American line from Hoboken, for a two monthe' tour of Germany, Switzerland and France. They will return to Plainfield in September.

Miss Irene Samuels received the well wishes of a party of friends from this city, who accompanied her to Hoboken this morning. Following the departure of the Pennsylvania the party had luncheon in New York. Among those in the party were Misses Ray and Anna Warnock, Hazel Moore, Kate Elliott, Marguerite Vandeventer, Mulwood Lutz, Helen Platt, Lillian and Vivian Dunn, Harry Littel and Fred Dickerson.

SUED ON A NOTE.

Before Judge Walter L. Hetfield in the District Court today Charles Giebler, represented by Lawyer J. H. Crane, sued Emanuel Kapelsohn and the Perpetual Realty Company on the foot of a note for $200. Lawyer R. N. Crane appeared for Kapelsohn. Judgment was reserved.

MARTIN AN ELK.

Jack Martin, member in good standing of the New York team in the American League, became a member last night of Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., No. 885. Jack came out for the festivities, returning this morning to New York to participate in this afternoon's game.

MUSICAL FANTASIA WILL OPEN TONIGHT

First of Two Performances of "Trip to Moon"—Cast of 350.

Comic operas have often enlisted the largest casts for prolonged runs, but it remains for "A Trip to the Moon" to enroll the greatest number of people ever seen in a single production.

350 people are required to stage this gigantic musical fantasia, which will be shown here at the Plainfield theatre tonight and tomorrow night.

When one sees the spectacular effects and big scenes of this production, one may wonder how the results are accomplished. But when the inner workings are displayed, and the magnitude of the cast made known, the surprise is likely to be that so large a cast can be handled upon a stage with any degree of success.

It goes without saying that nothing in the way of an operatic production on so large a scale has ever been attempted in Plainfield, and the public is assured from the interest which the young folks are taking in the production, and also from the high praise other towns have accorded the piece, that one of the greatest musical treat in the city's history is in store.

The parts in the cast will be filled as follows:

Peter Piper, the Weatherman from Mars ..... Jack Todd
Tom, a reporter on the Daily Press, J. Dunning
Chief of Police, Officer O'Flynn .. Earl Moran
Teddy, a bootblack ... Howard Riley
The Old Cow .....
Irving VanAsltyne and Arthur Force
Dorothy, in love with Tom ..... Alice Mehl
The Old Woman Who Lives in the Shoe ..... Grace Woolston
Gladys, a seminary girl. Ethel Hillpot
Tessa ..... Edith Bechtel

Grandfather ..... Bertha Bulk

YOUTH WHO BROKE JAIL BROUGHT BACK FROM MAINE

Elizabeth, May 23 (Special).—Edward Coffey, 17 years old, of Plainfield, has been extradited from Portland, Maine, and is lodged in the county jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury on charges of larceny.

About four weeks ago Coffey and Raymond Wilson were arrested by Detective Sergeant Flynn for a series of petty thefts. By a ruse Coffey escaped from Flynn as he was on his way to show the detective where he had placed stolen goods. He was recaptured but escaped the next night through an open window in the washroom of the station house. Eventually he was located in Portland, Maine and Chief Kiely brought him back.

DUNELLEN POLICE FORCE DOES A RUSHING BUSINESS

It has been many months since the arm of the law in Dunellen has had as much exercise as it has within the last twenty-four hours. Three of the borough's inhabitants felt its weight and two of the three are reposing quietly in a cell in the town lock-up awaiting trial.

Last night Louis Block and Goodwin Mawrenze fell to fighting and then fell into the hands of Marshal Smalley. This morning Block was able to appear before Recorder Campbell, who demanded that he contribute $10 to the town treasury, which he did. Mawrenze needed a few more hours of rest and remained in his cell until he was able to answer questions intelligently. He was fined $3.

Shortly after midinght George Meyer, who bakes the morning rolls for the borough's inhabitants, embibed too freely of bottle courage and started out to exhibit his prowess. His flow of language was unbridled and the marshal gathered him in. He, too, reposed on a lonely cot biding the time when the recorder could hear his plea. It cost him $5.

WIFE DESERTER HELD.

In the city court this morning before Judge William G. De Meza, Joseph Saron, of 410 Madison avenue, who had been brought back from Boston, was arraigned on a charge of deserting his wife and children. He was held for the Grand Jury in $1,000 bail.

READY TO AWARD CONTRACT FOR REMOVAL OF GARBAGE

Council Authorizes City Clerk to Advertise For Bids--To be Received June 17--Rules For Bidders.

On a motion by Councilman George S. Clay, chairman of the committee on public affairs, the Common Council, last night, authorized the city clerk to advertise for bids for proposals for the removal and disposal of ashes, garbage and rubbish from the residences and other buildings within the city. Monday, June 17, was the time fixed for receiving the proposals.

The resolution adopted provides that any person submitting a proposal shall state the method of such removal and disposal, the style of carts and other apparatus to be used, the number of collections from each place every week, the term for which he proposes to contract and the price or sum for doing the work; and shall state separately such price, provided the necessary carts are furnished by the city, as well as other terms and conditions as he deems necessary.

It is provided that any contract entered into by the city will be made subject to the ordinances and regulations of the Board of Health; shall require the contractor to give a bond for the faithful performance of his contract, with suitable penalties, and contain such other stipulations and conditions as may be agreed upon. The city reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The bids must be delivered to the city clerk on or before 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Monday, June 17. The advertisement for bids is to be inserted not only in the official newspapers of the city, but also in a newspaper published in each of the cities of Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, and in the Engineering News, of New York.

Arthur Wellington Opp and E. C. Pierson were among those present in the lobby who advocated the adoption of a municipal system of collection and disposal, and spoke in favor of Mr. Clay's resolution.

STREET EXTENSION IN DANGER OF CHECK

Givens is Building a Home in Line With New Bradford Avenue.

The question of the city's right to serve a notice on Mortimer Givens notifying him to stop building a house on line with a proposed extension of Bradford avenue to Clinton avenue, was discussed at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night. It was raised by Councilman F. L. Holt, who contended that the city did not have the right. He said that Mr. Givens could be notified that the city proposes to open and extend the street, and that if he continues to build he does so at his own peril.

Councilman W. L. Gloak, chairman of the street committee, offered the resolution which authorized that notice be served on Mr. Givens, through Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, but Mr. Holt objected to the wording, and it was changed so as to read simply as a notice to the property-owner.

A majority of the property owners on Bradford avenue want that thoroughfare extended to Clinton avenue, but Mr. Givens, in building a house at 27-29 Clinton avenue, is likely to block the improvement. Harry Bogart, one of the interested property-owners informed the Council that if Mr. Givens were allowed to continue it would only mean an added expense, and he was anxious to have a stop notice served at once. An ordinance providing for the extension of the avenue was presented by Mr. Gloak and read for information only. It will come up at another meeting for further action.

WILL ASK COURT TO HAVE TOWNSHIP LINE SURVEYED

Representatives of North Plainfield and Warren Townships appeared before the Somerset County Board of Freeholders at Somerville, yesterday, arguing for and against the proposition to have the court appoint commissioners to establish the much-disputed line between the two townships. Alvah A. Clark, represented Warren Township, while Assemblyman W. Delaney Anderson presented the claims of North Plainfield Township. North Plainfield Township won, and the Freeholders will now petition the courts to appoint commissioners to establish the dividing line.

Mr. Clark, on behalf of Warren Township, contended that the appointment of commissioners would mean an extra expense and was unnecessary in view of the fact that the line had been surveyed and established many years ago by mutual agreement. Mr. Anderson said it would not be an unnecessary expense. F. A. Dunham, of this city, recently made a survey for North Plainfield Township, while State Surrveyor Verheule is now engaged in a similar work for Warren Township.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSN. TO DISCUSS ROLLER-SKATING

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin - Stillman - Whittier Schools will meet Monday night at the Franklin School. Two subjects will be discussed—the question of children roller-skating on the walks about the High School building, and the conditions of the school buildings. All parents of children in these three schools are urged to attend this last meeting of the year to renew their membership or to join the association, the object of which is a meeting of parents and teachers to work for the good of the children. Refreshments will be served and the following musical program has been arranged:

Instrumental duet, the Misses Knapp; piano solo, Miss Knapp; vocal solo, Miss Sadler; recitation, Miss Eason; quartet, the Misses Searle, Sadler, Wilkins and Bull; vocal solo, Mrs. John Cottrell, with violin obligato by Mrs. Violet Truell Johnson.

The Plainfield District Sunday-school Association will meet in the parish house of Grace church Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Officers will be elected for the year and a full attendance is desired.

BOROUGH'S STREETS IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

That North Plainfield has reason to congratulate itself upon the condition of its roads is the opinion of Mayor Clark and Street Commissioner W. J. Hudson. Mr. Hudson said today that never in the borough's history had the streets been in such excellent condition as after the breaking up of the present hard winter.

The only street that has suffered severely is the extension of Watchung avenue which was newly opened and was subject to the freshets and abundance of water that came from the mountain side during the spring. The other streets, even those that had been subjected to the severest weather conditions, needed comparatively little attention when the repair work started.

The Mayor said that he wished that those who might doubt the statements would take a trip over the borough roads from one end to another and judge for themselves. He said that there would undoubtedly be many people surprised at the good condition of the streets as compared with those of the city, which have been reported as being in better condition than is usually the case after a hard winter.

Few streets receive the amount of daily travel that Somerset street does and it is little wonder that at times the heavy carting of stone and the continuous pounding necessitates repair of some sort, but taking all these conditions into consideration the borough's main street compares most favorably with that of any other town.

NURSES' GRADUATION.

The annual graduation exercises of the Training School of Muhlenberg Hospital will be held at the Hartridge Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock tonight. George P. Mellick, president of the Board of Governors, will present the diplomas. Charles W. McCutchen, of North Plainfield, will make the principal address. A reception and dance will follow. The graduates are Miss Catherine Stewart Knox, Miss Lillian E. Fritts of this city; Miss Mary Cleaves, of Dunellen; Miss Katherine Kaudenbach, of Newark; Miss Olga N. Anderson, of Hamilton, Bermuda; Miss Elizabeth May White, of Utica, N. Y., and Miss Rose Spillane, of Boston.

SUIT DISMISSED.

RICH YOUTH, MAD, COMMITS MURDER

Richard Geib, Suddenly Insane, Barricades Himself.

New York, May 23.—Richard Geib went insane and, after killing James Boylan, a stranger to him, and pumping eleven bullets into his victim's face and neck, barricaded himself in a room he occupied in a furnished room house.

Geib is a son of Dr. Henry P. Geib of Stamford, Conn. His mother, Mrs. Jennie Geib, inherited an estate estimated at $2,000,000.

Boylan, who was about thirty-five years old, occupied a small hall room on the top floor front of the house. He engaged the room last Saturday, and his appearance indicated that he was not well supplied with money. The room adjoining that occupied by Boylan was vacant, but the two rear rooms on the same floor were engaged by Geib several weeks ago from Louis Wolf and his wife, Maria, proprietors of the house.

Geib is locked up.

SUFFRAGE WAYS AND MEANS.

Stepladder Beats Soapbox as West's Orators Ask Vote.

Chicago, May 23.—Suggestions for suffragette success were fired rapidly at the delegates to the opening session of the Mississippi Valley conference of suffragists here. Mrs. Edna Cutter of Kansas City told her fellow delegates: "If you want to get yourself talked about the only legitimate way is to do something that makes news and not give a pink tea and then blame the editor because he prefers to print an account of an automobile race instead of a list of your guests.

"If you want to address a street gathering do it from a stepladder rather than a soapbox," the Kansas City suffragist concluded.

THOUSANDS SEE DEAD KING.

Many Persons Faint as Doors of Palace Are Closed.

Many persons fainted on account of the heat. When the doors closed there were 50,000 persons still in line. Major Colvin will represent the United States army at the funeral.

Landis-Borcke Wedding.

Berlin, May 23.—The marriage of Ysabel Potts Landis, niece of Major J. F. Reynolds Landis, U. S. A., and Baron Otto von Borcke, a lieutenant in the Second battalion of marine infantry and a nephew of General von Borcke, who won distinction in the Confederate army during the civil war, has been fixed for June 22.

ISMAY DENOUNCED IN SENATE REPORT

Captain Smith Responsible For Titanic Disaster.

INCOMPETENCY CHARGED.

Savage Criticism of White Star Officials For Juggling With Truth After Receiving Information That Ship Had Sunk.

UNITED STATES SENATE TITANIC REPORT FINDS:

That junior officers heartlessly left many in the water who could have been rescued.

That Captain Lord of the Californian should be indicted for not aiding the Titanic.

That Ismay was immediately warned of the danger while others of the Titanic were not.

That Captain Rostron of the Carpathia acted heroically.

That Captain Smith was directly responsible for the disaster.

That the presence of J. Bruce Ismay inspired speed frenzy.

That no tests were made of the bulkheads, the sole protection against sinking.

That the life saving apparatus was pathetically inadequate."

That 372 persons more could have been saved but for the disorganized crew.

Washington, May 23.—The special subcommittee of the United States senate appointed to investigate the Titanic disaster will present a scathing arraignment of J. Bruce Ismay and the White Star line officials in New York, a stern denunciation of many members of the "pick-up" crew of the Titanic and sweeping charges of incompetency in the management of the disaster.

The report will be given to the senate next Tuesday morning. It will be submitted by Chairman William Alden Smith of Michigan, who has labored almost incessantly since the afternoon he was dispatched to New York to meet the Carpathia and begin gathering facts first hand.

Ismay Savagely Criticised.

The report spares neither J. Bruce Ismay nor his subordinates in New York, whose juggling with the truth after receiving from Montreal information that the Titanic had sunk is savagely criticised.

Emphasis is laid on the cruelty of sending out such a dispatch as that received by Representative Hughes of New Jersey, whose daughter was on the Titanic with her husband and who was told in a cablegram signed "White Star Line" that the Titanic was being towed into Halifax.

Direct responsibility for the wreck is laid on Captain Smith. It is pointed out that had he heeded the four warnings of ice sent him by other vessels the lives of the 1,361 victims would have been saved.

Pointing out that the speed of the Titanic just before she struck the iceberg was twenty-four and a half miles an hour and that it had been steadily increased after receiving ice warnings by wireless, the report asserts that the presence on board of Ismay, the managing director of the line, and Andrews, the constructor for Harland & Wolf, the builders, was undoubtedly an incentive to making this great speed.

Ismay Notified Immediately.

It is stated that Ismay, who got away safely, was advised immediately of the danger, while many of the passengers were not, the impact, although equal in momentum to the impact of the combined broadsides of twenty great battleships, being scarcely felt on the vessel, such was her giant size and enormous stability.

The report recites that the "pick-up" crew with which the White Star line manned the vessel were unacquainted with one another and their duties. There was the utmost confusion when the vessel struck.

Much space is devoted to a brief and effective recital of the incidents on the vessel after the iceberg had slid along her side, leaving a great gaping hole in the starboard bilge, through which water was pouring at such a rate that she sank seventy feet within a very few hours.

Confusion When Vessel Struck.

It is noted that the weather was clear and perfect, the sea being calm, with no swell—conditions that would have been ideal for the saving of all hands on board had there been but adequate life saving apparatus and adequate sailors to man them. But although there was room in the lifeboats for 1,076 persons, the report says but 704 persons were put into them, owing to the disorganized and disorderly condition of the crew.

Arrange Big Bond Sale.

Albany, N. Y., May 23.—Bonds amounting to a par value of $25,950,000 will be sold by State Comptroller Sohmer on June 6. Of these $17,000,000 are for canal improvement purposes, $8,000,000 for highway improvements and $950,000 for the Saratoga reservation.

RAHWAY POLICE CHIEF FACES INVESTIGATION

Rahway, May 23.—Investigation has been ordered by the Common Council into alleged treatment accorded Walter Turner by Chief of Police Ramsey during a crusade against corner loafing. The Council's police committee will report at the next meeting.

The inquiry was ordered following the reading of a letter by Mayor Fyffe. The Mayor declared that if allegations of brutal treatment were true suspension of the chief would be justified. If the assertions are false, the Mayor declared, the truth should be known.

HOPATCONG'S SEASON IS LATE IN STARTING

Lake Hopatcong, May 23.—While the season at this resort is somewhat backward, owing to the late spring, many of the hotel proprietors and cottagers are preparing for a big day on Memorial Day. Few of the houses, however, have booked many patrons as yet.

Castle Edward has been newly fitted up and put in excellent shape to handle increased patronage the coming season. John P. Muller, the proprietor, has added a good many rooms and a large dancing pavilion, and has under course of construction bowling alleys and pool and billiard parlors. The large dining-room has been increased in size and is now able to accommodate twenty-five per cent. more.

The Mountain View House, under its new management, Siecke & Modick, will start the season with a week-end gathering next Sunday. The Dover Turnverein, numbering nearly one hundred, will spend the day at this hotel. Members of the German Singing Society, also of Dover, accompanied by their wives, will be entertained on June 9. The following Tuesday the Star Bowling Club of Jersey City Heights, composed of women, will spend the day and enjoy the bowling alleys of this hostelry and the lake privileges. On June 18 the Uneck Club, a women's bowling club of Jersey City, will be here, and on Friday, Saturday and Sunday the Lion Brewing Club of New York City.

WEDDED AT RAHWAY; TO LIVE IN PORTUGAL

Rahway, May 23.—Miss Ethel Parsons Lawrence daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Warren Lawrence, of 208 West Grand street, and George D. Tremley, son of Councilman and Mrs. David H. Tremley, of Seminary avenue, were married Tuesday night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Loyal Young Graham, Jr., in the First Presbyterian church.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Frederick Henderschott, as matron of honor, and by two bridemaids, Miss Elsie Garthwaite and Miss May MacWhinney. The flower girl was Miss Evelyn Lawrence, a sister of the bride. The best man was Leo VanSant. The ushers were David Armstrong, Robert Miller, Raymond Howard, Harold Gibbons, Freeland J. Gibbons and Frederick Henderschott.

The bride was gowned in white satin charmeuse and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore gold crepe meteor and carried a bouquet of red roses. The bridemaids wore gowns of pale yellow meteor, and bouquets of white roses, and the flower girl wore point d'sprit over yellow satin. Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Trembly will sail, May 28, for Lisbon, Portugal, at which place Mr. Trembly has been assigned a position by the Standard Oil Company.

BIG TURTLE BORE TAG.

Lake Hopatcong, May 23.—While fishing near the docks of the Mountain View House, George Raber, a local boatman, caught a turtle weighing about a pound. Fastened in the shell on the back of the turtle by a wire was one of the room checks of the Mountain View House. Neatly engraved on the check were these words: "My room is No. 26, Mountain View House." How long the turtle has enjoyed his liberty thus tagged is not known, but he will hereafter enjoy the hospitalities of a specially constructed aquarium at the hotel. Those familiar with the habits and livelihood of the turtle say the reptile captured by Raber is about twenty-five years of age.

TOMBSTONE CLUE TO HEIRS.

Elizabeth, May 23.—Heirs to the $40,000 estate left by Mrs. Eveline Wentworth, a recluse, were found recently through an inscription on an old tombstone in a Metuchen churchyard. Mrs. Wentworth died here April 27. While attending her funeral, Albert F. Bender, a local lawyer, discovered the headstone, bearing the inscription "Mrs. George Cook, died 1863." Mrs. Cook was Mrs. Wentworth's sister, and Mr. Bender learned the name of the lawyer who had looked after Mrs. Cook's estate. In this way he ascertained that nieces and nephews of Mrs. Wentworth were living in South Jersey.

SWAT THE FLY.

In a contributed editorial recently, former Mayor Charles J. Fisk discussed the house fly, calling attention to the menace it is to human life particularly to babies. It was not an original idea on his part when he advocated a crusade against this pest, for he had observed what is being done in various parts of the country to get rid of this dangerous little insect and why its very existence threatens the welfare of the country. What he said was timely and to the point and we have no doubt that our readers were impressed with the importance of the subject.

At a Baby Show in Philadelphia the other night, Prof. C. F. Hodge, of Worcester, Mass., aided by moving pictures, gave a talk to convince mothers of the rapid spread of disease to infants by the summer pests. More than one-half of the deaths of infants he declared are due to infectious diseases, in many of which, if not all, the fly figures. Now is the time, he said, to "swat the fly." A pair of flies beginning to breathe on May 1 produce, if all live, more than five million flies by July 30. These insects are bred in and live on filth; they are carriers of disease.

Prof. Hodge gave this advice:

"The main thing in fly extermination is to map a plan to work that shall be effective and interesting enough to get everybody into the game. We can really have a jolly time getting rid of flies. This can be developed into an all around outdoor sport. The way to trap flies is to let them trap themselves. Swat all you want to in the house, but go for them at their breeding and feeding places."

Doctor Hodge described the fly trap which is attached to garbage cans, barrels and other receptables from which flies feed. "If flies are caught where they feed, there will be none left to breed," said the speaker. "This double line of attack makes assurance doubly sure. A suburban family, using one outdoor exterminator, in the cover of a garbage can, with all waste foods put into it carefully, can do away with screens in windows and eat three meals a day on an unscreened porch, with not so much as a single fly at the table for five days at a stretch. Garbage-can covers are now being manufactured with fly traps attached, and as these come into general use they will convert every garbage can into a vacuum cleaner for flies. To gain universal co-operation is at once the most difficult and best feature of the plan."

WELL DONE.

For ten long years this paper has pleaded with the Common Council to heed the advice of the Board of Health and adopt some plan for the systematic collection and disposal of garbage. We believed that our agitation received the support of every householder. Year after year elapsed and nothing was done until now. Thanks to Chairman Clay and his collegues on the public affairs committee, and thanks to the Common Council as a whole, a resolution has been passed calling for bids for the disposal and collection of the refuse. As we do not hesitate to criticize when the ordinance-making body does what we consider objectionable to the best interests of the community, we should not fail to applaud when they do something worth while. Therefore, we again thank the Common Council.

The State Agriculture Experiment Station has done well to send out warning of agents going about the State "selling worthless tree dopes and medicines." These remedies they claim will "prevent injuries by borers, scale yellows and every other insect and disease from injuring trees, by the use of powders to be placed in holes in the trunk or by capsules placed under the bark." The "treatment" costs about $1.50 and the stuff is actually worth a few pennies. Fortunately for Plainfield we have a Tree Commission and property-owners and tenants should avail themselves of this Commission's advice before they attempt to do anything with their trees.

It is pleasing to observe that the business houses are being decorated in honor of the promised visit of the President of the United Statee scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. No matter how rank a partisan one is, no matter what his political opinions may be, he should not forget that first and last he is an American through and through, and when the Chief Magistrate of the Nation is a guest in the city he should be proud to accord him all the honor due to one holding the greatest office on the face of the earth.

When the anthracite miners' strike was declared we ventured the assertion that no matter what the outcome the consumer would pay more for the commodity, calling attention to the fact that such was the case in the 1902 strike. We guessed right. As an exchange says, "the consumer is to pay the freight." The prices for all sizes of anthracite are to be twenty-five cents a ton higher. Had the demands of the miners been met, the rate would have been jacked up sixty-seven cents per ton.

BYRANT-LINCOLN ASSN. WINDS UP ITS SEASON

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Bryant-Lincoln Schools held its last meeting for the school year in the auditorium of the Bryant building yesterday afternoon. Preceding the meeting the parents were invited to visit the class rooms and see the pupils at work.

At 3:15 o'clock children from the first and second grades gave a musical exercise, followed by a drill by pupils from the fifth grade.

The chair was then taken by Mrs. Clarence J. Lawson, president of the association. The reports were read, after which Mrs. Doane announced the program for next year's work. The meetings to be resumed in October are already planned as to subjects and most of the speakers for the several meetings have been engaged.

After the regular business meeting, Miss Bullock, of the Franklin School, read a most interesting paper on "Difficulties in the School Room and How Parents Can Assist Teachers in Overcoming Them." Mrs. William Sandford in a few words told of a talk given before a Parent-Teachers' meeting held in Roselle on "The Responsibility of Parents During the Play Hour." Following the meeting refreshments were served.

ASK CITY TO TAKE OVER SEWER PIPES

East End Realty Promoters Laid Them at Their Own Expense.

The International Distributor Association, which developed a tract of land in the East End of the city in the vicinity of Terrill road, communicated with the Common Council, last night, requesting that the 1,000 feet of sanitary sewage pipes installed by the association be purchased by the city and connected with the city system. The request was made for the reason that that section is growing rapidly and that it is only a question of time when the city must care for it. The sewers were installed at the expense of the association under the direction of Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett. The communication was referred to the sewer committee.

Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman in his semi-annual report to the Council, stated that there are no matters in litigation at present, and that the expenses of his office amounted to about $7.

C. M. Huff asked the Council for a certificate of sale on the property at 264-266 Watson avenue, the purchase price having been paid. The matter was referred to the finance committee. Residents on Rushmore avenue requested that the city accept that thoroughfare, adding that several new houses are now in course of erection there. This was referred to the proper committee.

The Perpetual Realty Company, which has recently erected a number of houses on Arlington avenue, between Laramie and Randolph roads petitioned for electric lights. This was referred to the light committee. The communication from Charles S. Day, clerk of the Piscataway Township Committee, informing the Council that the committee had refused permission for the city to locate sewage disposal works on the Darling farm or any other place in the township, was filed.

The contract between the city and the International Motor Company for $3,750 for converting the chemical engine at fire headquarters into a motor-driven apparatus, was filed. Mr. Mygatt's resolution authorizing the New York Telephone Company to install an extension telephone in the office of Street Commissioner Gavett, was adopted.

Councilman W. L. Gloak brought up the question of the proposed widening of Somerset street in the city, and announced that Monday night, June 3, at 8 o'clock had been fixed as the time for a public hearing.

Mayor G. W. V. Moy appointed Martin T. Welsh, John Hendershot, Martin J. Flatley and Roland McIntyre as special policemen and they were confirmed.

A resolution offered by Councilman W. L. Gloak, which was adopted, authorized the city clerk to give notice that bids for macadamizing certain streets would be received on Monday night, June 17, at 8 o'clock.

LAFOLLETTE DENOUNCES TRUSTS IN ELIZABETH

Elizabeth, May 23.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, campaigning through the State, spoke at noon in the Broad street theatre here. He declared that the evils which menace the nation cannot be cured by a rough rider like Theodore Roosevelt or "an easy going, amiable man" like President Taft, and incidentally asserted that he was heartily in favor of woman suffrage.

He placed the trusts upon a pilory and unscathingly condemned Mr. Roosevelt for permitting them to flourish and multiply until they have "attained a cancer-like growth which is slowly stifling the industrial life of the nation."

He spoke of the Sherman Anti-Trust law, which made it incumbent upon the Department of Justice to punish all violations of its provisions. This brought him to a discussion of Mr. Roosevelt, who, he said, found 149 trusts robbing the people when he became President.

"When he left the White House to his successor," said the Senator, "there were ten thousand unlawful organizations in restraint of trade, and he left them to his successor, William Howard Taft."

The speaker charged that the people have been robbed of hundreds of millions because Mr. Roosevelt failed to do his sworn duty.

A. E. FINCKEL DEACON.

Arnold E. Finckel, of 332 Emerson avenue formerly of the South Bushwick Reformed church, Brooklyn, was elected a deacon of the Netherwood Reformed church, last night, to succeed Gustave Frumerie, resigned. It was also decided to change the method of election in the future. The consistory will nominate a double number of deacons and elders from which the congregation will make its choice.

MISSIONARY HOPEFUL OF THE NEW CHINA

Dr. Hume Tells Crescent Avenue Audience of the Upheaval of Ancient Nation.

The turning of China from her old time conservatism to Western methods of civilization, and the part that the American missionary and medical schools were taking in the nation's development were enlarged upon by Dr. E. H. Hume, of the Yale missionary school of China at an illustrated lecture given in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last night. There was a good attendance. His remarks were prefaced by the query as to whether this great revolutionary change in the social, political and economic conditions of China would eventually tend to its progress or decay. In this connection he instanced the rise and fall of the Roman empire, and other great nations, but had faith, he said, in the conservatism of a people that had kept a government from corruption for over two thousand years to uphold the standards of the new civilization.

Having recounted the reasons which led to the recent upheaval and the part that America and Chinese educated in this country had taken in it, he went on to show pictures of the revolutionary army in the field and in the trenches; the signs of patriotism and the new throbbing of the national life. Their new flag had five stripes indicative of the five great races included in Chinese territory.

Next, the lecturer took his audience on an illustrated tour through the country, showing the great strides that had been made within the past few years in educational methods; the growth of manufactures; the up-to-date methods employed; the power of the press; and the liberation of women from a state of virtual slavery. As an index to the new governmental policy he showed how it was the intention of the new government within the next twenty years to provide one million schools for the education of masses. The language of the country with its thousands of intricate characters was another great problem which the Chinese would have to solve themselves.

In conclusion he spoke of the great sacrifice of life which had gone out of this country to assist the Chinese in their fight for freedom; the splendid work that was being done by the different medical schools and missionary societies, and lastly the excellent work that was being carried on by the Presbyterian church of this country through its missionaries.

Milady's Mirror

The Beauty Sufferer.

A Parisian lady's maid has been revealing the secrets of her mistress' boudoir and the arts, or, rather, tortures, by which beauty is attained. There is a French saying that you must suffer to be beautiful, and in this instance it seems to have been accepted literally.

For months the poor lady lay flat on her back on the floor motionless, with her arms close to her sides, during several hours a day. This was, it appears, to improve her figure. During the rest of the day for the same period of time she sat on a high stool rocking the upper part of her body backward and forward and from side to side unceasingly. By this process she is said to have acquired a statuesque throat and a sylph's waist.

The lady's nose, having a soaring nature, was corrected and made Grecian by constant application day and night for months of a spring bandage. One nostril being larger than the other, she wore a small sponge in it for a year.

Her cheeks have been filled out and rounded by injections of paraffin. Her ears for months were compressed against the sides of her head by springs, while heavy weights were attached to the lobes to produce the required elongated shape, which has been successfully achieved.

Having suffered this complicated martyrdom for a year, the poor lady has become satisfied that she is sufficiently beautiful.

She has not set much value by the theory that beauty is only skin deep, although she has proved that the theory is correct. What she values is beauty, even if it is only skin deep. Undoubtedly beauty is an asset for woman, but it is not her most desirable gift.

For an Oily Scalp.

An excessively oily scalp cannot be cured at once. Slow treatment is best. Shake a cake of pine tar soap into three quarts of water and set it on the stove, where it will slowly melt. When it is all dissolved allow it to cool and bottle for use. It takes about half a pint for a good shampoo. Into this amount put about six drops of ammonia. Wet the entire head and hair first, then shampoo well with the soap jelly, then rinse well in several waters, making sure all soap has been removed.

When the hair is thoroughly dry rub in the following lotion, which is also a tonic: One ounce of tincture of capsicum, one ounce of tincture of cantharides, two ounces of good bay rum and two ounces of witch hazel. It is only necessary to massage the tonic into the hair roots immediately after the shampoo. Ordinarily the shampoo is given once a month, but in cases of extreme oiliness every three weeks is advisable until the hair shows an improvement.

It is just the reverse with an overdry scalp. The hair falls because it is not nourished and fed enough. From extreme dryness the skin contracts and the hair becomes harsh and brittle and falls out. Applications that will penetrate the pores and feed the roots must be used to improve these conditions.

To Beautify the Eye.

The eyes are used more than any other member of the body. Often as we sit down to rest the body we pick up a book or paper to read. The eyes receive no rest. All through the day they are busy from opening until closing time, and often then their owners are reminded by drowsiness that it is long past the time to rest.

The body, the hands and the limbs get a rest, even if it is only by a change of position, but the eyes scarcely ever. And this is wrong, for dozens of times during the day the eyes could easily be rested by being shut, if only for a few seconds at a time. A great deal of good would result. This practice, small though it may seem, will repay any one, for, while the benefit may not be noticed from day to day, the freshness of the eyes after one reaches middle age will be worth more and reimburse well for the trouble necessary to protect them.

Cool, weak tea is excellent to bathe the eyes with. If they have been used a great deal during the day and burn bind on them moist tea leaves and retire. By morning they will be much freshened and relieved.

Cure For Cold Sores.

Now that colds are the rule sufferers are feeling the annoyance of fever blisters, or cold sores, as they are more generally called. The time to stop the spread of these sores is at the beginning, when the first tiny blister appears. Be careful to apply only such remedies as do not cause the blister to spread. A simple but effective remedy, if applied at the outset, is to touch the spot every hour with spirits of camphor. This dries the sore without injury to the skin. In case the sore develops overnight so that you have not been able to treat it in the beginning more heroic measures are needed. Permanganate of potash, two grains, moistened with rosewater, applied to the blister, allowed to dry and then dusted with pulverized starch, will quickly reduce the inflammation. When this has disappeared massage the affected spot with cold cream to eliminate all danger of a temporary scar or red mark.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WAYS OF ROASTING BEEF.

ROAST beef need not always be served in the same way. Methods of preparing it are numerous. For plain roast beef choose a nice piece of rib or sirloin. If the sirloin has a heavy layer of fat on top or a thick piece of gristle eschew it, for these are signs of age and toughness.

A Southern Way.

Roast Beef a la Dixie.—Here is a way of roasting beef that is popular in some southern households. Dust the piece of beef with salt, pepper and flour before putting in the pan. Add a little piece of bacon, a small piece of onion and a carrot cut in two. Pour in a cupful of meat stock. Lay the roast on the bacon and vegetables and place in a moderate oven. Cook a quarter of an hour for each pound. Baste frequently with the drippings and watch carefully so that it does not scorch.

An English Method.

Roast Beef With Yorkshire Pudding.—This is the way roast beef is liked in the north of England. So far as the meat is concerned, it is prepared in the ordinary way for roasting.

For the pudding beat three eggs until light, then add a pint of milk. Put a cupful of sifted flour into a pan and pour the milk and eggs over it. Add some salt and beat thoroughly.

Grease a baking pan and pour the batter into it. Bake for about three-quarters of an hour and baste with the roast beef gravy. Some cooks bake the pudding in the same pan with the beef, placing it upon a rack with the batter underneath.

With a Savory Dressing.

Stuffed Roast Beef.—Mix a stuffing as follows: Mince an onion and one pound of fat bacon with savory herbs. Add a pinch of celery salt, a little powdered cloves and allspice. Work all together with an egg.

Lay the beef in the pan in which it is to be roasted and with a sharp knife make incisions in it. Stick the knife deep into each and twist it around to make the place large enough to hold the stuffing.

Rub the beef with dissolved butter, dredge thickly with flour, set some water in the pan and put in the oven. Baste constantly and dredge on more flour. Thicken the gravy and serve.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Roselle, held the last meeting of the season on Tuesday afternoon of this week. A number of matters of business were attended to, among others the secretary being instructed to request the Board of Education to invite Dr. E. S. Krans, of our city, to talk to the High School boys on the subject of Sex Hygiene; this request is the outcome of the lecture given two months ago by Dr. Krans to the Roselle Parent-Teacher Association on the same subject, which carried conviction with it as to the necessity for direct teaching along this line. It was also voted that a request be made at once to the Board to open the Roselle Schools from July ten to August twenty-fifth, six days a week, from nine to eleven a. m., and from two to four p. m., for the voluntary attendance of Roselle children at classes for manual training—the Lloyd system for the boys, sewing and reading for the girls. As the co-operation of the manual training teacher has already been secured for this purpose, the women are hopeful of success and feel that some of the long vacation problems with their boys and girls will thereby be helpfully solved.

Miss E. B. Hartridge, of the Hartridge School, of Plainfield, then gave a convincing talk on the "Responsibility of Parents During Children's Playtime," pointing out that the responsibility was not only to the children themselves but to the community as well; that children's play should always be within earshot of older people if not more directly supervised; that the play of adolescent boys and girls should at all seasons of the year be out of doors play, not indoor dancing, etc., and should by all means be day-time play. Miss Hartridge advocates leaving evening amusements for later years, thus securing save at infrequent intervals, the inestimable value of family companionship and healthy bed-time hours, which have so much to do with their physical condition and character a few years later.

The duty of guarding children from street influences, vicious companions and ignorant servants was most strongly emphasized, as the speaker pointed that a half hour's laxness in supervision might give opportunity to undo in the mind of a child the results of years careful work on the part of the mother.

Mothers were warned against believing their children inherently evil or inherently good—and reminded that it is the environment provided and the unremitting care or lack of it which determines the trend of development toward good or evil of our boys and girls.

Miss Hartridge then spoke specifically of the incentives to right living and wholesome moral refined recreation for our children and adolescents, laying special emphasis on that strong impulse to be conventional to want to do and say and be the "right thing" which exists at this time of life and which is often found by wise parents and teachers the best and easiest influence in guiding their conduct.

The Roselle High School Glee Club gave several selections which were much enjoyed. The prize-winning recitation of the speaking contest of the pupils given on Monday evening closed an enjoyable program. The usual social hour with refreshments followed, and the association adjourned to meet again next October.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Bryant School met on Wednesday afternoon in the chapel after an hour's inspection of the children's work, which was on exhibit in the different class rooms of the building. After the business meeting which was a full and interesting one, Miss Noel J. Bullock, principal of the Franklin Schools, gave a talk to the mothers and teachers, in which she strongly set forth some of the ways in which the homes might more efficiently support the efforts of the school to develop the children. Miss Bullock laid special emphasis on the fact that tardiness and non-punctuality in attendance were most serious handicaps to good work not only for the individual child concerned, but for the entire class to which he belongs and urged mothers to let no trival excuses interfere with their children's regular attendance.

She also said that the atmosphere of the home and the training received by the child there, or the lack of it, was to be recognized instantly by the teacher in the school room, and according as that training was firm and wise or foolish and unstable were the results obtained by the teacher. The talk closed by the statement that the most glaring faults in the children of today for which the homes were responsible were lack of prompt obedience to command and lack of self control. Miss Bullock has been efficiently at the head of the Franklin School for many years and her views are sound and valuable. Mothers would do well to ocnsider them carefully to discover how they can best help their children along these ines.

The afternoon ended with a social hour at which light refreshments were served and special efforts were made to introduce mothers and to promote a cordial acquaintanceship among the patrons of the school.

Under the auspices of the New Jersey State Congress of Mothers and the New Jersey State Society for the prevention of Social Diseases a meeting was held in Atlantic City Saturday, May 11. The speakers were: Dr. Godfrey R. Pisek, of New York, "Infant Mortality;" Dr. Grace Spiegle, of Philadelphia, "How, When and Where to Teach Sex Hygiene;" Dr. Alex. Marcy, Jr., of Riverton, N. J., "The Need of Organized Effort to Further Moral Prophylaxis;" with short talks by Dr. Clara K. Bartlett, Dr. Edward Guion and Dr. Philip Marvel, all of Atlantic City.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The World's Travel-Drama pictures, which are announced by Proctor & Sanderson of the Plainfield theatre to begin at that house on Monday evening, for an engagement of the early summer, is an attraction of interesting importance and moreover the very latest novelty in the line of motion pictures of travel. It is the same extensive picture show that ran all last summer at the Garrick theatre, Philadelphia, under the joint management of Charles MacGeachy, of the New York Empire theatre, and Will C. Smith, for many years identified with the Lyman H. Howe picture entertainment, now well patronized in the leading theatres. These coming displays are to include those of "The King's Power," and "The Fatal Lie," the current photo-play successes of the world-famed Royal Theatre Company of Copenhagen, Denmark by special cabled arrangements. The bulk of the displays will, however, be of travel character. Motion picture lovers have an entertainment of more than ordinary pleasure in the coming pictures, and it is the belief of the critics that the displays are beyond comparison in point of charm, in richness of presentation and wealth of variety, and the management do not hesitate to claim superiority for certain of the demonstrations. The star "Travel" pictures in the program are concededly those that were taken in motion of the great Durbar festivity that was lately ceremonized at Delhi, India, in honor of the visit of the English King and Queen to that country for the purpose of being formally acclaimed Emperor and Empress of India respectively. The gorgeous spectacle is shown with its parade of potentates, notables and the cavalcades of elephants, camels and horses, upon the whole the most dazzling national ceremony in the world's history. The program announces other pictures of similar elaborate display and interest. Exhibitions are to be given twice daily, with matinees at 2:15 and evenings at 8:15, and programs changed every Monday and Thursday during the engagement.

HEBREWS CELEBRATING FEAST OF PENTECOST

Shevuoth, the festival of the Pentecost of the Jewish year 5672, was celebrated in the synagogues yesterday. The holy day, celebrated one day by the reformed Jews, and two by the orthodox, is especially of interest to boys and girls who have reached their thirteenth year.

Confirmation exercises were conducted in many synagogues throughout the State, and the boy of thirteen has become a man, and if he be orthodox will "lay tefilim" every morning. This is the morning prayer, and is a ceremony gone through by every male orthodox of the Jewish faith.

The feast, which is altogether of a joyous character, and commemorates the giving of the law on Sinai, began at sundown Tuesday night. It will continue until tonight in the orthodox synagogues. In every Jewish house of worship special services marked the opening of the festival. Special music and floral decorations were in evidence.

Shevuoth was originally the festival of the wheat harvest, and two loaves of bread, made from the newly ripened wheat, were offered as the sacrifice of the day. More recently it has come to be observed more as a remembrance of the day of days on Mt. Sinai.

SIX MONTHS FOR THEFT OF THREE PINTS OF MILK

Perth Amboy, May 23.—Accused of stealing three pints of milk from doorsteps, Patrick Bannon, fifty-five years old, was sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday by Recorder Kehoe. Bannon said that he was drunk the night before and in the morning was so thirsty he could not resist the temptation when he saw the milk.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Matty turned the trick yesterday against the Reds, parcelling out three stingy hits.

That makes three out of the five.

And the Giants leave Redland seventy-six points in the lead.

According to the scribes that settles the question as to which is the better team, although Hank O'Day says that he is still to be heard from.

Connie Mack says that he expects the Athletics to take another world's championship away from the Giants next fall. Mack has been pretty fair as a dopesmith, too.

Trenton H. S. gave the Plainfield High team a taste of the same medicine they have been dealing out to the other teams around here yesterday afternoon.

While it was at slaughter the visitors were in an entirely different class, and were slugging artists of a high order.

Trenton has been cleaning up with about every team she has met this season and she has been up against some of the best scholastic teams in the business.

The third man up on the Trenton team picked out a nice soft spot—on the other side of the fence and proceeded to send the ball there.

It was a pretty cold day for baseball. A wind swept across the field that chilled what little enthusiasm was left after the third inning.

Gradually the familiar looking teams draw near the top of the percentage column in the National League—Chicago third and the Pirates fourth.

The Reds do look out of place, however, and evidently feel it.

An effort will be made to hold the Olympic games of 1920 in Philadelphia.

It is hoped that by that time conditions in that city will have reached such a state that the natives will be able to bear the strain of watching a fleeting runner.

Brown upset the Harvard baseball aspirations yesterday, by taking the Cambridge nine into camp 5 to 4 in an eleven inning contest.

With the return of Wiltse to the fold the Giants have five pitchers upon which they can rely when they return for their next home series with Brooklyn.

Chief Meyers still insists upon leading the National League batters, although he did slump recently! He got down to nearly .400.

S. B. White, Princeton's all-around athlete, has been voted the most popular man in this year's senior class; and he is probably the most popular in the college as well.

Ty Cobb is now a very popular spectator. He sits in the grandstand and attracts almost as much attention as the game.

CITY HIGH FALLS BEFORE TRENTON

VISITORS ARE SLUGGERS

Knock Denny Out of the Box and Greet Woodhull With Bunch of Bingles—Errors by Home Team Help Pile Runs.

After a long list of victories, the Plainfield High School was overwhelmingly defeated yesterday afternoon at Parker Field by the Trenton High School nine in a seven inning contest. The final score was 17 to 5. The local High School boys have been playing good ball but the Trenton team was out of their class.

The game was loosely played by P. H. S. and both Denny and Woodhull were hit freely. The Trenton boys gathered seventeen hits in the course of their seven innings including a home run, two three-base hits and two doubles. Eight errors by the local team also helped to score some of the runs.

Denny started on the mound for P. H. S. and pitched a steady game for the first two periods. The third inning however proved his undoing for besides being hit freely his teammates helped matters along considerably with a generous sprinkling of misplays. Eight runs were scored before the close of the inning.

Woodhull relieved Denny in the box in the next inning and was received with a couple of bingles that put men on bases and a home-run that brought the two home and added three runs to thes core board. After that Woodhull pitched good ball keeping the runs down to one an inning.

The game was called at the end of the seventh inning to allow the visitors to make train connections.

N. P. H. S. MASTERS LEALS SECOND TIME

In the second game played this year between these two schools, North Plainfield High School romped away again with the Leal's School team with a score of 17 to 6 on Hyde Field yesterday afternoon. It was an interesting game until the unlucky seventh when N. P. H. S. succeeded in hitting everything that Lee offered and scored eleven runs. Finch, who replaced Lee, was also touched up freely and Lee was compelled to return to the mound.

Townley pitched a good game for N. P. H., chalking up 12 strickouts, while Lee caused 8 of the home team to whiff. Taylor caught an excellent game and succeeded in hitting the ball in his usual manner. One of his drives into the left field chicken yard looked like a circuit drive, but was called foul.

MR. AND MRS. MORSE.

Former Ice King and Wife Leaving Ship at New York.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

MORSE RETURNS IN GOOD HEALTH

Ice King Was Paroled as Dying Man.

New York, May 23. — Charles W. Morse returned from a stay of three months in Europe greatly improved in health. He is almost the Morse of the days before he got into financial difficulties which led to his imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, from which he was paroled by President Taft.

When Morse was released from prison he was carried out, and when he left New York on Feb. 14 last he could not walk without assistance. He was quite nimble in making his way about the ship and pier. A slight but noticeable limp had nothing to do with his illness, for that limp has been part of Morse's movements for many years.

Morse and his wife were on the passenger list as "Mr. and Mrs. Morris." He said this listing was the fault of the booking agent in Paris. The accommodations on the ship were engaged by telephone and the spelling of the name was phonetic. After reaching the ship Mr. Morse, finding himself booked as Morris, saw no reason to disclose his real identity, which was not known even to the purser.

ARRANGE RICHESON'S BURIAL.

Boston, May 23.—Accompanied by Douglas L. Richeson of Chicago and Miss Louise V. Richeson of Saranac Lake, N. Y., the body of their brother, Clarence V. T. Richeson, left Boston for Amherst, Va.

It is supposed that the burial is to be in the family lot, Dr. Johnson being authority for the statement that no objections had been raised by any member of the Richesons to such disposition of the body.

Burglars Missed $100,000.

St. Clairsville, O., May 23.—Burglars blew open the safe in the postoffice here and secured $12,000 in mail matter and money. The postoffice was located in the county building, directly above the vault of the county treasurer, which is reported to have contained $100,000.

TAFT IS CHEERFUL; HOPES YET TO WIN

President Optimistic Despite Result In Ohio.

TO CONTEST EVERY INCH.

Late Returns Lessen Harmon's Lead In Buckeye State—Talk Revived of National Committee Plan to Indorse Taft.

Washington, May 23.—President Taft reiterates that he has won the Republican nomination at Chicago. Instead of being depressed by the Roosevelt victory in his native state, President Taft took the situation more cheerfully than did many of his followers and immediately announced his intention of contesting every inch of ground with Colonel Roosevelt in New Jersey. The president issued this statement:

"Our opponents quote from a statement of mine made in Cleveland that the fight in Ohio, my home state, much to my gratification, would be the decisive one and would settle the question of my nomination. This is true. I shall have at least seventeen votes from Ohio, including the delegates at large, for we have every assurance that we shall control the state convention. This will constitute a clear majority in the national convention. Indeed, in addition to the votes from Ohio delegates elected for me from other states, of which I have been advised since my Cleveland statement, give me, at the most conservative estimate, 570 out of the 1,078 votes in the national convention—thirty more than the number necessary to nominate.

"I am going to New Jersey to take in the coming campaign there for the same reason that I went to Ohio, and such delegates as we may receive from New Jersey will make assurance doubly sure."

May Indorse Taft.

Talk was revived of the possibility of the national committee plan to have the convention indorse President Taft for renomination. The Taft men say they will select a majority of the new state committee. The Taft men claim district delegates as follows: First, Second, Third, Seventh, Thirteenth, two each; Fifteenth, one delegate. They have hopes of getting another in the Sixth.

There is talk of urging Walter F. Brown, Roosevelt state chairman, for the head of the national committee. Arthur L. Garford of Elyria, automobile manufacturer, is said to be the likely Roosevelt candidate for governor.

Late Figures From Ohio.

Columbus, O., May 23.—Indications are that Roosevelt delegates carried the Ohio Republican primaries by a plurality of 30,000 and that Governor Harmon carried the Democratic preference vote over Governor Wilson of New Jersey by 15,000 to 20,000.

Out of forty-two delegates from Ohio at Chicago, Colonel Roosevelt will have thirty-one or thirty-two, and Governor Harmon will have twenty-seven or twenty-eight. Harmon also will have six delegates at large. The six Republican delegates at large probably will be instructed for Taft, since his friends are likely to control the state convention which will name them. However, the Roosevelt forces will use the verdict registered in the districts as convincing proof of the sentiment of Republicans in the state and will fight against the Big Six for Taft.

Later returns tended to show a lessening of Governor Harmon's lead. The progressives declare they might corral as many as twenty-three of the forty-two delegates for Wilson.

President Taft, as expected, was hard hit in the farming, mining and industrial districts. He was thought to be strong in the cities, but carried only Portsmouth and Cincinnati. In the latter Roosevelt made no fight.

ASTOR WILL IS PROBATED.

Appointed Guardians Discharged After Receiving $25 Fee Each.

New York, May 23.—Surrogate Fowler admitted to probate the will of Colonel John Jacob Astor, who died in the Titanic disaster, leaving his $150,000,000 estate to his son, William Vincent Astor; his widow, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, and to his daughter, Miss Muriel Astor.

The guardians of the heirs, all of the latter being minors, stated that they had examined the will and found that the rights of their clients had been fully protected. The guardians were Henry A. Gildersleeve, guardian for Mrs. Astor; Langdon P. Marvin, guardian for Vincent Astor, and A. Perry Osborn, guardian for Muriel Astor.

Havemeyer Used Word "Trust."

New York, May 23.—Among the letters in the confidential correspondence between the late H. O. Havemeyer and Chester S. Morey, president of the Great Western Sugar company, which were introduced in evidence at the hearing in the government's dissolution suit against the sugar trust before Special Examiner Brice, there was one dated Oct. 28, 1904, in which Mr. Havemeyer used the term trust, as applied to his own consolidated interest.

MRS. PANKHURST.

English Suffragette Leader Gets Sentence of Nine Months.

The worst yet suffered by the militant suffragettes of Great Britain came when Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Frederick Pethick Lawrence, barrister, and his wife, Mrs. Emmeline Pethick Lawrence, joint editors of Votes For Women, were found guilty of having between November, 1911, and March last "unlawfully conspired and agreed together to commit damage and injury to property and with having aided and abetted and procured offenses against the malicious injuries to property act."

CAR UPSET TO FREE BODY.

Little Boy Cut In Two by Newark Trolley Car.

Newark, N. J., May 23.—A little boy was practically cut in two by the wheels of a trolley car on Bergen street, near Warren street. Before the body could be lifted from the rails the car had to be thrown on its side.

The victim was Ray Shevlin, five years old, of 10 Bergen street. The child had endeavored to cross the street to obtain a circular that had been thrown away by a passing girl when he was killed.

When English Hearths Were Taxed.

Among other unpleasant taxes there used to be a tax upon the English hearth. In 1662 it was ordered that "hearth money," 98 cents, should be collected for each householder for the privilege of warming his feet. This, too, on each hearth fire or stove in his house. It was not a popular tax. It was hard to evade. The tax collector was given power to count the chimneys from the inside of the house, and chimneys, unlike windows, cannot be blocked up and concealed until the assessor has taken their number. The tax was collected with vigor until William III. repealed it "in order to erect a lasting monument of their majesties' goodness in every hearth in the land."

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of printing by hand.

An Empty Assurance.

"He says he'd share his last dollar with me."

"Yes," said the man who looks at things coldly, "but he is a man who will take precious good care never to get down to his last dollar."

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

COOLED THEIR WRATH.

Bailey's Way When He Caught a Tartar on the Telephone.

When the telephone bell rang the senior partner said to the junior partner:

"If that is that man Bailey just you tell him what you think of him, even if you lay yourself liable to a fine for violent language."

The junior partner relieved himself of a few abusive epithets, but presently after a brief pause he expressed the same sentiments couched in much milder terms. Said the junior partner:

"There you go crawfishing again. Why can't you stick to what you said in the first place?"

The junior partner dropped the receiver.

"Supposing you come and say it yourself," he said.

The senior partner did so, but after a little he, too, repeated his harangue with all the backbone left out.

"It's no use," he said. "You can't curse a man twice over the phone who answers your first outburst with 'I beg your pardon. I didn't quite catch that. Say it again, please.' That is Bailey's way. You try to say it again, but the second time it sounds pretty rank even in your own ears, and your tempest of rage moderates into a tranquil breeze." --New York Times.

UNKNOWN COUNTRIES.

Mongolia and Tibet Mostly a Riddle to the Outside World.

Neither the Chinese themselves nor the rest of the world knows much of Mongolia or Tibet. The most of those two countries belong to the desert, and, although they have been inhabited since the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the outside world is to them a sealed book, and they to the world an unguessed riddle.

The great desert of Gobi, that is partly in China, partly in Manchuria, partly in Mongolia and partly in Siberia, is traversed by the oldest transportation lines in existence. It has a caravan route over which tea and silk laden camels have traveled toward Europe for these 3,000 years, and yet from the time when Kublai Khan macadamized the road until the time when the Russian railroad paralyzed it by the competition of steam no one of the merchants who traveled over it turned either to the right or to the left to tell Europe and the occident of the wonders or the terrors of that unknown land.—Argonaut.

A Lost Language.

A monument to a lost language is to be found in the village of St. Paul, near Penzance, in Cornwall, and it is believed to be the only monument in existence which marks the death of a vanished tongue. It commemorates the death of the last woman who spoke in the Cornish language and was erected by a Frenchman. It is a granite obelisk about seven feet high and is built into the churchyard wall, the front facing the highway, where it is plainly discernible by all who pass that way. The upper part is in the form of a Maltese cross. The inscription reads as follows: "Here lieth interred Dorothy Pentreath, who died in 1777, said to have been the last person who conversed in the ancient Cornish, the peculiar language of this county from the earliest records till it expired in the eighteenth century in this parish of St. Paul."

The Memory.

Unquestionably the memory of the race is deteriorating. Plato knew perfectly well what he was about when he declared that the invention of letters was the deathblow of memory. In the old time men depended upon their memories for all the affairs of life. The songs of the bards, the laws, all business transactions, everything that took place was lost unless men remembered it. And they remembered it. They had to remember it. The difference between the memories that carried the total content of human knowledge and the memories of today is tremendous. There is no particular reason for remembering things today. They are all on record, and the memory of the race is accordingly dying out.—New York American.

HEARING ON S. O. PLANS.

Taylor, chairman of the committee on fire and buildings, informed the Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night of the filing of the Standard Oil Company of the plans for the proposed erection of four tanks on West Front street, near Rock avenue, and announced that a public hearing on the proposition would be granted Monday night, June 3. It is understood that the Fire and Building Committee is favorably impressed with the proposed change.

LIVED TO TALK AFTER A 13,000-VOLT SHOCK

Paterson, May 23. Although a 13,000-volt current of electricity passed through the body of Joseph Kearns, he lived long enough to tell a companion to remove him from the place of danger. His son, pushing through the crowd that had gathered, to learn who was hurt, saw his father lying dead before him.

The accident happened at the plant of the Public Service Gas Company, in the Riverside section, where the electrical department has a small station, through which run wires carrying current to operate trolley cars at Ridgewood and Hohokus.

Kearns backed up against one of the switches. This touched him on the side of the face. He threw up his hand against another point of contact.

SEVEN STUDENTS BECOME NURSES

RECEPTION TO CLASS

Dance Follows Exercises—Addresses By Charles W. McCutchen, George P. Mellick and William R. Cock—Forecast by Mr. Cock.

Seven young women, having completed the course at the Training School of Muhlenberg Hospital, were graduated at exercises held at the Hartridge Auditorium, last night. It was the largest graduating class in several years. George P. Mellick, president of the Board of Governors, was in charge of the exercises.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, the graduates, accompanied by the other members of the Training School, to the number of twenty-three, marched into the auditorium and took seats in front of the stage, which was decorated with palms, ferns and flowers. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church.

Mr. Mellick made a short address of welcome, in which he praised the work of the hospital and that of the nurses. He said that since 1896 sixty young women had been graduated from the Training School. Addressing the graduates, Mr. Mellick wished them success in their profession and expressed the hope that their records would continue to reflect credit on the institution. He referred to the hospital campaign of last February when the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield gave $132,600, making it possible to erect new buildings and in other ways carry out certain needed improvements.

Mr. Mellick then introduced Charles W. McCutchen, the speaker of the evening, as a friend of the hospital and of every good work in Plainfield and North Plainfield. In part Mr. McCutchen said:

"The new woman is not satisfied to live as the woman of former times in idleness. Then it was, more or less, a humiliation for a woman to work, a confession of poverty or of necessity, separation from the social life and the supposed advantages—matrimonial and otherwise—which those enjoyed who live in listless leisure, and whose power of brain and skill of hands lay dormant and unuse for themselves or for others.

"How different now from then! We live in an age when woman has come to her own; when the doors of opportunity are wide open to admit her; when she is encouraged to enter almost every profession, and invited into every field of activity. She may be found in the market place, the office of the merchant, the counting room of the banker, and in the professions of law and medicine; in fact, in all departments; art, architecture, sculpture, music, literature, and in the thousand and one positions in business and industrial enterprises, where she is not only tolerated, but where she has come to be indispensable, and where experience shows she has qualities which make her in many cases the superior of her male competitor.

"I do not mention political privileges, for the achievement of which there is such a wide-spread popular demand among women throughout the world at this present. My views would not interest you, especially as they might not coincide with your opinions. I venture this general conviction, however, that women should have granted to them every natural and inherent right, especially, if they own real property, the right to vote on questions which involve the levying and collection of taxes, and the expenditure for public uses of the money so raised.

"Yours is a vocation which not only promises compensation for your labor and your skill quite above the average, but which dignifies and honors your sex, and devotes your lives to the highest service which man can render his fellow man. I know of but two professions which outrank you—the doctor of divinity, and the doctor of medicine—you come next to the physician, or, rather, you come with him.

"Speaking of the medical profession, has it ever occurred to us to consider what we, in this community owe to that noble army of men who constitute the medical faculty of Plainfield and North Plainfield? I have in mind every doctor who practices here—allopath, homeopath, osteopath, and if there be any other 'path' let him be included—specialists, eclectics, surgeons, oculists, general practitioners.

"I have in mind also some of the honored name of those who have passed on before us—beloved physicians of earlier days—Dr. Stillman, Dr. Sutphen, Dr. Burlingame, Dr. Probasco, Dr. Boone, Dr. Fritz, and others. These are they who have stood by us and our loved ones in our generation, and who have helped us wage a good fight against disease

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATE KILLING OF AUTO VICTIM

Elizabeth, May 24 (Special).—The Union County Grand Jury, accompanied by County Prosecutor C. Addison Swift, and his assistant, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., went to Westfield, this morning, in automobiles, to visit the scene of the automobile accident on February 7, when George Edward Woolfe was killed. He was struck by a car owned by the Darby Automobile Company, of Westfield, and driven by Harry Darby, of Fanwood Township.

There were two actions against the Darby Automobile Company, but only one was started. That was about half finished, when the company made a settlement with the widow, Mrs. Woolfe. That ended the civil action. Justice Bergen in his charge to the Grand Jury recently, referred to the case and said that if it was found that the driver of the auto was negligent and careless, he could be indicted for manslaughter.

SAY BOYS NEED TRADE SCHOOLING

Supt. Maxson and Head of Newark Institution Praise Industrial Education.

AT BUILDERS' BANQUET

L. B. Woolston, the Toastmaster, and Mayor Clark, of the Borough, One of the Speakers—Banquet Well Attended.

Industrial education as a remedy for unskilled labor was urged with much earnestness by the various speakers at the banquet of the Master Builders' Association, of Plainfield, in the Waldorf Hotel, last night. L. B. Woolston, president of the association, occupied the chair. Eighty members were present.

James E. Dougan, director of the Industrial School for Boys, of Newark, was the first speaker. "Do we need industrial education?" he asked, and then answered the question from the viewpoint of the manufacturer or employer.

The day of the all-round mechanic was gone, he said. Specialized labor was now in request and the employer wanted the workman who showed the greatest amount of efficiency in one particular department of labor. The boys of the rising generation needed industrial education, because the problem of the boy starting out on his life's work was serious. Ninety-four per cent. of the boys who attended our public schools left at the age of fourteen. Unfortunately our whole system of education has been along the line of catering for this small percentage. The mjority of boys who left school were not fitted for any position except as messengers and drivers of wagons, and their weekly earnings, even when grown to manhood, never exceeded $12 a week. The only way they could eliminate that state of affairs was through industrial education.

The speaker showed the proportion of industrial education existing in the country; what big corporations and industrial concerns were doing in the way of supplying schools whence they turned out skilled apprentices, and argued from this that if such corporations were successful municipalities could be likewise. In his opinion it was the business of the employers and property owners to demand industrial education and he felt assured that no Board of Education would refuse them. In Newark the Board of Education had spent $1,000,000 in manual training of High Schools. That to his mind was starting at the wrong end of the ladder and it was catering for that small percentage of boys who remained on at school till they were eighteen. He believed that if the boys from the sixth grade up were taught industrial education till their sixteenth year it would prove an important asset to his employer when he left school, and his earning capacity would be doubled. It was not to be understood that such schools would turn out finished tradesmen able to compete with experienced men. That was not their purpose, but merely to give them the rudiments and ascertain what particular lines they were best adapted for.

The progress of manual training was spoken of by School Superintendent H. M. Maxson. He showed the great influence that it had in training the eye, the hand and the mind of the youth. But it did not go far enough and he looked forward to the time when there would be a trade school in this city as in several other cities throughout the Union. The time was not far distant when each boy and girl in their schools would be taught a trade at the expense of the State. The trade unions had a right to object if schools turned out only half prepared workmen. He was heartily in favor of industrial education. It brought out what the boy was fitted for. And there was nothing so tragic to his mind as the spectacle of a man in a trade or profession for which he was a misfit. There were so few industrial schools and their objects and aims were not understood by the masses with the result that the people did not know what to demand. He thought that the Board of Education would favor the installation of industrial education in the school system; but it was costly. They ought to have it; and they must have it. But when was the time for it? If they were willing to furnish the cash they would get it. But the local public schools as now constituted were growing so rapidly that the Board were chary about adopting new ideas. They were going to ask the Board to build a big addition to the High School which they must have.

Toastmaster Woolston in calling on Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, referred to the absence of Mayor G. W. V. Moy.

Mayor Clark considered industrial education a splendid thing for any community.

Mr. Mosbrugger, of Somerville, spoke of the relations between em-

RALLY MEETING OF WILSON DEMOCRATS

Seventy Supporters of the Governor Listen to Oratory at Reform Hall.

A Democratic mass meeting designed to advance the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson for the Presidential nomination was held last night in Reform Hall. Seventy enthusiastic Democrats attended the meeting which was a Wilson rally all the way through. Each of the speakers lauded the record made by Governor Wilson.

Judge John Queen, of Jersey City, the first speaker, reviewed the past history of the Democratic party and told of its achievements and the principals that it stands for. He was followed by Peter Stagg, of Hackensack, who continued where the Judge left off and elaborated upon many of the points already made.

Simeon Northrop, of Newark; Clinton Fish, of Jersey City, and L. T. Russell, editor of the Elizabeth Evening Times, all spoke along the same lines, each man holding the interest of the audience throughout. At the end of the meeting occurred a heated discussion as to the merit of certain candidates but the meeting closed peaceably, everybody feeling sure that his man would be elected.

J. O. Stevens acted as chairman of the meeting and E. O. Pierson, L. J. Ellis, J. E. Prindle C. E. Broadhead, Jr., A. E. Kenney, J. H. Larkin, John C. Schinkel, R. T. Beardsley, J. F. Zerega and Peter Flynn acted as honorary chairmen.

GIRL BICYCLISTS HURT IN COASTING DOWN DRIVE

Two girls, aged about 8 and 11 years, respectively, who refused to give their names, were injured while trying to ride their bicycles down Johnston's Drive, yesterday afternoon. They started to coast from Woodledge road and their wheels attained such momentum by the time they reached the hair-pin turn that the riders lost complete control and both of them went off into a deep ditch. The wheel ridden by the elder girl was wrecked and she was considerable cut and bruised. The other girl escaped with slight injuries.

C. W. Wheeler, who lives on the Woodledge road, was sent for and he sent the girls home on the trolley, giving them money to pay their fare. It is said that they live on Grant avenue.

MISS RUTH THOMPSON GIVEN SURPRISE SHOWER

A surprise and shower was given to Miss Ruth I. Thompson yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Dunn, of West Fifth street, by her associate teachers at the Stillman school. Miss Thompson is soon to be a bride. The affair was a complete surprise for the guest of honor, who was brought to the house by a ruse.

Miss Thompson received some beautiful pieces of silver, the gift of the teachers. After spending a most enjoyable afternoon the party broke up amid a shower of congratulations to the bride-to-be. Miss Thompson is to marry Lewis Mulford during the coming summer.

HAVEN FROM THE HEAT PROVIDED AT WALDORF

In the hot sultry days now approaching, when the throat becomes parched and dry, when mankind calls aloud for shady retreats and cooling draughts it will be well to remember that provision has been made by several in this city to supply the much-needed relief.

Alive to the coming necessity of the populace Henry F. Windham, the enterprising proprietor of the Waldorf Hotel, has made excellent provisions in this respect to cope with the needs of the public. A handsome and costly soda fountain has been placed in the Annex, and at the rear a long canvas structure has been erected capable of seating three hundred people. Even in the hottest days of summer this camp will be found cool and restful, and admirably suited to those who wish to adjourn a while from the hot glare of the sun and the dust-laden highways.

Besides this provision there is also a well laid out garden with trees, flowers and cosy seats, where patrons can sit and quaff the cooling draughts served. The garden should in particular appeal to women and children who can sit, secluded from the fierce rays of the sun, inhalling the sweet perfume of the flowers and thankful for the respite from the heat of the day.

President Taft, due here at 3:20 o'clock on his whirlwind campaign tour of the State, did not hold to his schedule. The crowd that gathered at the Plainfield theatre, where the President will speak on his arrival here, an hour or more before the time set for his coming, learned at 2:45 that the Presidential party would be at least an hour and ten minutes late in reaching here.

The President left Somerville, where he was the guest of former State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen at lunch, at 2:45, an hour behind his schedule. The next stop on the itinerary was New Brunswick, and for the metropolis of Middlesex the autos bearing the President, Secret Service men and politicians of three counties sped. At 3:05 the Presidential party had not yet reached New Brunswick. It did not look likely than that the President would reach Plainfield before 4:30.

Suhr's band, at the theatre as soon as the announcement of the delay was made, took up the task of keeping the crowd amused.

Frank H. Smith, chairman of the Union County Republican Committee, was in charge of a party of ardent supporters of President Taft who went to Somerville to meet the President and escort him to this city. Among the automobiles which carried the party was that of ex-Councilman George H. Frost, whose car was profusely decorated with bunting. With Charles H. Frost at the wheel the automobile acted as a pilot car on the road from Somerville.

The majority of the local reception committee did not go to Somerville as the arrangements necessary in connection with the mass meeting commanded their attention. No arrangements were made for a detail of police to go out and meet the President's car as it was considered that ample protection was afforded by the Secret Service men who followed in a car behind. A detail of police was sent to the theatre to control the crowd.

To do fitting honor to one that holds the highest position in the land virtually all the business houses in the city were gaily decorated with flags, and several windows exhibited pictures of the President. The public schools here and in the borough had only one session, so the children might be free to see the President.

and death, and by their skill and patient study, and the mastery of the mysteries of science, and the use of modern discoveries and appliances, have spared us pain, healed our hurts, cured our maladies, and saved our lives.

"It fills me with wonder and admiration when I see how naturally and how deftly you fit into the house life of the family when you enter there. We had a charming young nurse from this hospital only a couple of weeks ago in my family. I observed how quietly and quickly she found herself, and everything else, in the house. She seemed to know where to put her hands on the Pond's Extract, on the hot water bag, the alcohol, the paregoric. I think she found everything but the champagne, and I could not wonder at that for Ben Hedges had been there the night before, and Dr. Ard the day before that!

"Victor Hugo in that matchless book, 'Quatre Vingt Treize,' says 'The physician prescribes, the nurse saves,' and that is just what she does, and she does it because first, she is trained and skilled in all the minutia of the care and treatment of those who are ill, because she feels the great responsibility of her serious charge, and chiefly, because she is a woman, gifted by Heaven with that deep sympathy and delicate and intuitive feeling for those who suffer and are weak, and who look up to and depend upon her in their extremity. I do not call these 'nurses,' are they not all rather 'ministering spirits?'"

Following Mr. McCutchen's address, Mr. Mellick presented diplomas to these graduates: Miss Catherine Stewart Knox and Miss Lillian E. Fritts, of Plainfield; Miss Mary Cleaves, of Dunellen; Miss Katherine Kunderbach, of Newark; Miss Olga N. Anderson, of Hamilton, Bermuda; Miss Elizabeth May White, of Utica, N. Y., and Miss Rose Spillane, of Boston. The presentation of the pins to the young women was made by William R. Cock. His remarks were both retrospective and pertinent to the future.

Mr. Cock gave a brief sketch of his early life in New York. He said that he was born where the Postal Telegraph Company building now stands, and attended school in Chambers street. He said that in those early days Broadway was about the only attraction and there was not much to be seen there. Going back to the early days of Plainfield and the hospital, he reviewed interesting incidents in local history.

Looking into the future, Mr. Cock said that he could see a Greater Plainfield and the hospital buildings would be located in the centre of it, which in 1941 would be about where New Market now stands. This remark provoked much laughter; also that instead of there being seven graduates as in this year's class there would be seventy in the class of 1941. Mr. Cock concluded his address with a few humorous remarks of a personal nature aimed at the graduates.

That concluded the graduation program, and the rest of the evening was given up to dancing and a reception to the graduates. The young women received many bouquets. Music for dancing was furnished by VanEpps Brothers, banjos and piano, and the festivities were continued until a late hour. During an intermission refreshments were served.

"TRIP TO MOON" WAS SPLENDID SHOW

Performance Will be Repeated at Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

A musical extravaganza entitled a "Trip to the Moon," under the direction of J. G. Hoffman, of New York, assisted by Miss Francis M. Dusen, was given in the Plainfield theatre last night and drew a good attendance. The performance will be repeated tonight.

Three hundred and fifty young people ranging in age from six to twenty-six composed the cast. They represented the best of Plainfield's amateur talent and had the public realized how excellent this amateur production would be, the theatre would have been packed to the doors.

The show deserved a packed house in every way, for it is one of the best programs ever produced and acted by amateur talent anywhere. There is not a dull moment in the entire performance. It scintillates with life and beauty, catchy songs and clever dancing.

The scene of the play is laid on the planet Mars, but the plot of the piece is lost in admiring and following the youthful performers through their graceful evolutions. The curtain rises on a woodland scene with a pretty bevy of girls raising their voices in a delightful chorus with "The Old Woman Who Lives in the Shoe." Grace Woolston is seen in the back ground. She is a conspicuous figure throughout, and performs her difficult part perfectly. Alice Mehl, as Dorothy, the heroine of the piece, commands general admiration.

The "Weather Man," Jack Todd, executes a difficult role in capital style, and J. Dunning, as "Tom," a reporter on the Daily Press, plays the part of the lover in the good old way. The whole intention of the play is to have Dorothy marry the Weather Man and the subsequent acts show how the plan of "the old woman who lives in the shoe" is foiled.

The members were snappy and full of go as for instance in the first act "Dream Not Again" and "Shine, Shine, Shine," in which the blending of so many voices created a big impression. Earl Morton, as "Officer O'Flynn," was droll, amusingly droll, expecially in his remarks when he hauled off the old cow and the weather man to the lockup.

The costumes and general make-ups were good, and the scene where a hundred and fifty girls dressed in white, wearing the shields of the American flag with the Goddess of Liberty in the rear supporting an immense flag, this character being taken by Miss Ida Pearson, and all singing the "Liberty Chorus" was too entrancing for words to portray.

In the last act the curtain rose on a chorus of a hundred little girls from six to ten singing "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star."

This was followed by the "Grandfather's and grandmother's" girls taking the "granddaddy" parts, wearing high silk hats and old fash-fashioned spike tail coats with tight-fitting trousers. The "grandmothers" were dressed in pink and wore string bonnets. Then the stately minuette was danced with a grace that won plaudits from the entire house.

In the song "You Needn't Go to College," Ethel Hillpot took the sole part backed up by a full chorus of college girls dressed in white with red mortar boards and carrying red books. This was one of the prettiest scenes in the show. Others who occupied character roles and who acquitted themselves creditably were: Howard Riley, Edith Bechtel, Hilda Story, Grace Woolston, Bertha Bulk and David C. Sutton.

There should be a full house at tonight's performance.

PLAINFIELDERS ATTEND STATE "A. T." MEETING

A meeting of the New Jersey Association for the Prevention of tuberculosis was held in the library, Newark, yesterday afternoon. Dr. Harold D. Corbusier, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite and Miss Phillips were the delegates from this city. Mrs. Florence Kelly, secretary of the National Consumers League, was the speaker. She said the best way to prevent tuberculosis was to increase the pay of the women and condemned the fallacy of building hospitals and sanatariums for a few hundred people and alowing conditions to exist that caused tuberculosis among thousands every year.

A short business meeting followed the address. The executive committee, through its president, Dr. Dickerson, Jersey City, moved a resolution for the society to disband on the ground that the aims of the society had been fulfilled in having procured from the tuberculosis department of the State Board of Health an endowment of $10,000 a year.

The adoption of this resolution will not in any way effect the activities of the local society which will continue in its field of useful endeavor aided by the support of the citizens interested in the work.

HOW IT WORKS.

Occasionally the report is spread that this or that city has not found the commission form of government as successful as anticipated, but when the real facts are learned the stories are shown to be without any foundation. For instance, the tale is circulated that Trenton has not fared as well as might be expected since it adopted the business-like tpye of municipal rule. The truth of the matter is that the people of the capitol city of New Jersey are well satisfied with the new form of administration. The True American of Trenton bears testimony of the real worth of the modern system of city government, asserting that:

"One of the best things that the new system has done for the people of Trenton is to give them a system of government that they have confidence in. There is a feeling of security under the new system, a sense that things must be managed in business-like fashion, a satisfying consciousness that the public money is not being wasted and that the community is now making good use of its opportunities.

"It has done away with the suspicions, the dissatisfaction and the unrest that prevailed under the old system. There is less quarreling and division of sentiment among the people themselves as to what is best for the city. There is a greater feeling of certainty that Trenton is progressing right along in the right direction.

"The feeling of security is good for business, and it is good for the people. Business may proceed with the knowledge that it will be protected, and much of the attention and energy that the people used to expend in trying to settle trumped up questions of public policy, and in trying to umpire the interminable and altogether useless controversies between politicians may now be turned to private affairs. In other words the people feel that they may now safely leave public affairs to a commission that can't go far wrong under a system that keeps its conduct constantly in the limelight. The drain of the old system upon the public purse was no worse than the strain it inflicted upon the public's nervous energies.

"This change of the public's attitude toward city government is conducive to civic pride and enthusiasm. There is a satisfying sense of civic importance in Trenton now that was never felt before, an idea of having gained a step, a consciousness of greater power and larger importance and of real superiority over those communities that are still struggling with antiquated systems of government.

"This new sense of security and power is better for a city than a reduction of its tax rate."

Because of an oversight in the framing of an amendment to the Geran law, political workers will not be permitted to use vehicles to convey voters to the polls on Tuesday. The Leavitt amendment provided that "Nothing in this act anywhere shall be construed to in any way limit the right of any volunteer acting without compensation, to transport any voter properly registered to or from any polling place where he may be legally entitled to cast his vote. It also makes provision for the county to bear the expense of taking aged and infirm persons to the polls. It had been intended that the amendment should go into effect immediately upon the passage and Governor Wilson and the lawmakers had the impression that such was the case. It remained for a clerk in the office of the Secretary of State, however, to discover that the clause for making the act effective for the Presidential primaries had been omitted. As a result all who vote must either provide a means of transportation for themselves or foot it to the polls.

These are the days when the people of New Jersey witness the washing of the Republican linen by the Republicans themselves. It will save the Democrats a whole lot of work next fall.

Historic tree cut down at Washington. Only peculiar thing about the historic feature is that George Washington's name was not connected with it in any way.

Remember that the Presidential primaries polls on Tuesday are open from 1 o'clock in the afternoon to nine o'clock at night.

Welcome, thrice welcome, Mr. President!

PUBLIC SERVICE PENSIONS $48,783

That Sum Went to Employes During Past Twelve Months.

A report has just been made to the Executive Committee of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey showing the first year's operation of the company's Welfare Plan for employes. Put into operation January 1, 1911, the system of paying life insurance, sick benefits and pensions to employes or their beneficiaries has cost the corporation and its subsidiaries $48,788.87 in twelve months. This money was paid without any assessments or dues levied on the men.

When the plan was put into effect it was estimated that it would cost the corporation $50,000 a year to carry it along. This figure was based on 10,000 employes at a per capita cost of $5. In actual operation the per capita cost was below the estimate, for the $48,788.87 spent covered 10,215 employes on an average of $4.78 each.

As might be expected the sick benefit feature cost the most money. During the year 1,068 employes were helped to the extent of $22,955.67. The list of ailments included pretty nearly every form of illness to be found on a hospital's catalogue. There were sixty-three deaths which resulted in insurance payments amounting to $18,375.89, the odd amount being accounted for by the fact that the committee paid funeral expenses in several instances where the deceased had not been eligible for the insurance payment. Twenty-four employes were placed on the pension rolls after faithful service for which the companies paid $5,495.65.

Most of the burden of the Welfare Plan fell upon Public Service Railway Company, due to the fact that this company employs about fifty-eight per cent. of the Public Service army. These fifty-eight per cent received sixty-two per cent. of the total benefits conferred. Of the applications for insurance 31 were railway men, 13 from the Gas Company, 15 from the Electric Companies and four from other affiliated companies. Of the cause of death pneumonia and tuberculosis led with twelve each and heart disease followed with ten. Of fatal accidents there were only five out of the 10,215 employes and these five were linemen. The Railway Company furnished 860 of the total number of applicants for sick benefits, the Gas Company 111, the Electric Company 62 and the other companies 35. On the pension roll the railway again leads with 13 names while the Gas Company has seven, the Electric Company one and other companies one. Five men were eligible for pensions when the plan went into effect and these were at once placed on the list. Nineteen others were added and two died leaving twenty-two on the roll at the close of the year.

The Welfare Committee which is in charge of the work and of which Second Vice President John J. Burleigh is chairman, announces that it has not strictly adhered to the rules laid down in administering the work "but has many time exercised its discretionary powers and provided for the alleviation of suffering and want even in situations not contemplated by the act." The committee also points out that the sick benefit payments in the aggregate provided for 22,956 days or 62 years 9 months and 20 days time.

THE FORUM.

DEMOCRACY'S OPPORTUNITY.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press.

In order to succeed, two things are necessary, the opportunity and the knowledge needed to take advantage of the opportunity. Why the Democrats soon to assemble in convention at Baltimore should exercise political sense and nominate a progressive candidate, and why Governor Woodrow Wilson, the great Tribune of the people, should be chosen to be the standard bearer of the party in the coming struggle between the defenders of the peoples' rights and the defenders of vested interests. If the Democratic party would succeed in this great conflict, the leader must not only represent the progressive spirit of the times, but must be one who has justly earned the reputation of being honest, fearless and incorruptible. The present campaign opens auspiciously for the Democratic party. At no time within the past quarter of a century has the outlook for success been so promising as now. This opportunity must not be thrown away or lost. While there are a number of eminently qualified statesmen, whose names are now prominently before the public as available candidates, Woodrow Wilson, whose name is synonymous with the highest ideals, stands before the people of New Jersey, and the Nation today, as the one candidate for the Presidential nomination who ,if chosen, will not only poll the full Democratic vote, but will command the support of hundreds of thousands of independent voters which is now, more than ever before, such a potent factor in determining results, and without which no candidate can possible be elected.

In view of this fact, is it not clearly the duty of every thoughtful Democrat, who has the best interests of his party at heart, and hopes to win, and thus secure the consummation of these principles which our party has so earnestly championed, to give his moral and active support to the election of these delegates favorable to the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

But there is still a more important reason than party expediency why Governor Wilson should be nominated and elected and that is, that at this critical period in the Nation's history, when Constitutional Government is being assailed, and great economic and industrial problems, now agitating the people's minds, must be solved, it is necessary that there should be in the Presidential chair a broad minded, constructive statesman, one having a comprehensive grasp upon these vital questions, and who realizes that government can endure only in the observance of great moral truths.

Let us briefly analize Governor Wilson's administration, and see whether or not he has demonstrated his capacity and is fitted for the office.

When Governor Wilson took the chair, less than two years ago, New Jersey was in the mire of political corruption and the grasp of predatory corruptions. A long suffering public had asked for relief from these intolerable conditions, and, in return, was given promises that the evils would be remedied, only later to be broken by the party in power.

Governor Wilson told the people that, if elected, he would redeem every pledge to enact remedial laws, specifically outlined in the Democratic platform. Every intelligent man in he State knows that, in spite of obstacles which would have been considered insurmountable by another less honest and courageous, he succeeded in securing the enactment of every promised reform measure; the Public Utility law, Corrupt Practises Act, Primary and Election law, Presidential Preferential Election Bill, and other measures of like character. He also insisted that the sacred principle "the will of the majority," which is as old as human government, should be recognized by the election of James E. Martine as United States Senator.

These achievements alone prove that he is in ability, courage and independence, having a profound knowledge of governmental affairs, pre-eminently qualified to fill the highest office in the land.

Because of the fulfillment of his pre-election promises, which were ratified at the polls by nearly 50,000 majority, and thus became a contract, the violation of which would have not only been undemocratic but repugnant to representative government, we now find arrayed against him certain men representing special interests actuated solely in gratifying a personal spite, resorting to calumny and deception in order to discredit him throughout the country and at the same time advance their own selfish interests.

The question to be answered at the polls next Tuesday, will the Democratic voters of New Jersey express by their ballots their approbation of duty conscientiously performed or allow themselves to be blinded by misrepresentation?

Having faith in the intelligence and discernment of the great majority of voters, I cannot seriously question but that they will give their earnest support to the men to whom New Jersey owes as much as Rome owed to Fabius.

In order to achieve a victory for the people in the nomination and election of Woodrow Wilson, it is important that delegates pledged to his candidacy be elected.

Let every voter realize the danger of electing unpledged delegates. If there was a convention where the power of the un-instructed delegates will be great, not only in the choice of a candidate, but in writing the platform, it will be at Baltimore.

Fellow Democrats, it is for you to say whether you will send to the National Convention men who will stand firm from start to finish for the nomination of New Jersey's adopted son, who, if chosen, will not only reflect honor on our State, but will lead a militant democracy to triumphant victory.

PRESIDENTIAL CHOICE APPEAL OF GOV. WILSON

Trenton, May 24.—Governor Woodrow Wilson today issued a formal appeal to the citizens of the State for their suffrages at the polls next Tuesday in the contest for the nomination for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket. Its features are a direct attack on former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., hard raps at the "Board of Guardians" and a charge that the opposition of former Senator Smith to him is only an attempt of the former to re-establish his control over the Democratic party and "put himself once more in a position to make the Democratic machine an adjunct and partner of the old Republican machine in serving the special interests in New Jersey."

The Governor bases his claim to the support of the voters upon his victory in the fight for the upholding of the law for direct voting for United States Senator, as evidenced in the choice of James E. Martine, and his leadership of a regenerated party last year in the passage of numerous reform laws. He declared that Senator Smith is opposing him from motives of revenge and is working in a secret way that he would not dare make public. He says the great issue next Tuesday is whether there shall be a government in this State conducted by public opinion, or whether the State shall go back to a government of special interests; back into the old slough of despair and disgrace.

VACCINATION KILLS A BABY.

Coroner Declares Examination Shows It Caused Lockjaw.

New York, May 24.—That vaccination was the contributory cause of the death of Edward Tetraszkiewiz, aged seven months and twenty-one days, who died from lockjaw in his home, was the verdict given by Coroner Alfred H. Iles.

The vaccine was administered by a physician connected with the board of health here, the coroner says. The child subsequently became ill and was seized with spasms. The coroner says that several physicians were called in a futile effort to save the baby's life.

PEOPLE'S FIGHT FOR REAL RULE

Colonel Roosevelt Outlines Principles He Advocates.

OPENS NEW JERSEY CAMPAIGN

Demands Fair Chance For All—Says It Is Much More Than Factional or Even Party Fight—Sham Democracy Must Go—Must Overcome Alliance of Big Business and Crooked Politics.

Paterson, N. J., May 24.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt began here his fight for the twenty-eight delegates which New Jersey will send to the Republican national convention. From now until the primaries next Tuesday he will make fifty speeches in all parts of the state and is confident that he will win practically all the delegates.

His address here was before a huge gathering of working men and women in the Fifth regiment armory. He received a great greeting, and his energetic exposition of his political beliefs was cheered to the echo. In it he struck the keynote of nearly all the speeches he will make in the state. He said:

"Men and Women of New Jersey—In its essence this is a very simple fight, and yet I think it is a fight of more farreaching importance to the people of our country than any that has taken place since the days of Lincoln, for it is a fight to restore and strengthen the simple, healthy idealism which characterized the men who a century and a quarter ago made this Union, and the men who half a century ago restored and perpetuated it.

"The first and cardinal article of our creed is that the people must rule. This does not mean that the people must or indeed can use the same machinery in government that was used in earlier days any more than the pursuit of industry today means going back to the scythe and the spinning wheel, but it does mean the elimination of certain present day machinery which has proved to be expensive and subversive of popular government and of a character such that the people cannot possibly reach it. It does mean that we are to keep within reach of the power of the people such machinery, such political methods, that they may always be able to register their wishes as to how the government shall be run and who shall run it, and, moreover, so that they may be able to enforce their wishes if there is a disposition anywhere to ignore them.

"In short, we stand for a practical idealism, for getting back to the principles upon which this government was founded, for making the principles of Lincoln living and vital forces to meet the living and vital needs of the present day. The first article of our creed must be that the people shall really and not merely nominally rule, and the second article must be that they shall so rule in a spirit of justice. Here again we mean justice as a concrete fact and not merely as an abstract ideal. We mean industrial justice no less than political justice.

Demands Fair Chance For All.

"We mean to secure not merely by private action, but by governmental action, both through the nation and through the state, whatever methods are necessary in order to give the wage-worker a fair chance, and the farmer a fair chance, and the small business man a fair chance. We have no hostility whatever to the big business man or to his ally, the great corporation lawyer. There are many men of both classes whom we recognize as good citizens of the most useful type and whom we are glad to see prosper because they prosper by serving and not by swindling the people. But we are also obliged to recognize the fact that there are some of these big business men and big lawyers who have owel their prosperity either to improper practices on their part or else to improper conditions which have been permitted to grow up in the industrial world. Where the practices are improper we wish to put a stop to them and to punish the perpetrators. Where, on the other hand, the conditions are improper we recognize that the responsibility rests upon us, the people, to change the conditions. Where this is the case we work in no spirit of hostility to the people who have been benefited by these conditions, but we refuse to continue conditions which have given an advantage to a few people at the expense of a great many people.

"It is therefore evident that in this contest we are fighting what is much more than a factional or even a party fight. We who within the Republican party are standing for the rights of the plain citizens of the Republican party are also standing for the rights of every decent citizen, whatever his politics, throughout the United States, for we are standing for the fundamental rights of American citizenship.

Wants Real, Not Sham, Democracy.

"Now, I do not wish to be misunderstood; indeed, I do not think I shall be unless willfully. I do not believe that our triumph will usher in the millennium or anything like it. But I do most emphatically believe that unless we, the people of America, seriously and in good faith turn our attention to making this a real democracy and not a sham democracy, one which will bring justice to the average man and the average woman, alike in the political and industrial world, we will have bad times ahead of us. Moreover, I do believe that by the right kind of legislation and administration and by the raising of the level of average thought and purpose, which will not merely produce, but will also partly be produced by, such legislation and administration, there will come a very perceptible change for the better.

"In the same way I do not believe that any laws, any reconstitution of society, will ever enable the individual to substitute anything else for his own character as the chief force in working out his own success. The character of the average man must always be his chief asset. It is just as with the soldier. Unless the soldier is of the right type, unless he has the qualities of courage, loyalty, endurance, then no perfection of discipline, no perfection of arms, will avail him. But it is also true that a high quality of individual natural proficiency in the soldier will not enable him and his fellows, taken together, to make a good army unless they have the right weapons and the right discipline. So in civil life. While nothing can take the place of a man's individual character, yet bad laws, bad social conditions may make that character of no effect, and good laws, good social conditions, will enable the character to work with the utmost possible efficiency.

Bucking the Old System.

"We have against us in this fight practically every representative and beneficiary of the old system of privilege both in politics and in business. The immense majority of the bosses are against us. The immense majority of the big business concerns which profit by unfair and improper conditions in the business world are against us. Above all, we have against us practically every representative of the alliance between crooked business and crooked politics, which has been the most fertile source of corruption in American life. We also have against us all that portion of the press, including the majority of the great New York dailies, which whether from conviction or for less proper reasons represent Wall street. For instance, it is a curious fact and illustrates how entirely indifferent to any politics, except that of the till, the newspapers of this type are that the same papers, including the great majority of the big metropolitan dailies, which as Democrats championed Judge Parker for the presidency against me in 1904 in the election, are now championing Mr. Taft against me for the nomination within the Republican party.

"But we also have against us many sincere and well meaning men who are misled because the channels of information are choked or who are frightened because they do not entirely understand our position. These men have no cause for fear, and they should be with us. We are revolutionary only in the sense that Washington and Lincoln and their colleagues were revolutionary. We preach hatred of no class except the class of crooks, and even in that case we hate the crookedness and do not wish to hurt the crooks unless it is absolutely necessary in order to stop the crookedness. We preach discontent only with injustice and wrongdoing.

What Popular Rule Means.

"Let me illustrate by two or three examples just what I mean. We wish the people to rule. That means that we wish direct primaries for nominations. We are against the convention system because in actual practice at this very moment the men who manage the conventions have shown that they use them not to represent but to misrepresent the voters behind them. In the same way we wish to see senators elected by popular vote. We think that the people can choose their own senators better than the politicians can choose them for them. So as regards industrial injustice. In the tariff, for instance, I believe in a protective tariff, but I wish to see the benefit get into the pay envelope of the workingman as well as appear among the dividends. For this reason I advocate the creation of a national bureau whose business it shall be to investigate protected industry and see that the protection does really benefit the workingman.

"So we believe in workmen's compensation laws, in laws to secure better conditions in tenement houses, laws to prevent women from working over hours or children working at all. Therefore we believe in establishing over all big industrial enterprises engaged in interstate commerce a supervision similar to that which now obtains over all big business concerns engaged in interstate transportation and over national banks. The anti-trust law can thereby be made really effective instead of, as now, a sham when used against big interstate business that has been guilty of swindling practices, and at the same time honest business, big and small, will be protected. We do not propose to hurt any business man, but we recognize the fact that big business contains within itself such possibilities of menace to the general public, both to the employees of the business concerned, to its competitors and to the purchasers of its product, as to necessitate a thoroughgoing supervision and control in the interest of the public, and such a law we propose to enact and to enforce."

Large Party With Him.

Attending the colonel was a retinue of about fifty persons, comprising assistant spellbinders, personal friends of the candidate, reporters and photographers. The colonel was in excellent humor and good voice and declared he could wake up New Jersey from end to end.

He also spoke at Passaic, Hackensack, Hasbrouck Heights, Rutherford, Belleville, Bloomfield, Montclair, West Orange, Newark and Jersey City.

In order that their employees might see and hear him many mills and factories shut down at 11 o'clock in Paterson. Bombs announced the departure of the campaign train from Jersey City, and when it reached Paterson at 11:37 a presidential salute of twenty-one guns was fired.

After his speech at the Armory Mr. Roosevelt was the guest at a luncheon in the Hamilton club, whence he went by automobile to the Passaic high school to speak at 2:30.

Former State Senator Everett Colby entertained the Roosevelt party at dinner at the Essex County Country club. He then spoke in the First Troop armory, Newark, and on his way to Jersey City talked for a few moments at Military park.

COFFEE SUIT IS SCHEDULED TODAY.

Friction Between Knox and Wickersham Denied.

Washington, May 24.—Solicitor General Lehmann and Jesse Atkins of the department of justice left Washington for New York to represent the government today, when the application for a temporary injunction to prevent the removal of 950,000 bags of coffee, now stored in New York, is heard in the federal court in the government suit against the so called trust. Because of the importance of the case and of the novel legal points which will probably develop, Attorney General Wickersham instructed Mr. Lehmann, who handles all the department's cases in the supreme court of the United States, to appear personally in the coffee suit.

It was denied here that there was any friction between Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary of State Knox over the filing of the coffee case. The state department co-operated with the department of justice in gathering evidence regarding the origin and method of operation of the valorization scheme.

KAISER IN DANGER.

At Launching Piece of Wood Falls Within Inches of Head.

Hamburg, May 24.—Kaiser Wilhelm narrowly escaped serious injury at the launching of the new Hamburg-American liner Imperator, the world's largest ship.

As the liner left the dock a heavy piece of wood which had become dislodged fell within a few inches of the kaiser's head. Fortunately the kaiser escaped any injury.

Fed From the Sword.

The true shamrock is one of the tiniest of the clover family and has small yellow bloom—that "sprig of shamrock, wearing of the green."

When an Irish mother brings forth a male child she puts his first food on the sword of her husband and lightly introduces the first auspicium of nourishment into his little mouth with the point of the sword.—Solinus, 1,700 Years Ago.

No wonder the Irish are natural born soldiers.—New York Press.

Precocious.

Small boys have a way of listening to remarks that older persons make and using them when least expected. A mother was surprised the other day to have her young son reply to her when she was reproving him for some trifling misconduct: "Well, mamma, you must put up with me. You know I'm just at the trying age."

No, He Wasn't.

He—And did you call at Monte Carlo while you were at Nice? She—No. Papa called on him, I believe, but from his disappointed appearance when he returned to the hotel I think Mr. Carlo must have been out!—London Telegraph.

GIVES $2,000,000 TO IMMIGRANTS.

M. J. Kahn, Donor, Hopes to Relieve Congestion.

New York, May 24.—Montefiore J. Kahn, millionaire dog fancier and part owner of the Elkwood kennels, Long Branch, N. J., gave to the American Immigration and Distribution league 13,000 acres of farming land at Davenport, N. J., valued at $2,000,000, which will be settled by immigrants from the congested districts of New York city.

This is the greatest gift ever made for such a purpose and was considered by those who attended the meeting of the league in the Manhattan hotel as marking an epoch in the history of the immigration problem. Mr. Kahn is a second cousin of Otto H. Kahn, the banker.

"There is nothing behind this gift," said Mr. Kahn, "beyond a desire to see this distribution plan given a fair trial. I give the land to the league, which will hold it in fee simple, unless it desires to give it outright to the settlers, in order that immigrants who want to get out of the city may do so without having to pay a large sum for transportation. It will be portioned out in plots of ten acres to a family, and if the families are too poor to pay transportation and build homes I will pay their carfare and build houses for them, taking a 4 per cent mortgage."

TOO MUCH POLITICS SAYS EDITOR A. V. D. HONEYMAN

Trenton, May 24.—That there is too much politics in the conduct of legislative business in this State and not enough of conscientious conviction, is the opinion expressed by A. V. D. Honeyman, of Plainfield, editor of the New Jersey Law Journal, in the May number of The Journal which has just been issued.

The statement is made in connection with an editorial note on the litigation now pending over the Pierce grade crossing bill. Mr. Honeyman reviews the circumstances connected with the passage of the bill and its veto by the Governor. The article then says:

"Independent of the legality or illegality of the measure as a passed bill, it seems to us, there should be no two opinions as to the impropriety of the Legislature's endeavor to get around the Executive veto by a technicality. The State cannot afford, by technicality or by any other means not open and above board, fairly and squarely to achieve even what may be considered as of the greatest public consequence."

Continuing his comment on the complications which have arisen over the Pierce bill, Mr. Honeyman says:

"When the Governor and the Legislature are not of the same political faith, the Legislature appears to make it a rule to outwit the Governor, if it can, by acting upon vetoes as if every bill of public consequence introduced by the party in power were a political measure; and when both the Governor and the Legislature are of the same political faith, bills introduced by members of the minority party are also treated as if they were simply political measures.

"The real test which ought to be put up to each legislative bill, no matter who introduces it, is, will it, if enacted into law, conserve the best interests of the State? Is it an honest measure designed for an honest purpose and such as will benefit the public, or such portion as ought to receive benefit from it? The grade crossing bill, for example, and in fact the majority of measures passed by the last Legislature and vetoed by the Governor, were in no true sense political measures.

"The votes to sustain or not to sustain the vetoes were in almost all instances strictly along party lines. There was no more reason for this than there would be for party lines to be drawn upon an act to facilitate the collection of ordinary debts. It was as unreasonable for every Republican to vote as was the case in reference to most of the vetoes, to pass bills over the Executive's disapproval, or for the Democrats to vote to sustain those vetoes as for an Executive to disapprove of measures because they originated with some members of the Legislature with whom he was not on socially friendly terms. Partizanship runs wild when it enters the legislative hall, and acts, not for the interests of the people, but for parties.

"And this is one of the reasons why there is such a growing number of independent voters in this country. They see that politicians and politics have too much to do with the enactment of laws. They observe that whatever is promised in the platform of a party prior to election does not conclude that party as to its conduct after election. They see that few legislators act purely from motives of statesmanship. They observe, too, that what are called 'the loaves and fishes' forms a great part of the meat upon which these little Caesars feed, and they become disgusted. The millennium is a long way ahead, and never is this more evident than when one comes to read over some of the measures introduced into the New Jersey and other State Legislatures, and the votes pro and con upon bills, affecting large corporations for instance; and indeed the mere reading over of laws passed at any annual session, verifies our statement."

CHAIR FOR THE PRESIDENT.

The large mahogany chair which President Taft will sit in at the Plainfield theatre, this afternoon, was furnished by Shirley & Johnston, of West Front street. Because the President is such a large man the committee found it difficult to obtain a chair in which he could sit. After considerable time was spent in a search for one, the committeemen got what they wanted at Shirley & Johnston's.

NO DEVICE TO PREVENT CROWN SHEET DROPPING

Trenton, May 24.—A memorandum has been handed down by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners that there is no mechanical device which would preevnt the dropping of crown sheets in locomotive boilers, thereby preventing explosions. This finding was the result of a conference held between the board and representatives of the railroads in this state, which was presided over by Commissioner Hillery.

Inquiry was made by the board as to the use of justible plugs in locomotives, and it was learned that a very small proportion of the locomotives on the various railroads represented at the conference were equipped with fusible plugs. It was also the opinion of those present that such plugs are not a means of additional safety. The Interstate Commerce Commission has a rule requiring that if boilers are equipped with fusible plugs they shall be removed and cleaned of scale at least once every month; their removal must also be noted on the report of inspection. This rule, under the inspection of the board, has been complied with by the railroads in this state.

The railroads represented at the conference were the Pennsylvania, Lackawanna, Central, Philadelphia and Reading, New York and Long Branch, Lehigh Valley, Erie, Baltimore and New York and the New York Central and Hudson River.

STATE FORESTER ACTS FOR CLEAN ROADSIDES

Trenton, May 24.—With a view to stirring up a wider interest and more general care in giving proper attention to roadside conditions, State Forester Alfred Gaskill has sent out letters calling upon township committees generally to clean up brush.

"Frequent complaints come from forest fire wardens of the condition of the roadsides in the wooded sections of the state," Mr. Gaskill said, in part. "This letter is prompted solely by the commission's desire to cooperate with the local governments in every way in the control of forest fires, both by advice and assistance.

"An uncared-for roadside is a firetrap, and brush cut and allowed to dry along the edge of a road is more dangerous than if permitted to remain growing and green. Aside from its value in curtailing the number of fires started, a properly, or even reasonably, well-cared-for roadside affords, in many instances, the only secure line of attack in fighting an advancing fire. Attention given to this matter will insure a decrease in a township's fire fighting expenses and an increase in its woodland values exactly in proportion to the thoroughness of the work done."

Mr. Gaskill quoted provisions of the law regarding the removal of brush.

UTAH SLAYER LEGALLY EXECUTED BY RIFLEMEN

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 24.—Aiming from loopholes in a curtain, five unseen marksmen poured a rifle volley into the breast of a blindfolded man seated in a chair in the death house of the State prison here.

The prisoner executed was Julius Sirmay. He was convicted of the murder of Thomas Karrick, fourteen years old. Sirmay asked for death by shooting, and his request was granted. Sirmay confessed that he killed the boy while committing a daylight burglary at the Karrick home, in this county.

RUNYON FEARS BIG STRICK.

Morristown, May 24.—Strength of the Taft forces in Morris county was displayed at the dollar dinner given by the Morris County Taft Business Men's League in the rooms of the Republican County Committee here. Every section of the county was well represented, and fully 1,000 voters listened to speeches by former Judge William N. Runyon, of Plainfield; Congressman William H. Wilder, of Massachusetts, and former Congressman J. Adam Bede, of Minnesota. Former Judge Runyon was hailed as the next Congressman from the Fifth district. Runyon's speech was eloquent, and he pleaded with the voters to protect the institutions of the country endangered by the Colonel's big stick and his radical ideas.

ADDRESSED CHURCHMEN.

Rev. C. H. Mallery of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, and J. Wesley Hegeman, of Holy Cross church, attended a meeting of men at Trinity Episcopal church, Red Bank, Wednesday night, both making addresses on the benefits of a men's club and assisting to form such an organization.

MRS. MARTIN TO GO TO ASYLUM

Mother of Ocey Snead, Washtub Victim.

NOW IN TRENTON PRISON.

Questioned as to Whether State or Essex County Should Bear Expense, Court Arranges For Transfer to State Institution.

Trenton, N. J., May 24.—An order was issued for the transfer to the state asylum of Mrs. Caroline B. Martin, mother of Ocey Snead, the victim of the East Orange bathtub mystery, who was declared guilty of complicity in the death of her daughter. The woman was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to the Trenton prison for seven years.

The bathtub mystery was one of the most remarkable criminal cases that ever baffled the police of two states. Heavy insurance policies were taken out on the life of Ocey Snead, and at a time when the money for the premiums that were shortly to fall due was not forthcoming, the young woman was found dead in a bathtub in a half furnished house in East Orange.

Death Reported Suicide.

The death was reported as a suicide. An investigation was begun, and after many weeks of weary work, evidence was discovered showing that the three elderly women with whom Miss Snead lived had conspired to bring about her death. The Jersey authorities allege that Ocey Snead had been starved until she was too weak to resist and then drowned in the bathtub.

Mrs. Martin's sister, Mrs. Mary W. Snead, who was at first accused of complicity in the death of Ocey Snead and subsequently released from custody, was requested by Mr. Stryker to attend the insanity hearing. She did not put in an appearance, however.

Question of Expense.

The only question involved was whether the state or the county should be charged with the maintenance of Mrs. Martin at the hospital. County Counsel Benjamin F. Jones of Essex sent a letter to Judge Gnichtel, in lieu of a personal appearance, stating that his inquiries had convinced him that Mrs. Martin had no legal settlement in Essex, and that, therefore, she should be committed as a state patient. In order that there should be no further delay in making the transfer Judge Gnichtel signed the commitment papers with the understanding that they might be changed should it be learned that Mrs. Martin had a settlement in Essex as defined by the statute.

NURSE'S ERROR KILLED HIM.

Youth In Home Fatally Scalded Because He Was Insensible to Pain.

Vineland, N. J., May 24.—An error of Miss Rose Smith, a nurse at the Home For Feeble Minded Children, caused the death of Elijah Zuckerman, seventeen years old, who died on May 10 from scalds he suffered on May 11 in a bath. The nurse had charge of the youth and inadvertently showered him with hot water.

The fact that the youth was scalded escaped attention for hours because of the fact that the victim had chronic anesthesia and was not susceptible to pain. To prove that assertion the statements of his fellow patients were adduced to the effect that Zuckerman had frequently pinched himself black and blue to show that he did not suffer as ordinary persons suffer.

NO FREE RIDES FOR VOTERS.

Law Forbids Sending Vehicles For Infirm or Indifferent.

Trenton, N. J., May 24.—Every one who wants to take part in the primaries on Tuesday next in the state of New Jersey will have to walk to the polling places because, according to an opinion handed down by Assistant Attorney General Gaskill, it is illegal to transport voters to and from the polls.

It will be necessary unless the voter owns a conveyance and wishes to use it for himself alone for every voter to walk to cast his vote. Invalid voters who heretofore have been able to get to and from the polls by conveyances sent for them by some of their political friends, will not vote.

STUBBERT PLEADS NON VULT

Doctor Who Operated In New Jersey Will Take the Law's Medicine.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 24.—Dr James E. Stubbert of New York city pleaded non vult to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses while practicing in Perth Amboy last winter. By request of his counsel sentence was deferred until June 8.

The indictment on which Stubbert changed his plea was one charging that he took $12 from Mrs. Appolonia Brutz of Perth Amboy for giving her son, a young boy, capsules which, he declared, would cure him of strabismus.

Didn't Show Them.

"He wears his heart on his sleeve," asserts the fair damsel, who is telling about the shallow youth.

"Yes; I saw that long ago. That isn't what puzzles me about him," replies the more practical maiden.

"What else about him interests you?"

"I can't discover where he keeps his brains."—St. Louis Republic.

One of the best New York manufacturers we trade with has just sold us this big lot of the most attractive Middy Blouses and Summer Outing Coats we have ever seen. Some with shields, long or short sleeves; some sleeves with turn-back cuffs; combinations of red, navy, brown, black and other shades; sailor collars of self material or serge, with V front; trimmed with braid or ribbon bowknots of embroidery; some with leather belts, others with belts of contrasting colors; sizes for women, misses and children; particularly nice for rowing, golfing, mountain climbing, tennis playing or bowling, and most attractive for street wear.

Ordinarily these natty little blouses and coats would sell at $1.49 and $1, but we are going to offer them Saturday at the astonishing price of 59c.

At this price we should sell the entire lot—really it ought to take only a few hours to dispose of them.

TAFT'S FIGHTING SPIRIT AROUSED

Enters New Jersey With Vim and Vigor.

Philadelphia, May 24.—[Special.]—Eager for the fray and in nowise discouraged by the temporary setback in Ohio, President Taft, full of vim and vigor and fighting spirit, stepped into New Jersey.

Amid waves of the most vigorous applause at the Metropolitan Opera House President Taft, in greeting the delegates to the twelfth international congress of navigation, declared that he had looked forward to the time when battleships would be discarded and the nations of the world would blend into one great brotherhood of men. The president, who was introduced by Congressman J. Hampton Moore, was honored by the delegates rising in a body and waving their handkerchiefs for several minutes. President Taft expressed the opinion that the United States had much to learn from foreign countries in the transportation problem. He told of the Panama canal and of its value to American commerce and declared it was a fitting proof that the United States desired to aid the other countries of the world.

As President Taft came from the wings the delegates gave him a round of rousing applause. Congressman Moore, in opening the congress promptly at 11 o'clock, said:

"Philadelphia is to be honored above all her sister cities in welcoming the delegates to this international navigation congress. The twelfth congress comes to Philadelphia under the high patronage of the president of the United States. It comes with the sanction and encouragement of the governor of Pennsylvania and of the mayor of Philadelphia."

Congressman Moore, in introducing the president, said that strength and stability of character were combined in him. "Lift your handkerchiefs and rise while I present the president of the United States." The president was given a great greeting. President Taft said:

"It gives me great pleasure to attend any conference that is for the progress of the peaceful arts between the nations of the world. We have been trying to do something to bring universal peace in this country with the assistance of foreign nations. For the time being we are suffering a little halt."

President Taft's humorous reference to the political campaign created a wave of laughter. He resumed: "The heart of the American people beats for the settlement of questions by peaceful arbitration and by judicial decisions." The president, when he mentioned "judicial decisions," was liberally applauded.

"I am delighted to welcome the foreign representatives to this country. You will enjoy great hospitality here. There is much you can confer upon this country in the use of navigation. There are certain phases of the navigation problems which are most important and in which we are backward.

"As a nation we like to go fast. With the development of the railroads the slower transportation of the rivers and the lakes did not attract us so much. You, who go along more scientifically, perhaps, were able to unite both water and rail.

"We have much to learn from you. We have to learn how to unite the two methods of transportation. We are gravely lacking in the knowledge of how to do this, but I do not doubt but that we will learn from you in time how it may be done. We have to be patient, and we are not very patient in the United States."

The president then took up several minutes with a discussion of the Panama canal.

"I wish Philadelphia were near to Panama," he said. "I am sure that the delegates would revel in spending at the isthmus. When the canal was proposed we invited foreign engineers to aid us in its construction. The canal will be completed certainly within the next eighteen months. It will cost not $200,000,000, but $400,000,000. This is caused by the expansion of ideas since the canal was first proposed. As it stands at present it will meet the fullest needs of trade.

"The construction of the Panama canal by the United States is evidence of the willingness of this country to do something for the welfare of the world. It will be a fitting monument to the growth of this country. I hope that congresses between the nations such as this will enable us to reach the point where we can discard all battleships and meet as brothers without the thought of any controversy."

After the adjournment of the Metropolitan Opera House session President Taft held a reception and personally welcomed the foreign delegates. Leaving the place of meeting, the delegates and guests went to the Bellevue-Stratford, where, at 12:30 o'clock, a buffet luncheon was served. The sections of the congress will meet at 2 o'clock at the Bellevue-Stratford. During the afternoon a special ceremonial was conducted at the Masonic temple, with President Taft as the guest of honor. Immediately at the conclusion of the ceremonies the president and party left for Camden, N. J., to fire his opening gun in the New Jersey campaign.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The Giants, home from their Western cruise, are going after the Dodgers at Washington Park today. Their Western trip settled rather conclusively that Hank O'Day's bunch are about the only ones to be feared in the future.

The White Sox are sailing along at a pretty smooth clip and Connie Mack will be apt to find it much harder overtaking them than he did the Yanks or the Tigers a year ago.

Jack Martin continues to bat along at a .271 clip, although he did slump for a couple of days. He has averaged 16 hits in his 17 games played.

"Cornell has another fast crew," That's an old tale.

The Chinese ball team played "Melican" game well, but not fast enough to win from Fordham. The latter won 3 to 0.

The Trenton High School won their seventh straight game (including all contests played) against the local High School Wednesday afternoon.

Between the baseball games and "Teddy" tomorrow is apt to be a busy day for the fans. All of the games in Plainfield will hold off until after the speech-making.

The rooters that go with the ball team to Bound Brook can leave on an earlier train and hear him speak at the ball grounds. He is scheduled for 2:30.

Those that stay home can go out to the city park and after that watch one of the Factory League games.

Dr. and Mrs. P. B. Creager, of Grant avenue, have returned from a two week's automobile trip through Pennsylvania in Christy Mathewson's new car.

Bound Brook and Dunellen will hook up on Decoration Day on the former's grounds.

Stahl will probably be tried in the box for the Borough High School against P. H. S. tomorrow. If he works the way he did against Battin the game should be close.

The Yankees have a great habit of winning a game in the first seven innings and then giving it away during the final two sessions.

The Reds met defeat again yesterday at the hands of St. Louis. As the Giants did not play they went up a notch in the percentage column.

Cornell's crew was an easy winner in yesterday's races on the Charles River. The Tiger crew caused Harvard to hustle some to finish a scant third of a length ahead.

The midshipmen will not be able to accept the invitation to row in the Poughkeepsie regetta.

Taft at the bat.

Slocum is carded to pitch for the Bound Brook team at South River Sunday. Jim Emery will probably play short for the same team.

The Cleveland team of the U. S. League has relinquished its franchise and paid all the players off in full. Dissatisfaction with conditions is given as the reason for this action.

FACTORY LEAGUE WELL STARTED

Third Games Tomorrow Afternoon Will Increase the Interest Among Fans.

GAMES TOMORROW.

Public Service vs. R. G. E., Myrtle avenue grounds.

Commercial vs. Spicer, Parker Field.

Saurer vs. Plainfield Banks, Clinton avenue grounds.

For the third time the teams of the Manufacturers' League will come together tomorrow afternoon for the Daily Press cup. The presence of ex-President Roosevelt in town will postpone the calling of the games until four o'clock in order that the fans may have a chance to hear the Colonel and also take in the games.

The Public Service team will try conclusions with the R. G. E. representatives on the Myrtle avenue grounds and it should prove an interesting game. Both of these teams have won and lost one game in the league race and will strive hard to crawl up a place or two. The weather during the present week has made it possible for all of the teams to get in a little practice that the previous games all showed a lack of. Both the Service and the R. G. E. teams are well prepared for the battle.

The Commercials, who are the league leaders, will line up with the Spicer team on Parker Field. The Clerks have demonstrated the fact that they can play ball and the Spicer team was picked at the beginning of the season as one of the strongest teams in the league, so the game should be a close and interesting one. There is a possibility that Jim Scott will have recovered sufficiently from his turned ankle to officiate on the mound for the Joint makers. Freeman will hurl them across for the Clerks.

The Banks nine will go to Clinton avenue and play the Saurer Motor Truck team on the latter's grounds. The Saurer team is in sole possession of the cellar position, not having won a game so far, but the team has been materially strengthened during the past week and expects to make the money changers set up and take notice. The Bankers, however, are of the opinion that they will have something to say about it.

All of the games promise to be interesting ones, and the fans will see lots of fun and some good baseball no matter which one they see.

BOUND BROOK NEXT ON DORFLINGER LIST

Conquest of Canalers Scheduled to Take Place on Their Home Grounds.

The Plainfield team is going to Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon where they will hook up with the team there after "Teddy" has finished speaking at the ball grounds. Dorflinger's team has not lost a game so far this season and will go to the town on the Raritan full of confidence, and a determination to bring back a scalp.

The Bound Brook fans are of the opinion that they have some team and are willing to argue on the question of Plainfield's winning. Last Saturday they made the New Brunswick team extend themselves to the limit to win and they had to go into the big leagues for a pitcher at that. Ortleib had his assortment bending and twisting in good shape which caused the New Brunswick team to break their backs frequently. He'll be on the mound tomorrow.

The Bound Brook line up will be the same as it was last week with the exception of right garden, which will be taken care of by Brown instead of Riffert. It is expected that this change will materially strengthen the home team. The rest of the positions will be taken care of by Balinger 1b, Shaw 2b, Powers ss, Craig 3b, Grimes lf, and Knowlan cf.

Frederickson will put them across the pan for the Plainfield team and is sure to make the home team work for all they get. "Fred" is conquering his greatest fault, wildness, this year and looks to be better in every game that he pitches. The rest of the line up will be the same as last week with Walt Nelson to receive, Driscoll 1b, Bill Stallings 2b, Dalton 3b, Emery ss, Ed. Stallings lf, Harter cf, and Cosgrove rf. With this array of swatsmiths to face him Ortleib will have to go the limit.

Last week's game with the Lincoln Giants showed plainly that Dorflinger had succeeded in getting together a bunch of speed kings this year that will burn up the paths with any team that cannot play the game for all it is worth. Ed. Stallings' clouting has been of major league calibre and the noticeable absence of errors by any of the team members tells its own story.

CRESCENT AVENUE S. S. DEFEATED BY CLINTON AVE.

The Crescent Avenue Sunday-school team met defeat at the hands of the Clinton Avenue aggregation yesterday afternoon, on the latter's grounds, 5 to 4. The game was close and well played, and the church team lost in the last inning when the home team put two runs across the pan.

Mills, who pitched for the Sunday-school team, proved to be an enigma to the boys from the Avenue and sent eleven of them back from the plate via the strike-out route.

The score:

STILLMAN SCHOOL TAKES GAME FROM S. S. TEAM

The Stillman Grammar School team won their first game of the season yesterday afternoon when they whaloped the Congregational Sunday-school team 9 to 4 on Parker Field. It was a good game to watch and comparatively free from glaring errors. Newell and Schorb took the batting honors home with them, each succeeding in getting hits for extra distances.

Norwood pitched a steady game for the winning team, while Newell was touched up freely when hits meant runs. The school team ran wild on the bases which stood out prominently in the final result.

The score by innings:

Stillman	1	1	1	2	3	0	1	0	1	—9

DUNELLEN WILL PLAY RARITAN NINE TOMORROW

The second game of the Dunellen-Raritan series will be played tomorrow afternoon upon the West End grounds in Somerville. The game was scheduled for Dunellen but because of ex-President Roosevelt speaking in Plainfield the game was shifted to Somerville.

Dunellen captured the first game of this series two weeks ago 7 to 2, that game also being played on the West End Club's grounds.

The fans from the railroad town will go to Somerville tomorrow feeling confident that they will repeat. Warry McLaughlin and Dixon will be on the points for the Dunellen team as usual and should make the Raritan team go the limit.

ROYAL GIANTS WILL OPPOSE THE WEST END
